

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 171 Break into the laboratory

Natalie lowered her head with a smile and unbuttoned her seat belt, then opened the car door and got off.

The parking location of Ryan was exactly the same as where Julian had just parked.

As soon as Natalie got out of the car, she smelled a lingering smell of smoke.

The smoke was very strong, but it didn't make people feel unpleasant, and there was also a faint smoky smell, which was very familiar.

Natalie frowned and looked down at the ground, but there was no cigarette butt as she had expected.

But the smell of this smoke was clearly very similar to the cigarette that Julian usually smoked.

Natalie knew that Julian would smoke when he was in a bad mood. But it's only when he's in a bad mood, but normally he didn't smoke at all.

He still resisted smoking from the bottom of his heart.

Natalie pursed her lips as she circled around and combined it with the license plate number that flashed by just as she was in the car.

Julian clearly just came... and even lit a cigarette. Natalie didn't know if he had actually smoked, but he did indeed ignite it.

He usually won't smoke, except when he was upset.....

Julian was in a bad mood?

Didn't she already give Linda the authorization? Graham family's biggest problem had been solved.

How could he be in a bad mood? Shouldn't he be very happy?

Natalie shook her head and exclaimed in her heart that his emotions were inexplicable.

Ryan stood aside and saw Natalie's thoughtful expression. He said, "Doctor, what's wrong?"

Natalie recalled, "It's nothing, just that Julian came just now."

*Julian has been here before?" Ryan's already good mood suddenly turned sour.

"What is he doing here? Isn't the authorization letter already given to the Graham family?"

Ryan had an imperceptible displeasure on his face.

Natalie shook her head and said, "I don't know either."

Although Julian can do whatever he wanted, it had nothing to do with her anymore...

However, it was obvious that Julian came to Greenlife Villa to find her, and Natalie couldn't help but think more.

"Doctor, it's quite cold outside. Why don't you go inside first?"

Ryan looked thoughtfully at Natalie, who was only wearing a thin sweater, making her look very thin.

He was worried that the doctor will stay out for a long time and catch a cold tomorrow morning, and Ryan actually didn't want the doctor to think about Julian.

Natalie pursed her lips as she finally glanced at the parking space at the door and nodded, "Then I'll go first. Drive safe."

Ryan watched Natalie's back as he stood in place, waiting to see the lights on the second floor come on before leaving.

The next morning, in the laboratory.

Natalie was dressed in a pure white experimental suit and wore a pair of thick goggles, carefully observing the bacteria in the culture dish.

Ryan on the side assisted her, holding an experimental notebook in his hand. As the bacteria grew every fifteen minutes, he recorded the data.

The two cooperate in an orderly manner.

Suddenly, there was a hurried knock on the door, breaking the tranquility.

Natalie frowned and stopped her movements. Ryan quickly put down the experimental notebook in his hand and trotted to open the door.

The door was opened, and the bodyguard in black came into view. Ryan also furrowed his brow and said,

“Didn’t I already tell you that when the Doctor was doing experiments, she didn’t like being disturbed?”

The bodyguard immediately apologized, neither servile nor overbearing, “I’m really sorry, but there’s someone at the door looking for Doctor. And I’ve tried my best to stop them, but they still insist on going in.”

“Someone is looking for me?” Natalie heard it and put down the experimental equipment in her hand.

“A man in a suit,” the bodyguard recalled carefully. The man was very handsome, but his expression fierce.

looked very

“The man in a suit?” Ryan didn’t even think about it, and Julian immediately popped up in his mind.

Can’t it be Julian who came the laboratory?

Natalie frowned and said, "I'm currently conducting an experiment. You tell him it's inconvenient for me."

The bodyguard looked puzzled and said, "I have told him many times... he won't listen."

Ryan furrowed his brows and said, "What's wrong? Doctor pays you, and you can't even stop a man?"

When the bodyguard heard that Ryan was angry, he immediately explained,

"Everyone is trying their best to stop him, but the man in a suit is really fierce. He brought many bodyguards, and we were just a few people, so we couldn't stop him at all."

"Bringing a bunch of bodyguards? "Natalie was a bit dumbfounded.

This style was really like Julian... someone who didn't give himself any leeway.

The bodyguard nodded heavily, "Yes, and his bodyguards are tall and tough. One of our brothers was also injured."

Ryan's eyebrows furrowed tightly.

He turned to look at Natalie and said, "Doctor, do you want to invite that person in?"

Natalie frowned and then sighed, "Let him in."

Natalie didn't have to think, she knew that there was an 80% chance that the person was Julian.

"Oh yes, I remember, there's still a woman with this man..." and she was a bit good-looking, but the bodyguard didn't say it out loud.

After finishing this sentence, he ran away without a trace, fearing that his brother would be killed by the bodyguard brought by the man.

Natalie stood in the same spot, thinking about the bodyguard's words just now.

The man was with a woman... She raised her eyebrows and said, "Niki is also here?"

Was she the shadow of Julian? She followed Julian everywhere?

“Doctor, do you know the person who came here?” Ryan turned back.

Natalie nodded, and before she could speak, the sound of footsteps had already arrived, followed by the sound of the door being pushed open.

Natalie looked up.

The man looked cold and stern, accompanied by a chill that rushed into the laboratory.

As expected, it was Julian.

She looked behind the man, and Niki followed closely behind Julian, with a reserved and arrogant expression.

She looked coldly around the laboratory with a picky expression.

“The so called internationally renowned medical doctor, the conditions here are just average...” Niki sneered.

Natalie was too lazy to pay attention to her. She looked at Julian and said, “Julian, why do you always come uninvited?”

Niki took the lead in retorting, “What are you saying? What does it mean to come uninvited?”

Julian frowned and pulled Niki directly behind him, looking a bit angry. “If you still can’t learn how to behave properly, then go out.”

Niki stopped speaking.

She just made Julian unhappy yesterday, and it’s difficult of her to get the opportunity to come to the laboratory today.

She needed to ensure that bitch Natalie won’t hook up with Julian, otherwise today’s opportunity would be wasted.

Seeing the woman finally settling down, Julian looked up at Natalie and said, “It’s true that she came uninvited. Please don’t mind.”

Natalie raised her eyebrows, when did Julian have such a good attitude?

“came today to treat you to a meal as a way to thank you for your help to the Graham family.”

“No need.” Natalie said without even thinking.

Chapter 172 She is lively

Niki stood behind the man, listening to Natalie’s resolute voice, she couldn’t help but laugh in her heart.

No need.

Although Natalie said that, in fact, she couldn’t wait for Julian to invite her to this meal.

Natalie spoke so decisively and with a bad attitude, but Julian didn’t show any signs of anger.

He said, “This is due to the etiquette needs of the Graham family.”

“The etiquette of the Graham family? When did the Graham family have etiquette?”
Natalie waved

her hand and said,

“I still have Doctor Nancy’s experiment to do. If there’s nothing else, please go back.”

Julian looked at the woman and said, “In addition to etiquette, the Graham family also wants to give you a clean slate.”

The previous incident was indeed that he misunderstood Natalie. Without listening to Natalie’s explanation, he took it for granted that she.....

Natalie must be very uncomfortable in her heart.

And after getting along these days, Julian felt that Natalie was actually a very strong personality, and he wanted to at least apologize to her.

She sometimes provoked, sometimes showed weakness, and sometimes protested, saying that. she was unwilling to help the Graham family and wanted to sabotage them, but sometimes she was soft hearted and chose to delegate authority to the Graham family.

Julian felt Natalie's liveliness for the first time. Previously, she was gentle, sensible, and always prioritized Graham family.

Whether she was gentle, shy, or angry now depended on her temperament.

Therefore, Julian had never really cared about Natalie's personality. After experiencing so many things now...

every move of her appeared lively and detached, and the whole person actually looked very eye-catching.

Yes, it's eye-catching.

Although Julian did not want to admit it, it was indeed so.

"If you need it, the Graham family can hold a special banquet to publicly apologize to you," the man said sincerely.

Natalie raised her eyebrows and showed a sarcastic smile, but still said lightly, "No need."

She didn't need any public apology, not at all.

"It has already happened. Do you think innocence is still important?"

The man frowned and his eyes showed a hint of profound meaning, "Don't you want innocence?"

