

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 181 A Sudden Accident

Gut Borus

"What's the matter with Grandpa..." Niki put her hand over her mouth and looked at the old man on the operating bed with horror on her face.

?!

Julian heard the woman's frightened voice and quickly turned back. Ignoring Natalie, he strode to the spot where Niki had been when she exclaimed.

"What's the matter?" He walked over with furrowed eyebrows.

When Niki saw the man coming, she raised her finger to the sickbed where the old man was.

Julian looked up and saw Grandpa lying in the sickbed. There was nothing wrong with his look, but his body was shaking violently and frighteningly, which made him afraid.

"What is this?!" Julian's face had gone from radiant to dark.

There's something wrong with Grandpa!

"I don't know what happened... Grandpa's been like this since I got here. I was taken aback by the situation." Niki was clearly in shock.

She looked at Grandpa Graham lying there, his fingers twitching. Although the anesthetic had not yet worn off and the old man did not wake up, the flesh on his face could be clearly seen throbbing faintly near his eyes.

Julian grabbed the private doctor standing aside and said, "What's going on?"

I... I don't know what's going on... "The private doctor shuddered.

Grandpa Graham was in great shape when he was wheeled out of the operating room. "He put his hand on the old man's body and tried to examine him." Don't worry, Mr. Graham. I'm going to examine him right now.

Julian stood staring at the trembling doctor and Grandpa Graham in the sickbed, he was unable to breathe.

“Natalie said he was out of danger and the operation was a success. How could this happen?”

The more he thought about it, the more wrong it seemed.

Niki rushed over and said, “Natalie said it was a success, but she said it herself. None of us know anything about medicine, but she does, and who knows if she’s telling the truth.”

She said it carefully, but it meant something.

Sure enough, Julian’s brow furrowed.

He understood what Niki wanted to express, but he did not know why. When he heard such words, the first thing he thought was that he did not want to believe that Natalie would lie.

Natalie wouldn’t lie to him, would she?

As he thought, he heard the doctor’s voice, frightened, “Mr. Graham, Lord Graham is in a very complicated condition. I... Have no ability to save him.”

“No ability?” Julian gritted his teeth. He reached out his hand and took the pulse of the doctor’s hand and twisted it in the opposite direction, causing the doctor to feel severe pain for an instant.

“You’re such a loser, get out!”

As soon as he finished speaking, he kicked his right foot in the doctor’s knee. The doctor was on his knees in an instant, and she couldn’t move a minute.

“Julian, don’t be mad at the doctor if you have anything to say. He’s innocent.” Niki quickly pulled Julian back, trying to dissuade him.

“Innocent? There’s something wrong with Grandpa, and all he says is he’s not capable, so what’s the Graham family going to do with him?”

Seeing Julian’s anger, Niki reminded him, “The priority now is to save Grandpa.”

Julian’s mind was a mess. He sobered up for a moment, grabbed the doctor and asked, “How was Grandpa when he was wheeled out of the operating room?”

The doctor winced. “Lord Graham’s condition... His state was...” He flinched for a long time without saying anything.

“Hurry up!”

Julian was clearly impatient.

The doctor’s body shook, and he looked at Niki standing beside him with a look that seemed to seek confirmation.

Niki stood behind Julian. She blinked and gave him a positive look.

When the doctor got the message, he finally said, “When Lord Graham came out, I went up to check on him. His state...”

“Speak up!” Julian was already unable to suppress his emotions.

‘He’s certainly in good shape! The doctor continued, “There’s nothing unusual on the surface, and his vital signs are back to normal.”

“On the surface?”

Julian shrewdly captured the point of this statement.

“Yes... On the surface...” “The doctor continued to cringe.” It is possible that Lord Graham’s stability is only apparent, or it would not have happened so soon after the operation.”

“And I’ve just checked Lord Graham’s condition and he’s even worse off now than he was before the operation...”

Julian’s eyes went cold.

Angrily, he kicked over the bin that had just been lifted up, and it flew another eight meters.

Did Natalie really lie to him? What did Grandpa's life mean to her? Was it just a tool to get his attention?!

"Get Natalie back!" Julian's anger reached its peak.

"Yes." "The bodyguard immediately nodded and went to find Natalie.

"What about Grandpa here?" Niki tugged at the hem of the man's clothes, looking worried.

Julian frowned. Names of international doctors ran through his mind. The Graham family had no use for these useless doctors, so he had to go to another doctor.

"Don't worry. I'll send my assistant to find a more experienced doctor at once. He'll be fine." Julian said that with conviction.

He's talking to Niki as much as he's talking to himself.

"Well." Niki nodded, but the emotion in her eyes was obscure.

Natalie had just taken off her scrubs from the dressing room, pulled her hair down, and walked out of the dressing room.

But as soon as she opened the door of the dressing room, she was stopped by two bodyguards before she got out.

"What is this?" She frowned.

The bodyguards didn't even explain to her, they just grabbed Natalie.

Natalie was stunned. "What are you doing?" she shouted. She struggled to free herself.

But the man was so strong that she could not break free and was forced to move forward.

Seeing the woman struggling in their hands, one of the bodyguards said, "Ms. Spears, how dare you play with Lord Graham's life."

He asked, dragging Natalie forward." I wonder who gave you the nerve to fool Mr. Graham like that."

She's playing with Lord Graham's life? She fooled Julian??

Natalie did not understand the bodyguard's words, but felt shocked. Since when did she put Lord Graham's life at risk?!

"What are you talking about? "Natalie heard this and suddenly she stopped struggling. She dished out her doubts.

"You should know what I'm talking about." "The bodyguard said.

He saw how beautiful Mr. Graham's wife was and reminded her. He did not wish to see such a beautiful woman beaten to death by Mr. Graham.

"Maybe Mr. Graham will let you go when you're nicer."

Although he knew it was unlikely, Lord Graham was almost dead.

Natalie was more confused. She moved forward passively, her eyes full of doubt. What was he saying? What happened?

She had a bad feeling

Chapter 182 Get her out of here

Natalie was being pulled by two bodyguards, walking through a long corridor until they reached the door of the operating room.

However, she didn't struggle along the way due to her confusion. She was pondering over the meaning behind the bodyguards' words.

She gradually caught sight of a scene where Grandpa Graham was surrounded by doctors and the sound of beeping machines filled the air. Trembling, she took a couple more steps and saw Grandpa Graham's body shaking uncontrollably.

What was happening?

Wasn't Grandpa Graham out of danger? How could this be?

Natalie had confidence in her medical skills. She was certain that Grandpa Graham's condition was stable inside the operating room, and all vital signs had returned to normal.

There was no way this could be happening!

Faced with this scene, Natalie's heart went into shock, and she finally started to struggle.

She tried hard to free herself from the grip of the two bodyguards, exclaiming, "Let me go! I wanna see how Grandpa Graham is doing!"

She had only gone out to change into surgical attire, how could things have turned out like this? What had happened?

The bodyguards didn't release their hold, and Natalie looked up to see Julian's face.

His face turned icy cold, and he looked like the freakin' devil himself straight outta hell, as if he could snap and kill her any moment.

Natalie noticed Julian's gaze and sensed that something was wrong.

She asked, "Julian, what are you doing? What happened to Grandpa Graham? What have you done to him?" She voiced her questions one after another.

In the next moment, Julian's words sent a chill down her spine.

Get Pomus

Julian coldly sneered and looked at her with a frigid gaze. "Shouldn't I be the one asking you that?"

"Do you hate the Graham family so much that you're willing to harm an innocent elderly person?"

"Natalie, do you even have a conscience?"

Julian's words hit Natalie one after another, each sentence chilling her to the core.

"What... are you saying?" She couldn't believe Julian would say such things.

Grandpa Graham's heart failure was already severe, making the surgery extremely difficult. Furthermore, before Natalie performed the surgery, the Graham family's private doctor had made medication errors, indirectly exacerbating Grandpa Graham's heart failure...

-The challenges she faced were already immense.

She had worked tirelessly, on high alert, to perform the surgery on Grandpa Graham, fearing the slightest mistake.

After hours of surgery, not a single moment of losing focus throughout the whole thing, she finally managed to pull Grandpa Graham back from the brink of death, only to end up with this kind of result...

