Chapter 116: Floating Restaurant

Another week passed. Tyler was punched and sent flying by Lily Gomes. She helps him during practice. Warriors have to practise their body and combat skills.

Tyler, who got knocked out, looked at Lily Gomes. She is wearing a thin dress and she is sweating. Lily Noticed Tyler's look.

"Do you wanna practise that Swimming Skill?" She asked.

Tyler's mouth twitched. He was thrown into the sea. Tyler got a swimming skill inheritance from Kun Peng. With this he can swim like a Kun in the ocean. But it's kind of hard to practice. It's like he needs to understand how Fish swims. Even so he never neglected his practice.

He then tried to swim in the middle of the ocean. Lily Gomes, who changed her outfit quickly, flew near him to make sure he was safe. The ship is moving without any worries because they

"I really wish to have that underwater umbrella." Tyler said while climbing up.

"Those things are useless." Lily said while helping him up.

"You are talking about the one that Zhou has?" She asked.

"Yub... "

"Then Oceans are far deeper than you can imagine. The pressure under the ocean is so high It will ... implode you." Lily explained. Lily is in her detective mode now.

"Implode?"

"Implode, not explode. Catastrophic Implosion. The pressure in the sea is one of the most terrifying things. That's why even some Tiny Monsters that live deep in the Oceans are even more dangerous than the Giant Monsters that live above. " This is a daily routine for Tyler. He learns many new things from Lily Gomes.

"Alright. Enough of training today. We are going to a Floating Restaurant." Lily said

"Like a floating island?" Tyler tilted his head

"No. It's just a restaurant on a Ship that is Floating in the Sea."

Tyler revealed a thoughtful look and asked, "Can we Hire a Chef?"

As though Lily Gomes was surprised that Tyler would ask that, she looked at him with questioning eyes as she complained, "Why don't you like my cooking?"

Tyler avoided eye contact.

"Looks like you really don't like the cooking of your slaves too?" Lily said. She doesn't care about the Food that much.

"Yub... There are no professional chefs. I even invited my chefs but they refused to leave the island." Tyler sighed.

"From what I know, the Floating Restaurant trained many professional chefs. They all travelled to the Sea after the training. You can recruit one." She explained.

Tyler and others appeared at their destination.

Floating Kitchen is a fairly large ship. It takes an oval shape, with the normal masts but has a fish as a front-piece/head. The Floating Fish has a round bottom. A small array of cannons are lined on the sides, which can be used for battle.

It also has four levels: Lower deck, which is where the main restaurant is. Middle Deck, which is the main kitchen. Upper Deck, where twenty three main cooks reside. The fins that fold out to the sides from underneath are to stabilise the restaurant during harsh weather and also are used as a battle platform to prevent the restaurant itself from receiving collateral damage.

There are already many ships lining up for the reservation. Tyler understood that they would also serve food to the ship, if they paid extra. The reservation is booked until next month. But there are ways to get food faster. And that is, paying a little bit more.

Tyler didn't even hesitate. He was able to pull up some strings with money.

Inside the Floating Kitchen Restaurant.

"Peel that potato, and trim one side for flat surfaces. Place chopsticks on both sides and slice it quarter inch apart. Now rotate 90° and repeat it.

Add flour, Cumin, chilli powder in a bowl. Now add these White powder in the crack. Now let's give this potato a Hot Oil Bath for 7 minutes. There you have it. Potato Pom Pom." An Octopus, who is the size of a human , was talking to its small mermaid doll while cooking.

"Hey look and ingredient is making food."

"Hahaha..."

Other trainee chefs are laughing at him. The Octopus turned around and took his potato pom pom.

"One day I will definitely cook him a Takayoki." Another cook said while others laughed.

Being a sea creature not a human, Tako is always getting Bullied by the humans. But he doesn't care. He loves to cook. He loves his mermaid doll. Those two are enough for him to live happily.

After taking the Potato pom pom, Taka appeared near the young boy who was cleaning the deck of the ship. Tyler, who was passing by, saw Taka giving food to the young man. The young man smiled and ate it.

"Taka. How many times we have to tell you. Don't give these Janitors food during their working time." One of the servers complained.

"But he missed breakfast. He needs energy to eat." Taka took the mop and started cleaning. "I will do the work."

Taka's voice is so deep and unique.

When the server left, he went to another server and said Something they laughed mockingly at Taka's direction.

"That's a Fishmen." Lily Gomes said as she walked inside.

Fishman are rare in the south. That's why Tyler is surprised by seeing an Octopus.

"Can he be eaten?" Silvia asked.

Taka, who was cleaning, suddenly shivered. He doesn't know why. He looked around but found nothing.

Tyler and the girls entered the restaurant. It is not as luxurious as he expected. But It was clean and nice. Many Adventures, even Pirates are dining here without any worries.

Tyler who sat down suddenly fell in deep thought.

"What happened?" Lily asked.

"I think I forgot something." He said.