"I am innocent. I don't need these superficial things, and besides, I don't care what those so-called wealthy nobles think of me," Natalie said lightly.

Ryan stood quietly by and seemed a bit surprised when he heard Natalie's words. But then smiled.

Doctor was not afraid of worldly eyes.

She was truly the person he liked.

Julian furrowed his brows, his deep eyes shining with a faint light, and his eyelids slightly tightened.

“Miss Spears is so arrogant!” Came a female voice.

After listening to Natalie for so long, Niki finally couldn’t help it.

“You don’t care? What is your current identity? Your every word and action represent Graham.

family. It’s not up to you.”

“Don’t think that becoming Doctor Nancy’s assistant is just something. Don’t be so arrogant.”

Upon hearing this sentence, Ryan was shocked.

This woman actually said that Doctor Nancy was just an assistant.....

“Being an assistant to Doctor Nancy is something?” Natalie smiled and said, ‘Miss Linch, what you have said is arrogant.”

“I have never said how great it is to be Doctor Nancy’s assistant, but I think you are even more remarkable than me.”

“Hmm? ‘Niki’s expression slightly moved, “Am I even more remarkable?”

As soon as Natalie said that, Niki’s anger in her eyes suddenly decreased, and thought that Natalie was not so bad.

Watching Niki’s expression change, Natalie’s eyes became even more mocking.

Niki accidentally caught a glimpse of Natalie’s expression, which made her feel uneasy.

She realized that something was wrong. Was Natalie mocking her?

“You!” Niki was furious, as if she was about to explode.

Natalie looked coldly at Niki, who was furious, with a calm demeanor, creating a sharp contrast between the two.

“Get out.”

Hearing a majestic voice, Niki raised her eyes and saw a pair of cold eyes.

The woman trembled, and she had just forgotten Julian's advice in a moment of excitement.

“Let me out?” She muttered, a little incredulous.

Although she didn't listen to Julian's words and spoke freely, wouldn't she be kicked out?

“Yes, get out.” Julian's face remained expressionless.

He never said a word three times.

Niki was a bit completely angry. It's been countless times since Julian got angry with her because of Natalie.

Natalie stood aside, looking at the two of them in a confrontation. Somehow, she felt like there was already a raging flame between the two of them.

“Okay,” Niki took the lead in ending the confrontation. She pushed the door open and turned around to leave.

Leave only a resolute figure behind.

Natalie raised her eyebrows, and Niki's direct leave really surprised her. She didn't act spoiled to Julian like before?

Instead, she just pushed the door and left, which really didn't seem like Niki's personality.

“Your first love has left. Won't you go and chase after her?”

Natalie picked up the goggles and said.

Niki had already left, and it seemed that she was angry because of Julian's words just now.

Julian must go out and find her now.

Julian remained expressionless and continued with what he had just said,

Get Boy

"Would you like to give the Graham family an opportunity to restore your innocence?"

Natalie thought it was funny, "Your first love has run away. Do you still have time to tell me here to restore my innocence?"

"Julian, do you mean it?" Natalie said as she pursed her lips.

Previously, he was very disgusted with her, but now volunteered to restore her innocence?

"Of course, it's true," Julian said in a serious tone.

"You're not trying so hard to restore my innocence because I'm Doctor Nancy's assistant, are you?"

"Don't worry, I'm not that narrow-minded. Even if Graham family has done something to me before,

I don't take it seriously.

I treat medicine equally, and you don't have to treat me like this."

Natalie seemed to be so clear about Julian's thoughts.

Julian frowned and said, "The Graham family has never been a follower of the herd.

After staying at the Graham family for so long, don't you still know the character of the Graham.

family?"

Suddenly someone yelled.

"The character of the Graham family? Do you mean the character of the Graham family driving out their granddaughter in law in front of everyone? That's really good character!"

Ryan looked sarcastic. He usually treated everyone with a very gentle temperament, now had an unusual attitude that was not good, even considered bad.

“Doctor Nancy’s laboratory is accessible to everyone. Miss Spears just said she doesn’t welcome you, please go out.”

Julian looked at Ryan with deep eyes and slowly spoke, “You again?”

Chapter 173 Mr. Graham, is that OK for you

They looked into each other through the air like lightning..

In the past, Julian didn’t pay much attention to the man besides Natalie. But now, this man was here again, so Julian looked at Ryan carefully.

Like Natalie, the man also wore experimental clothes. He looked young at first glance, looking like a college student.

Julian had a good memory and observation ability.

He walked in just now and noticed that Ryan had just put down the notebook in his hand.

Although it was just a small action, Julian remembered it very clearly.

He looked behind the man, and there was indeed an experimental data notebook. At first glance,

Ryan just put it there casually.

Julian pressed his lips and had a general understanding of Ryan’s identity..

In Los Angeles, a staff in the laboratory would do the tedious task of recording experimental data. This kind of staff did not know how to make medicine, and they just worked in the laboratory. Ryan was at most a researcher who worked in Dr. Nancy’s laboratory.

Julian looked at Ryan casually without expression, “I am talking to Natalie. It’s very impolite of you to interrupt our conversation suddenly.”

“But you’re still young. It’s understandable that you don’t know this, and I can forgive you.”

Julian put his hands in his pockets and looked at Ryan as he said. He did not take Ryan seriously.

Ryan was just a green boy, and he did not need to pay any attention to this man.

Julian said directly, and he thought Ryan was just an impolite boy who would interrupt conversations between adults casually.

With Julian’s expression and words, everyone knew that Julian treated Ryan in contempt for no reason.

See thing, Ryan was not weak at all. He laughed. Then he pressed his lips and asked, “Really?”

He hated that other people talked about his age. What’s more, Julian was only a few years older than him.

“Mr. Graham, you are older than me, but you are no more impolite than me.”

“You broke into the laboratory without permission, and you even hurt the laboratory’s bodyguard. Is that OK for you to talk impolite with me?”

Ryan raised his head and said clearly.

“Education is not related to age, but to your family.”

“You are the heir of the Graham family, and you even do this. Is that mean the Graham family is also such a family?”

Ryan said clearly and directly. Obviously, he was satirizing the actions of the Graham family.

Julian changed his expression and eyesight after hearing this. He was in an extremely bad mood.

It seemed that he was going to vent his anger the next moment.

But it seemed that Ryan did not notice Julian's expression. Or Ryan ignored Julian's mood when he noticed it.

Instead, he asked with concern, "Mr. Graham, what's wrong with you? Why did you wear a disapproving look? Isn't that OK for you?"

"As you get older, you will be sick occasionally. Now, you wear a disapproving look, which means that there is something wrong with your body. Why don't you go back and take care of your body?

You are old, and you should not stay outside every day."

Natalie raised his eyebrows after hearing this. She turned and looked at Ryan. Ryan indeed wore a sympathetic look as he said.

"However, you are old, and, understandably, you get kidney deficiency and kidney disease."

It was obvious that Ryan was fighting back, mocking that Julian was old and had bad health.

It was obvious that Ryan was fighting back, mocking that Julian was old and had bad health.

But she never thought that Ryan was so eloquent.

Julian wore a disapproving look, and Natalie even noticed that Julian's wrist was already trembling with the blue veins.

But a few moments later, Julian did not show his anger in front of them.

Julian tried his best to suppress his anger. Then he asked a sudden question from between clenched teeth, "What's your name?"

Ryan raised his eyebrows. Was Julian asking his name?

What did he want to do?

Natalie also frowned after hearing this. Julian asked Ryan's name suddenly. Did he want to do something to Ryan?

This was the only possibility.

Ryan was just an ordinary person with an ordinary family background. Compared with the powerful Graham family, Ryan was at the other end of the spectrum.

If Julian wanted to do something to Ryan secretly, Ryan did not have enough strength in his hands, so he would not be the winner.

Julian had done this kind of thing secretly before.

But Ryan was not afraid of this. He did not show any fear in front of Julian. Instead, he asked.

calmly, "Are you asking my name?"

Julian nodded, "So what? Can't you tell me?"

"Where is your courage just now?"

Ryan smiled and said, "I can tell you, and I am not afraid of anything."

