

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 121 Make Natalie pay back ten times!

"Um?" Jerry seemed to want to say something, but he didn't. Seeing this, Natalie couldn't help but urge him to talk.

"What should I say?" Jerry thought carefully, but couldn't come up with anything to explain..

"It's men's intuition. You don't understand." Jerry thought for a long time and finally said this.

Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, "Men's intuition?"

Jerry nodded and said, "What? Don't you believe it? Women have intuition, so naturally, men also have intuition."

"If you can't feel that, you can make a comparison with women's intuition. For example, when you meet a woman for the first time, you will be able to tell whether she likes you, right?"

"Or, you will feel her hostility."

Natalie smiled and said, 'Yes... I can feel that.'

"That's right, that's it. Men are the same." Jerry also smiled.

"I'll talk to Ryan later and ask him to accept your friend request. Although Natalie didn't think Ryan would hate Jerry, she chose to help Jerry.

There must be a misunderstanding.

"Okay, thanks a lot, Doctor Nancy," Jerry said politely. He returned to being gentle.

"You are welcome." Natalie waved her hand..

People in the Lance family were all good, but they were too polite. No matter if it was Jerry, Ann, or other members of the Lance family, they treated everyone they met gently and politely.

They were not like the Graham family. Members of the Graham family saw themselves as gentle and modest people, but they were not at all.

Especially Julian.

When Natalie thought of the Graham family, she couldn't help but think of how she was kicked out of the banquet that day. Her face turned gloomy.

Upon seeing this, Jerry immediately asked with concern, "What's the matter? Are you feeling unwell? You don't look well."

He felt a little nervous for some reason in his heart.

"It's okay. I just remembered some bad memories. "Natalie looked up and smiled at Jerry.

Jerry breathed a sigh of relief and said, "Good to hear that."

"Forgive me, but can you tell me what kind of bad memory?" Jerry thought for a while and asked.

He felt that there was always a strange force in his heart that made him want to know more about the woman in front of him. Her past and her life.

He wanted to know why her face turned gloomy and why she distanced him. He wanted to know everything about her.

But for those who have just met, this question was indeed not suitable. As soon as Jerry asked, he regretted

"No big deal. Just an unpleasant thing. I don't want to talk about it."

As Jerry expected, Natalie refused him.

Jerry's expression remained unchanged. He immediately said, "Sorry, I shouldn't ask about that."

"I just want to say that if you can turn those bad memories into power to push you forward, then those bad memories become useful."

Jerry left after saying this. He didn't wait for Natalie's reply.

Natalie was stunned. In the blink of an eye, Jerry was already gone.

She lowered her head and recalled what Jerry had just said, "Turn those bad memories into power to push me forward?"

She murmured the sentence over and over again.

Turning bad memories into power?

"Why did the man in front of Natalie leave? Why didn't they leave together? "Niki stood not far away, saying in a mocking tone.

With her hands on her waist, Niki looked delicate. Gina was holding her phone.

Next to her, a bodyguard was holding the umbrella for her with a serious face.

"Natalie looked stunned. She failed to hook up with that man?" Niki narrowed her eyes. She sounded very mean.

Gina said nothing.

Niki looked coldly at Natalie as Natalie got into the car, started the car, and then drove away.

Gina stopped shooting and handed the phone to Niki. "Ms. Lynch, I've captured the scene."

"Thanks. Let's get in the car then. "Niki took her phone and looked very happy.

She had got all the evidence. She would teach Natalie a lesson. She had to let Natalie pay the price for slapping her:

She would make Natalie pay back ten times!

Niki and her people also got in the car one after another. Then the car started.

Niki sat in the back seat, opened the album, and felt very happy. She took a look at the video and suddenly froze.

This man... wasn't Philip.

Niki narrowed her eyes and used her fingers to zoom in on the screen. The man in the video looked gentle and elegant, but Philip was a playboy. It wasn't Philip.

This man was totally different from Philip.

Niki furrowed her brows. Was Natalie having an affair with more than one man?

What a shame!

Niki enlarged the image in the video, took a screenshot, and sent it to Julian's special assistant.

"Help me find out who this man is, as soon as possible."

Julian's special assistant helped Niki several times. His attitude was obvious. He chose to help Niki, not Natalie.

So Niki thought that she could use Julian's special assistant.

At this moment, Julian's special assistant was anxious since the whole company was in a mess. Hearing the message notification, he took his phone out.

Then he found that it was a message from Niki.

"Okay, right on it."

Not long after, Niki received a reply.

"He's Jerry Lance from the Lance family. He's also the president of Eagle Group."

Niki looked down and said, "Jerry Lance? Another president?"

She then snorted coldly, "Natalie has ambitions, but she just lacks self-knowledge. Does she know who she is.

and what her background is? How dare you try to seduce men everywhere?"

"Turn around. We won't go back to the apartment for now. Let's head toward the company." Niki toyed with her phone and suddenly decided to go meet Julian.

The driver turned around and soon arrived at the Graham Group.

"Gina, you go back to the apartment with the driver. I will go back in Julian's car."

Gina nodded.

"Oh, by the way, put these things in the storage room first, not in the living room," Niki added.

She was afraid that Julian would know that she bought so many things after he came to the apartment. That wasn't a good thing.

As the car drove away, Niki lowered her hair and sent a message.

"I'm here at the Graham Group. Come pick me up."

The phone of Julian's special assistant rang again. He took the phone and saw Niki's message.

The savior had arrived!

The special assistant no longer looked anxious. He thought, 'Niki has come! Mr. Graham dotes on her so much. He won't be that terrifying then.'

The atmosphere in the office was so tense. He didn't want to stay here for one more second.

He immediately tidied up the table, got up, and went downstairs to pick up Niki.

She was extremely fast.

"Why are you running so fast?" Niki frowned and looked at the special assistant, due to running.

With a closer look, Niki could see his dark circles. He looked quite tired.

He no longer looked like an elite as usual.

ose hair was in a mess

“Sorry, I was just too excited to hear that you were coming.” The special assistant quickly brushed his hair, trying to make himself look better.

“And, you are so beautiful that I couldn’t help but come in a hurry to see you.”

“Isn’t that so?” Niki looked at him.

Although Niki seemed to doubt it, her expression betrayed her. Obviously, she liked to hear such things.

“Of course. You are just not aware of your beauty. If you are not beautiful, why is Mr, Graham so obsessed with you?”

“Okay, cut it. Let’s go.” Niki smiled. She tidied her dress and went into the elevator.

The special assistant hurriedly followed.

Niki stood in the elevator happily. She wasn’t aware of the mess upstairs at all.

Chapter 122 From love to hate?

The CEO’s exclusive elevator reached the top floor in a short while. As the luxurious elevator door opened,

Niki stepped out first.

Joey followed closely behind.

A low pressure permeated on the top floor.

Walking all the way, she didn’t see anyone.

She felt strange and couldn’t help but say, “Why isn’t there anyone? Where have people gone? Aren’t they working today?”

Joey avoided her gaze. “Today is workday. They are all in their office cubicles.”

“Really? Why didn’t I see them?” Niki frowned and scanned the desks carefully.