It was truly tragic.

"Julian, do you think I caused Grandpa Graham's condition to deteriorate like this?"
Was

there really no trust in her?

Julian remained silent, his unyielding jawline directed towards Natalie, showing no mercy.

His silence made it clear that he tacitly admitted Natalie's accusations.

Seeing Julian's expression, Natalie's eyes revealed a mocking expression, and then she made a fierce move, flinging away the bodyguard who had been holding her wrist all along.

"Let me go, you guys!"

Natalie suddenly exerted force, catching the bodyguards off guard and successfully freeing herself.

"You!" The bodyguard glanced at Julian's icy expression and quickly lowered his head, attempting to regain his grip on Natalie's wrist in front of Julian, it would be disastrous if two strong men couldn't even hold onto a woman.

Would they end up being dismissed, just like those doctors?

Thinking of this, the two bodyguards trembled, and their outstretched hands got even more forceful. At this point, they didn't even care if the person they were holding was a hottie or not.

But before their hands could make contact, they heard the boss's voice in their ears, saying, "Let her go."

The voice was as icy as ever.

"Huh?" One of the bodyguards was a bit stunned. "Julian, you mean we should let go Miss Spears?"

"Yeah," Julian nodded.

The bodyguards had no choice but to obediently release their grip and step back. Now was the time to stay out of the way so that Julian's anger wouldn't come down on their own asses.

That was the kind of experience these bodyguards had gained surviving by Julian's side for so many years.

Niki stood by, seeing what was going on, feeling like something wasn't right. What the hell was Julian doing, suddenly telling the bodyguards to let go?

Could he really forgive Natalie for pulling this shit?

Hell no, she ain't gonna allow it!

Niki's eyes turned cold as she spoke up, "Natalie, why are you treating Grandpa Graham like this? Did he treat you that bad?"

I

Her voice carried doubt, like she was genuinely confused.

Then it seemed like something clicked in Niki's mind, and she exclaimed, "Are you still pissed about what happened at the Graham family banquet last time?"

"But even if you're holding a grudge against Grandpa for kicking you out of the banquet and making you look bad in front of all those people, you can't treat him like this..."

"This is literally a life!"

Niki kept yapping on the side, adding fuel to the fire of Julian's rage. It was like pouring gasoline on a burning inferno.

She wanted to make sure that Natalie would never be able to turn the tables in Julian's mind.

As Julian's expression grew darker and darker, Niki felt even more satisfied. She wanted to stoke Julian's anger even more.

When Natalie heard Niki's voice, she looked up and locked eyes with her.

Natalie glanced at Niki for a moment, and her face instantly changed. She looked at Niki and said, "You did this."

For some reason, Natalie only needed one look at Niki to tell that she was the one behind all of this.

Natalie's words weren't a question, but a statement.

Niki felt a tremor in her heart and said, "You..."

How the hell did Natalie know? How could she be so sure?

But the shock in her heart only lasted for a second before Niki regained her composure. There was no way Natalie could know that she was the one behind this. She was just taking wild guesses.

"I didn't," Niki said, her gaze determined. "At the moment when you took Grandpa Graham out of the operating room, I didn't even get close to grandpa. How could it be me?"

When Natalie heard this, she smirked.

She instantly understood.

So Niki had been waiting here for her.

She had been wondering why Niki didn't immediately approach Grandpa Graham when he came out, to show her concern for him.

Instead, she had been following her around, mocking her.

It turned out that she was trying to create an alibi for herself.

When Natalie fell silent, Niki's eyes gleamed with mockery once again.

Once the effects of the medication wore off, Grandpa Graham would be completely vegetative.

Once this stubborn old man turned into a persistent vegetative state, he wouldn't be able to object to her marrying Julian anymore.

It was like killing two birds with one stone.

Not only did it ensure that Natalie can never gain the upper hand in Julian's heart, but it also cleared the biggest obstacle on her path to marrying into the Graham family.

It looked like this old man's life still had some usefulness left in it.

Niki's expression fueled Natalie's growing doubts. However, Natalie couldn't afford to waste any more time talking to Niki. She immediately stepped forward, and walked towards Grandpa Graham.

She wanted to find out what Niki had done to Grandpa Graham.

She wanted to see how ruthless this innocent and sweet-looking woman could be just to marry into the Graham family.

"Natalie, you dare to go?" Just as Natalie took a step forward, she heard Julian's warning voice from behind.

Julian's eyes bore into her with his intense, pitch-black pupils, radiating a chilling and fierce gaze. He uttered each word with a cruel and ruthless tone, "You seriously wanna go and witness your own masterpiece?"

"Drag her back and kick her out," Julian's words sliced through the air like a sharp knife, showing no mercy whatsoever.

Just as Julian said that unfriendly remark, Joey's phone call came over and said, "Mr.

Julian, I have found the contact information of Dr. Meid!"

Upon hearing this, the man's pupils suddenly narrowed. He finally glanced at Natalie, turned around and left, "Send it to me."

The bodyguard just now did not hear Julian's angry command at all. He leaned against the wall and was trying to reduce his sense of presence.

It's best to make Mr. Julian completely ignore him.

No one stopped her from behind, Natalie walked to Grandpa Graham's hospital bed quickly.

Grandpa Graham was tightly surrounded by a group of doctors in white robes, and they -stood there with their tongues full, discussing countermeasures together.

"What exactly is this symptom? I've never seen this before?"

"I haven't seen it either, but his heart rate chart is still quite normal. What's on earth the problem?" A doctor frowned with serious expression as he held a testing instrument in his hand.

"So, what should we do?" One of the doctors lowered his head and looked at the old man lying in bed, his voice was low. "If we can't save the old man today, we'll all be over."

"It's all due to the woman just now. Doctor Brown has already said that it's difficult to cure him. She still tried to show off her ability, how the old man is in a worse state than before. She left and this mess will be left for us to clean up."

One of the doctors had a look of resentment in his eyes, and the anger in his heart was self-evident.

He wanted to say something more. Natalie had already stood by his side and said, "Who said I left, I'm right here now."

The man turned around and was startled, "You... did you come back?"

Natalie didn't pay any attention to him. She looked at the doctors with a serious expression and said, "Get out of the way!"

Just a few simple words made her inexplicably intimidating.

Natalie's deep gaze was solemn and firm, although at first glance she seemed gentle. But at this moment, she seemed to have an invincible and overwhelming force in her Invisibility.

Everyone around the hospital bed felt inexplicable oppression.

These prestigious doctors in the medical field glanced at each other and coincidentally made way for a completely unknown woman.

Although they didn't know why, when they saw Natalie's gaze, they couldn't help but feel an impulse to believe in Natalie's surgical ability.

Niki looked at this from a distance and her expression was sullen.

What a bunch of trash! How can they make way for Natalie?!

Niki quickly turned her head and wanted to call out Julian, but when she turned around, she didn't see the man.

Where has Julian gone?

Grandpa's life is uncertain, how could he leave? Niki was puzzled in her heart.

But even though she was doubted, she was still afraid that if Natalie really discovered any clues, things would be much harder to handle.

After all, she still doesn't know Natalie, let alone her clinical level. If Natalie can really tell.....

Thinking of this, Niki became very vigilant in her heart. She immediately turned her head and said, "What are you two hiding there for? Brother Julian just asked you to drive Natalie out, do it now!"

She frowned tightly and shouted at the two bodyguards standing in the corner.

"Ah..? Wh..what?" The bodyguard was shouted fiercely, his body trembling. "You said Mr. Julian just asked us to drive Miss Natalie out?"

Niki didn't want to say too much. She just wanted Natalie to get out of here quickly, “Hurry up, you’re too dawdling. Don’t you want to keep your job?”

The bodyguard quickly stood up and walked towards Natalie.

Natalie had already taken the instrument from the doctor’s hand and placed it on Grandpa Graham’s chest. She carefully monitored the changes in Grandpa Graham’s physical condition while using her hands to detect various indicators.

The doctors on the side silently watched Natalie’s exceptionally skilled movements, all of them were silent for a moment.

She stared closely at the indicators displayed on the computer, with two of them showing particularly prominent red trend lines, Natalie’s face gradually became solemn.