"If you forgot something, then it is not that important." She took a wine bottle and opened its cork.

"You are right." Tyler nodded.

Meanwhile inside Tyler's Ship,

"Dyamn Tyler. At Least give me a personal maid for my personal use." Mathilda angrily muttered. She took the fork under her bed and used it to poke the door lock. She was glad that the door was not locked with an array. No one locks the door with an array in the ship because if the array fails during an important time it might lead to a dangerous situation.

Tyler and others had a hearty meal. He was so satisfied by their dishes. Mana ate a lot of food that both Lily and Silvia couldn't help but stare at her stomach wondering if there was a black hole in it.

Tyler is used to her behaviour and doesn't care. He quickly called a server and told them of hiring a cook. The server brought him to another room. There are many people interviewing trainee Chefs.

Even Pirates are looking for a chef.

"1000 Lydia bet. He will choose Female." Lily Gomes said.

"That's unfair. You took the best option." Mana pouted.

"I am definitely not selecting Female chef." Tyler said.

Female Chefs are so rare. Even if there is one, it is not easy for them to board a ship. But there are some female cooks who don't care about anything and even choose pirate ships.

Some low grade female Chefs are instantly hired just because they are female. Tyler doesn't care about the gender. He just wants a good chef.

There are some workers who are giving suggestions to some chefs. Tyler picked up the resumes of some chefs and went through it.

Lily Gomes is also helping him.

"This guy's resume says he was born in the south. And both of his parents are from the south. But he looks like someone from the North. He calls himself a best chef. Overconfidence. We don't need him." Just like that Lily Gomes is rejecting one by one.

"This one looks ugly. rejected."

"Seriously? " Tyler shook his head and laughed.

"hmm... This is the Fishman we saw on the deck." Silvia said.

"Oh this guy is kind. But there are some scratches and scribbled drawings on his dress. He is probably being bullied by his colleagues for being a Fishman. In the south Fishman are rare. I don't know Fishman's aesthetics, so I am not sure whether he is ugly or handsome." Lily said.

"We are looking for a chef. Not a servant for you." Tyler retorted.

"We don't need that. We have you." Mana said to which Silvia nodded .

"ouch... Something is burning." Lily Gomes laughed.

Silvia then turned to Mana and asked innocently, "What is manservant?"

Tyler raised his knuckle.

Then they selected a bunch of chefs for the interview. Tyler paid a little generously. So he was taken to their secondary ships which had cargo of ingredients.

"We will send the candidates here. You can choose them without any disturbance." The worker smiled before leaving.

"Money is really the boss in most places." Lily murmured.

"Well. It's true. But Money doesn't matter." Tyler replied.

"Says the rich guy." Lily chuckled with a mocking expression.

The first candidate is a beautiful woman with heavy makeup. She is also wearing revealing clothes.

"Mana has a feeling that this Interview will end quickly." Mana murmured.

..... ◆ ● ◆

Meanwhile

"Hahaha.... I finally escaped." Mathilda laughed.

Chapter 117: New Chefs Recruited

"You guys want a quickie?" The woman chef with heavy makeup asked.

"What did you just say?" Tyler was baffled.

"That egg thing over there" She pointed at a poster of a dish.

"That's Quiche" Tyler mouth twitched, "Next"

Another chef entered. Tyler mercilessly rejects him because he is eyeing on Mana and Silvia. Yeah seriously, Tyler knows what kind of looks those are. The same looks he gives at mature ladies.

Meanwhile in Tyler's Ship,

"What a luxurious ship." Mathilda was impressed. Then she shook her head, "Nah... I have to escape "

She walked out the hallway, and suddenly a servant passed by. Mathilda hid behind a big plant that is enough to hide her. She sighed in relief and walked towards the exit. When she was about to reach the exit. Mathilda saw many girls laughing and going to the common bathroom..

She looked at the girls and at the exit.

Back to the Floating Restaurant's secondary ship.

"Your dish tastes really good. We will decide the result later." Tyler said to another girl chef. She smiled in relief but also nervous.

Well not everyone who attended interview are happy for example,

"If I describe myself in one word then I am coin." The last female chef who attended the interview said.

"Because people flip over you for fun?" Tyler said.

"2 face, flat and always in somebody's pants?" Lily Gomes followed.

They mercilessly rejected the people who are trying to use seduction to get selected. Silvia got bored so she left the place to wander around. Mana also disappeared. She is silently following Silvia, to look after her.

While they were looking around the ship, they saw a Fishman diving in the sea.

Tako, the Octopus, dived into the sea. The little janitor boy who is his Potato pom pom is standing on the deck looking guilty.

Someone walked towards that boy, "Good job throwing his doll into the sea, kid. A fish is just a fish. He doesn't deserve to attend the interview."

Silvia got angry when she heard that. She walked towards the kid like she was going to slap him. The other guy tried to stop her but his whole body froze. He couldn't even move a muscle.

