

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 191 Visit of the Spears Family

The position they were standing in was neither close nor far from the entrance of the villa, but when Natalie looked at the door, it was in the direction of the backlight.

The person stood in the backlight, with the golden light outlining the lines of his side face. Half of his face was hidden in the shadow, and no expression could be seen.

Natalie's eyelashes trembled.

"How could someone stand there? What happened?" He thought.

The first name that flashed through her mind was Julian.

But when she narrowed her eyes and looked carefully, the figure of that person was clearly fatter than Julian, and also shorter than Julian.

Obviously, he was not Julian.

Ryan had just closed the car door when he turned his head and saw Natalie standing in place, staring motionless at the entrance of the villa.

"Doctor, what's wrong? It's so cold outside here, why don't you go in?" Ryan wondered.

Upon hearing Ryan's voice, Natalie slightly raised her chin and pointed to the door.

Ryan looked in the direction pointed by Natalie and saw a man standing at the door. The man was hovering, clearly waiting for someone.

Ryan's brows were furrowed instantly.

"Good thing I'm here with her today, otherwise as a woman, she would definitely not be able to deal with him!" Ryan thought.

Then he walked straight towards the wandering figure.

He wanted to give this person a good lesson.

Natalie saw Ryan walk up and she quickly grabbed his sleeve and said, "Maybe I should call Hught now?"

She felt that the person standing there was up to no good and difficult to deal with. Ryan, an experimenter, was obviously no match for him.

Ryan shook his head and looked at the suspicious man. "It's okay. Let me take care of him."

"Are you sure" Natalie said in a skeptical tone, as she didn't want to see Ryan hurt because of her.

"Uh, don't worry." Ryan clenched his fist and walked up the steps.

Olet Bo

Natalie followed behind him, still worried in her heart. She even reached into her bag and wanted to take out her phone to call Hugh.

But before she could even take out her phone, she saw Ryan suddenly dart up to the man and grabbed his neck with one hand.

The person was frightened and forcefully grabbed his neck, losing his voice for a moment.

Although his throat was pinched out, he still let out a painful scream then, and his legs pulled back vigorously due to the severe pain.

Natalie was dumbfounded and thought,

"Is that true? How could he move so fast and with such force?"

"Doesn't he usually do experiments in the laboratory? How... How can he be so strong?"

Ryan pinched the man with an unfriendly look in his eyes and said, "What are you doing here?"

The man couldn't make a sound, just tightly gripping Ryan's hand, trying to free himself from his grip.

Natalie ran up. When she got closer, she could see the person's face clearly. Her pupils shrank and she shouted out loud.

"Ryan, let him go!"

She sounded anxious, and Ryan turned his head with his face full of confusion. "Doctor, maybe he's a pervert. If you let him go, you may put yourself in danger."

Upon hearing this, the man who was shackled quickly shook his head to indicate that he was not al pervert.

Seeing Ryan unwilling to let go, Natalie said hastily, "He's my uncle!"

Ah?!

Hearing this, Ryan immediately released, and the man's neck was finally free. His face had turned red due to the grip just now.

He bent down and coughed to regain his breathing.

Upon seeing this, Natalie quickly ran over and said, "Uncle, are you okay?"

Her hand rested on her uncle's back, gently tapping, her eyes filled with apologies.

Get Ba

When Ryan saw this, he was completely at a loss. He even avoided his gaze and didn't know where to put his awkward hands and feet.

He actually hit the doctor's uncle. Ryan's heart was filled with remorse.

Tory stood in place, coughing fiercely. He covered his mouth with his hand, coughing so hard that he had to bend and his whole body shrank like a turtle.

It could be seen from his cough how heavy Ryan's attack was just now.

Tory couldn't say a word now.

Seeing her uncle like this, Natalie was worried and looked up at Ryan again. He was standing there, with a bewildered expression on his face.

She knew what Ryan was thinking at the moment and frowned. "It's not your fault. It's just a misunderstanding."

"But now open the door please, and help my uncle in."

Upon hearing this, Ryan slapped his forehead and quickly opened the door as he said, "Okay!"

Natalie and Ryan helped Tory into the villa, one left and one right.

Tory sat down on the sofa, still coughing incessantly. This time, Ryan hurriedly ran to the kitchen, poured a glass of water, and then jogged to give it to Tory.

Tory took it, took a few sips, and then tried to calm his breath before he became better.

The color on his face had also changed from red to a normal skin tone.

Seeing this, Ryan breathed a sigh of relief.

Tory finally regained his composure after a long rest. He sat up straight and then cleared his throat, looking at Ryan. "Nice one, kid."