Squinting her eyes to search them carefully, she finally saw several employees hunching over their desks.

They all looked depressed with dark circles and haggard faces.

“What’s the matter?” Niki blinked. “Why are your dark circles so big? Does Brother Julian mistreat you?”

Joey waved his hand and said in low tones, ‘He doesn’t abuse us, but we have really suffered much.”

They couldn’t express their suffering.

“Could you please advise Mr. Graham? We have been working overtime for several consecutive days. Even if we want to continue working overtime, our bodies are unable to withstand it.”

*Brother Julian doesn’t seem to be someone who would ask you to work extra hours.” Niki raised her eyebrows.

Julian was usually cold-hearted, decisive and tough, and so the employees were somewhat afraid of him.

But he never asked employees to work overtime. As long as they didn’t made big mistakes, he never excoriated them.

Therefore, although it’s rumored that the work atmosphere in Graham Group was frightening, the employees were actually very happy.

“Yes, Mr. Graham, as everyone knows, treats us very well. But you also know the company has not gained the authorization of Glory Group recently. The atmosphere in the company...”

He stopped saying the rest.

Niki immediately understood where the low pressure came from.

“Since Mr. Graham came back from outside today, he has fired several people in succession... One of them has been...".

"What happened to him?" Niki urged him to finish speaking.

"He has been faint from fear." He gritted his teeth and whispered.

It was no exaggeration. Today, those colleagues didn't know Mr. Graham was in a bad mood. They were in the eye of the storm when they took the new plan to him for review.

Unexpectedly, the deafening sound of falling objects came from the CEO's office and they crawled out of it. Some of them even had crimson and bloody scratches on their faces.

They were scratched by a sharp folder thrown out by the CEO.

"Brother Julian was so angry... Let me take a look." Niki tensed, hearing someone was faint.

"I'll thank Miss Linch on behalf of all colleagues."

He told Niki just because he expected her to excite Mr. Graham or let him go home first.

After all, Mr. Graham loved Niki so much that perhaps she wouldn't be treated like them.

It's better for her to persuade Mr. Graham than for everyone to be afraid in his sight.

'But where has Brother Julian gone today? Why does he suddenly become angry?'

Joey carefully recalled, "He should have gone to the Lance family. He behaved like this after going back."

"The Lance family? You mean the Lance family from Eagle Group?" Her eyes flickered slightly.

"Yes, that's right."

"Did Julian also go to the Lance family today? Her heart trembled. 'Did he see Natalie collude with Jerry?'"

'Julian is so angry whether because of Natalie or... She was not sure.

"If he doesn't love her, no matter what she does, he won't care it.'

'But if he is angry or has other mood swings... What does that mean?' Niki dared not think about it.

People said that love begets hate... Where did hatred come from without love?

Niki hesitated and looked at the CEO's office, unsure of what she was thinking.

'Miss Linch...' Joey had butterflies in his stomach when he noticed her strange expression.

Niki regained her composure and drove the idea out of her mind. She cleared her throat, "I'll go now."

'It's impossible for Julian to still love Natalie. Julian can only love me!'

Joey saw Niki walk towards the office and prayed the CEO could calm down.

Natalie drove back home.

After putting down her bag, she took the medicine bag from the dining table, put some cassia seeds into the kettle, and plugged in the socket to boil it.

The cassia seed, a herbaceous shrub on the mountain, could brighten eyes and nourish kidneys Natalie had been busy doing experiments in the laboratory these days, and her eyes were inevitably tired.

She saw the water rolling in the kettle, took her phone and sent a Facebook message to Ryan.

"I gave your Facebook account to Jerry. Remember to agree his friend request."

She never procrastinated and only rest after finishing everything necessary.

Since she promised Jerry just now, she must complete the task in a timely manner.

After sending the message, Natalie placed her phone on the table and walked to the bathroom.

She chose to stand in the bathtub rather than lie down. She stood under the shower and turned on the water to its maximum capacity.

The rapid water flow splashed up and scattered on her snow-white shoulders and chest.

The fierce momentum in the shower made her feel both nervous and at ease. She could feel the tension in her heart was eased.

She closed the shower and came out of the bathroom.

She sat in front of the dressing table in a light blue bathrobe and slowly dried her hair. Her movement appeared very elegant.

Maybe Ryan had something to deal with and so his reply was unusually slow. She only saw his message after washing up.

“Did you give my Facebook account to Jerry?” The tone was questioning.

She replied with only one word, “Yes.”

Ryan did not reply.

She frowned, ‘What does Ryan mean? Does he really hate Jerry? But he has no reason to dislike Jerry.’

She was puzzled and decided to call him to inquire.

The phone was connected.

“Doctor, why do you suddenly call? Ryan’s voice sounded.

Before she could speak, Ryan said gently, “Are you asking me to add Jerry? I have accepted his friend request. You may rest assured.”

Although he was unwilling...

She was about to say something but Ryan said first. According to his tone, he was not angry.

Although his tone was the same as usual, Natalie thought it would be better to explain.

“I ask you to add Jerry because I want the Lance family to directly contact you, and so you don’t have to contact them through me.”

Get Bagus

“Will the Lance family directly contact me?” His tone suddenly felt a little pleased. “Does it mean Jerry comes to me not you?”

“Yes, I plan to let you take charge of Abaca Project.” She thought the reason why he was joyful was that he could play a leading role in drug development.

But she was wrong.

Ryan didn't ask about drug development but said excitedly, "So you won't contact Jerry in the future, will you?"

Natalie was taken aback.

'He was joyful for this reason?'

Chapter 123 Never disappoint the doctor

"It's impossible not to contact Jerry in the future..." She thought for a moment and said.

She didn't ask Jerry to add her on Facebook but asked him to directly contact Ryan, but she was nominally in charge of this project.

Even if Jerry didn't contact her, his mother had to contact her. So it was impossible not to contact Jerry.

Therefore, Natalie understood that they still needed to keep contact to some extent, but it would be minimized compared to normal communication at work.

"Oh..." Ryan's tone was somewhat prolonged.

It was not obvious, but Natalie immediately felt the disappointment in his tone.

A slightly aggrieved voice, coupled with a hint of disappointment, brought to her mind a small dog with drooping ears and moist eyes.

She felt her heart softened a little.

She continued to speak, with an unconscious hint of comfort in her tone. "Although I can't avoid contacting Jerry, I will definitely have no contact with him until in the middle or late stage of the project."

"Really?" His tone was somewhat uncertain.

“Yes, I don’t even add Jerry on Facebook. Now you should believe me.” Although she didn’t know why she had to explain...

His lips were parted into a wide smile. “I believe you!” The disappointment on his face had all gone.

He was afraid of Jerry pestering the doctor, but unexpectedly she didn’t even want to add him on Facebook, which directly disillusioned Jerry!

The kettle boiled and tinkled.

After hearing the sound, Natalie turned her head to the kettle. She took her phone in one hand and fetched the kettle in the other.

“Doctor, rest assured that since you have decided to entrust this project to me, I will not disappoint you!”

She had walked to the table and slowly poured the soaked cassia seeds into a cup. The dense steam in the kettle curled steadily upwards and a faint sweet and bitter taste filled the room.