She took out a small instrument lamp from the side and opened Grandpa Graham’s eyelids. The lamp shone into the old man’s eyes, clearly revealing dilated pupils.

Natalie suddenly had a bad premonition in her heart. She quickly reached out and pressed the old man’s eye socket, but the old man did not respond at all.

She frowned, followed by a series of painful thrusts, but the old man still didn’t respond.

This... this is a sign of vegetarianism.

As soon as this idea came out, Natalie was shocked. In order to determine whether he was truly a vegetable, she almost immediately turned around and pressed the machine to perform an EEG test on the old man.

But just as she turned on the machine, the sound of footsteps came, and her arm was suppressed, unable to move in an instant.

Natalie didn’t even need to look up and knew who was controlling her.

“Let go of me and let me finish measuring this last indicator. “Before Natalie could react, how could Grandpa Graham suddenly develop symptoms of being a vegetable?

This is impossible!

But the two bodyguards clearly did not obey her command, “Miss Natalie, this is Mr. Julian’s request.”

Fortunately, by the time the bodyguard grabbed her wrist, she had already plugged in the electroencephalogram device, and now the device was in operation, waiting for the final result.

Natalie can't care about anything now, she just wants to procrastinate as much as possible to see if the final result is a vegetable or not.

Suddenly, Niki's voice came to her ear, "Natalie, it's you who caused Grandpa Graham to become like this. You're still here pretending to save Grandpa, you're really a good actor."

As if Nike would feel nauseous if Natalie stayed here for an extra second, she furrowed her brows and waved to the two bodyguards, "Drive her away quickly. Brother Julian doesn't want to see her anymore."

"Moreover, Grandpa Graham definitely doesn't want to see a person who murdered him standing in front of him," Niki said in a sarcastic tone.

"Yes!" said the bodyguard, Natalie could no longer resist and could only be passively pulled out of the hospital bed.

She finally glanced up at the electroencephalogram, the curve line... the answer is self-evident.

Grandpa Graham is a precursor to being a vegetable, and it doesn't take long to completely become a vegetable. Natalie couldn't believe this.

Two bodyguards were still pulling her towards the door, but Natalie couldn't break free and could only follow their movements forward.

As she approached the door, Julian's figure caught Natalie's eye. He put down his arm with his phone, clearly finishing the call.

Natalie's eyes moved slightly, and she suddenly spoke, "Let me go, I'll go by myself."

The two bodyguards naturally dare not let her go at this juncture, not to mention that Mr. Julian was just watching at the end of the corridor, and they dare not act recklessly.

Julian heard the sound and his gaze spread across the corridor. He looked straight over and saw Natalie's frowning expression.

Out of some unknown psychology, he spoke up and said, "Let go of her."

Then followed another sentence, with a low voice that could not be spoken of, "Make sure she goes out."

The bodyguard nodded repeatedly and then released Natalie's hand.

Natalie broke free from their constraints and trotted up to Julian, her voice was a bit of sharp. "Grandpa Graham has now developed vegetative symptoms, just experienced heart failure, and now he has inexplicably developed these symptoms....."

“Only a kind of secret traditional medicine from the Spears family can save Grandpa Graham now.”

Julian lowered his head and looked at Natalie, but he didn't answer the question, "inexplicably?"

“Do you think Grandpa's symptoms is inexplicable? Are you still talking nonsense at this point?”

Niki stood at the other end of the corridor, watching everything coldly, with a clear smile on her lips.

It is undeniable that Natalie is intelligent. But correspondingly, her moral standards are too high, and her focus is entirely on how to save that old man, which is her fatal weakness.

It also means that Natalie will not be Niki's opponent.

Chapter 184 No Perfect Crime

“In Grandpa's current situation, he needs the Spears family's secret traditional Chinese medicine. Moreover, the situation is very urgent and cannot be delayed any longer.”

Julian snorted coldly, obviously not paying much attention to Natalie's words, “Spears family's Secret Medicine?”

“How can you say that off the cuff! Have you seen the Spears family in New York? Do you know what medicinal herbs the Spears family has?”

She hasn't even entered the Spears family's house, and she just said that treating grandfather requires the Spears family's secret traditional Chinese medicine... How crazy she is!

“Besides, is the Secret Medicine of the Spears family something that the Graham family can take if they want?”

Julian's words were very impolite, and his expression also made people feel angry.

"Julian, pay attention to your attitude." Natalie's anger rose.

Natalie knew that Julian had misunderstood her, but she thought that he knew right from wrong at least. He should know what to do first in the present, rather than arguing here.

"Julian, have you figured out the key points? The top priority now is to save Grandpa, not to talk about these meaningless things here." Natalie spoke urgently.

Julian seemed to not understand Natalie's words. He looked at her and said, "Of course I know what's the most important now, and I don't need you to remind me."

"I have contacted an internationally renowned doctor, Dr. Meid, who can cure Grandpa."

Dr. Meid? Natalie searched for this name in her mind, as if she had indeed heard of it. He can be considered one of the most famous doctors in neighboring countries, but at this time, he should be abroad.

How could he possibly come back in time?

To become a doctor is to race against time. He asked someone far away from abroad to perform surgery on Grandpa Graham, by the time he arrived, Grandpa Graham's life

But the man's attitude was clearly firm.

Natalie couldn't help it. Since Julian wanted to argue about Grandpa's sudden symptoms... She thought for a while, well, then just explain it to him clearly today.

"Grandpa Graham's current situation is not caused by me," Natalie said calmly and seemed to explain the fact.

Then she continued to speak, "Do you really think I did it?"

Julian was noncommittal.

Natalie couldn't help but think it's funny. "What? Are you an idiot, Julian?"

"If I want to intentionally harm grandpa, why should I perform surgery on him so blatantly? Isn't this in a hurry to be discovered?"

How can't Julian understand such a simple truth?

"Are you the only one in the world who would be so foolish and think I did it on purpose?"

Natalie's words were full of ridicule.

Julian's hand, holding his phone, casually trembled, and his heart felt some ripples.

"Apart from you, there is no second person to touch Grandpa."

"You don't need to pretend anymore!"

"Pretend? What do I have to pretend about?" Natalie only felt her brain buzzing when she heard the man's words.

She sighed and then continued, "Did you just say that there was no second person besides me touching Grandpa?"

"Do you know that if someone really wants to take action on an elderly person who is physically weak, he doesn't need to touch him at all."

Upon hearing this, Julian's eyes immediately deepened.

Just now, as he was emotional, he took it for granted to believe when he heard Niki say those words.

But now after hearing Natalie say this, Julian suddenly realized that he had too much Taith in Niki.

Many things that Niki did before, as well as the things she lied about, flashed through Julian's mind.

It has been quite a while since Niki returned from abroad, and Julian has actually realized that she is no longer the simple and lovely girl she used to be.

She has changed a lot.

Becoming concerned about gains and losses, feeling insecure, and lying.....

He hesitated for a moment.

Before he spoke, the sound of high heels hitting the floor came from behind. The two of them looked back at the same time, and it was Niki.

"No need to touch him at all? Well, I've never heard about this. "Niki said as she walked towards the two of them.

"How could it be? Are you making up any excuse to excuse yourself?"

She had just stood in the corner, observing the conversation between Natalie and Julian.

Seeing Julian's obvious hesitation, she finally couldn't hold back.

Natalie unexpectedly changed Julian's mind in just a few words.

This is not a good omen.

"Of course, you haven't heard of it, "Natalie frowned.

She had already found Niki standing in one corner, but she didn't want to pay attention to her.

Now she finally can't hold it back?

How could you, a person who doesn't know anything about medicine, know? "If she really knew, it would make people suspect.

Niki looked up at Natalie's expression.

Her expression was calm, without any anger or loss of control after being wronged, nor any panic or fear. Only peace, endless peace.

After seeing Natalie's state, Niki finally felt a bit flustered in her heart.

She even felt a bit tempted to retract her earlier thoughts. Natalie's moral standards were indeed too high, but correspondingly, she was calm enough.

The level of her calmness made people feel as if nothing could shake her emotions.

This kind of person is terrifying.