The words were spoken bluntly, and Ryan didn't know whether he was praising him or cursing him.

In the situation just now, the lights were dim, and Ryan couldn't see the person's face clearly. Now that he was inside, he felt the aura around the man, with a sense of oppression all over him.

This sense of oppression was different from those superiors he had seen.

“...” Ryan twitched his lips and he held it for a while before saying, “I’m sorry.”

Seeing Ryan feeling nervous, Natalie smiled.

She quickly walked up to rescue, “Uncle, don’t scare him.”

Tory chuckled and his eyes were bright. “Kid, I’m praising you! I don’t see you are that strong. Are you trained?”

Ryan pursed his lips and nodded.

Natalie’s gaze towards Ryan suddenly became more profound. She wondered how he was trained when he usually did experiments in the lab.

But the point now was not this...

“Why did you come?” Natalie turned her gaze to Tory sitting on the sofa, her tone soft and somewhat curious.

She had not seen the people of Spears family for over three years. Since she chose to marry into the Graham family, the Spears family had cut off contact with her, and her parents had never contacted her again....

It was like that she never belonged in Spears family...

Suddenly seeing her uncle, Natalie even felt unreal, as if she was dreaming.

Tory did not answer Natalie’s question, but his gaze remained fixed on Ryan with a smile on his face. “Nana, is this your boyfriend?”

?!

Ryan’s pupils shrank and he was startled by Tory’s words. Natalie was no exception and was also startled by these words.

They reacted the same way.

“Good, Nana!” Tory patted his thigh with a cheerful and bright tone.

“Think about the time before. Was it worth breaking up with our family for the sake of Julian?”

Graham family was nothing to the Spears family.

No one in the Spears family could have imagined that she would commit herself to the Graham family. Everyone in the Spears family was anxious then.

Aside from his bad family background, Tory had investigated him and learned that he was a cold fish. They really did not know why Natalie would fall in love with him.

Then Tory sighed, as if unwilling to recall the past.

He waved his hand and said, “Forget it, the past is past.”

“I think this kid is quite good! Better than Julian!” Tory smiled and said, “I’m sure he can take care of you.”

He gave a smile of relief.

As long as Natalie finally got over it and no longer obsessed over Julian, he would feel happy.

Chapter 192 Come back home with me

“What’s your name?” Tory smiled and turned around to ask Ryan’s name.

It was like his niece was getting married to Ryan in the next second.

“Well... I...” Ryan stuttered and couldn’t speak.

Seeing this, Natalie quickly spoke up and explained, “Uncle, you misunderstood us.”

“Misunderstood?” Tory obviously didn’t believe it, and he showed a curious look. “If you’re not dating, why are you going home at this time?”

“Don’t try to fool me.”

Tory chuckled and said, “It’s not as if I don’t approve of your being with the lad.”

The young man looked very kind and had a good personality.

Unlike Julian, who appeared to have an impersonal temper. He wore a livid all the time as if the world owed him money.

And this young man could take the initiative to protect Natalie... As Natalie's uncle, he was really satisfied.

Upon hearing Tory's gossip tone, Natalie quickly took a sip of water to quell her surprise.

Then she touched her forehead and said helplessly, "He's my assistant in the lab. He's really not my boyfriend."

"He came home with me today because we were delayed by something, and we haven't have dinner. The restaurant outside was basically closed at this time, so he had to come home with me for dinner."

"Right, Ryan?"

Natalie turned her head and lightly raised her chin to signal Ryan.

Ryan received Natalie's gaze and quickly nodded. "Yes, yes, I'm here to cook for her."

"Please don't get me wrong."

Tory's eyes rolled, scanning the blushing young man and then his calm niece.

"Really?"

With all his years of people-watching, he knew Ryan must like Natalie.

He knew it but he won't say it. The young people's affairs had to be handled by themselves... He could only wish this young man good luck in his heart.

Natalie knew her uncle well and didn't want to stay on this topic any longer, so she changed the topic and said, "Uncle Tory, have you eaten yet?"

"Shall we have dinner together?" Natalie walked towards the kitchen and said, "Ryan would cook it for us."

“Okay, I’ve come all the way and haven’t had a meal yet.” Tory chuckled brightly. “Then thank you, kid.”

Tory stood up and patted Ryan’s shoulder as he spoke.

Ryan smiled and said, “My pleasure.”

“What do you like to eat?” Ryan said and quickly followed Natalie to the kitchen.

Both of them went to the kitchen, and Tory walked around the villa with his hands behind his back.

The house was very large, and the decoration style was Natalie’s favorite. But for some reason, he felt the house very empty.