Seeing that Ryan had not yet realized the seriousness of this problem, Natalie reached out, hinting at Ryan not to say anything.

Then Natalie said, "Mr. Graham, can't I make this joke? The Graham family was a prestigious family, and don't do any cheap shots. It's not good to bully people like this, right?"

Natalia strengthened her tone on the cheap shot.

Julian understood immediately.

He curled his lips and said, "When did I play a cheap shot? I just want to make friends with him."

"As for the idea in your mind, you know yourself well." Natalie didn't believe Julian's words at all.

However, she didn't want to talk to Julian too much. Thus she continued, "If there's nothing else, you can go out now."

Natalia waved the phone as she said, "The dozens of bodyguards in the laboratory have arrived at the door. If you don't leave yet, our bodyguards will do something. Will you still be here?"

As soon as Natalie finished her words, several bodyguards broke in.

Before the guards of the Graham family could get their sense, several bodyguards wrapped Julian in a circle.

This scene was like the scene in the Lance family that day. On that day, Jerry and Natalie stood in the circle of the bodyguards. However, it was Julian who was wrapped by bodyguards today.

Natalie signed in her heart.

Now the shoe was on the other foot.

"Mr. Graham, are you willing to leave now?"

Natalie stood outside the circle where the bodyguards wrapped Julian. And there were a group of bodyguards standing behind Natalie.

She was like a queen in the crowd.

Natalie stood in the crowd, looking like a queen. It seemed that she was born with such a strong aura.

Seeing that Julian stood there still, Natalie continued to say, "What's up? Mr. Graham, don't you want to leave here? Should I do something to you?"

The bodyguards were about to catch Julian as soon as Natalie finished her words. At this moment, if Natalie gave them an order, Julian would die directly.

However, Julian stood in a group of bodyguards, and he was not afraid of anything. He did not change his expression. Instead, he smiled, "It's interesting."

"It's really interesting."

The next moment, Julian changed his expression. He looked aside and looked at Ryan. Then he said sarcastically, "You are a young man. Do you still need protection from women?"

“Dare not you tell me your name?” Julian said sarcastically.

Sure enough, Ryan said, “I can tell you.’

Natalie grabbed Ryan after hearing this, “You can’t tell him. You can’t fight with him. You just need to stand behind and do the experiment. I’ll talk to him.”

Ryan waved his hand and gave Natalie a smile, “It’s okay, and don’t worry about this.”

Then he looked at Julian and said seriously, “My name is Ryan. Please remember it.”

Ryan?

Why was he familiar with this name?

Julian darkened his face when he heard Ryan’s name.

Get Bogus

T

Then he recalled the magnificent building built by the seaside, where the Swan family lived. The Swan family was a mysterious family who was involved in both black and white.

Cer Bogn

Chapter 174 Old Mr. Graham may die tonight

“Ryan...” Julian frowned and looked at the man in front of him. Then he confirmed again, “Are you really Ryan?”

Ryan nodded, “Of course.”

Natalie was scared when she saw Julian’s thoughtful expression. She was afraid that Julian would take action against Ryan.

“Julian, what do you want to do? If you don’t leave, I’ll beat you.”

Ryan was still young. A young man usually did not know the rules of the business world. What’s more, a young man also did not know how to judge others.

Ryan did not know Julian's personality, and he did not know what Julian would do. But she knew Julian well. She knew what Julian would do.

She couldn't take Ryan into trouble.

Julian ignored Natalie's words and asked slowly and cautiously, "Your name is Zhou Ran, and are you...?"

"Are you from the Swan family in New York?" Julian stared at Ryan after finishing his words. He did not want to miss any expression of Ryan.

The Swan family in New York?

Natalie was stunned. She was so familiar with this family.

Natalie thought carefully. And it seemed that she had heard of the Swan family in New York. before. Natalie thought for a while, and then she recalled Philip's words.

The Swan family in New York was a mysterious family who was involved in both black and white. Usually, this family organized activities secretly. Her bodyguards were from the Swan family in Los Angeles.

Natalie shook her head. What did Julian say? How could Ryan be a member of the Swan family? He was just an ordinary person who graduated from a prestigious pharmaceutical school.

Natalie turned to look at Ryan as she thought, "Just ignore this man."

But when she looked into Ryan's eyes, she suspected she got the wrong idea.

Was Ryan really from the Swan family?

How could this be possible? For an instant, Natalie could not accept this information.

"Are you from the Swan family in New York?" Julian asked again carefully.

Ryan replied with a smile, "So what? Is that important?"

Julian frowned, and he still wanted to say something. But his phone in the pocket vibrated. It was not a big sound, but everyone could hear it.

Julian took out his phone and hung up directly.

After hanging up, Julian wanted to put his phone into his pocket. But footsteps sounded at the front door of the laboratory suddenly, and then someone knocked on the door in a hurry.

Natalie frowned and waved to the bodyguard beside her, "Who is knocking on the door? Please check it."

The door opened, and a man with a flustered expression rushed in.

The man was in a hurry, and the wind had whipped his hair. The man wore a pair of glasses, but he rushed in a hurry, so his glasses were not in the right position.

The man was shocked when he rushed in and saw so many bodyguards. Finally, the man stopped.

his steps.

Natalie looked up. Wasn't this man Graham Group?

Joey had no time to tidy his hairstyle and even had no time to judge what had happened. Why were there so many bodyguards beside Mr. Graham?

He just shouted anxiously, "Mr. Graham, something is bad!"

Everyone present kept silent when Joey finished his words, leaving only the lingering sound.

Julian looked at Joey, who ran in looking disheveled, and frowned heavily.

"Please tidy your clothes well, and then tell me what happened." Julian refused to let his staff.

destroy his company's image.

Joey said immediately, "Mr. Graham, it's too late. Something thing had happened to your grandpa!

And he was in ICU now!"

?

Julian and Natalie were all shocked. Julian shivered and said, "What?"

"Something is wrong with your grandpa!" Joey said with a sorrowful expression.

Julian darkened his eyesight immediately, and he forgot all questions he cared about just now.

Then he took his coat and prepared to stride out of the laboratory.

But a group of bodyguards blocked his way, so Julian had to stop his steps. He had lost his subconscious, and he even wanted to fight with those bodyguards.

Natalie quickly waved to the bodyguard, "Let him go quickly."

Why was there something wrong with old Mr. Graham again? Didn't he recover from his illness? Why did he in danger again so quickly?"

Natalie frowned.

The bodyguards walked away and let Julian go after getting Natalie's order. Then Julian disappeared from the laboratory quickly.

Joey followed closely behind Julian.

Natalie felt a bit uneasy in her heart. She watched Julian's running back and trotted after him.

"Joey!" Natalie called Joey.

Joey looked back when he heard the voice. He looked back and saw Natalie, "Ms. Spears?"

"Why are you here?" Joey stopped.

Natalie had no time to answer Joey's question. Then she asked in a hurry. "What's wrong with old Mr. Graham? Why did he in danger suddenly?"

"Old Mr. Graham just discharged from the hospital, and the doctor said he was fine. Why was there something wrong with him again?"

Natalie looked worried and said, "Is old Mr. Graham in danger now?"

Joey nodded and said, "Previously, the family doctor from the Graham family performed an operation on old Mr. Graham, and the operation was successful. We gave old Mr.

Graham the best. medicine in the world. Normally, there wouldn't be any problems, but now... there is something wrong with old Mr. Graham again."

Joey said sadly, and even his voice became hoarse, "Old Mr. Graham was in the operating room for emergency surgery. His life will depend on today's surgery..."

Natalie's eyelids kept twitching after hearing this, "Is old Mr. Graham so serious?"

"Yes." Joey was in a hurry and could not tell details to Natalie. He answered questions simply and ran behind Julian.

But when he looked back, Julian's car had disappeared, leaving only a string of black gas.

Joey was shocked. Why didn't Mr. Graham wait for him?

Seeing this, Natalie said immediately, "I will drive you there." Natalie asked the bodyguard next to her to get her car.

Joey waved his hands, "Ms. Spears, there is no need. I drove here." Joey pointed to a car parked at the door as he said.

It was so urgent now. Should he take Natalie's car? It was probably a taxi. He definitely did not have enough time.

Natalie refused, "My car is faster."