"So, tell me how you can make a person look like this without touching him?" Niki looked at her, trying to keep herself calm.

"There are many ways to do that," Natalie frowned. "Do you want to know?"

The emotions in Niki's eyes were complex, and nobody knows what she was thinking. After a while, she nodded.

Natalie smiled and said, "Then let me tell you.

Niki looked at her.

But when Natalie was about to say something she suddenly changed her mind and asked again, "Do you really want to know?"

Niki suddenly felt a bit mocked and snorted coldly, "What? Are you afraid to say it?"

Natalie shook her head and said, "No."

"I just want to remind you that all the methods I mentioned have traces to follow. If someone really did this, it must be possible to find out. I hope Miss Niki is mentally prepared."

The implication is very obvious. As long as they carefully investigate, Niki's tricks will definitely be exposed.

There are no perfect crime scenes in the world.

Niki's expression changed for some reason. Upon hearing Natalie's words, she actually had a hint of fear, she was afraid that Natalie would find out the truth.

“What’s the matter? Miss Niki, are you OK? You look terrible. “Natalie looked concerned, but her words were sarcastic.

Hearing Natalie’s words, Julian looked over at Niki, who waved her hand at him. “I’m fine. I’m just feeling a little stuffy.”

She took a deep breath and hinted to herself that Natalie must not have ability to find the truth.

But no matter how she hinted at herself, she could always feel a hint of a bad premonition.

Finally, she couldn’t put on any more and forced out a smile. “Brother Julian, let’s go and see Grandpa quickly. Don’t waste time with Natalie here.

She grabbed Julian and wanted to walk in the direction of the operating room.

“Why did Miss Niki leave? I haven’t finished speaking yet! “Natalie curled her lips and looked at Niki’s slightly flustered figure.

Niki walked faster.

Natalie raised her voice, “Niki doesn’t want to hear it, don’t you want to hear it, Mr. Julian? Don’t you want to know who set grandpa up?”

Julian’s footsteps suddenly stopped, but he didn’t turn his head directly, obviously hesitating.

Natalie saw the situation and continued, “Anyway, Dr. Maid hasn’t come yet, and you can’t help much even if you go. Why don’t you listen?”

This reason was irresistible, and Niki immediately became anxious.

She grabbed the man by the corner of his clothes and shook her head at Julian, “Brother Julian, let’s go quickly.”

Julian seemed as if he had not heard of it. He stopped, turned around, looked at Natalie, and slowly spoke, "OK, go on."

Niki's back suddenly stiffened.

Chapter 185 I Will Make You Pay the Price

Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, "Is Mr. Julian interested?"

Niki stiffened her back as she watched the man's figure turn and closed her eyes in pain.

Julian looked at Natalie without replying, clearly waiting for her answer.

"There are many ways to turn a healthy person into a vegetable," said Natalie directly.

"Not to mention a person whose body just recovered; he is powerless in front of someone with ulterior motives."

As she spoke, she looked at Niki.

Niki stood there dully, probably feeling a bit scared. The expression on her face was a bit exaggerated.

She told herself secretly in her heart, 'don't be afraid, even if Natalie knew more methods, what can she do?'

She had evidence of absence and did not do it herself, but ask someone to do it instead of her. Anyway, she doesn't have this suspicion!

"For example, using... ", as Natalie was about to say, a sound came from the gate behind her.

Then there was a series of footsteps, and the man raised his eyes with his gaze to see the person coming, and his face immediately changed.

Natalie and Niki also looked up.

Behind them came a group of people, led by a man in a suit. He has blonde hair and blue eyes, dressed in an elite formal attire, wearing a black suit vest outside, and his hair is meticulously combed.

At first glance, it makes people feel that this person is very rigorous.

Why is this person so familiar? Natalie blinked, searching for information about this person in her mind.

Julian walked forward and a rare smile appeared on his face. "Dr. Meid, aren't you abroad? You come so quickly?"

Dr. Meid? Upon hearing Julian say this, Natalie immediately compared Dr. Meid in her mind to the person in front of her. Why is there something weird?

Meid she remembers doesn't look like this.

When she was a child, the Spears family held an exchange conference about traditional Chinese medicine and Western medicine experts, and Meid was one of them. He was still very young at the time and had not achieved as much as he does now. He was all cowering in the corner.

Natalie always liked to run after her grandfather at that time, but at that banquet, his grandfather was always chatting with various unfamiliar people. From one end of the banquet venue to the other end, back and forth.

Natalie was a young girl at that time, so she naturally couldn't keep up with his grandfather's pace.

She was tired from walking and went to the corner to rest. At a glance, she saw Meid, who was also in the corner. He has blonde hair and blue eyes, and is tall. Standing alone.

in the corner, he seemed out of place.

Thinking of this, she shook her head and looked up at Meid again. He had really changed a lot.

Now he walks and speaks without the cowardly feeling of the past.

"I happen to be on a business trip here, and I came immediately upon receiving your call. After all, it's a matter of life and death, and I can't neglect it." Meid spoke with concern.

"Please come in quickly, the patient is inside."

Julian walked in front, guiding the man. Mr. Meid nodded and followed his instructions towards the operating room, without even looking at the woman standing next to him.

Obviously, now he is all focused on Meid, only wanting to grab the last hope that can save Grandpa.

"The situation of the old man is very dangerous now, so I need you to pay more attention." Julian walked ahead and said with a sincere tone.

Get Born

"Yes, of course." said Mr. Meid in a gentle tone. When Julian mentioned that Grandpa Graham's condition was not very good, his expression changed noticeably, making him feel refreshed.

The two men walked forward and backward, obviously forgetting Natalie and Niki.

Seeing Julian's back walking further and further, Niki breathed a sigh of relief. Mr. Meid really came in time.....

She turned her eyes to Natalie and wanted to say something. Her mouth moved, but she couldn't think of anything to say for a while.

Finally, she just glanced contemptuously at Natalie and walked back as if she had won a battle.

"Wait." Natalie suddenly spoke out and stopped her.

Niki turned around.

Natalie looked straight at her and said, "You did this, didn't you?"

From the moment Mr. Meid appeared, Natalie could feel that Niki's entire body relaxed instantly.

Not to mention, after Julian left, Niki's overall movements became more pronounced, highlighting that she had just been nervous.

"What's the matter?" Niki pretended to be foolish.

“Julian is not here, you don’t have to pretend.” Natalie frowned.

Niki smiled with a hint of pride on her face, “Pretend?”

“Well, you know what I mean in your heart.”

“To be clear, I tried my best to save Grandpa Graham’s life. Why did you choose to frame an elderly person? Grandpa Graham treat you well, how can you be so cruel?”

“Well?” Niki snorted coldly, as the old man’s sarcastic expression flashed through her mind.

Every day, when she appears in Graham family, he will definitely have a bad attitude to her.

Get Bonus

Besides, he opposed her to marry Julian, which she couldn’t bear.

Natalie keenly captured the emotions in Niki’s words and threw out a sentence, “So you hate Grandpa Graham?”

Niki wanted to answer immediately, but as she opened her mouth, she suddenly remembered something was wrong and swallowed the words back.

She was clearly very cautious and continued to sneer, “Are you trying to trick me?”

She won’t be easily fooled.

“Why do I hate Grandpa Graham? Although Grandpa Graham doesn’t treat me very well and doesn’t agree with me marrying into the Graham family, he is still the grandfather of Brother Julian, and I still respect him in my heart.”

Niki’s words were perfect, not only expressing the fact that Grandpa Graham had treated her badly, but also expressing her respect for the elderly appropriately.

Natalie smiled lightly.

She looked at her said, "Don't worry, there are no surveillance cameras in this hallway. You don't have to be so nervous, nor do you have to put in a lot of effort to speak so perfectly."

"We're all on our own, so speak up and don't be so vigilant."

Upon hearing Natalie say that there were no cameras in the hallway, Niki's eyes lit up instantly. She looked up to look for the cameras.

Yes, there are no cameras at all.

Her expression relaxed even more.

"What else can I say? I respect Grandpa and have no reason to harm him," Niki smiled from the corner of her mouth.

Natalie understood even more when she saw her series of movements.