Silvia didn't slap, instead she stood before him and said, "He gave you food. Even if you can't repay him, why are you harming him?"

"Shut up. You came from that giant ship, right? You don't understand what it is to be poor."

Silvia recalled how she stole bread and ran to the beach. How Tyler used his clumsy skills to capture fishes.

Silvia just shook her head and looked at him in disdain. She didn't even waste any words and said, "Big Sis Mana, help him."

Mana suddenly appeared behind Silvia, scaring the Janitor kid and the other guy. Both of them ran away.

"Wow... You called Mana - Big Sis." Mana made a tearing up face and disappeared.

Inside the Sea, Taka is swimming anxiously, but couldn't find the doll. But suddenly Taka felt like he was hallucinating, and the doll was swimming towards him. When it reached Taka, it stopped. Taka didn't even care to think what just happened, he happily hugged the doll. Mana appeared behind Taka dumbfounded. Because she didn't do anything. She looked at the Doll with suspicion.

Taka swam back. Silvia threw a rope ladder. Taka grabbed the rope ladder and climbed up. When he saw a small young lady helping him, Taka smiled shyly. He then said, "Thank You Young Miss for helping me. I am a chef here."

Silvia's eyes turned mischievous and said, "Oh, You are a chef? I don't believe you."

"Huh... But I am really a chef." He replied strongly.

"Prove it." She said,

Taka looked at the place where the interview was happening. He wanted to attend it. Because it is rare for people to select him to interview. Most of them reject him because he is a Fishman. But this kind young lady is expecting food. In the end he decided to cook for this kind young miss.

"Alright. Wait here, I will come with food." Taka nodded strongly.

"Is it ok to watch you cook?" She asked.

"Of course. It is not at all a trouble."

"Then make it double." Mana appeared behind Silvia. Mana also gave a thumbs up to Silvia for getting food.

Taka nodded. Inside the kitchen, Taka's tentacles expanded and washed it thoroughly. Then He wore some custom made gloves. It's just old gloves stitched into tentacle shape. He stood near the stove while all his tentacles moved, taking the ingredients one by one. Cutting the vegetables and heating the oil. Everything is done at the same time.

Five minutes had passed and a fragrant smell wafted out in the kitchen. The mellow smell of the egg mixed with the faint aroma of the rice was intoxicating both Silvia and Mana. Just by inhaling the smell, Silvia was uncontrollably salivating. But she controlled it.

After that, Taka walked towards them with two bowls of egg fried rice with some fried shrimps on the top. Silvia and Mana scooped up a spoon.

Taka is looking at them nervously. He loves to hear compliments from his customers. But that rarely happened.

Both Mana and Silvia looked at each other.

"Great." scooped up spoon after spoon of Egg-Fried Rice. She doesn't even care if it is hot.

"Delicious." Mana completed both scooping and eating in a single motion.

"That was so good ." Mana complimented him. Silvia nodded her head while eating. Mana's spoon slowly moved towards her bowl but Silvia slapped her hand away. Taka laughed in satisfaction seeing the Young Ladies' reaction.

Tyler and others walked out the room. So far they have selected only one candidate. It is the girl Chef called Darla.

Tyler saw Mana and Silvia walking out of the main Ship. The Octopus is waving at them.

"Tyler. Let's take him. His dishes are so good." Mana Said before even Silvia could open her mouth. She pouted like she lost to Mana.

Tyler looked at Taka. Taka was also surprised that these Young Ladies recommended him.

"Alright." Tyler just nodded.

'That's it? Just like that?' The other chefs thought at the same time.

Tyler agreed because he knows how much a foodie Mana is. To get Mana's recognition is rare.

Chef Darla was speechless. Did she just lose her job? But Tyler's next word snapped her back to reality.

"I am hiring these two." Tyler pointed at her and Taka.

Soon the procedures are taken care of. The young janitor feeling guilty just stayed in his room. He doesn't dare to see him. Soon someone knocked on the boy's door. He opened the door and saw the manager.

"Taka joined a merchant ship as a cook. Before leaving he paid his savings and first month salary for you. Congratulations, you are now a Chef Trainee." He said. Taka requested a one month salary in advance.

Tears began to fall from his eyes. He ignored the manager and ran towards the exit.

"Their ship has already departed, go to the deck, You might be able to see it." The Manager didn't mind and reminded him.

The Young Janitor stood on the ship and looked at the departing Ship.

"Thank Youuuuu.... And Sorrrrryyy..." He cried loudly. Sadly, Taka is already gone.

"Welcome to the ship." Tyler extended his hand. He was a little confused on which tentacle to shake.

Tyler also shook hands with Darla. Darla smiled and was also looking forward to her new job.

"Situ, please give Mr. Taki and Miss Darla a small tour of the ship." Tyler said.

Situ, the chief Slave, nodded. He then moved towards Tyler and whispered something.

Tyler's eyes widened. He left them and opened the door where Mathilda was locked before.