“I entrusted you with this project to test you. Otherwise, if you haven’t made significant progress in pharmacy after following me for so many years, won’t it be unfair to you?” Natalie took a sip of tea and said lightly.

“No. I follow you to conduct experiments and purchase medicinal herbs. All these knowledge are deeply ingrained. How could I not make progress?” Ryan clearly disagreed with her.

She raised the corner of her mouth, “This said, I want you to learn further.”

Drinking tea, she suddenly remembered she had not completed the contents In the cowhide notebook, and there was still a long way to go.

Recently I have been too busy to add any content to it.” Natalie felt a little annoyed.

“In short, this project is just for you to have a try. If you’re busy or it’s beyond your ability, don’t force yourself to work too hard for it. It's not desirable to exhaust yourself."

She didn't want Ryan to forget all about eating and sleeping like her or stay in the laboratory for a whole day.

Even if he couldn't finish it on his own, she could guide him, Ryan had no need to worry or overwork.

The doctor said this project was just for him to have a try?"

'Only she can casually use such a large project for me to have a try." Ryan exclaimed in his heart and felt a sense of pride.

But he was confident that he could complete it. He needed to prove it to the doctor and wouldn't disappoint her!

He needed to let the doctor know he had learned something from her and that he was worthy. Then he could follow the doctor longer.

"Don't worry, I can make it." Ryan added, afraid that she might worry about him. "If I'm tired, I will definitely stop and rest."

Upon hearing his unwavering promise, Natalie felt relieved. Then I won't disturb you. You should rest quickly."

She rung off and slowly drank tea.

The tea was bitter, but she drank it all in a calm manner as if she didn't feel the bitterness at all

She would never have drunk such bitter tea before and only drank when Henry coaxed her. But after that accident, she could drink any bitter drinks....

Since Henry died, her heart has been filled with bitterness and she has been used to it.

Henry's departure was the beginning of her suffering. She has been used to easing her inner pain through the bitterness of taste.

The other scene

Niki walked slowly towards the CEO's office with a complex mood.

The exhausted employees, who had hunched over the desks, looked up at Niki, their eyes filled with anticipation.

Joey, can she make it?" One of them tugged at the corner of Joey's clothes, feeling uneasy.

"Regardless of whether she can do it or not, do we have any other choice now? We can only have a try." Joey sighed as he looked at Niki.

If it weren't for the fact that he couldn't bear it anymore, he wouldn't have risked offending Niki and begged her to persuade Mr. Graham.

"Mr. Graham loves her so much. I think it is possible," added Joey.

"Don't worry. Joey is helping us all. Let's just have a look. I think Joey is right. Mr. Graham loved Niki so much that he will definitely listen to her." The secretary interrupted.

Others stopped talking anymore.

Niki slowly knocked on the door but she only heard him say coldly "get away".

The sound appeared clearer along the silent corridor.

Her face suddenly fell.

But she was just stunned and knocked on the door again. "Brother Julian, I'm Niki."

No sound came from the office.

Niki paused and said again, "Brother Julian, I'm Niki. I want to get inside. You will let me enter, won't you...."

"I know you are in a bad mood today, and so I come to accompany you from the apartment. Brother Julian, let me enter, please."

The tone was very aggrieved.

There was still no sound from the office.

The employees were also stunned. The person who had just started speaking slowly said, "Does Mr. Graham really love Miss Linch? It seems not to be the case."

Joey was in silence.

Niki looked paler. She struggled to say, "Brother Julian, I will enter if you're still silent."

There was still no response.

Everyone looked quietly at Niki. Their eyes were full of suspicion rather than expectation.

Niki gritted her teeth and set her heart upon it. She touched the handle and intended to enter.

Chapter 124 What he should do to avoid an operational crisis?

All people looked at Niki, and she knew she should do something. She put her hand on the door handle tightly and then turned the doorknob to open the door.

She knew what it meant to do so now. If Julian were really angry and she just rushed in like this, she would be faced with a terrifying situation that would be unimaginable to her.

But she had to do something.

If she was shamed in front of the Graham Group's employees, she will lose all her chance to establish her rules when she married the CEO of the Graham Group in the future.

No. Absolutely.

If she did something now, she may not only take this opportunity to consolidate her important position in the hearts of all employees of the Graham Group but also further deepen their relationship.

After all, only by appearing at a time when Julian's mood was extremely unstable and doing her best to comfort and comfort him could she show her love and patience for Julian.

Niki was nervous as she comforted herself with subtle feelings in this room, trying to approach him.

The office was not as messy as she had imagined. On the contrary, it was clean and comfortable.

The dark black leather sofa refracted a silver-white light under the cold light, and the entire office carried the unique scent of Julian..

A strong smoky and fragrant aroma, mixed with the coldness of ebony, was extremely rich.

Niki blinked and comfort herself. She recalled the depressing situation that Joey told her about and thought that Julian would overthrow the office angrily.

As a result, everything was normal, and it seemed that Julian was not too angry.

Niki narrowed her eyes and looked around, but she did not see Julian. She was puzzled and couldn't help but take a few more steps forward, but she still didn't see Julian.

"Julian...? Where are you?" Niki whispered.

"Julian, I am coming in but I didn't see you. Where are you?"

Just as Niki stopped, a voice came from the corner of the office- "Get out." The cold voice was uncomfortable.

Julian was standing in front of the French window in the middle of the room at the moment. He looked out of the window casually, with extreme depression, but he still thinks about something.

The silver shell of the luxurious watch on the wrist exposed under the sleeve of the suit could even transmit more feelings than his face.

Niki was startled, but she quickly changed her face and said, "Julian, why are you there? I've been looking for you for a long time

She walked forward as she spoke.

“Can’t you hear me? Get out “Julian’s voice now carried a greater anger, coldness, and impersonal sense.

This tone of voice was something that Niki had never heard before. Even though she made a huge mistake that she had framed Natalie, Julian never said something to her like this.

Niki was stunned, she didn’t dare to move.

*Julian, what happens? Can I help you? I heard from Joey that you have been very angry since you came back from The Lance Family

Is someone from The Lance Family making you annoyed? “Niki asked him tentatively, but she still wanted to know if the person who made Julian angry was Natalie.

Julian stood upright in front of the window. Upon hearing Niki’s words, everything he had experienced at The Lance Family this morning came to mind.

Julian took the initiative to lower his temperament and invite The Lance Family to cooperate with The Graham Group, but they unexpectedly refused him, even with a mean attitude. Thinking about it, Julian couldn’t calm down in his heart.

“Julian...? “Niki said again when she saw that Julian had not spoken.

Can’t it be Natalie who caused it?

“Are you deaf? Get out. “Julian stood by the window, losing his tie with one hand Irritably.

The Lance Family refused this cooperation, and Glory Group also charged Dr. Nancy’s authorization exclusively... Graham couldn’t have more time to wait for other chances.

Julian now doesn’t know what he should do to avoid an operational crisis.

Niki dare not move again.

“Julian... “Before she could say something more, the bodyguard standing was already standing behind her.