She also didn't expect Niki to admit, "Every person who does something bad has its consequences. Don't worry, I will definitely make you pay the corresponding price."

Natalie looked straight at Niki, her tone was calm, but with a hint of confidence and determination, as if she was born with it.

The words shot straight into Niki's heart, and she blinked.

She felt, inexplicably, a genuine panic, but managed to maintain a semblance of composure.

After Natalie finished speaking this sentence, she ignored Niki, who was a bit distracted, and walked towards the direction of the operating room.

When Natalie had already walked out of the corridor, Niki finally came out of her trance. still She shouted at the woman's back, "Brother Julian asked you to leave, why are you here and going to Grandpa?"

In the room, Dr. Meid stood in front of Grandpa Graham's bed, his face was serious and looked very stressed.

Upon seeing this, Julian furrowed his brow and cautiously asked, "How about him?"

Dr. Meid's expression looked terrible, enough to show the severity of Grandpa Graham's condition.

"Grandpa Graham... there is a high possibility that he will become a vegetable..."

Dr. Meid spoke in a serious tone.

What?!

As soon as this word was spoken, Julian's last hope was also crushed, and his hand trembled slightly.

"What is the probability?" He asked, reluctantly suppressing his emotions.

"More than 90%." "In order to prevent Julian's emotions from fluctuating too much, he replied after pondering.

But he didn't say this.

Julian's face became even sad, and the atmosphere around him instantly suppressed.

In the midst of silence, Natalie walked slowly and looked at Dr. Meid, saying, "There's a way to save him."

Dr. Meid's eyes flashed a hint of surprise and he looked up in awe.

Chapter 186 The relation with the Spears family in New York

About the girl in front of him... Dr. Meid frowned and recalled something unclear, which seemed real or not.

He looked at the woman in front of him and said, "Did we meet before?"

Julian did not welcome Natalie's arrival. He furrowed his brow and shook his head at Dr.

Meid. "Excuse me. Dr. Meid, she is not a medical student and she doesn't officially learn something about clinical practice. I am so sorry that she spoke rashly and disturbed your consultation. I am so sorry again."

Why did Natalie come again? Why hasn't she left yet?

Julian was sullen.

Dr. Meid waved his hand and said, "It's okay."

After saying this, he took a final look at Natalie and turned around, ready to continue his previous work.

"Am I not a professional person who understands clinical practice?" Natalie frowned upon hearing this.

She spoke to Dr. Meid, "What's wrong with Mr. Graham? Did you know? Dr. Meid?"

Meid turned his head and looked at Natalie again, "Of course. I know."

"Great. "Natalie waved her hand.

Natalie still trusted Meid's abilities in medicine, After all, he is someone who was invited to a banquet by the Spears family many years ago, which meant that he enjoyed a high-level position in medicine.

"I just heard you said that there is a 90% chance that Mr. Graham will be a patient in a vegetative state."

Dr. Meid think there was not anything wrong with Natalie's words, so he nodded.

"Natalie, Dr. Meid is examining. Please be quiet. What are you doing here?"

There was a hint of impatience in his expression as if blaming her for wasting the time of treatment.

Natalie heard the sound and looked at Julian

She knew that he would have reluctantly been so kind to her for the sake of seeking the peace and reputes of his family in front of Dr. Meid.

If Dr. Meid were not here, she would have been pulled out of the door by Julian's bodyguard.

Natalie glanced at Julian and then looked back at Dr. Meid, "I mean the details of his physical body. Do you know?"

Dr. Meid frowned. What did this woman mean by this? Didn't he just answer?

"The probability of Mr. Graham becoming a vegetable is more than 90%, right?" Natalie continued.

Dr. Meid was stunned in an instant. Right. She was right.

It seems that this woman is not as ignorant of medicine as Julian said.

But he had just given his conclusion to Julian, and it was difficult to change his words now, so he chose to remain silent.

Natalie looked at Dr. Meid's expression and guessed what he was thinking. She didn't continue talking, but instead turned back to the previous topic and said, "Mr. Graham, in my eyes, there is some way else to help him."

Dr. Meid raised his eyebrows with high interest, "How?"

Just as Natalie was about to speak, the sound of high heels came from behind, followed by the figure of Niki.

She walked over and stood next to Julian as if she had intended to say something, but when she saw the current situation, she reluctantly restrained her words.

"Mr. Graham's current state is very serious, but there is a secret medicine in the Spears family that can save his life."

Why didn't I think over it?"

The man's expression was excited as if he had a sudden realization. He had a feeling in his mind that he had no idea at all.

Julian looked at Dr. Meid with great excitement and felt confused.

The Secret Medicine in the Spears family?

"Dr. Meid, it means that if my grandfather wants to recover from this serious illness, he needs a Spears family secret medicine?"

“That’s right. “Dr. Meid was excited and pointed at Natalie.” This young lady just reminded me.”

“I stayed abroad for too long and almost forgot about the mysterious power of the Spears family in New York. The Spears family indeed has a medicine that can save Mr. Graham’s life.”

Julian blinked.

He looked at Natalie standing less than half a meter away from him with a complex expression.

Natalie just told him that it required the Spears family’s secret medicine to save his grandpa’s life. He thought she was talking nonsense, but she was right.

Julian got angrier, and his stern expression at the moment made people feel confused.

After half a sound, he spoke to Dr. Meid again, “So, I want to know...”

“Can only the Spears family’s secret medicine be useful now? “The man asked with a serious expression.

Upon hearing this question, Dr. Meid glanced up at Natalie, as if trying to negotiate with her about the answer, and then spoke, “Theoretically, it is indeed.”

“Considering the current physical condition, it is.”

“I guess, Mr. Graham should have just completed a rescue surgery for heart failure, right.”

“After undergoing heart failure surgery, it is rare for this situation to suddenly occur again.”

Dr. Meid’s words were tactful and subtle.

When he first came into this room and see Mr. Graham’s situation, he knew there was something wrong. Maybe...

It's not like a sequela of failed heart failure surgery... it's an accident that was deliberately designed by someone.

After all, this was his speculation, without conclusive evidence. Due to his professionalism as a doctor, he would not say something randomly.

This is also his usual principle of dealing with people.

"In short, the situation is very urgent. In this situation, only the Spears family's secret medicine can be useful."

Julian frowned.

The Spears family?

When he was a child, he went to the Spears family in New York, and the memories in his mind surged back to him

The first meeting with Niki was at a banquet in the Spears family's house.

But after the banquet held by the Spears family, he had no further contact with the Spears family.

On the contrary, it's his brother, Henry, who seems to have some connection with the Spears family.

Thinking of this, Julian's brow furrowed.

Dr. Meid looked up at Natalie, perhaps because what Natalie had just said surprised him. He answered these questions humbly, without any hints of pride and arrogance, as an internationally renowned doctor.

"I have been to the Spears family several times before, but in fact, I am not familiar with them."

"And the Spears family is in New York... it's not easy to get that, do you know how to get this secret medicine soon?"

Since the woman in front of her knows about the existence of the Spears family, she must have some connection with the Spears family, right?

How she would know about the Spears family's secret medicine? Dr. Meid thought so.

Upon hearing this, Julian's stern expression changed slightly. He looked straight at Natalie, waiting for her answer.

There seems to be anticipation in the eyes.

In stark contrast to Julian, it was Niki beside him, with disdain in her eyes.

Natalie is an orphan daughter, what can she have to do with the Spears family?,

And at least she can be considered a member of the Spears family member, and she has never heard of the name Natalie at all chapter 187 Are you Spears, right?

Natalie was lucky enough to know the existence of Spears's family's secret medicine, right?

All three of them looked straight at her at the same time in the room.

Natalie blinked her eyes.

But she didn't speak.

Seeing that Natalie had been silent, Niki said something first. She turned her head and spoke to Dr. Meid.

"Dr. Meid, Natalie didn't know someone in the Spears family"

She was confident and said that with unquestionable certainty.

Dr. Meid heard Niki's words, but he was not disappointed. Instead, he seemed to have caught the key point, and he was excited. "Natalie? And her last name is?"

"What?" Niki blinked, unsure of what Dr. Meid was saying."

Has this doctor been abroad for too long, so when it comes to here, he couldn't express his thought frankly?