"How the heck-" Tyler then patted his own head. He is the one who forgot to lock the secret room with an array. He thought locking the room was enough.

Then Tyler sighed. He walked towards the place that Situ told.

He opened the door. It was his bedroom. Inside the bedroom some female workers are naked while a girl is teasing them while sitting on the bed like a queen.

Tyler coughed. The servants all blushed; they quickly took their dress and ran away.

Darla who was passing by saw many girls running naked from a room. Tyler's head popped out then he closed the door. Darla is now regretting a little.

Meanwhile inside Tyler's room.

"I thought you would have escaped." Tyler said.

"That was my plan. But you know my weakness very well. Because of these beautiful slaves of yours I was unable to leave the ship." She made a teary face.

"Ok stop acting." Tyler said without any change in expression.

"I promise you, I won't tell anyone. "

"You don't understand. It's not that I don't trust you. It's some other things." He replied.

"What do you mean?"

The door suddenly opened and Lily Gomes entered.

"Tyler, I saw many girls running half naked from here. You just boarded the Ship and it was damn fas-." Lily Gomes paused.

Mathilda and Lily Gomes looked at each other and blinked.

This is what Tyler is most afraid of.

Chapter 118: Mountains?

"Please don't analyse anything." Tyler requested.

"Too late." Lilly Gomes murmured.

"Lets see you were kidnapped by Tyler." Lily Gomes just said.

"Why do you think so?" Mathilda hid her surprise and asked.

"From what I remember, you went missing just a few days before our departure. Also There is a cuff mark on your wrists. With your perverted nature, it might be one of your kinks. But the cuff mark didn't disappear, which means it should be Aura Restriction cuffs. Tyler worked in the Isle of Blood for a few days, he must have taken one from there. Those marks will take some time to disappear, which means you were locked in the ship for many days." She said Swiftly.

Tyler sighed. Mathilda was baffled.

"Ok. Now I understand why you were afraid." Mathilda said to Tyler with a realisation.

"Alright, Alright. Even though Tyler is a little perverted."

"cough" Tyler coughed..

"He still won't go far to kidnap a girl. Which means he somehow learned one of his secrets." Lily Gomes stopped.

"Alright. I will stop analysing the situation. I don't wanna lose a friend just for some secret." Lily Gomes then took the fruit and threw it straight at Mathilda's mouth which just opened. The fruit blocked her mouth.

"I know you are trying to drag me too by revealing his secret. Bye bltch. Also Tyler, If you can't kill her, then just turn her into your slave. " Lily Gomes gave some ideas and left.

"Sex Slave? I am in. I will take care of all your women when you are busy." Mathilda spat the fruit out.

"The Oscillation Tower. I heard there are some witches that live there that sell soul contracts. I will give you the freedom after signing that." Tyler said.

Mathilda stopped Tyler. She looked Little angry, "Am I not enough for you to push me down?"

Tyler was speechless and he said, "Even if we make out, I will still not trust you completely. "

Tyler left while saying those words. Then he came back again.

"Follow me to my office."

Mathilda was once again Locked again.

"I am bored sitting in the same room. Send me some maids." she demanded.

Tyler sighed and said, "Nope. You already corrupted all my servants. No more girls for you."

Few days later

"The first stance, stretching exercise. One two three four, two two three four..."

"The second stance, chest expansion exercise. One two three four, two two three four..."

"The third stance, kicking exercise. One two three four, two two three four..."

"What are you doing?" Tyler asked, looking at the servants doing exercise.

"It's a daily routine. They need to shape up a little bit. Now, you go and swim." Lily Gomes pointed at the sea.

Tyler jumped into the sea. He tried Kun Swimming method which he received as inheritance. Tyler swam at full speed around his giant ship. He felt half of his energy drained. It is still better than before.

There is another thing Tyler discovered. Tyler bit his finger and blood began to flow. He placed the wounded finger in the water. The wound is slowly recovering. Even though it is slower than using Aura or Prana to recover, Tyler didn't use any sort of energy or healing Items. It's just sea water. Kun's Mystical ability to recover in Sea.

Tyler looked at the back of his left hand.

"Zuzia?" Tyler called.

The Dragon Tattoo vibrated a little as it was saying 'five more minutes. Let me sleep a little longer.'

Tyler then Jumped up from the water. Ice formed under his leg whenever he jumped up. With that he reached the top.

The servants already went back to work. Tyler saw Silvia drawing something in the ground and arranging it.

'Should be summoning Array.' Tyler inwardly thought. He thought of making Silvia a Mage. Or a dual practitioner like himself. Summoners are usually mages. Even Tyler doesn't understand about Mages and Warriors. For him it feels like Cultivation got divided into two.

Chef Darla brought his food to his room. She quickly placed it and ran away like escaping from a tiger. Tyler thought that she was just shy.

'Hmm.. why is he not making any moves? Is he waiting for the right opportunity?' Her thoughts ran wild, 'What should I do if he makes a move? Should I resist or should I give in?'