Miss Linch, Mr. Graham doesn't want to see you. You should go. “The bodyguard's tone was very polite.

Although he was polite, she knew he was warning her.

Niki turned back and said, “...”

“Please.” The bodyguard looked at her, his eyes quite indifferent.

Niki knew that if she persisted in staying here, it would make Julian angry more.

She dare not.

“I see, I'll go now. “Niki lowered her tone.

But she still seemed a bit uneasy about Julian. She turned around and said, “Julian....

“Just calm down. Being angry is not good for your health. There is a way to handle these issues. Take care.

Julian did not answer.”

“Miss Linch? You should go. Please forgive me.”

“How dare you? “Niki stared at him. She was Julian's fiancée, and how dare the bodyguard to treat her like this? Who he was?

The bodyguard shrugged and said, “Excuse me. But Mr. Graham told us he didn't want to be disturbed, so please leave here.”

Niki snorted coldly and said, “I know.” After saying that, she glanced at Julian and then took a step out of the door.

She pushed the door out of the office calmly.

The people standing in place were curious about what happened to Niki when they saw her come out.

One of them touched Joey with his elbow and said, "Joey, maybe you can ask Miss Linch what she talked about with Mr. Graham

The sound insulation in the CEO's office was perfect, they didn't hear anything.

Joey turned his head and glared at the person, "Why I should do that? About you?"

Just go. Bro, you know I have no chance to talk with her."

"Could you, please Joey?"

Joey just shook his head and said, "Fine, I will go."

"Thank you, Joey! "They all delighted.

Joey stood up and walked towards Niki, "Miss Linch, what's going on? Has Mr. Graham gotten better?"

Niki coughed slightly. So peaceful.

After Joey inferred from Niki's expression that she had successfully comforted Mr. Graham, Niki suddenly spoke, "No. Yes. Ah, no."

Joey was stunned and said, "What did you say?... What are you talking about?"

Julian didn't calm down

Joey felt upset, "Is there anything better?"

Niki lightly scanned Joey's face and said, "Em, no."

"What? "Joey was astonished." Didn't you just talk with Mr. Graham in the office? What happen?"

Niki kept her facial expression and said, "When I entered, I see Julian was doing something, and talked with me gently, as usual."

Chapter 125 Talent

"Was he really angry? I can't tell that. So, I know there is no need to do something." Niki said downright.

She would never tell them what did happen actually. She would be the first lady of the Graham Group, and she cannot be shameful in front of employees.

Niki frowned and looked at Joey as she spoke, "There is something wrong, isn't it? In my eyes, he was not angry and he talked with me gently."

Joey was confused.

Did she just say that Mr. Graham was very gentle and peaceful? Really? But Mr. Graham was depressed this morning in his eyes.

"Is there something wrong with your plans? Maybe that is the real reason why Julian is so angry. "Niki blinked.

"That is Julian. He is very strict with things at work, so if there is something terrible happened at work, he must be angry. And you know, only if Julian is stricter with work affairs, can the Graham Group develop better, right? "Niki continued, looking at Joey.

Joey was still a bit stunned. After noticing Niki's expression, he was bittersweet.

He answered her reluctantly, "That's right."

Um... Is Mr. Graham even more in love with Miss Linch than he imagined? That's why he never reveals any of his bad emotions to Miss Linch, does it?

No matter how much anger he was, whenever he saw Miss Linch, he would restrain his anger and greet her with a smile.

Joey thought of this and pictured it in his mind.

In his mind, Mr. Graham, who had always been cold to others, seldom showed a bright smile that didn't match him perfectly. What did Mr. Graham look like when he looked at Miss Linch with an incredibly soft expression, coupled with a gentle tone?

Joey thought of this and shook his head quickly as if he could not believe it.

Unbelievable. That was Mr. Graham? No, no, no..

“So you should spend more time thinking about how to perfect the plan. After all, the sudden problem at this time is serious. “Niki then coughed slightly and said something like she was the first lady of Graham Group.”

We are family, you know. Unity is strength.”

“I agree with you.” Hearing Niki say this, Joey nodded his head unwillingly.

But why these disadvantaged employees should undertake Mr. Graham’s emotions? He mourned.

“Then I’ll go. Oh, yes. I want to order some desserts for you and your colleagues later as compensation for your overtime. My treat. You can tell me what you want through message.”

Then, she turned around and left.

Only one person, Joey, remained in place, thinking over the information in his mind.

“Joey! How’s it going? Has Mr. Graham got better now? Can we leave? “As Niki left, Joey was surrounded by his colleagues.

“No way. No.”

Ah? But Miss Lynch was good. I thought we can leave off work timely. Fine.’

Joey thought of what Niki had just said, and he secretly muttered to himself. Of course, She was good. Mr.

Graham, who was indifferent to everything except his work, fell in love with her, How could she be unhappy?

“Go ahead with your work. Work is our first pick, OK.”Joey changed the topic in a bad mood.

A group of people left disheartened and wailed, “When did this stupid problem could be handled?”

At this moment, Niki left the company, and she stopped simpering.

She looked at the pedestrian streets, countless cars speeding away, without a single stop for her.

Julian changed a lot and was different than before. She originally thought that there was no possibility to make a person change too much in short three years. But after today, Niki completely overturned her ideas.

She knew that the three years were of great importance to Julian.

She could know what happened and why Julian was not the man like before.

Julian said something like that for something stupid and unrelated to her Niki stood on the street of the company's gate, with a sarcastic smile on her face. She now felt how ridiculous she had asked Aunt Lily to leave here first.

So, taxi? Niki frowned, she had not taken a taxi for a long time since she come back from abroad.

She would never sit in a pile of seats where no one knew who had used it, combined with the unpleasant smell.

Niki decisively took out her phone and called the driver, "Hello. I'm at the entrance of the company, please come here quickly."

"Mr. Linch, you said you will come back with Mr. Graham. Why suddenly...?" The driver suddenly received her call and was confused.

"Just come here. It's none of your business. Don't you work for our company?" Niki became angry.

How dare even a driver speak to her like that now?

"I'll be there." The driver said quickly.

A few days later, in Glory Group's laboratory.

Natalie wore transparent experimental goggles and a mask on her face, wore plastic gloves, and kept operating various experimental reagents back and forth.

She was concentrating on experimenting.

The person, Ryan, who stayed with her, also dressed in a white experimental suit, wore a mask and goggles on his face and stared intently at various data and experimental results.

The smell of various chemical reagents in the laboratory permeated the surroundings, and the two of them cooperated from time to time harmoniously and perfectly.

“Doctor Nancy, I did it! Successfully.” Suddenly, an excited voice broke the slightly quiet atmosphere in the laboratory.

Natalie turned around at the sound.

She saw Ryan pointing at a pile of newly bred cells in the Petri dish. Amazing.

At this moment, Ryan’s eyes were sparking with excitement. Ah, youth.

Natalie also had this kind of smile. She understands Ryan’s excitement at the moment and the immense joy and sense of achievement that comes with the experimental results. She saw Ryan at this moment as if she had seen herself before.

So when she saw Ryan’s smile like this, she was infected. Natalie shouted and smiled, “That’s great.”