As soon as she finished her words, a black car drove over. Finally, the car stopped in front of Natalie steadily.

Joey looked at the Maybach and was a bit dumbfounded. Was Ms. Spears so rich? Wasn't Ms. Spears an orphan with a poor family background?

How could she afford to drive this car? Joey could not believe this. Did Mr. Graham give her this car?

Joey thought in his heart for a long time, and then he looked at his dilapidated car parked on the side. Finally, he murmured, "Ms. Spears, you are right."

It turned out that he was the clown.

"Hurry up." Natalie sat in the driver's seat. Illness waited for no one. Natalie was now anxious and wanted Joey to get in the car quickly.

Ryan stood beside and pushed Joey, who was in a daze, "Hurry up."

Ryan knew that Ms. Spears needed to handle her family affairs, so he stood obediently aside. He did not get in the car.

He knew what he should do at this moment. He could not help Ms. Spears in this matter, so he needed to take good care of the laboratory. He should stay here and do the remaining experiments. This was the most correct and appropriate choice.

Joey got his sense and got in the car quickly.

Natalie started the engine and drove forward. A few moments later, they arrived at the private hospital of Graham Group.

She walked upstairs quickly. Before she arrived at the entrance of the operating room, she saw a doctor wearing a white coat and a blue mask coming out of the operating room.

Get Bogor

Julian wore a black coat and walked over. Then he asked seriously, "How is my grandpa?"

The doctor removed his mask and shook his head at the man, "Mr. Graham, we did our best."

Old Mr. Graham may die tonight..."

Julian shivered after hearing this. He blinked his eyes and lost his words for a long time.

Natalie also felt terrible after hearing this.

She stopped her anxious steps and walked heavily towards the entrance of the operating room.

Chapter 175 I can save him

Natalie walked towards the private doctor of the Graham family, and then she asked hoarsely.

“Would old Mr. Graham die tonight?”

The doctor looked up at the woman in front of him.

He pursed his lips and shook his head. Then he said in a regretful tone, “We have done our best.”

“But old Mr. Graham...” The private doctor shook his head, “He can’t wait any longer.”

Julian shivered after hearing this.

It seemed that he just got his sense, and the next moment, his eyes turned red.

He quickly walked over and grabbed the collar of the private doctor. Then he clenched the collar tightly in his hand slowly.

The atmosphere around him was cold.

The doctor was shocked by Julian’s words. Julian grabbed the doctor’s collar tightly with great strength, gripping the doctor’s neck.

The personal doctor even felt out of breath.

“Mr. Graham... Mr. Graham...” The doctor shivered and was scared.

Julian grabbed Julian’s collar with red eyes. Then he said, “Why should I keep a group of useless people like you guys?”

“Please save my grandpa at all costs!”

Julian grabbed the doctor’s collar tightly, and the personal doctor’s face was pale. He was in great fear. He felt that he was nothing in front of Julian.

As long as Julian did something to him, he would die.

Julian was a demon from hell.

The doctor suddenly got this idea in his mind.

“Okay... okay... I’ll do that now.” Julian grabbed the doctor’s collar for a long time, and the doctor could not breathe well. He trembled and struggled to say.

Julian stared at the doctor coldly and sharply. When the doctor finally finished his words, Julian let go of him.

The private doctor fell to the ground and took a deep breath of fresh air. It seemed that he would suffocate and die the next second.

“Why don’t you go?”

Julian did not give the doctor any time to relax. He shouted coldly.

“I... I’ll go right now. “The doctor walked to the operating room with fear. With fear in his heart, he almost stumbled into the operating room.

The lights in the operating room turned on again.

Natalie stood beside Julian and saw everything. She was complicated when she saw Julian’s state.

She was also shocked by the accident that occurred to old Mr. Graham. And she wished that old

Mr. Graham could be healthy. If old Mr. Graham died, she would not feel good. Instead, she would blame herself.

She grabbed Henry’s hands tightly before, saying she would take care of his family members. But Henry had only been away for a few years, and now, she could not protect his family members.

Although she felt terrible and did not have a stable mood, she was different from Julian.

She was calmer than him.

Natalie looked at Julian and said, "It's useless for you to scare the doctor like this."

"The doctor will be scared if you do this. And the doctor will be in a bad mood. Then he cannot concentrate due to fear, let alone do surgery for your grandfather."

Julian rubbed his wrist and said, "What does it have to do with you?"

He said coldly.

"You don't need to give me any advice here."

Julian put his hand into his pocket and wanted to get a cigarette after finishing his words. He fumbled in his pocket, but he failed in getting a cigarette.

Julian could not find his cigarette, so the emotions accumulated in his heart reached their peak.

Julian had no way to vent his anger, so he could only kick over the trash can.

The trash can flew eight meters away, causing a loud sound on the ground.

Originally, Natalie was a bit angry after hearing Julian's impolite words.

But she looked down at the trash can that had been kicked away in the distance and pursed her lips. Then she took a deep breath and secretly comforted herself. She should not argue with Julian.

Natalie ignored Julian and walked to the operating room. But as soon as she put her hands on the door, someone stopped her.

"Ms. Spears, I'm sorry. It's under surgery, and you can't walk in."

Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, "Didn't the doctor just finish the surgery?"

The man beside the door lowered his voice and said embarrassedly, "But Mr. Graham asked the doctor to..."

Although he knew that there was no hope for old Mr. Graham anymore. No matter how much rescue was done, it was useless. But Mr. Graham ordered them to do this. If they did not do anything, Mr. Graham would kill them directly.

The doctor had no way but to do it again.

Natalie knew this man's mind well. She raised her eyebrows, "Do you think it would be useful to rescue old Mr. Graham again?"

Natalie said directly. Her words were like a knife hitting that man's heart.

"These... these..... are all orders from Mr. Graham, and we dare not violate them. Please don't make trouble with us." The man said.

Natalie pursed her lips.

Natalie pitied this man when she saw the man's expression. It was not easy to work with Julian. She didn't want to embarrass the man, so he took a step back. She gave up her mind.

"Thank you..." The man bowed at Natalie.

Natalie waved her hands, "That's fine."

She couldn't get in, so she had to wait outside. Time passed quickly, but the doctor did not come out.

What was the situation in the operating room? Natalie was in a panic.

She looked up at Julian. Julian sat on a small chair in the hospital hallway. He was tall and stuck out like a sore thumb.

But Julian ignored all of this.

He just sat there and looked at the fallen leaves outside the window. No one could guess his mind.

But he clenched his hands tightly, showing his true state of mind at this moment.

Natalie pursed her lips and walked to Julian step by step.

Then she stopped about half a meter away from Graham, standing in front of him.

"Have you noticed Linda?" Natalie asked slowly.

"No," Julian answered slowly as if he had run out of strength.

Fine. Linda was in bad health. If she knew something was wrong with old Mr. Graham, she would be sick. Julian did not want to see this.

Natalie looked at Julian, who was somewhat decadent and wanted to say something. She wanted to comfort Julian, but she did not know how to say it.

Finally, she did not say anything and looked at the fallen leaves outside the window with Julian.

The afterglow of the sunset shone in, shining on the body of Natalie and Julian.

The sound of opening the door shattered this tranquility.

Julian looked back immediately. Then he saw the private doctor walking towards him with heavy steps.

One could guess the result from the doctor's expression.

Julian suddenly stood up and strode towards the doctor. The doctor took a few steps back, but Julian was faster than him.

Julian walked over. He lifted his foot and kicked the man to the ground without looking at him.

The doctor struggled to get up, but Julian kicked him again. Then he stepped on the doctor's chest. The pure white coat was immediately stained with dust on the bottom of the leather shoes.

Julian still wanted to beat the doctor. Natalie shivered and rushed over at the critical moment.

Then she grabbed Julian's hand.

"Julian, calm down!"

"Calm down? How can I calm down? You are so useless. Why should the Graham family keep you all day?"

"What's the use of Keeping them? They even could not save my grandpa!"

Julian had lost some of his sanity.

Get Borus

Natalie pressed her lips. Seeing that Julian still wanted to beat the doctor, Natalie decided in her heart, "I can save him, and I can save your grandpa!"

Julian got his sense and calmed down immediately after hearing Natalie's words. He turned and looked at Natalie, "Can you save my grandpa?"