She stood there and shook her head and nodded her head. Chief servant Situ, who noticed her from afar, was confused, "What is the chef doing?"

Due to harsh weather, the ship took a turn. The south was getting closer and closer. Tyler and the others can see the stars in the sky are getting very visible. The Aurora lights in the horizon are just spectacular.

The weather is getting colder and colder as they move further south. Thankfully Tyler already loaded up lots of winter dresses.

The Ship will stop at an Island to sell and buy something. Tyler also didn't stop his daily training. Lily Gomes would train him every day and also throw him into the sea.

He also visits Mathilda just to calm her down. He also asked Mana to look after her. Surprisingly these two hit off really well. It makes sense because these two are certified perverts.

Sometimes Mana would send her pov to his mind. He saw naked Mathilda doing many things. The most hilarious thing is - it was requested by Mathilda herself.

Tyler is not a saint. But decided not to touch her for now. Chef Darla as always delivered the food to him. Looked at him with some expectations and left with disappointment. Tyler was confused but got used to her behaviour.

"We are reaching 'The Oscillation Tower' in two days." Lily Gomes informed him.

Tyler sighed in relief. He took the last cheese sandwich on the table.

"Tyler, we are going to travel the whole world together. So some secrets might be uncovered on their own. So, it's ok to trust the people around you." She said as she patted his shoulder and walked away.

Tyler took a bite on his 'sandwich' but he bit the air. His last sandwich is missing, "It's ok to trust the people around me?"

Lily Gomes took a bite of the sandwich she just stole from Tyler.

The next day, the entire ship shook violently. Giant waves surged in the middle of the sea, alarming everyone on board.

Tyler and the others rushed to the deck, staring at the anomaly. A colossal creature, as large as their ship, emerged from the depths. This was Tyler's first encounter with such a massive being.

"Something is wrong," Lily Gomes muttered.

"What do you mean?" Tyler asked, tilting his head in confusion.

"There's no way a creature of that size could cause waves this immense," she explained.

As she finished speaking, sharp mountain-like structures rose from the sea, encircling the giant creature. They swiftly closed in, trapping it, and then pulled it back into the water. The sea turned crimson with blood.

"What was that mountain?" Tyler asked, his voice filled with astonishment and fear.

"Quick, let's get out of here," Lily Gomes urged.

The ship immediately set sail away from the dangerous area.

"That wasn't a mountain," Lily explained once they were safely away. "Those were the teeth of a creature. The real sea giants. They're called Sea Titans. It might be the same type that moved that island before."

"Are there many Sea Titans in the North?" Tyler asked, his curiosity tinged with anxiety.

Lily nodded. "Yes, the northern seas are their domain. They are rare, but encountering one can be deadly. They're ancient and powerful beings, rulers of the deep."

Tyler took a deep breath, the gravity of their journey settling in. "We need to be prepared for anything," he said, determined in his eyes.

Lily nodded in agreement, understanding that their adventure was fraught with dangers beyond their imagination. They had to stay vigilant and ready for whatever the treacherous northern seas would throw their way.

"How do we avoid them?" Tyler asked.

"Why do you have to avoid them? If you are strong enough." She simply replied.

"Don't worry. It's just one Sea Titans somehow appeared in the south. It's a rare occurrence. We will never see another one again."

While they were talking, the water around the ship rose above. The same mountains appeared around the ship.

Tyler looked at Lily dumbfounded.

"As I told you before, it's rare for us to see another creature. But this one is the same creature." Lily Gomes awkwardly said.

Tyler sighed his luck is getting worse. In this Vast Sea, only his ship got targeted by a lost Sea Titan.

"I got it." Lily suddenly snapped her finger.

"Did you find a way to escape?" Tyler asked, his eyes lit up.

"Nope... I found the reason why the Sea Titan targeted our ship." She said with a proud expression.

"Can You please switch to Detective Mode."

Chapter 119: Escaping and Lily's Oath

"A bit of blood from that monster from before has tainted the boat. So this Sea Titan came back to hunt again." Lily Gomes explained.

"Is there any way to escape?" He asked.

"We can escape. But Not the ship nor the crew." Lily Gomes said.

Tyler doesn't care about the Ship. But if possible he wants to save everyone on the ship.

"We can just simply fly off with few important people." Lily Gomes suggested.

The huge mountain looking Teeth are scary. The slaves are already panicking a little.

Tyler immediately called Silvia, and also asked Mana to evacuate Mathilda and the two chefs if things turned worse.

"Why is it not biting us?" Tyler asked.

"It is probably digesting the monster it ate before. It will take some time. It is trapping us here." She explained.

"Is there no other way?" Tyler was not ready to give up quickly.

"There are many ways." Lily Gomes said.

"What are they?" Tyler asked with hope.

"Fly the ship."

"We don't have those arrays in my ship, Next."

"See the gap over there, sail through it and escape."

