Chapter 9: Deeply pampered by the emperor (Part 8)

“Emperor, think about it. Currently the Zhao Country is strong and prosperous, but the old citizens are not very rich. The east side is this big and there are some old citizens that are still eating roots and bark.” Luo Qing Chen picked up a pen and began to draw a rough east side map on a piece of paper.

Of course she could draw this kind of thing all because of the previous host.

After all, in order to build Zhao An Yang’s future, the previous host had studied military tactics. She had read all kinds of maps and had committed them to heart.

She looked at Zhao An Yang and found that he was seriously listening to her, causing her to feel pleased deep in her heart.

“For example, the people in this city have good tea and the people in this city are good at refining weapons. However, this place has never seen tea before and the other place has never seen weapons before.....”

“I understand.” Zhao An Yang cut her off and he said with sparkling eyes, “Qing’er’s meaning is that tea is very cheap in this city, but it becomes very valuable once it reaches this city.”

“That’s right! After all, rare things are previous.” Luo Qing Chen gave a soft laugh, looking very satisfied.

Perhaps it was him seriously listening to her or perhaps it was him calling her “Qing’er”, but her heart skipped a beat.

Zhao An Yang instantly had a look of joy. She was right, rich citizens made a country stronger.

[Ding, affection has increased by five. Mission completion rate is 50%.]

Damn, system, why does it always increase by five and decrease by 10! Was your program written incorrectly when you became a system! Is your algorithm alright?

The system completely ignored her and kept acting like it was dead.

“Qing’er, it’s already late. Go to sleep first, this one is going to change the question.” He looked over at her with clear eyes filled with tenderness as he spoke.

Luo Qing Chen shook her head and the blue silk strands shook with her head, as the tassels in her hair made clear ringing sounds.

It filled a person's heart with comfort.

"I'll just lie here for a bit. When the emperor is finished writing, you can call me." Luo Qing Chen leaned to the left and slightly raised her sleeves, placing the water green sleeves flat on the table. She closed her eyes, causing her long lashes to flutter.

So beautiful, truly beautiful.

[Ding, affection has increased by five. Mission completion rate is 55%.]

Damn, after working so hard, it has only returned to what it was before.

"Alright...." Zhao An Yang wanted to reject to let her sleep first.

But seeing her beautiful face, he was suddenly unwilling to be apart from her for even half a minute.

The next morning, when Luo Qing Chen woke up, Zhao An Yang was no longer beside her.

There was a white leopard fur blanket wrapped around her and there was his scent on it.

Stretching herself out, she walked out of the royal study. But she never thought that when she opened the door, there would be four maids guarding outside.

"This servant greets the madame!" The maids smiled as they looked at their new master. Of course it included Xiao Qiu who had been with her for many years now.

"You are?" Although she could guess what had happened, she still asked.

"These servants were given to master by the emperor, they will take care of master's daily needs from now on." Xiao Qiu was clearly the happiest person, as her corner of her lips moved even higher than her dimples.

Luo Qing Chen nodded to show that she understood. Zhao An Yang did have some consideration, specially sending people to find Xiao Qiu. She shouldn't be used to this.

Ke, ke, such a warm and caring man.

But this ancient era was different. Before even sleeping with the emperor, he already gave her four maids.

As expected, one was capricious when one had money.

Eh, having power also made on capricious!

So capricious~