Chapter 176 His trust

"Put your hands down first." Natalie looked at Julian and said in a serious tone.

But Julian did not listen to the woman's words at all. He only looked at Natalie with determination and stubbornly asked, "Can you save him?"

His eyes were filled with disbelief.

Natalie also refused to compromise, "Put your hands down."

The two of them looked at each other, but neither of them would give in.

Natalie was very clear in her heart that Julian had no other choice but to believe in her at this moment.

Julian grabbed the doctor in the middle by his collar, and his face had been purple. He trembled. and spoke, "Mr. Graham..."

Natalie glanced at the suffocated doctor in a calm but stubborn tone, "Let go of him."

As if Julian didn't let go of him, she wouldn't answer his questions.

"Can you save him or not?" Julian lowered his voice and asked again.

Still full of disbelief..

Natalie didn't speak.

Although Mr. Graham was on the brink of death, the time at this moment could be described as racing against the clock. But for a doctor, the man in front of her was also a human life.

The lives of two people were not different in terms of higher or lower status.

If Julian didn't let go of him, Natalie believed that this doctor would definitely die of suffocation today.

In Julian's heart, the life of Mr. Graham was definitely more important than the life of this doctor. For the old man now, time was so crucial, and she believed that Julian also understood this.

Therefore, she firmly believed that Julian would let go.

Sure enough, after a moment, Julian's crimson eyes moved away from Natalie's face, and he finally let go of the doctor.

Breaking free from the shackles just now, the doctor rushed to the side without saying thank you to Natalie in time.

"I have already let go of him."

Get Boy

"I hope what you just said is true. If you just made that up, you know the consequences." Julian warned her, showing his irrationality and inhumanity.

The bodyguard next to him took a white towel and placed it next to Julian. Julian picked it up and wiped his slender hands.

Natalie nodded and said, "Since I've said I can save him, then I can save him."

"But I need to go first and see what's going on with Mr. Graham.", Julian turned his head and gave the private doctor a glance. The doctor immediately ran over and opened the door of the operating room, "Please come in."

The doctor's body was about bending into the dust, afraid that he might accidentally offend this demon again.

Natalie calmed down and walked in carefully.

After entering the door, Mr. Graham was lying on the operating bed. Pipes were inserted all over his body, and next to him, there was the sound of ticking instruments, as if reminding him of the countdown to his life.

Julian stood behind the woman, looking at Natalie's back with deep eyes. It seemed like he's thinking about whether Natalie had the ability or not, and it's like he was thinking about something else...

After a while, he also followed Natalie into the operating room.

What caught the man's eye was like a black and white silent movie, with the doctor holding the rescue equipment in his hands, and the electrocardiogram monitor continuously emitting sharp beeps.

Grandpa Graham was lying quietly on the hospital bed, as if he had fallen asleep, completely devoid of his former dignity.

His wrinkled left hand weakly dropped from the side of the bed, and Julian wanted to walk over and put the old man's hand back on the bed.

Before reaching out, a fair hand took the lead, and Natalie gently placed Grandpa Graham's hand back on the bed.

this scene seemed to suddenly prick Julian, like a lightning bolt that suddenly woke him up.

Natalie let go of grandpa Graham's hand and then wanted to grab the rescue equipment held by a nearby doctor to carry out the rescue.

However, Julian seemed to have suddenly changed his mind. He strode over and took the rescue equipment from Natalie's hand.

Natalie was stunned and said, "What are you doing?"

“You can get out now,” the man’s voice didn’t fluctuate.

Natalie shouldn’t be here.

?! Natalie was stunned.

She raised her voice and said, “Julian, are you crazy? For Grandpa, time is so crucial now, and wasting a little time is wasting Grandpa’s hope for life.”

Julian shook his head and said, “go out.”

“Julian! Do you know what you’re talking about?” Natalie was really anxious.

She just glanced at grandpa Graham’s condition roughly, and his breath was already weak, relying solely on his last breath.

Julian, dressed in black, held the rescue equipment in his own hand and spoke strongly, “I can’t let you save Grandpa.”

“This is an operating room, not a place for you to play around,” nor was it a place where Natalie. deliberately sought for attention in front of him.

He just realized his foolish choice just now.

Natalie said she knew how to make medicines, so he naturally believed her, after all, she’s an assistant to an internationally renowned pharmaceutical doctor.

But she said she could save grandpa... Julian didn’t believe it. After all, even the international doctors he paid a lot of money couldn’t save his grandfather... How could Natalie, who was only an assistant of a pharmaceutical doctor, save his grandpa?

Just now, after hearing the bad news, his mind didn’t clear up for a moment.

After he really walked into the operating room, he realized what decisions he had just made.... Asking someone who didn’t know anything about operations to save grandpa, wasn’t it crazy?

Not only would it not make grandpa's situation improve, but it might also make grandpa more miserable and even make his condition worse.

"Julian!" Natalie raised her volume and almost shouted out.

"Do you want to kill Grandpa?"

Julian looked at Mr. Graham, who was no longer bloody on the hospital bed, with mixed emotions in his eyes.

Upon seeing this, Natalie took advantage of the man's lack of reaction and directly grabbed the rescue equipment from Julian's hand, placing it on grandpa Graham's chest.

?! Julian subconsciously wanted to stop Natalie, but suddenly an arm forcefully pulled him from behind...

"Mr. Graham, let Miss Spears give it a try. She knows what she's doing."

Julian turned his head and looked at the man, who was the doctor just standing at the door.

"Mr. Graham, when Miss Spears just talked to me, I could tell that she knows..." This person was speaking for Natalie, although his voice seemed weak due to fear.

"And... there's only one chance to save the master... you should have to give it a try..."

Despite his fear, the doctor persisted in saying this.

Julian didn't change his mind, and with a cold face, he shook off the man who was dragging him.

How could she possibly save someone? It was just her trick to attract his attention, but he didn't have time to spend time with her here.

This was a matter of grandpa's life, not her playing tricks!

Julian thought this way, turning his head to look at Natalie, whose movements were orderly. Before he noticed, she has already put on gloves and was busy in front of the hospital bed with a serious.

expression.

Her movements seemed inexplicably professional.

Her postures obviously showed that she's familiar with clinical medicine, and every movement was very professional, just like a textbook.

This...

Julian blinked, and the crimson color in his eyes suddenly faded. The voice flashed through his mind again, "This is the only chance to save the master. You have to give it a try..."

A few seconds later, the man seemed to compromise and walked towards Natalie.

Natalie was startled and her movements trembled in an instant, afraid that Julian would snatch these equipment from her hands again.

But the man did not grab the rescue equipment.

Get Bodum

Natalie's movements did not stop, and she glanced at the man, afraid that he might take action.

In her eyes, Julian looked like he's doing one for all, like a lone wolf in a desperate situation, catching the only light.

Natalie's eyelashes couldn't help but tremble.

"You must save Grandpa," said the man, whose voice this time was with complete trust, without any doubts.

This trust was something that has never occurred to her in the past three years. She has been entrusted wholeheartedly.

It was also Julian's last hope.

Chapter 177 Strange feelings

Julian just stood by and quietly watched the woman's series of skilled moves.

Natalie realized that Julian did not want to stop her anymore, so she took a deep breath and continued the rescue.

Natalie was attentive and focused all her attention on grandpa Graham. She turned her head to look at the status of the electrocardiogram placed on the left.

The T-wave began to slightly widen and deform, while the ST segment changed slightly...

Natalie frowned as she saw this situation.

The doctor who just spoke also turned his gaze to the electrocardiogram, which was the lines that only appeared when the patient was about to die!

Why was Mr. Graham's situation getting worse and worse??

Was Miss Spears actually not proficient in clinical medicine? So he just made a solemn promise to

Mr. Graham that Natalie could save the old man and advised him to give Natalie a chance... Wasn't he talking too much?

Thinking of this, the doctor held his breath and now wished to slap himself.

If Mr. Graham died in Natalie's hands today...

He dared not think... what would happen to him....

Natalie frowned and looked at the electrocardiogram. Without hesitation, she immediately grabbed grandpa Graham's wrinkled wrist. The old man's wrist was already cold, and the blood on his limbs seemed to..... It was no longer circulating.