"The Sea Titan might notice and eat us instantly, Next."

"Abandon everyone and escape."

"Next"

"Eternal Rest."

"Huh?" Tyler tilted his head in confusion.

"I mean.... We can only die."

But Tyler's eyes lit up.

"You got a plan?" Lily Gomes noticed his reaction and asked.

"Yeah... But..." Tyler hesitated.

Lily Gomes was confused for a second and said, "I think It involves your secret."

Tyler nodded.

"How about this? I, Lily Gomes, promise on my path of immortality. I will never pry on your secret unless you allow it." Lily Gomes took an oath. The sky thundered, like the oath has been accepted by the heavens.

"Just like that?" Even Tyler can feel an Oath has formed.

"It is due to my race. " Lily Gomes didn't explain more.

Tyler is now more interested. But he shook his head.

"I have" Tyler explained his plan.

"But that needs tons of tons." She looked at Tyler in pity.

"Did your head become lousy due to fear?" She touched his head.

"If it works. Then that's enough." Tyler entered the storage room. He gave some instructions to Situ. Situ was confused but he is just his servant/slave, he nodded and began to proceed.

Lily wants to follow Tyler and observe. But she just made an oath that she will not pry unless Tyler allows her. So she decided to wait on the deck.

Soon the workers stood in a straight line , from the storage to the deck.

They passed a four foot size barrel hand by hand, until they dropped it in the sea. Before dropping, Situ used Aura on the barrel.

"Ridiculous Idea. But one is not enough." Lily Gomes murmured.

The Idea is just as Lily said - 'Eternal Rest'. That barrel contains heavy tranquilizer herbs. A handful is enough to make a whale go to sleep for days.

"These are extremely rare. But He somehow got a full barrel." She mumbled.

Soon they passed over another barrel. Then another one. Another one.

Lily Gomes' jaw almost dropped. She also noticed that all the barrels looked exactly the same. Lily Gomes turned her head and let out mouth full of air.

"Ok ... Now I understand why you don't want to share your secret." Lily Gomes somehow guessed his secret but due to the Oath she is not allowed to ask anything about it.

The workers just thought they were pouring all the stocks into the sea. One by one the barrel fell. It sank to the bottom.

"He must have added some 10 tons of charms in each barrel." She mumbled. As the name suggests these charms will increase weight when they are activated. At the edge of the deck, Situ activated the charm before dropping it

More than hundreds of barrels were thrown. Lily Gomes suddenly heard something.

"All of you stop." She immediately ordered. Everyone stopped.

Tyler walked out along with Mana and Silvia. Lily quickly figured out that these two already knew Tyler's secret. She felt little.... Jealous.

"What happened?" Tyler asked.

Lily pointed behind them. They turned around and saw a huge tongue slithering on the boat. Tyler signalled the workers to move back. The tongue moved on the deck like a snake. Tyler and others moved backwards.

One of the workers slipped and fell. The tongue felt vibration and turned towards him. It quickly raised to the ship level and was about to grab the people. But it stopped. Because it felt a lot of vibration on the other side.

Tyler poured out many storage bags. The tongue then slammed at that place, making cracks on the ship. It scooped up those storage bags and dragged it down.

"There should be barrels of tranquilliser herbs in it, right?" Lily Gomes murmured. She already took her flying sword and was ready to escape with Tyler and Others anytime. She didn't care about the slaves.

"Each sac contains 50 of them." Tyler nodded which made Lily Gomes widen her eyes again.

The storage sacs are consumed by the Titan creature. It melted and got destroyed in the stomach acid. Thousands of barrels popped inside its stomach.

The whole ship shook. The mountain-like teeth are shaking. Then it stopped.

"Quick, now is the chance. Go west through that gap." Lily Gomes shouted.

The ship quickly moved towards the gap. This is one of the suggestions Lily Gomes gave. She didn't expect they would use this to escape without any loss.

They soon reached the gap between their teeth. They saw the mountain-like teeth standing in the water. When they were about to pass the gap. They got stuck in a broken tooth.

"Cavity. Oh no." Lily Gomes sighed, "This is why brushing daily is very important, kids."

"Now it's not the time to do dad jokes." Tyler retorted her.

"There is only one way. Jump down and push the ship." She said,

"What the- ?"

"Do it faster before it closes its mouth in sleep." She urged..

Tyler jumped into the sea.

Mode Dragon

Red scales with dark shade appeared on his body.

He pushed the ship. It doesn't even move an inch. Tyler shouted loudly and used all his strength.

"Use your Kun Swimming technique." Lily Gomes cheered from the ship.

Tyler then moved back and like a jet he charged forward and used his full strength to push. Muscles are bulging within his scales. His face turned even redder.

The ship jerked a little. It moved a little. Tyler was motivated and shouted as he pushed.

Tyler suddenly felt refreshed like his energies were refilled. He also felt his strength also reached a new level.

One Star Elite Warrior Level.