But knowing that he was an internationally renowned doctor, Niki kindly asked again, "Excuse me. I didn't hear you clearly, could you please say it again?"

Natalie understood Dr. Meid's meaning in an instant.

Does the name he mentioned refer to her surname Spears?

Natalie pursed her lips and looked at the Dr. Meid in front of her. In order to remove his suspicion of being regarded as a member of the Spears family, she decided to speak up first.

“Dr. Meid, I am Natalie Spears. “Natalie raised her mouth and smiled calmly.

When Natalie entered the operating room, the first time Dr. Meid saw her, he felt as if he had seen her somewhere.

It’s hazy, making it difficult for him to speak clearly.

In fact, his memory is not good, but there are too few times in a person’s life to see someone who surprises him.

So even though it was the amazing person that Dr. Meid knew a long time ago, he would remember it for a long time.

He always felt like he had met Natalie somewhere, and this sense lingered in his mind.

But if the woman in front of him was the real Spears, the familiar feeling in his mind will be easily proved.

That’s because he met her at the Spears family banquet.

And the Miss Spears in front of her is also proficient in medicine, isn’t she the medical elite trained by the Spears family? All of this makes sense, and the more he thinks, the more reasonable he feels.

There was anticipation in the man’s eyes.

Natalie pursed her lips as she noticed the change in his emotion through his eyes. But she was not foolish and will not easily confess her identity as a member of the Spears family.

Just as she was about to speak up and deny, someone spoke.

“Dr. Meid, I don’t think so.”

As soon as this he spoke, Natalie raised her eyebrows and stared the dark eyes of Julian.

Julian’s facial expression was cold and stern, and his words were also very serious.

“Actually, this lady is not from the Spears family. She is not that Spears. You know, names.”

Natalie continued to raise her eyebrows. She hadn’t even spoken yet, but Julian answered faster than she did. Didn’t he wish she weren’t part of the Spears family?

Upon hearing this, Dr. Meid furrowed his brow

“Did you know Miss Natalie so well? Even her background?”

Julian frowned and did not answer the question. Instead, he changed the topic, “I am sure that person in front of you is not Spears.”

“There must be other ways else to get that medicine.”

“Although the Graham family has not established great reputes in New York, you know, we have our own assets and powerful industry in Los Angeles. I will find a way and definitely take the secret medicine.”

Julian spoke seriously and didn’t seem to be joking.

Natalie smiled. It seems that Julian has quite a confidence in the Graham family. Having lived in Los Angeles for so long and confined in this city, it has long been unclear what the outside world is like.

There is always someone who is better than us.

Julian’s words made Dr. Meid confused. He pursed his lips, and there was a hint of unusual and unnatural expression on his face.

After about half a minute of brewing emotions, he finally spoke up and said, “Mr. Graham, you may not be very clear about the rules of the Spears family.”

“The rules of the Spears family... are tough in New York.”

“For what? “Julian’s eyes showed a hint of surprise, and his eyebrows also raised.

Before Dr. Meid could speak, Niki forced spoke first, “Julian, I know.”

She definitely had to seize the opportunity to make Julian look at her differently.

“The exclusive medicines produced by the Spears family, have been sold to major listed pharmaceutical companies around the nation, with authorization. Therefore, the medicines produced by other authorized pharmaceutical companies are accessible.”

Julian nodded.

“But there some secret medicines from the Spears family that have not been authorized are completely in short supply in the market.”

“The medicines released by the Spears family are limited in time and quantity, and ordinary people have no chance to get these. Famous nobles from all over the country are trying all their means to obtain the Spears family’s exclusive medicine in the fierce competition. So, the times, you know.”

Natalie listened to Niki’s words with a faint expression, it seems that Niki actually knows the Spears family quite well.

Compared to Julian, she at least understood where the Graham family was in this fiercely competitive world and how much they could win.

Los Angeles is completely inferior to New York.

“Moreover, what we need now is the Spears family’s secret medicine, which is not produced for the sake of business. The people who have a chance to get those secret medicines are famous noble connecting a great relationship with the Spears family in

New York.

“For Graham family... “Niki paused, but she didn’t finish the following sentence.

Julian raised his eyes and saw Niki frowning slightly. Although his emotion did not fluctuate too much, he was a little worried.

He understood what she meant.

“Anyway, we can’t possibly get the secret medicine.”

Julian frowned deeply.

The scene fell into a moment of silence.

But it seems that Dr. Meid hasn't given up yet. He has great confidence in his intuition.

and always feels like he has met Natalie.

And intuition told him that Natalie was Spears.

"Miss Natalie, are you really not the Spears?"

When asked so persistently by Dr. Meid, Natalie felt helpless and didn't know what to say for a moment.

But she guessed that Dr. Meid knew something. He had a vague feeling in his heart that he had met her at the banquet, but he was not sure, so he could only ask repeatedly to confirm that.

Natalie felt remorseful in her heart.

She knew she should have put on a mask before coming in so that Dr. Meid wouldn't repeatedly ask whether she was from the Spears family.

Natalie was not sure how to answer his question. Suddenly, she caught a glimpse of Niki standing next to Julian, and then she knew how to answer him.

She blinked and said, "I remember Miss Niki is a member of the Spears family, right?"

As she spoke, people all looked at Niki.

Niki was stunned.

Julian remembered that Niki mentioned that she was from the Spears family.

He was sullen.

"Niki, yes you are a member of the Spears family. Can you get the secret medicine?"

Julian spoke suddenly, and the slight excitement in his facial expression also appeared.

Niki was amazed.

Although she told the Graham family that she was Spears and lived in New York, she knew it was beautified by herself.

The direct and collateral lineages of the Spears family are distinct, and their family relationships are also very distinct and strict. How can one possibly obtain the Spears family's secret medicine except for their direct blood relatives?

It's impossible for her to obtain the secret medicine.

But Julian looked at her with anticipation

Niki was now in a dilemma due to Natalie's words.

This Natalie was so mean!

After hearing this, Dr. Meid was also pleased. That is great. Thank you, Miss Niki. I think, there's no need to worry about the medicine."

Without giving Niki a chance to say no, he continued, "Mr. Julian, that is great, and don't worry. Before that, I am sure Mr. Graham will get reasonable treatment to maintain his best physical condition."

"I will try my best to make sure that Mr. Graham will not be in any other danger until we receive the secret medicine."

Julian nodded.

The two of them talked easily as if assuming that Niki could get secret medicine from her body.

Nicky looked at Natalie with resentment, her fingers clenched tightly together, and resentment surged in her heart.

Chapter 188 Niki's proud boast

After saying those words, Dr. Meid looked at Niki and said, "Miss. Linch, hope you can get the Spears Family's Secret Medicine. Good luck!"

Niki looked away to avoid Dr. Meid's gaze as the trust in his eyes was so burning.

She had never been in such an embarrassing situation.

Julian noticed Niki's nervousness, saying, "what's the matter, Niki? Could you get the Secret Medicine?"

Julian had mixed feelings of expectation and uncertainty.

Niki's mouth moved slightly, but she didn't say anything.

She indeed wanted to take this opportunity to win the favor of the Graham Family, but it was extremely difficult to get the Secret Medicine.

If it were an ordinary medicine from the Spears Family, she would definitely give it to Julian without even blinking her eyes. But this time, her generosity was gone.

Standing aside, Natalie kept silent, her placid gaze fell on Niki.

Niki noticed Natalie's view.

Niki squinted a little, that was the look again! What she hated the most was the look on Natalie's face at the moment.

Natalie was always poker-faced like this as if she cared for nothing, she was a detached angel descending from paradise... So disgusting!

She was nothing but an orphan! What made Natalie look at her like this?! It was just some sort of lucky break that she became Dr. Nancy's assistant!

Natalie also noticed Niki's gaze, and somehow, she saw a hint of inexplicable emotions in her eyes.

Before she said something, Niki plucked up the courage and opened her mouth, "I can get the Secret Medicine. Don't you worry, Julian."

"I'll give the medicine to you and then use it to cure Grandpa. He'll get through it, I promise!"

The statement was decisive, without even the slightest hesitation in it, as if she held a high position in the Spears Family.