The doctor at the door was tremblin and couldn't even stand steadily at the moment...

He originally wanted to repay Miss Spears for not breaking into the laboratory just now, and seeing the demeanor of Natalie just now, it was obvious that she knew clinical medicine.

But now the situation... Mr. Graham's situation was indeed even worse.

If Mr. Graham died... he must also be buried with him.

Fortunately, Julian did not understand clinical medicine and could not read the electrocardiogram at this time.

If Julian could understand what the electrocardiogram meant at this moment, and there was no need to wait for the final result, the doctor could guarantee that he could go directly to the funeral now.

Get Bots

Natalie turned around and took the equipment on one side of the shelf and quickly put a Sphygmomanometer on Mr. Graham.

The old man's blood pressure changed greatly... Natalie's eyelashes trembled and quickly waved to Julian with an urgent tone. "Get me the first aid kit next to the chair at the door!"

Julian was stunned.

"Hurry up!" The woman's voice was fast and urgent, highlighting the urgency of the situation.

Julian reacted and immediately walked out, opening the door of the operating room and taking the small first aid kit.

Then it was handed over to Natalie like lightning.

"Put the first aid kit aside and open it." Natalie ordered.

She was wearing gloves at the moment and couldn't directly touch the first aid box.

Julian listened to her, and he immediately followed her order.

There was a box of medicine at the bottom, take one out and give it to me.” Natalie took the pill and placed it under Mr. Graham’s tongue.

“What kind of medicine is this? Be careful!” The personal doctor in charge of treating grandpa Graham had just recovered from his fear when he saw Natalie carrying a white pill into the old man’s mouth.

He was startled and said, “Mr. Graham, the old master can’t take medicine indiscriminately in this situation.”

He wanted to stop Natalie.

Julian turned his head and gave a cold look to the private doctor.

That look... made the man immediately stop talking.

“Grandpa is already suffering from heart failure at this moment, and this medicine is used to treat Heart failure...” Natalie replied coldly.

Heart failure was a professional term in the final stage of heart disease, and its appearance meant that some cells in the heart had undergone irreversible decline.

For treating heart failure?

Mr. Graham was indeed suffering from heart failure now, and he had already experienced ventricular fibrillation before Julian arrived.

Upon hearing Natalie’s words, the private doctor scratched his head. At first glance, there was nothing wrong, but a few seconds later, he suddenly reacted.

“What are you doing here? You’re full of nonsense, there’s no medicine on the market that can be used to treat this level of heart failure!”

“How can you give the old master this medicine recklessly! You will directly kill him!”
The doctor was extremely angry at the moment. “You don’t understand medicine at all, what are you doing here? Get out!”

Upon hearing this, Julian’s eyes twitched slightly.

He looked at Natalie.

After hearing this, Natalie didn’t show much expression. “It’s not on the market, but does it mean.

that no one has it? Can’t I make it myself?”

“You? Did you make it yourself?” The private doctor was shocked and couldn’t react directly.

After hearing this, Julian couldn’t help but glance at Natalie twice.

When did Natalie become so powerful??

“How could this be possible? Do you have paranoia, why the hell are you talking about?”

How could anyone possibly develop a drug to treat such severe heart failure? If it were indeed developed, it would not be directly taken by major pharmaceutical companies.

Besides, if someone had developed this medicine, he would have already made a lot of money. Was this woman still attracting Mr. Graham here?

The man’s doubts surrounded around Natalie’s ears... She took a deep breath and turned her head to look at Julian.

“Julian, can you let him out? He’s here, and I can’t concentrate on saving Grandpa.”
Natalie didn’t want to say more.

Julian gave a glance and the private doctor was directly dragged away.

It was obvious that he believed what Natalie said.

He believes in her pharmaceutical abilities.

The operating room became quiet again.

Heart failure could be controlled, and Natalie was confident about it.

But during the rescue process, Natalie clearly found that before her rescue, those private doctors.

had used the wrong medicine for emergency treatment...

Those drugs have some side effects, and the nitroglycerin could cause myocardial ischemia after lowering blood pressure.

Natalie held her breath and used a tool to open the small wound left by the previous doctor. The blood was still surging, like a small hot pot that was almost dry.

As time passed, the bubbles gradually became very thick, and even became completely invisible from Natalie's perspective.

She carefully moved her hand outward at a certain angle...

Julian stood aside, originally observing the state of grandpa Graham, but he didn't know when his gaze had completely shifted to Natalie.

Natalie's focused expression, and her skillful movements, and while she's frowning... Julian unconsciously felt a bit stunned.

Natalie turned her head again to look at the electrocardiogram. After taking the medicine, Mr.

Graham's condition has improved.

At this moment, the old man's blood pressure was low, but his pulse was strong. Natalie began to focus on the most crucial part.

Success or failure depended on one move.

Without any hesitation, Natalie began the operation, and gradually... grandpa Graham's chest began to rise and fall.

The doctor who had been so nervous couldn't help but open his mouth when he saw this scene.

This... this... there's hope!

His eyes lit up instantly, and he felt like he came to life.

Natalie also breathed a sigh of relief. The most crucial part had already been successfully overcome, and as long as there were no major mistakes with the rest, there would be no problem.

"Do you need to wipe your sweat?" Suddenly, Julian's voice came to her ears.

Natalie's forehead was already covered with sweat due to high tension.

The woman turned her head when she heard the sound.

Get Borus

Julian was holding a handkerchief and looking straight into the woman's bright eyes.

He looked at Natalie's bright eyes, as if they could dispel all the misfortunes in the operating room.

Natalie turned her head and saw Julian holding a white handkerchief in his hand, looking at her seriously, with rare sincerity in his eyes.

With a hint of stupor that she has never seen before.

Without any hesitation, Natalie said, "No need."

She didn't need it.

But Julian didn't seem to hear her refusal. He picked up the handkerchief and carefully wiped the sweat from Natalie's forehead.

He was very gentle.

It was the gentleness that he has never had before.

Chapter 178 Let him die on the operating table

A cold touch came from her forehead, and Natalie instinctively frowned as she was about to push the man away from her.

The door of the operating room was suddenly knocked open with a loud sound.

It's the sound of the metal handle hitting the wall fiercely after the door was pushed open.

*Julian, what's wrong with Grandpa?" Niki's voice arrived before anyone could see her.

Natalie's hand, which had just reached out, was shocked by the sound, and the knife in her hand suddenly slipped.

The position has shifted three millimeters to the left compared to the expected position.

She was stunned

Blood flew out of the wound.

Before Julian realized anything was wrong, he turned his head to look at Niki, who had arrived late, and stopped wiping on Natalie's forehead.

"Why are you here?"

Niki looked harmless, but the malice that flashed through her eyes exposed her current state of mind.

She just saw Julian's hand, the hand that gently wiped the sweat off Natalie's forehead.

She sneered.

"Stand aside and keep quiet, don't interrupt Natalie's surgery."

Julian did not see the change in Niki's expression, only saw her clearly anxious look, obviously worried about his grandfather.

Niki withdrew the darkness from her eyes and continued to put on a harmless expression. Then she nodded, "Natalie is so good, she can even save people."

Julian frowned and gave her a look, "Don't talk."

The tone of the man was not much different from usual, but Natalie inexplicably felt a hint of impatience.

The malice in her eyes flashed once again, and finally turned into a word, "OK.

It seemed that getting rid of Natalie needed to be done as soon as possible.

If it went on like this, her position would definitely be completely replaced by Natalie.

There was no passivity in Niki's life.

The sweat on Natalie's forehead grew denser, and she stared at the blood that was constantly seeping out, feeling her head buzzing.

This was the heart.

It was the most crucial part that could not suffer from any mistake.

There could be no mistake at all.

"What's the matter?" Julian couldn't help but ask when he saw Natalie's hand stopped moving.

He didn't notice anything wrong with Natalie's situation at the moment, or the mistake she had just made due to the sudden sound.

"Get out." Natalie clenched the knife in her hand.

After only a momentary blank in her mind, she immediately forced herself to regain her sanity.

She can.

She can solve this problem.

Natalie forced herself to calm down, and she quickly searched for countermeasures in her brain.