I didn’t expect I can get it so quickly. “Ryan said with excitement and joy in his tone.

“I told you there is no problem. You are a genius. Natalie looked at him with a gentle tone.

If ordinary pharmaceutical talents want to complete this experiment, it will take at least one year. Without any help from her, Ryan only completed it in about a week.

This kind of talent was extremely excellent.

Even if she had done it before, she probably would take more time than Ryan. Even if done it quickly, it may not be better than Ryan.

Seeing Ryan so excited, she was also thrilled.

“So, let’s go out for relaxing? This is a crucial step in your pharmaceutical career.” Natalie suddenly said.

“Hmm?

Doctor Nancy wants to treat him to dinner.

“Didn’t I owe you a meal last time? This time it is my treat.” Natalie said with a gentle smile on her face.

“Really? Today?”

“Well, yes, today,” Natalie thought for a moment.” I’m afraid something will delay our plan in the future, today is good.”

“Great! “Ryan was too excited to narrow his big eyes into a slit.

What a bright and handsome man.

Chapter 126 Call her sister?

“Ms. Spears, where are we going to eat?” Ryan looked at Natalie, who was still busy.

Natalie held a test tube in her hands. She narrowed her eyes and was dripping the reagent into it.

The bright red potions and faint blue chemical reagents mixed with each other and created wonderful ripples, looking like dazzling fireworks.

Natalie paused when she heard Ryan’s question, “Hmm... didn’t you say there was a delicious restaurant last time? Let’s go there.”

“Ah, yes. How could I forget this?” Ryan recalled what he had said before. He never thought that Ms. Spears.

would remember it better than he did.

“Then let’s go there. I am familiar with the owner of that restaurant. The food there is also delicious.”

“We can compare it with the food in famous hotels.” Ryan knew that Natalie had enjoyed the food from

Michelin restaurants, but he believed that the food in this restaurant tasted better than those famous restaurants.

“Really? I’m looking forward to it. Let’s go there when I finish this task.” Natalie nodded.

“Don’t worry, and you are definitely satisfied with it.” Ryan walked to Natalie and said, “I will help you.”

It seemed that Natalie still needed some time to finish this experiment, Ryan knew Ms. Spears’s stats in the experiment. He was afraid that Natalie would get lost in the experiment and forget about eating.

However, he didn’t want to take the opportunity to spend more time with Ms. Spears. He thought it was a pity that Natalie could not taste such delicious food.

Natalie raised her eyebrows after hearing Ryan’s words, “Are you going to help me?”

“Well, I can do it, Ms. Spears. Don’t you believe that?” Ryan glanced at Natalie, and it seemed that Natalie did not believe him.

Ryan was a bit aggrieved.

He lowered his head and wanted to get an opportunity. Then he added, “I finished that experiment independently just now... I can also do this...”

Natalie stopped her action and looked at Ryan. Ryan looked a bit aggrieved. She knew Ryan was in a bad mood, but she really didn’t mean that....

Natalie was a little embarrassed, so she quickly explained, "I believe you. You just finished your experiment, and now, you are here to help me. Are you tired?"

At this moment, Ryan looked like a furry and sensitive little dog.

"Ah..."

Ryan then realized that he had misunderstood Natalie. He awkwardly scratched his head and said, "I'm not tired, and I can help you!"

"That's okay. You can do it." Natalie put down the reagent in her hand."

Then she handed the reagent tube in her hand to Ryan. Ryan reached out and took it.

To make extra certain, Natalie did not just stand aside and ignore everything. Instead, she stood beside Ryan and watched the progress of the experiment, so she stayed close to Ryan.

It was so close that Ryan even could smell the faint scent of Natalie's body. It was just a faint scent, but for psychological reasons, Ryan still could smell it clearly.

The experimenter was not allowed to wear perfume in the laboratory. Ryan knew Ms. Spears never put on markup when she came to the laboratory, let alone perfume.

This faint scent was not pungent, and it had integrated with the chemical reagents in the laboratory.

Ryan smelt the scent and was in a hurry. "From your expression, I guess you think I can't do it well, so I am in a bad mood. I think too much, and I am sorry."

Natalie looked at Ryan.

Ryan suddenly felt some remorse when he sensed Natalie's eyesight. Why did he suddenly mention this?

Wasn't it good to focus on doing the experiment?

"Don't mind it. You can focus on doing your experiment. Don't think too much." You just needed to do your experiment. Don't worry about anything else." Natalie said softly.

She did not want Ryan to think too much, nor did she want Ryan to be a shrinking violet. Here, Ryan could be himself and do the experiments he wanted to do happily.

“Don’t treat me as a senior either. I worked in the pharmaceutical industry a few years earlier than you, and I was not powerful. If you feel uncomfortable, you can stop calling me my title, and you can call me sister.”

“Would this be good?” Natalie tilted her head and looked at Ryan seriously.

“Ah?”

Did Dr. Spears ask him to call her sister?

Should he call Dr. Spears like this? To some extent, he was reluctant to do this.

Ryan was a bit confused, and he even forgot which bottle he should take. He was in a hurry and casually picked up a bottle containing some light-yellow reagents.

“Ah... sorry, I didn’t pay attention to this.” Ryan quickly put the reagent bottle back in place.

Ah... sorry, I didn’t pay attention. Ryan quickly put the reagent bottle back in place.

He turned around and looked at the large reagent bottle. The liquid inside was transparent. If one didn’t look at the bottle carefully, one would think it was an empty bottle.

Natalie blinked and reminded Ryan again, “This is not empty, and there are already reagents inside.”

“Ah... I didn’t notice it.” Ryan felt inclined to sink into the ground with shame!

Natalie wanted to let Ryan relax, so she asked Ryan to call her sister. Why did Ryan have such a performance.

Was it a terrible thing to call her sister?

Natalie thought for a while and said, “How about stop doing experiments? Let’s have lunch.”

“Um...? Is that OK?”

“Well. Let’s have lunch directly, and I am hungry.” Natalie reached out and took the bottle from Ryan’s hand directly. Then she put it on a shelf on one side.

Ryan looked up.

He performed terribly just now. Was Ms. Spears angry with him? He took the initiative to show himself, but he was lack of ability. And he even took the wrong reagent bottle. Ms. Spears would think he was stupid.

Natalie took off her gloves and experimental suit. Then she took off her mask. She had done this for several years, and she was familiar with this procedure.

Ryan calmed down when he saw Ms. Spears’s action. Then he quickly cleaned the experimental table and then took off his gloves.

When everything was fine, they walked out of the laboratory.

“I will drive for you. It’s a remote place. It’s not easy for you to find the way by navigation.”

“Okay.” Natalie sat in the passenger seat.

Ryan started the engine and drove forward with ease. At first, the car was driving on the road, but later, they drove through various unknown streets.

Natalie sat in the passenger seat and noticed the road. She couldn’t help but sign. It was really not easy to find this restaurant.

After driving through several unknown streets, the car finally drove into a lively long street. Many people walked along the street.

“We can only park outside, and we can’t drive in.” Ryan stopped the car..