Natalie raised her eyebrow and stared at Niki with great interest.

How could Niki promise so readily? Could she really get the Secret Medicine?

As far as she knew, the Secret Medicine had always been kept by her mother. Was it possible that Niki had a secret connection with her mother since she was so confident in getting it?

Thinking of this, Natalie' looked Niki over with a hint of amusement and exploration in her eyes. She felt something was wrong.

Before she married Julian, she had never heard of Niki from her mother. How could that be if Niki was really on good terms with her mother?

But she didn't think Niki dared to boast about such things.

Natalie was a bit confused.

"Okay," Julian felt quite satisfied with Niki's words, an imperceptible smile appeared on his face.

"Do you want me to accompany you to the Spears Family?" said Julian, "I don't want you to go there alone."

Niki waved her hand repeatedly, "no need, Julian, I'm on it."

"Grandpa is still in the hospital. You'd better take care of him by his side, "Niki put on a very thoughtful air.

Julian lowered his eyes, pondered for a moment, and then nodded, "that's fine."

"But I have to send a driver to take you there," said he firmly.

Niki knew it was inappropriate to refuse Julian's kindness repeatedly, so she nodded with a smile and said, "okay, sitting in your car is like you're accompanying me."

Niki's flirtatious conversation embarrassed Natalie, she turned around and left.

Since Niki said she could get the Secret Medicinal, then there was no need for her to stay there.

Seeing Natalie was about to leave, Dr. Meld opened his mouth and wanted to ask if he had ever seen her.

But before he could do so, a hand rested on his shoulder and Julian's voice came from behind, "please take good care of my grandpa, thank you so much, Dr. Meid."

Dr. Maid had to take back his steps, saying, “don’t you worry, I would carry out my duty well.”

Julian nodded. Then Joey walked behind him, whispering in his ear, which made his face change dramatically.

Julian nodded to Dr. Meid with an apologetic expression and spoke, “excuse me, something came up in Graham Group. I’ve got to leave now.”

“It’s okay. Business matters. I understand it,” Dr. Meid said.

Julian turned around and strode away.

Unlike before, Niki did not follow him closely. She paused, apparently lost in thought.

Just then, a light bulb went on in her head.

She had a way out!

Seeing that Dr. Meid was checking Mr. Graham’s condition, she gestured toward Dr. Smith who was standing in front of the bed.

Dr. Smith got her meaning and nodded.

In a secluded alley outside the hospital, Niki stood on the steps, looking down at Dr. Smith, who was standing at the foot of the steps.

“How many doses did you give Mr. Graham?”

Upon hearing her question, Dr. Smith thought that Niki was going to blame him. He hurried to lower his head and spoke nervously “I did everything you said, Miss. Linch.”

Dr. Smith stood there, too hogy to utter a word, Seeing this, Niki’s tone softened a little.

“No need to be so nervous, it’s just a casual question.”

Hearing this, the big stone resting on Dr. Smith’s heart finally disappeared.

“Then what are you calling me for, Miss. Linch?” Dr. Smith asked tentatively.

A hint of shrewdness flashed across Niki's eyes. She leaned closer to Dr. Smith, saying, "do you have an antidote for the medicine you used?"

"What?" Dr. Smith was stunned by the question, "well, antidote..."

"Yeah," Niki's eyes were filled with anticipation.

If there was an antidote, then she didn't have to get the secret Medicine to cure Mr. Graham.

It was just giving him another chance to live.

Besides, it was not a waste of effort; Niki rolled her eyes.

At least it would made Natalie's impression worse in Julian's eyes and it wouldn't recover in the short term.

"Well..." Dr. Smith scratched his head.

Seeing his hesitation, Niki's face turned sour, "don't you have any antidote?"

Dr. Smith nodded stiffly, "I didn't expect that you would choose to save Mr. Graham again, so I didn't consider..."

"What's more, this poison is powerful, no one can develop an antidote..." Dr. Smith stammered.

He dared not look up at Niki.

"You idiot!" Dr. Smith's words ignited Niki's anger. She reached out her foot and kicked Dr. Smith's knee with her high heels.

Dr. Smith felt a sharp pain in his knee, he managed to hold his balance.

Niki's face was gloomy. Since there was no antidote, so she had to go get the Secret Medicine herself...

Chapter 189 Julian's mixed feelings

While Niki's mind was in a turmoil, Natalie left the hospital and met Ryan at the entrance.

He was wearing straight jeans, black sneakers, gray sweater and a loose camel-colored coat, making him look amiable and sunny.

He stood at the entrance of the hospital waiting for Natalie. The moment he saw her, he reached out his arm and waved to her.

Natalie walked towards him, surprise registered on her face, "what are you doing here?"

As Natalie got closer, Ryan beamed, "Julian's assistant drove you to the hospital, right? I'm afraid it might be a little difficult for you to get a taxi to come back. So I'm here to pick you up."

Natalie looked up at Ryan, then she realized that his ears and cheeks were red from the cold. He must have been standing there for a long time.

Natalie was touched. "It's so cold outside, why don't you wait for me in the car?"

Her voice was full of reproach.

But Ryan wasn't mad at all as he could sense Natalie's concern for him. He smiled brightly, "I'm afraid I won't be able to see you in the car."

Natalie put on a serious face, "you're still laughing?"

"Don't wait for me like this afterward."

After saying this, she seemed to suddenly remember something, her tone slightly softened, "next time you could send me a message or call me."

Upon hearing this, Ryan's eyelashes trembled slightly.

He knew that something urgent must have happened since Natalie was in such a hurry to go to the hospital.

Moreover, based on his understanding of her, if she met a seriously ill patient, no matter what the odds of healing were, she would definitely choose to rescue him.

Even if she might be implicated by this, she would lend a hand.

Although he had never heard anyone say anything about Natalie, but after spending so much time together in the laboratory, he had an inkling that she must be a kind-hearted person.

Ryan didn't reply to Natalie's question but asked her with a smile, "did you just perform a surgery?"

Chisator 100

Natalie tilted her head, raising her eyebrows In confusion, "how did you know?"

After hearing the affirmative answer, Ryan jutted his chin out, saying, "sky is the limit."

Sure enough, he didn't guess wrong.

Natalie remained the same, she didn't change at all after three years.

Ryan's smile confused Natalie. She patted him on the back, "why are you laughing? Did you hear what I just said?"

"Next time you wait for me, inform me in advance, okay?"

Natalie said word by word.

Ryan had known that she must undergo a surgery on Mr. Graham. A surgery would take doctors several hours from start to finish without time to take a rest, so she must be very busy.

And he knew what Natalie looked like when she was busy. Not to mention sending messages or making phone calls, even standing next talking to her, she might not be able to hear.

How could he choose to call her at such an important time.

Although Ryan thought this in his heart, he didn't say it that way, but nodded heavily, "got it."

His face broke into smiles, his nose was red from cold, and the breath from his mouth was clearly visible in the chilling air.

Natalie was captivated by his big smile. She stood in front of him, lost in his tenderness.

She even felt that Ryan's smile could melt the ice in the world, bringing her unusually calm.

In the dark, winter night, the streets were almost deserted. However, with Ryan's smile, she unexpectedly did not feel cold and lonely.

This feeling of being accompanied... She thought she would never feel this way since Henry had left.

"Thank you, Ryan," said Natalie.

Natalie's eyes were sparkling against the snow.

'Thank you for giving me the opportunity to re-enjoy this feeling after Henry left,' she wondered.

In the three years of being Julian's wife, she had always been staying at home waiting Julian to come home. Every time she attended various banquets and parties and came home alone with her tired body, no one in the house would say a word of concern.

Ryan raised his eyes and looked into Natalie's eyes.

Natalie just said, 'thank you'?

Just as he was about to speak, a voice suddenly came from behind, "Natalie? I thought you have already gone. Why are you still there?"

Natalie looked back.

Wearing a black coat, Julian walked out of the hospital. His leather shoes stepped on the ground, making a dull sound. He looked at her, poker-faced.

Then his gaze fell on Ryan behind her.

The moment he walked through the entrance of the hospital, he saw Natalie standing there, looking up at the man in front of her.