"What's going on?" Niki thought when she noticed Natalie's suddenly serious look.

"Is there something wrong?" Looking at Natalie's expression, did the surgery not progress smoothly?

She chuckled to herself, 'If Natalie really messes up this surgery... What will happen to her?'

Natalie volunteered to save grandfather, but she didn't let him finish his last journey soundly.

Instead, she let grandpa Graham die on the operating table...

Niki was a bit excited. How about letting that old man die?

The woman thought this way, but still had an anxious expression on her face, making it completely impossible to see what she was thinking beneath such a harmless face.

Julian also frowned.

For the safety of the surgery, he was actually quite far from Natalie's position, and he couldn't fully see the exact situation of Mr. Graham.

He could only see the sweat on Natalie's forehead, which was very dense, as well as the continuous movements of her hands.

Seeing Natalie ignoring them, Niki didn't say much. She took a step forward and pulled Julian from Natalie's side to her side.

Julian turned to look at Niki and said, "You..."

Niki said, "Natalie is doing the surgery, let's not disturb her. What should we do if something goes wrong? We can't afford to delay her surgery."

The woman sounded sincere.

"Julian, I know you are very worried about Grandpa's condition, afraid that something really might happen to Grandpa."

“But Julian, after all, you don’t understand medicine. You staying here can’t help Natalie at all. Besides, we don’t meet medical standards inside the operating room. Although we changed the surgical uniforms, we’re not doctors after all...”

The more Niki said, the more reasonable it sounded.

Julian stopped talking and nodded, “Let’s go out then.”

The door of the operating room was opened. The man and the woman walked out.

Niki intentionally approached Julian, and she accidentally leaked her neck. She just ran over here, and her neck was covered in sweat from running.

Sweat was thick and dense around her neck, and she believed that Julian could see it.

The sweat on Natalie’s forehead could be seen by Julian, so Niki didn’t believe that Julian couldn’t see the sweat on her neck.

Sure enough, Julian noticed Niki’s neck, which was covered with sparkling sweat, reflecting bright.

light in the sunlight.

He looked down at the handkerchief he was still holding in his hand.

Julian thought for a moment, then turned around and threw the white handkerchief in his hand into the trash can.

Niki couldn’t help but stare at him.

Did Julian throw away the handkerchief?!

Get Boys

The bodyguard on the side immediately handed over a new handkerchief, and Julian took it over and wiped his hand.

Then he gestured to Niki, “You must have been tired all the way here, wipe the sweat off your neck.”

21

Niki felt like she was about to burst out again. Julian had just gently wiped Natalie’s sweat, but unexpectedly didn’t wipe for her?

Upon hearing this, the bodyguard immediately brought the plate to Niki’s hand and said, “Miss

Linch, please, these are

“new. You can choose one yourself.”

Julian looked at her.

Noticing that Julian

quite annoyed, she casually took a handkerchief.

60 as staring at her, Niki gritted her teeth and didn’t look at the plate. Feeling

Swallowing her anger, she wiped all the sweat from her neck.

Julian did not pay attention to Niki again. He stood in front of the transparent window of the operating room and continued to watch Natalie’s movements.

Niki’s behavior just now made Natalie very angry.

But after all, she’s a doctor, and she couldn’t act irrationally in the operating room, so she could only endure the fluctuations in her heart. At this moment, she had calmed down and roughly figured out the best rescue plan in her heart.

She planned to undergo fluid resuscitation on Mr. Graham’s heart, “Julian, do you think there’s hope for Grandpa?” Niki threw the handkerchief into the trash can and came to Julian.

Julian remained silent.

“I really hope grandpa can be saved by Natalie,” Niki said in a somewhat excited tone. “If she really saves grandpa, she would be a great savior to the Graham family!”

Julian remained silent and didn't even look back at Niki, just staring closely at the operating room.

Niki sneered and suddenly changed her expression.

She turned around and walked to the corner, pressing a string of phone numbers.

The woman opened her cherry little mouth and coldly asked a question, "How can a person with heart disease become a vegetative in the operating room?"

Get Bogus –

It was already her mercy to turn that annoying old man into a vegetable instead of being dead.

"Heart disease? Be more specific." The person on the other end of the phone spoke calmly, but inexplicably gave a feeling of being idle.

Upon hearing this, Niki took a meaningful look at the attending doctor standing in front of the operating room.

"I'll inquire about the specific situation."

Natalie tightly narrowed her eyes and made the movements on her hands. After a round of liquid resuscitation, she dared not even relax at all.

The blood on the heart has almost returned... What's the next step?

It's an injection.

Natalie immediately turned around to find her medicine kit.

Chapter 179 Saved his life

She turned and saw that her medicine kit was lying on a table beside her, and that the first aid kit had not been closed since it was last opened. Natalie went straight to it.

There were all kinds of medicines, including traditional Chinese medicine and Western medicine, each of which was different and packed in different boxes.

Although they looked different, they had one thing in common, that is, they were all developed by Natalie, and they were completely unavailable on the market.

She roughly glanced at the drugs in her first-aid kit and locked in one of the tubes.

Niki had just finished her phone call. She came out of the corner and saw Julian still standing at the window watching Natalie. She walked over to Julian.

She looked into the window as he did.

Natalie's hand was about to reach out to her medicine kit when Niki had an idea.

"Julian, is everything in Natalie's first-aid kit sterilized?" "Niki asked.

-BBefore Julian could answer, the doctor standing by was quick to respond and without thinking,

"Of course the medicines were sterilized. After all, Ms. Spears has been professionally trained in clinical applications. How can she be a good doctor if she does not understand this?"

Niki heard the retort and gave the doctor a black look.

How could subordinates now be so cynical and dare to speak to her like that! When she became Julian's wife, she would sort them out.

Niki thought so, but she didn't show it.

She politely replied to the straightforward doctor, "I'm sorry, I don't know much about medicine, so the questions I asked are quite ignorant. Please forgive me."

She said it in a very polite way, without any sign of ostentation.

He waved his hands as she spoke so politely to him, in spite of her dignity, as the doctor had never been treated in the Graham family.

"It's okay, it's okay, it's Just because I stopped Mr. Graham to disinfect the kit before he was about to take it into the operating room, I know a little bit about that..."

So, I see." Niki nodded meaningfully.

"Did you remind Julian to change the scrubs he was wearing?"

Get Bo

“Well... After all, the operating room is a very serious place and requires a strictly sterile environment.”.

Although it was illegal for the president to trespass into the operating room, Mr. Graham was the president after all, and he was just a doctor working for him. There was no way to stop him, and he could only keep the sterile environment of the operating room to the greatest extent.

Upon hearing a series of voices in his ear, Julian furrowed his brows and looked at Niki, “What exactly are you asking?”

He understood Niki and she should not ask these questions without reason.

Niki was somewhat stunned by Julian’s question, and after a while, she spoke bitterly, “It’s nothing...”

“I was just so nervous that I wanted to say something to lighten my mood.”

Julian nodded when she said this. He didn’t hear anything wrong.

He looked back at Niki’s worried expression, and the worry was almost over her eyes.

As Julian looked at Niki, his heart softened. He reached over her shoulder and patted her back with both hands to reassure her, “Don’t worry. Grandpa’s going to be fine.”

He was saying this to Niki and also to himself.

Niki leaned against Julian’s shoulder and nodded with a firm tone, “Well, Julian, you’re right. Grandpa will definitely be fine!”

Natalie picked up the medication she had developed, then picked up a needle and sucked in all the drugs inside.

After filling the needle, she did not hesitate to inject all the drugs into Grandpa Graham’s body

After everything was over, Natalie took a deep breath and put down the needle in her hand.

Now she just needed to wait for the final result.

She stood in place, looking at Grandpa Graham’s pale face, and she couldn’t help but think of her past days at the Graham family.

Grandpa Graham’s attitude towards her was actually neither warm nor cold, without excessive concern or treating her as an outsider at all.

It was a very comfortable and measured state.

Gatos

If it hadn't been for the last banquet, Natalie actually quite liked Grandpa Graham's personality in her heart.

The drug just injected quickly became effective, and Natalie narrowed her eyes to look at the electrocardiogram on the side.

Gradually, it began to regain stability.

After half a sound, the electrocardiogram trend had completely returned to normal.