He made a breakthrough. The ship moved even further.

"Wow, it really worked." Lily murmured and then she also jumped from the ship. She took a sharp Sword and sliced the tooth. The tooth sliced like butter. But her sword also turned into powder. She looked at the hilt with a hint of loss. She then quickly snapped out of it. She kicked the sliced tooth. The tooth slid down, making it easier for Tyler to push.

Maybe due to the tooth getting sliced off. The Sea Titan woke up for a second. It quickly closed its mouth.

The whole ship moved forward and they successfully escaped from the monster's mouth. Tyler, who is under the water, saw a Giant Eye. It felt like the Giant Eye was looking at him. Then it closed its eyes and drowned to the bottom of the endless sea.

The whole ship shouted in cheers. Silvia and Mana looked worried, at that time Tyler was Princess carried by Lily Gomes. Tyler turned back normal.

Everyone who was cheering paused and looked at them.

"What are you looking at? Sail the ship out this dangerous area. Faster." She ordered. Everyone went back to work.

"He is just tired. He will wake up." Lily Gomes comforted them before carrying him inside.

"You are really reckless." Lily Gomes smiled while looking at Tyler. For some reason she felt Tyler looking a little more handsome. Lily shook her head on these thoughts.

She then opened Tyler's room and placed him on the bed. Then she turned around to leave.

"If you want to take care of him. Just go inside." Lily said. A figure walked in. It is Chef Darla. She has a slight blush on her face because she was caught red handed.

"How is he?" She asked with worry.

"He is just tired." She said and looked at the Girl's reaction. 'He is handsome after all,' She thought to herself.

"So you wanna warm up his bed?" She asked jokingly.

Darla turned around and ran away in embarrassment. She couldn't handle the teasing.

"Why do I even care about that pervert? He didn't even do anything to me." She sighed in disappointment as she walked into the kitchen.

"We survived." Situ smiled at her.

Darla smiled back and walked away. Situ is still looking at her with a silly smile.

Darla didn't notice her mind was on something else.

Chapter 120: Mysterious Token and the Pirates Gathering

"Wow.... This fish soup tastes so good, Taka." Tyler complimented Taka.

"Oh no... This one was cooked by Darla. She did the whole process." Taka waved his tentacles.

Tyler looked around and Darla was nowhere to be seen.

"She is busy cooking for the servants." Taka said.

"Tell her It is delicious." Tyler drank the whole soup.

"So Taka, what were you saying before?"

"Boss White, I had this one weird customer before. He was bleeding a lot, so the restaurant didn't allow him in." Taka began to narrate the story.

That day was a busy day. The restaurant was crowded with many people. One boat stopped near the ship. A man with a deep wound on his rib cage dragged his body with difficulty to the restaurant. Blood dropped wherever he walked.

"Oi oi.. How can we eat here when there is a smell of blood?" One of the customers shouted.

Soon the servers blocked his path.

"Just give me some food. I will stay in the boat." The man didn't make it difficult for them.

"Our chefs are all busy. You have to make a reservation. Even if you did that you have to wait for a week at least." The server said.

"I will wait on that boat." The injured man ignored their words.

"Hey are you even listening?"

"Just gossip about me in the kitchen. The food will deliver itself." The man just said those words and left the confused servers.

They quickly ignored him and went back to work. One of the waiters went to the kitchen, and he talked about the weird man outside.

Taka heard their conversation. He quickly made a small meal and took it.

"Where is that Octopus going?" One of the chefs asked.

"Don't know. Probably his imaginary customers? Hahaha."

Taka also took an emergency healing kit. He walked towards the boat with the injured man on it.

"Here is your food." Taka placed the plate in front of him.

"Just as I said, the food got delivered." The injured man mumbled .

The man started eating food after thanking Taka.

"Well, let me remind you something, I don't have a single Lydia on me." The man said.

"You have to say that before eating." Taka retorted, "Well, don't worry. It's on my tab."

Taka also wrapped the wound with a bandage.

"You are so kind." The man mumbled.

After eating, the man took a small token. A star shaped token.

"One day you will reach the edge of the world. At that time, use this. It is called Star Gazer." Taka accepted the token. The token was a black star-shaped with violet borders and with small white dots on it. The texture resembles the night sky.

"What is this?" Taka asked but when he looked up, The boat was empty and the man was nowhere to be seen. Taka quickly jumped into the water, thinking that the man drowned. But he couldn't find his 'body'.

Tyler looked at the Star shaped token in his hand.

"Why are you giving this to me?" Tyler asked.

"Huh... Everyone in the ship is talking about how you emptied all your stocks just to save the ship and the people. You also saved my life. So Gift." Taka scratched his head using his tentacles and said,

"Give me some water." Tyler suddenly said.

Taka was taken back by sudden request but still he obediently took a water jug from the table and poured it. While Taka is not noticing, Tyler places his copper pot back.

"Thank you for the water." Tyler nodded and gave the token back.