Afraid that Natalie felt far away, he added, “It’s not far from that restaurant here, and we just need to walk a few steps.”

Chapter 127 Run across

“Okay.” Natalie lowered her head and unbuttoned her seat belt. Then she looked outside the window.

Many people walked along the street, and there were many stalls beside the road, all of which were mobile vendors with lights hanging from their stalls.

The bright and dazzling light bulbs were surrounded by the hot vapor generated by food, giving a faint feeling of soaring in the clouds. Everyone in the street wore a big smile on their face. They stood beside the stall and chose various types of food.

Natalie had never experienced such an atmosphere before.

She grew up in the Spears family and had lunch in various high-level restaurants. Usually, she participated in activities in an elegant environment.

In her childhood, she hardly ever went shopping with her family. The butler would buy everything she wanted in advance. If she needed something, she could tell the butler in advance. Then they would send all things directly to her doorstep.

What’s more, she was very talented in pharmaceuticals since childhood. When she was almost three years old, her grandfather took her to the Dragon Valley to familiarize herself with medicinal herbs, so she rarely stayed with the Spears family.

The Dragon Valley was no better than the Spears family, and it was quiet. She seldom saw others there. She stayed with various medicinal herbs all day. Fortunately, she had a great interest in medicinal herbs, and she was happy every day.

With these experiences, she was always calm, giving people a feeling of elegance.

Ryan opened the car door and got off the car. He walked to the front passenger door and opened the door for Natalie. “Ms. Spears, you can get off the car.”

Natalie got off the car.

As soon as Natalie got off the car, she sensed the lively atmosphere. It was just like a heatwave and surrounded her instantly. This street was much more lively than what she had seen in the car.

She even felt that the air was lively and sweet. Natalie was shocked, and she even loved this feeling.

She originally thought she didn't like noise, but today, she had a different idea.

"Do you come here frequently?" Natalie walked with Ryan on this crowded street.

"Not really. I seldom came here." Ryan thought for a while and said.

Ryan carefully calculated in his heart as he said. He did not tell a lie.

His parents always prevented him from realizing his dream. They did not want him to learn medicine. He had quarreled with his parents several times, but he still failed.

He would come here to relax when he quarreled with his parents. This place was a small shelter in his heart.

LE

And today, he wanted to share this small shelter with the person next to him.

Ryan looked back at Natalie when he thought of this. Natalie tilted his head and looked carefully at everything around her. She was a little excited.

Ryan smiled when he saw this.

"I thought you often came here." Natalie looked at the various food on the street... And all of them looked quite delicious.

Ryan hid the smile on the corner of his mouth and answered, "I am busy, and this place is quite far from the laboratory. Even if I want to come here, I don't have enough time."

And in the past year, his parents did not force him to give up studying pharmacy, so he seldom came here.

"That's right." Natalie nodded, "But if you want to come here, you can come anytime. Or if we are not busy in the laboratory, you can go anywhere."

Ryan nodded.

They walked side by side for a few hundred meters. Ryan pointed at the nearby alley and said, "This way."

Ryan walked in front and guided the way for Natalie. Then they walked into a quiet and long street.

Compared with that lively main road, this street was much quiet.

At the end of the long street, there was a small restaurant. Natalie looked up at that restaurant.

Many people had lunch in the restaurant, so the restaurant looked small. But if you walked into the restaurant, you would find it was a big restaurant.

"Here we are!" Ryan pointed at the restaurant.

He walked in as he said. Then he shouted at the owner of the restaurant, "Please serve us some home-cooked dishes."

"Okay." A man in his fifties walked out of the room and agreed with a smile. The old man had wrinkles on his face. Now, he smiled happily, looking very kind.

"Ms. Spears, come in and have a seat!" Ryan looked back. Seeing that Natalie stood still, he waved at Natalie.

Natalie took a step and walked in. The decoration inside the restaurant was elegant and delicate but not luxurious. Everything was in a proper place. Every table and every bench were also in their place, matching well.

Natalie and Ryan found a table and sat down.

Many customers had lunch in the restaurant, but the dishes were served quickly. Natalie just sat there for a short time, and then she got her dishes.

"Here comes the dish." The owner shouted while holding the dish in his hand.

The owner put the dishes on the table, and then he asked in surprise, "It's you, handsome guy! You haven't been here for a long time, right?"

"Do you still remember me?" Ryan smiled.

"You've been here so many times, and you are so handsome. Of course, I remember you." The owner also smiled. He looked at Natalie, "Are you here to have lunch with your girlfriend?"

Ryan blushed when he heard this.

Natalie wanted to explain something, but Ryan said in advance, "She is not my girlfriend, and she is my master."

**

"Wow. She is your master, and she is so young." The owner looked at Natalie and signed." Then he put the dishes on the table and said, "The dish is on the table. Be careful not to burn yourself."

"Thank you," Natalie said softly.

The restaurant owner laughed, "You're welcome."

He stood up and looked at Natalie and Ryan with an inexplicable expression from time to time. Finally, he said, "You haven't come here for so long, and I will give you a blessing. May all your wishes come true!"

The restaurant owner returned to the Kitchen to prepare the dishes after finishing his words.

Ryan understood the restaurant owner's words.

But Natalie didn't understand.

"The owner of this restaurant was a little strange. Ms. Spears, don't mind it." Ryan scratched his head and explained.

"I don't mind it, and I think he is quite interesting." It's rare to see an old man with a kind smile.

At the same time.

"Isn't this Ms. Spears? How could she be here?" An ordinary woman asked in surprise.

This woman was Gina.

Natalie and Ryan sat by the table. At the adjacent table, Gina was having lunch with her family.

Today was her son's birthday, and she asked for leave with Niki to celebrate her son's birthday. She lived nearby, and she usually took care of Niki in the apartment. Her husband and son lived here alone.

This restaurant was recognized as the best restaurant in the surrounding area. What's more, it was also the most cost-effective restaurant. The food inside was both cheap and delicious. And all residents here loved eating there.

Gina was also fond of food here.

"What are you looking at?" Seeing that Gina was in a daze, Gina's husband asked.

Chapter 128 Exact Identity

Gins didn't answer and she looked in the opposite direction with narrowed eyes, trying to make sure if that was Natalie.

"Mom, what are you looking at? Just eat quickly. ' said her son who was dissatisfied with the behavior of her mother.

Gina looked back and said, "I will.", at the same time, she put some meat in the bowl of his son with chopsticks.

"I don't want." said her son who frowned since there was not so much meat in the plate..

Gina chuckled and said, "Why not? I remember that is your favorite.", then, she tried to put it back as she said.

Upon seeing this, her son put his bowl away with a long face.

Gina was a bit stunned and said, "You...."

"Don't force him and don't bother yourself." said her husband who was gloating after glancing at her.

At this moment, the table next.

The four dishes and one soup were ready, and Natalie found that were made by special chef who paid much attention to the seasoner and temperature after checking.

This kind of cuisine was less spicy and less oily, which made it famous.

“Doctor, please try it.” said Ryan who handed a pair of chopsticks to Natalie.

“Okay.” replied Natalie who took the chopsticks and tasted one of that carefully.

She put it in her mouth.