Seeing such an electrocardiogram, Natalie's lips spread a faint smile, she did it!

Natalie's eyebrows, which had been furrowed since the surgery began, finally opened.

Natalie turned her head. She looked into the viewing window of the operating room. Julian was standing by the window, watching her.

It's just that there's no expression on his face, obviously he didn't know the good news yet.

Seeing Natalie suddenly turn her head, Julian didn't react, and his eyes flashed with confusion.

"What did her expression mean?"

He couldn't understand. Was the operation a success or a failure?

It was at this moment that Julian realized for the first time how little he knew about Natalie. He had lived with her for three years and had no idea what the expression on her face meant.

Natalie saw the slightly confused man and Niki standing next to him with a blank face.

After finally determining Grandpa Graham's condition, she took off her mask and opened the door of the operating room.

As soon as the door was opened, Julian strode up to Natalie and eagerly asked her about the results of the surgery.

“How’s it going? Is Grandpa out of danger now?” He was anxious and urgent.

Natalie held a mask in her hand, she glanced at Julian, and said calmly, “Well, Grandpa’s life has been saved.”

“Really?!”, before Julian could share his joy, an unbelievable shout suddenly came from the side.

Natalie turned her head and saw the doctor who had just questioned her in the operating room.

“You really saved Lord Graham’s life?” How could this be? Lord Graham has become such a person that he didn’t even hear his breath for a while, but she really saved his life?

Get Bodas

Natalie didn’t answer, but she looked at the man and said, “Can you just go and see for yourself if he is alive or not?”

Julian, who was so calm, felt his own heart beat when he heard the news.

This woman actually saved Grandpa’s life.

Even though this was a means of attracting him, he could not deny that it was indeed useful.

“Do you want...” Any reward... Julian had hardly finished speaking, with his inner delight, the door of the operating room opened again.

The man turned his head to see the doctor pushing Lord Graham out of the operating room.

Forgetting what he had just said, he strode up to the old man.

As soon as Julian left, Niki began to shed her disguise and said to Natalie, “I didn’t know you could save lives!”

The words came out of Niki’s mouth with an inexplicable sense of jealousy.

Natalie knew exactly what Niki meant. It was clear enough that she was using her actions to hide her jealousy.

But her effort to conceal it was a little clumsy.

Natalie ignored Niki and walked straight past her.

Chapter 180 What’s wrong with Niki?

Natalie had just undergone a very difficult operation, and in the middle of the operation, it was forced to go wrong by Niki’s sudden appearance.

But she had done many operations with her grandmother in the Spears family and was well informed, so the crisis had finally gone well.

The surgery went well, but it didn’t undo what Niki had done.

Natalie really didn’t want to see her right now,

But Niki, as if shameless, followed Natalie closely.

Natalie took a step, and she followed suit.

At last, irritated by the way she followed her, she stopped, frowned, and turned around, “What’s wrong with you?”

Niki waved her hands and apologized. She looked aggrieved, “It’s nothing. I just think that you can make medicine and save people. How can you be so good?”

She smiled brightly, with a look of admiration on her face.

Natalie frowned. She just thought the look on Niki’s face made her sick.

“What does it matter to you?”

In New York, everyone knew the Spears family’s devotion to traditional Chinese medicine.

But, as a matter of fact, as her grandmother studied Western medicine and was also a top international doctor, the Spears family was not a traditional family of Chinese medicine.

They were better at combining Chinese and Western medicine, but very few people knew this.

Since childhood, Natalie had learned Chinese medicine from her grandfather and Western medicine from her grandmother, and the combination of the two had made her who she was today.

Niki was even more aggrieved when she heard this. "Natalie, because you are amazing. I just wanted to express my excitement.

Natalie didn't want to listen. She looked down and took off her gloves.

Niki continued.

"Natalie, when did you learn all this on the sly, or rather, you knew all this before and just kept it from us..."

"You're not keeping anything from the Graham family, are you?"

She was saying something that meant a lot.

Natalie threw the gloves in the trash can and looked up at Niki. "What does it matter to you if I don't tell the Graham family?"

"How could it not matter?" Niki was anxious.

"You have no place in the Graham family, and what happens in the Graham family is none of your business." "Natalie laughed and said, "You've been sticking to Julian like glue all day. What have you got?"

The implication was clear. Natalie was mocking her because Julian hadn't given her any status yet.

She's mocking the fact that she's not qualified to speak for the Graham family.

When she said this, she immediately touched Niki's antagonism.

Her face changed in an instant.

When Niki finally gave up, Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, "You are the real you now. You should do less acting. I feel sick watching."

"You!"

Niki's exasperated voice had just dropped when Natalie looked up and saw Julian stride toward where they were standing.

"Even if you didn't want to take care of Lord Graham and thought it was tiring and dirty, you could at least have gone to see him the first time he came out of the operating room, but you didn't."

Even if you don't want to take care of Mr. Gu and find it tiring and dirty, you should at least visit him the first time he comes out of the operating room, but you don't

"Do you really care about Lord Graham?"

Natalie frowned as if she were genuinely puzzled.

It was loud enough, and the Graham family's private hospital was so quiet, that her words echoed down the hallway.

Julian had heard that. His brow furrowed imperceptibly, and he quickened his pace.

Hearing this, Niki seemed to feel a little guilty. She didn't think about it at all...

She feels a little guilty, but she can't afford to lose to Natalie, so she retorts, "I see Julian just went, and I want to give him a private space to talk to Grandpa..."

"Private space?" "Natalie thought it was funny.

Niki's excuse was rather weak. Lord Graham was still under the effects of the anesthetic, so he's not even awake yet.

Where did it come from?

Niki was just about to turn around and see Lord Graham.

But before she could turn her head, she bumped into Julian as he strode along.

“Julian.....” Niki seemed genuinely alarmed at Julian’s appearance.

Her

eyes blinked several times in panic, and her words were a little unclear.

Wait... There’s something wrong.

Niki’s panic, however, made Natalie suspicious. If a person was really in a panic, she might blink continuously, but not as often as Niki...

Was she pretending?

But why did she pretend to panic? Wouldn’t that indirectly admit that she hadn’t thought of Lord Graham in the first place and wasn’t really worried about him?

Natalie’s eyes narrowed, wondering what Niki was thinking.

What if she’s up to something?

Julian looked at the woman. His voice was cold. “What are you doing here with Natalie. instead of going to see Grandpa?”

Niki was obviously trying to make up for herself.

But Julian didn’t want to hear it. His voice grew colder. “Why don’t you go?”

Niki didn’t dare say more. She nodded. “I’m going now.” “The woman walked slowly to Lord Graham’s sickbed.

Natalie stared after Niki. What was she going to do?

As the figure of the woman moved away, Julian turned to Natalie, his face softened slightly from its initial coldness.

Like a melting ice cube, he said, “Thank you for saving Grandpa.”

Natalie shook off her doubts and waved to the man. “No need.”

She was afraid that Julian would think too much about her actions to save Lord Graham, and she decided to explain a little more.

“In the eyes of doctors, all patients are the same. A doctor would never let a patient die in front of her.”

“So, I saved Lord Graham just because it’s a living life, and I hope you don’t think too much.” She hoped Julian didn’t think he’s the reason she saved Lord Graham.

But when Julian heard it, it sounded like she was trying to hide it.

The man’s eyes were deep. He looked Natalie straight in the eyes. “Really?”

He clearly didn’t believe what she had just said.

Natalie ignored him. She said this and walked away. She was going to change out of her scrubs and go home to get some sleep.

As for what Niki was up to, Natalie thought she’s just planning to make Julian hate her even more and get rid of her.

After all this time, Natalie felt that it didn’t matter. There were ways to deal with it, and Niki could do whatever she wanted.

“Wait, Natalie.” “The man’s voice came from behind.

Natalie did not slow down as if she had not heard.

Julian had no choice but to wave to the bodyguard beside him and said, “You take Ms. Spears home and make sure she’s safe.”

The bodyguard nodded, “Yes.”

As soon as the man finished his words, Niki’s voice suddenly came from behind him, “Julian, there’s something wrong with Grandpa...”

“Come and take a look...”

The woman’s voice trembled, as if she were afraid.