It was a chilly day, they were both dressed in thin clothes, but they didn't seem to feel cold at all. Instead, they stared at each other with a smile, looking like affectionate couple.

The bright smile... They seemed to be shrouded in the radiance of happiness.

Not knowing why, Julian's face turned sour. He even felt an indescribable feeling surging in his heart.

How could she smile like this to other men?

Natalie turned around and saw Julian's gloomy face which made her feel the air around her was getting colder.

"Why did you come out? You're supposed to take care of Grandpa," said Natalie.

"Urgent matters in company came up, sir needs to handle it now."

However, it was Joey behind Julian who answered Natalie's question.

Julian looked back and glared at Joey, who quickly shut up and stepped back a few steps.

'Urgent matter?' Natalie cast a curt glance at Julian, quite puzzled.

But regarding to Julian's expression, she saw no anxiety on him. He was supposed to rush back to company instead of talking to her.

What was he thinking about?

"Let's go, Natalie, or you'll get cold. It's too freezing outside and you're wearing thin clothes," Ryan said.

The moment he saw Julian, the smile on his face instantly disappeared, replaced by hostility.

He deliberately showed the closeness between him and Natalie.

Sure enough, Julian's face turned even more sour after hearing Ryan's words.

Natalie didn't see the change in Julian's expression. When she heard Ryan's words, she nodded and said, "you've been standing outside for so long. Let's get in the car."

After saying this, Natalie walked straight to Ryan's car, opened the door and sat in.

She didn't even look at Julian.

Ryan didn't get in. Instead, he looked straight at Julian.

The two stared at each other, an invisible flame was burning between them.

“Why haven't you come in, Ryan?” Natalie said as she rolled down the window.

“I'm leaving now,” Ryan turned around.

As the words fell, he withdrew his gaze, as if winning a battle, and walked briskly towards the car.

‘Only Julian remained standing still, his eyes gloomy.

“Sir, sir?” Joey called Julian several times, but Julian didn't seem to hear.

Joey looked in the direction of Ryan's car, but it was too far away to be seen... Why was boss still staring at it?

He scratched his head, a little bit confused about the current situation.

He was quite confused about whether Natalie or Niki was more important to sir?

Judging from sir's attitude toward Natalie now... he chose the wrong side, did he?! He had previously offended Natalie in order to curry favor with Niki...

‘No!’ Joey was wailing inwardly.

Chapter 190 Find out who is Ryan

Julian stood there and his deep eyes were fixed on the car that was moving away. He seemed that he had something in his mind.

Joey scratched his head and wondered if he should remind Julian.

There were urgent matters waiting for Julian to handle in the company, but Joey just called out to him twice and he did not answer.

If he called out to him again, he might annoy Julian.

Joey had to stand aside, with a drooping face, watching Julian stand still there. The cold wind outside was blowing at him, making him tremble and wrap his suit tightly around him.

“So cold... Why he chose to see Natalie at this time? What’s there to see from her back?”

“The car is gone... I really don’t understand what is there to see.”

“Can’t he feel the cold?”

Thinking of this, Joey raised his head and glanced at Julian. Suddenly, he noticed that he was wearing a black coat, which had a good texture and was very warm.

Joey felt a little depressed. He looked down at his suit, crumpled by rushing over all the way...

He shook his head and held his thin body tightly.

“How miserable I am! Because of their love and hate, I have to stand in the cold wind without any complaints... I’m such a humble man.” Joey laughed at himself in his heart.

Just as Joey was sorry for himself and thought that Julian would not go to the company today, Julian’s cold voice came in his ear.

“Find out who is Ryan.” The coldness in his voice made Joey tremble, just like the weather.

“Sorry?” Joey was stunned. “What did you just say?”

Just now a name flashed out of Julian’s mouth. But it was so quick that Joey didn’t catch it.

Julian looked back with a chill in his eyes, clearly feeling very bad now.

“Mr. Graham...” Joey was well aware of the current situation and couldn’t provoke Julian, but he didn’t quite catch the name he just said...

He could only bit the bullet and ask again, “Mr. Graham... I didn’t quite catch what you just said. Could you please say it again?”

I asked you to find out who is the man just stood with Natalie. His name is Ryan.”

Julian repeated his words.

“Yes, sir.” Joey nodded.

Knowing that Julian actually asked him to investigate the man standing with Natalie, Joey thought Julian must be jealous.

“Check it out carefully. Don’t let go of anything. If there’s any omission, you can pack up your things.

and get out.”

Joey nodded and said, “Yes, sir. I will try my best.”

Then Julian opened the car door and was about to get on the car.

Seeing that Julian was finally preparing to go to the company, Joey quickly followed suit, but before he had just opened the car door, he noticed that the Julian had stopped.

Joey followed Julian’s gaze and looked over in confusion.

He saw Niki hurriedly walking out of the alley next to Graham’s private hospital. The expression on her face could not be seen clearly because of the distance, only to see that she was in a hurry.

Joey was confused.

“Isn’t Miss Linch in the hospital? How came she came from the alley?”

Joey thought and felt that Niki was somewhat strange.

He looked up at Julian, and the expression on his face was obscure. Joey did not know what he was thinking.

“Mr. Graham, would you like to say hello to Miss Linch?” Joey asked cautiously.

It was nothing that Nick walked out of the alley alone. It was just that her movements and expressions were clearly off, even looked a little guilty, and Joey could not help thinking in a bad way...

Julian didn't speak for a while. Then he glanced at Niki and said, "No, let's go."

Seeing that Julian didn't take it seriously, Joey hurriedly replied, "Okay, sir." He didn't dare to say anything more.

He started the car, trembling, and kept whispering in his heart.

"Niki was not taking care of Grandpa Graham in the hospital, but walked out of the alley and acted suspiciously."

Get Boy

"He won't even check it out?"

"He doesn't love Niki anymore!"

"He was so in love a few months ago. As soon as Lin Niki arrived, he couldn't wait to drive Natalie away from the Graham family."

"Now he's ignoring Niki... I really don't understand him."

As the car drove away, another person wearing a white coat appeared in the alley next to Graham's private hospital. His footsteps were also hurried and his expression was tense.

Perhaps it was because his clothes were too white that Joey had just started the car and had not driven out before he saw the person at a glance.

He felt the man looked familiar.

He narrowed his eyes to have a careful look. Just as he was about to see the person's face clearly,

Julian spoke up.

"Aren't we leaving?"

Julian closed his eyes and pinched the bridge of his nose. And he looked quite tired and irritated.

Hearing this, Joey came back to his senses and said, "Okay sir. We're leaving right now."

Without looking at the man again, he steered the car through the hospital gate.

Ryan was driving, and Natalie was sitting in the passenger seat. She was bored and casually took out a book of experimental data from the side, flipping through it.

Ryan glanced at her and said, "Doctor, you haven't eaten yet, have you? Why don't we go eat?"

"You must be very tired after undergoing such a long surgery. You have to eat to get your energy back."

Upon hearing Ryan's words, Natalie actually felt a hint of hunger...

"Okay." She said.

Ryan's eyes lit up instantly. "So where are we going?"

Natalie flipped through the pile of experimental data and thought for a moment, but for a while,

she didn't come up with anything she wanted to eat.

"I don't know what to eat. It's up to you."

Ryan's eyelashes trembled, and he glanced at the time. It was already around nine o'clock in the evening, "Ah, it's too late..."

"Yeah." Natalie lifted her gaze from the experimental data.

"But it's okay, we can order takeout." Said Natalie.

"That's not very healthy..." Ryan scratched his head and said.

After saying this, he suddenly came up with an idea. "Doctor, how about I cook for you?"

Natalie raised her eyebrows and said, "You can cook?"

"Of course, I'm pretty good at cooking. When I was in college, I cooked all by myself, and my cooking was amazing."

“People call me God of Kitchen.”

Ryan was radiant with pride as he spoke.

Seeing Ryan’s expression, Natalie couldn’t help but smile and say, “Okay, let’s go straight home and make dinner.”

“Okay!” Ryan readily agreed.

The car quickly arrived at the entrance of Greenlife villa, and Ryan got off the car first and jogged to open the door for Natalie.

Just when Natalie got off the car, she saw a person standing at the door of the villa...