Ryan stared at Natalie and asked as soon as she ate it, “How about that?”

After tasting it, Natalie noticed that before she could say something.

Ryan blinked and looked at her, and Natalie couldn’t help but laugh and said, “Why you are so excited.”

“I am not...” said Ryan who was a bit embarrassed, “I will not do that again, since that makes you feel uncomfortable.”

He looked back to avoid that.

“Not at all.” said Natalie who wanted to tease Ryan after seeing his cute behavior.

Just now, the food she ate melt in her mouth, and then the flavor was so nice, which made Natalie kind of surprised.

Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, “It’s really delicious.”

“I just thought it was delicious too. ” said Ryan who was very happy to hear her answer.

“And I think

“And I think the food is much more delicious than those made in the top restaurants, such as the one in the Los Angeles What’s its name...?” said Ryan.

“Beverly Center?” said Natalie who thought of that at once because of the deep impression.

“No, it might be... “said Ryan who frowned “Forget it, I can’t remember.”

Ryan continued to say, “I insist that this one is the best after eating in so many top restaurants.”

“So many top restaurants?” said Natalie who looked at Ryan unconsciously after hearing that.

In fact, There was only two top restaurants in Los Angeles, and both of them were open for the members only, which meant that money was not always useful here, however, Ryan said words like that.

So only noble people could enter restaurants like that, but the family of Ryan was not so rich at all, which made it impossible for him.

Without realizing the problem, he continued, “Well, those restaurants make food in a fixed way, which is so different from here.”

Natalie frowned.

Ryan never lied, and he said that as if he had come there personally.

But the fact was that the financial condition of his family was not so good.

Then how could he be willing to work as an assistant here if his family was rich, besides, rich people looked down on these kind of small restaurants.

They were not willing to eat there, since these small restaurants were dirty and not so decent for them.

But the way how Ryan talked with the boss showed that he had come here so many times.

More puzzled, she thought of she saw person like Ryan, which made Natalie wonder the true identity of Ryan.

Thinking of this, she looked up at Ryan, who was carefully pouring tea for her, and the sound was nice.

“How did you get the tea? “said Natalie who was a bit surprised, as that was not on the menu.

“I know you love that, so, I just specifically asked the boss for it, which is so precious.”said Ryan as he handed the tea to Natalie.

Later, he added with caution, "I noticed that you drank tea last time, but you don't drink tea in the workplace, so, my guess is right. If you don't like it, I could change."

"No, I really like drinking tea "said Natalie who took the tea and took a sip.

What Ryan did was really thoughtful and meticulous.

Natalie stopped her from asking the question in her heart with hesitation.

She feared that would hurt Ryan.

Just as Natalie thought about that, her phone rang and that was a strange number

Natalie refused to answer the and casually hung up the phone.

But not long after, the phone rang again. The bell was very loud, and Natalie frowned as she looked down.

The next table at this moment.

"It is not easy for me to book, and how could you act in this way? I have done so many things for this diner. You don't know how hard it is to have a day off."

Gina was angry because she had done so much for them.

"And as you all know, this restaurant is so popular, and I don't know why you make this dinner awkward."

As soon as she finished, the ringing of Natalie's phone was heard by Gina, and Gina began to listen carefully.

Her son couldn't help but look at his mother when his mother suddenly stopped speaking and then turned to look at the father.

The man next to him was clearly confused, and he shook his head.

The continuous ringing made Ryan stop eating and he looked at Natalie.

Natalie had no choice but to answer it, and a familiar voice showed up, "Doctor Nancy."

Natalie realized that was Jerry.

Ryan suddenly looked up.

Chapter 129 Julian's plan

At the moment Ryan heard the name, he immediately frowned.

Gina was also stunned after hearing this familiar name.

She knew this name because Niki showed her the people, and she could make sure that this man was noble, since he was the CEO of Eagle Group.

Gina felt lucky and excited since she knew that Jerry was related to Natalie by chance.

She titled slightly excited to look at Natalie with excitement.

Ryan, who was in the opposite position of Natalie began to stare at Gina because of the reaction of Gina,

Two of them looked at each other.

Noticing that, Gina felt wrong and lowered her head to avoid that.

Subsequently, in order to pretend she was not in panic, she cleared her throat and put meat in the bowl of her son with chopsticks, at the same time, she observed secretly.

"I have told that I don't want that!What do you want to do?" said her son who became more angry after seeing the meat.

Gina didn't care much about what her son said and she just worried about Ryan.

Without knowing what her son said, she casually replied, "Okay, okay."

"What? Did you hear me?" said her son who frowned.

Fortunately, Zhou Ran did not pay attention to Gina and continue to look at Natalie.

After all, he was curious about why Jerry called doctor.

Gina breathed a sigh of relief when she noticed the reaction of Ryan.

But Gina was curious about the man who ate with Natalie, another lover?

No, no, no, Gina shook her head and corrected herself in her heart, since Natalie should be the secret lover.

How could Natalie be such shameless, since she was related with so many men, which really shocked Gina.

She could not expect that at all.

Gina looked at Ryan secretly and believed that this man was not rich.

Or they would not show up here... Rich people would come to the top restaurant usually. In the mind of Gina, she preferred Julian and Jerry.

Gina didn't understand why Natalie was willing to stay with this poor people.

"Why did you suddenly call me?" asked carefully Natalie who put down knife and fork.

"I have told you that you just call Ryan if anything happens said Natalie who looked up at Ryan.

And she looked at Ryan who frowned and looked at her.

Before Natalie continued, Jerry said, "Dr. Nancy, I know you don't want me to contact you, but there's a big problem"

Jerry was always gentle and decent, but she realized that Jerry was in a hurry

That made Jerry kind of nervous, since that was rare.

"What's going on?" said Natalie who tried to be calm, even though she was nervous.

"There is a problem with the funding chain."

He was in a hurry.

"Something went wrong? How could it be?" said Natalie who frowned, "I remember your family has prepared that already, and it is impossible to have an influence in this project."

"That is true, but it seems that someone did that deliberately, which is so strange."

"Some parts was weird, and it was obvious that someone did that intentional "spoke Jerry.

He said that because of his own judgement and experience.

Natalie frowned and said, "Intentional?"

Ryan got serious after seeing the expression of Natalie, and wondered the exact content.

Natalie pondered, "If that is true, this man must know this project and the funding chain of his family."

We cooperate secretly, and who could know that?" said Natalie who frowned.

"This is really strange" said Jerry in a serious tone.

Natalie muttered to herself, "I am the only one..."

Wait.

Natalie thought of Julian suddenly.

Julian was irritated by the attitude by the attitude of the old lady of Lance family... so Natalie knew Julian must do something to change the situation.

And Julian knew that Lance family needed money because of a big project,

The Lance family didn't have enough fund, and Julian had to stop other projects of Lance family, so that they could cooperate.

This made sense.

And no one knew that expect three of them, and Julian was the only impossible man.

Moreover, the family could did that to the funding chain of the Lance family because of their great power in this city.

Thinking of this, Natalie spoke, "It is Julian."

After analyzing, she made sure Julian did that.