"Taka, you are someone who is going to travel with me to the North. So whatever this 'thing' is, you better take it. Whatever the opportunity is, you should grasp it." Tyler said.

Taka was moved to tears. He thanked him and left. After making sure Taka left, Tyler took an identical token.

"Hmm... I wonder what you are?" Tyler murmured.

Taka walked back to the kitchen. Darla has already finished the Cooking. When she saw Taka, she looked at him nervously.

Taka patted her head.

"He loved it." Taka said three words. Darla nodded in satisfaction and went to work. She needs to make some desserts next.

Tyler's ship received an amusing visitor. It's an adventure ship.

The captain of the ship shook Tyler's hand and whispered, "Please just act like you have less stocks. I have only Little money and I don't want my crew to know it."

"But we seriously have few stocks left." Tyler replied.

"Aye , that's what I wanted. Act like that." The captain nodded in satisfaction.

Tyler was dumbfounded. He made copies of more sea shells and hid many stocks just to make the servants believe that they tossed all the stocks out.

Tyler then took a sea shell and gave it to the captain.

"This is the last stock we have." The captain accepted it and gave Tyler a sea shell containing Lydia. The servant who watched this was moved to tears.

"Aww Man... At Least we got these." The captain said to his crew.

"Oh by the way, don't go that way. I heard that Pirates are gonna have a gathering over the Bill Island. They might be trading the loot they plundered." The captain warned Tyler.

Tyler thanked him.

"Hey captain, did you tell them?" One of the women on the ship asked their adventure group's captain.

"W-what? N-No... I didn't say anything." The Captain was agitated like he was caught red handed.

"I mean, about the pirate gathering." The woman said.

"Oh that ... Yeah. I warned them." The captain nodded.

"Then why is their ship moving towards bill island?"

"What the?" The captain looked at the ship confused.

"Are we going to the pirate gathering?" Lily asked.

"Yeah... But we will use another identity."

The ship docked at another Island. Tyler instructed Situ to load up the stocks. It will be very easy to store more with lots of seashells in the ship. But Tyler didn't want to show his wealth. He just wanted to act like a normal merchant.

The Pirates gathering is a normal thing. It is where a group of Pirates gather together to exchange information and loot. There are also some pirates who compete with each other. No one dares to make unnecessary trouble because it's pirate code. Usually some high level pirates will announce the gathering at a certain island and pirates around the area will gather there.

Most Pirates in the Southern Seas are already on Bill Island. There are no autochthonous people inhabiting Bill Island. So it was easier for them to make a bustling spot. There was a lot of music, a busy crowd, lots of girls with revealing dresses walking around. Lots of ships with their Jolly Roger on the shore.

"Oh oh. That's the Green snake pirates. I heard that their bounty is 5 million Lydia." One of the pirates is looking at Higher Bounty Pirates with admiration. He took a sip of wine. There is a small wine seller stall at the shore with some tables.

Then there was a guy who looked very depressed walking with his crew.

"That is Hooker Hogan. I heard he was surrounded by 30 bounty hunters. Somehow he escaped from them. I heard his bounty is now 11 million Lydia." The pirate said to his friend.

"Do you think pirates with 20 million Lydia will attend this gathering?" The friend asked.

"This gathering is arranged by Tank Pirates. They have 18 million Lydia. I doubt these high bounty pirates will even bother to come." The Pirate said.

"Did you find out?" Hooker Hogan asked while sitting on a bench near the shore. He ordered a wine.

"Captain. The 'White Merchant Group' is not that famous. But there is only one Merchant group that matches with your description. They seem to be going to the edge of the world." His crewmate said.

"To the south, huh ... Then great..." Hooker Hogan Nodded. He decided to travel north. He doesn't want to meet them ever again. He almost lost most of his crew members due to the bounty hunters' siege.

"Oii look at that..."

"Hahaha... Who are they?"

Hooker Hogan looked over. A boat is moving towards Bill Island. On the top of the boat Four people are standing with a phantom mask on their face.

"Wow, I didn't expect you to have lots of these treasure masks." Lily Gomes said mockingly.

"Remember the Oath. Don't ask." Tyler replied.

"Mana is a pirate now." Mana said.

"Can you please use a different name?" Tyler requested.

"Kana is a pirate now." Mana thought for a second and said.

"Nope.... Let's come up with some Fierce names. Until then, don't talk." Tyler shook his head.

Mana pouted but since she was wearing a mask they couldn't see it.

"Who are they?"

"Some nameless pirates. Or pirates wannabe. They don't have a jolly Roger. Heck, they don't even have a ship."

"Maybe they lost it to a sea Titan. Hahahaha."

The Pirates on the shore laughed.

"Th- that that that...." The pirate who is talking about everyone bounty stuttered. Before he could even speak he fell down due to getting over drunk.

"Don't Provoke them... That's 30 million Bou---" He murmured slowly and fell asleep. Sadly even his friend nearby couldn't hear him.