"Julian?Why?"spoke Jerry in a surprised tone.

"That's right." replied Natalie and she didn't have time to explain why she was certain.

"So now..."

"Money might not be useful under this situation because of the power of the family of Julian." said Natalie who figured out the present situation.

Natalie started a brainstorm to find a solution.

“Why don’t you come to Beverly Center tomorrow? We’ll discuss it carefully, since it was hard to deal with

Chapter 130 Let him recognize her true face

“Beverly Center... “Natalie repeated this sentence. With this situation, it seemed that she really needed to discuss with the Lance family what to do now.

Seeing Natalie on the other end of the phone not answering for a long time, Jerry couldn’t help but feel a bit anxious, “Doctor Nancy, the situation is urgent now, and I had to call you as a last resort...”

Fearing that Natalie had not yet realized the urgency of the situation, Jerry continued.

“The Graham’s not only owns the pharmaceutical business, but also gets along well with several banks.

Julian directly spoke to the CEO of those banks this time and detained all of our funds.”

From the moment Natalie mentioned that Julian had taken the initiative, Jerry quickly figured out the reasons behind this matter in his mind.

As soon as he arrived at the Eagle group that day, all the employees were filled with worries, and the secretary seemed hesitant to say anything.

It was still at his urging that the secretary dared to tell him the trembling news of the broken funding chain of the Eagle group.

He learned from his secretary that early that morning, several major banks in L.A. coincidentally called the Lance family, saying that there was some problems with the bank and that the Lance family’s funds could not be operated normally now.

Now think about it, how could it be so coincidental that all these banks had problems at the same time!

Good for you, Julian!

“Withholding the funds? That’s really bold.” Natalie narrowed her eyes. Julian still didn’t leave any way out for himself when he started doing things, just like what he used to do.

Julian did this, even if Natalie had money, in other words, even if she had enough money to directly support the Lance family for this project. But as long as the banks couldn’t word, the Lance family would also be unable to move any further in LA...

After all, they were in L.A., not in NYC.

This was the world of the Graham family.

“Okay,” Natalie thought for a moment, feeling that it was necessary to discuss the solution with Jerry face-to-face.

“Shall we meet at the restaurant tomorrow noon? However, we don’t need to go to Beverly Center anymore.

Just go to a restaurant.”

“Hmm, okay.” Although Jerry didn’t know why Doctor Nancy didn’t want to eat on Beverly Center, the situation was urgent, and Jerry decided to agree first.

“Then let’s go to the Sunny Restaurant. It’s more suitable. We could discuss the countermeasures carefully then.” Natalie thought about the restaurants in L.A. that have business needs, and the Sunny Restaurant was the most suitable one.

Gina narrowed her eyes and secretly memorized these key messages Natalie and Jerry would have lunch together tomorrow noon.

Natalie also said a lot, but Gina didn’t quite understand, and she could only memorize these plain words about the time and place of the meeting.

As for the bank funds... She was so confused when she heard it that she selectively ignored the Information later on.

Anyway, what Natalie said was not important for her. The important thing was that Natalie would have lunch with Jerry tomorrow afternoon. If she told Miss Linch this news, she should be a big help to Miss Linch.

Gina was a bit excited, and this should be considered a major important thing she had done for Miss Linch.

She wondered that if Miss Linch was happy, she might even give her a raise in salary.

Her son has long wanted a limited edition pair of shoes, but she has never had the money to buy it for him. If she got a raise, she could buy him a gift.

“Sure, see you later. “Jerry spoke politely.

The two of them hung up on the phone.

Natalie lowered her head and put her phone back on the table, looking up at Ryan in an instant.

“What’s the matter? Aren’t you having your meals? Why are you looking at me like that?” Natalie’s face remained calm and her tone was soft.

“Well.” Ryan withdrew his gaze and lowered his head to eat.

It seemed that Doctor Nancy didn’t intend to tell him about Jerry’s recent phone call, so he naturally had no position, let alone reason to ask about this call.

But after only eating for a while, Ryan put down his chopsticks.

He was still upset and his heartbeat was very rapid, as if he had a sense of crisis.

He felt a bit uncomfortable in his heart... Didn’t Doctor Nancy ask Jerry to directly contact himself? Why was he still calling Doctor Nancy directly? Like he, Ryan didn’t exist, right?

Ryan felt a bit restless in his heart, so he picked up the teapot and poured himself a cup of tea. Seeing that the tea in Natalie’s cup had already been drunk, he took Natalie’s cup and poured the tea for her.

After sitting there for about two hours, the two finished the meal.

In the car, Ryan was driving.

Natalie thought for a moment and decided to tell Ryan about what Jerry had just told her, after all, she was only the nominal leader of this project, and Ryan was the main force.

“Julian took action against the Lance family.”

“Hmm?” Ryan suddenly heard Natalie speak, and he quickly reacted.

“So is the reason why the funding chain of the Lance family broke down due to Julian?” Ryan asked.

“Well, that’s right, so I’m going to discuss with the Lance family tomorrow how to solve it,” Natalie paused after saying these words. “But don’t worry, just focus on doing the experiment, and I’ll handle the rest.”

After all, Ryan couldn’t solve this matter at all. He was just a pharmaceutical talent and cannot be of much help in terms of funding.

Natalie also didn’t want Ryan to be too worried.

After Ryan heard this, he didn’t continue speaking, and his eyes fixed on the front and he looked thoughtful.

After saying goodbye to her son and husband, Gina rushed back to the apartment immediately.

After she opened the apartment door, it was dark all over the room, and it was obvious that Niki had not yet woken up.

She quickly took out various ingredients from the kitchen, prepared a delicate dinner, and knocked on the bedroom door. “Miss Linch, dinner is ready.”

There was no movement in the room for a while.

Gina was already accustomed to the situation where no one responded. She continued to patiently knock on the door, “Miss Linch, Miss Linch.”

Niki finally opened the door, stretched herself and sat at the dining table to start eating.

Gina glanced at Niki and put a bowl of porridge in front of her. "Miss Linch, I saw Natalie when I was off work today."

The chopsticks in Niki's hand instantly stopped, "Natalie? Where did you see her?"

"In a small restaurant, and I also heard that Natalie is meeting Jerry tomorrow."

"Oh?" Niki curled her lips and suddenly became interested. "The two of them are meeting again? Did you hear where they were meeting tomorrow?"

A very exciting idea suddenly popped up in Niki's mind.

At that time, she would let Julian personally come and see what kind of a woman his nominal wife is! Let him understand the frivolous essence of Natalie!

It would be best if she followed along and took photos to send to Linda, so that she could also recognize the essence of Natalie. She was not suitable and did not deserve to be Julian's wife.

"I listened carefully and clearly. They will have lunch at the Sunny Restaurant tomorrow noon, and you may....

"Gina didn't finish speaking, but it was obvious what she meant.

"Okay, that's really good." Niki suddenly smiled, "Gina, you really helped me a lot."

"Well, I'm happy to help. It's my job."

"I think prices have been rising quite a bit recently. Why don't I give you a raise in salary?" Niki knew how to discipline her servants, she had to do both hard and soft to make them loyal to her.