And there was almost no atmosphere of life.

He wondered if Natalie had been living well in this remote and impoverished place for so many years...

Thinking of this, Tory couldn’t help but let out a long sigh, “Alas.”

If it weren’t for Julian, Natalie wouldn’t have left her hometown for more than three years and suffered so much in vain.

“Why sigh?” A voice came in his ear.

Tory turned his head and it was Natalie. She was holding a glass in her hand, which was a yellow liquid, clearly wine.

Natalie didn’t drink alcohol before.

Tory waved his hand and withdrew the expression on his face just now. “Nothing.” He said

Seeing him not speaking, Natalie asked, “Why did you come to Los Angeles for me?”

Upon hearing this, Tory had something to say, “You haven’t contacted your mother once in three years. How could you be so cruel-hearted?”

Natalie blinked and muttered, "I..."

"Your mother has a sharp tongue. She said she wanted to kick you out, but how could she? She's your mother."

What he said was earnest.

Natalie was silent.

In fact, she also knew her mother's personality, with a sharp tongue and a soft heart. But the reason why she never contacted her mother was because she had a barrier in her heart.

She insisted on marrying into the Graham family, which was her fault and she had no face to contact her family again...

"Come back home with me to see her. She misses you a lot."

Natalie took a sip of the wine, without speaking for a long time, thinking about something.

"Even if you don't go back to see your mother, at least you should see your grandfather. He really misses you."

"And your grandfather is getting older... Who knows when..." Tory couldn't continue.

When Natalie heard this, the image of Grandpa Graham lying in his hospital bed suddenly flashed into her mind.

Life was impermanent, like a leaf. Every fallen leaf fell into the river without exception.

At last some ripples began to set in her heart.

After a while, she nodded lightly and said, "Hmm."

Tory smiled and reached out a hand to touch Natalie's head. There was satisfaction in his calm voice, "Good girl."

Then they stood by the stairs like this, chatting a lot more.

Ryan was busy in the kitchen and finally finished cooking dinner. He brought all the dishes to the table one by one and then waved to Natalie and Tory standing by the stairs.

"Dinner is ready. Come here."

Natalie and Tory walked to the table and saw a variety of dishes. The dishes were simply dazzling, and they couldn't believe their eyes...

"Gosh, Ryan! You are so good?" Natalie exclaimed in surprise, clearly surprised by Ryan's skills.

Ryan was shy and scratched his head and said, "Not bad, I think."

He forgot his boast of being a God of kitchen in the car.

Ryan glanced behind Natalie and saw Tory. He quickly pulled out a chair for Tory and said, "Please sit down."

Seeing this, Tory looked satisfied and sat down.

Ryan then immediately took tableware for them and said, "Have a try."

Natalie took the fork and knife and tasted the steak. Before she could give her comment, the man next to her took the lead and said, "Hmm, nice!"

"It's better than most steak I've eaten!" Tory swallowed and thumbed up in appreciation

He had a better impression of this young man.

"Really?" Ryan scratched his head with a somewhat flattered expression.

Natalie smiled and said, "Aren't you boasting about being a God of kitchen just now? Where's your confidence?"

She really didn't expect Ryan to cook so well. Now she wondered how many surprises he had not showed to her.

"But it's really delicious. If you come to cook for me every day, I don't know how much pounds I'll put on."

Ryan felt embarrassed. His ears were red and he hurriedly sat down to eat.

The three people sat around the table, and Tory was obviously hungry, taking one bite after another and eating a lot.

He passed Natalie a chicken wing and casually asked, "What were you doing today?"

Perhaps it was because the current atmosphere was really relaxed, so Ryan didn't even think about it, and he replied for Natalie, "She performed surgery on Lord Graham for a whole day today. She must be very tired."

Lord Graham?!

Tory's face suddenly became grim.

Natalie kicked Ryan under the dining table, her eyes telling him not to say anything.

Ryan then realized and squeezed his lips and lowered his head to eat.

After hearing this, Tory felt that the food was not delicious anymore. He put down his fork and spoke seriously, "You performed surgery on Lord Graham today?"

"Lord Graham is Julian's grandfather, right?" He thought that Natalie had already distanced herself from Julian and didn't know about this.

Chapter 193 Heart must be hard

Tory's eyes widened in anger, and his face also turned blue with anger.

His veins were bulging on his temples, as if dissatisfied with Natalie's actions, causing his cheeks to tremble slightly.

Upon seeing this, Ryan lowered his head even harder.

For a moment, the atmosphere at the dinner table suddenly became somewhat unpredictable.

Faced with Tory's questioning, Natalie did not speak.

Tory became even more angry when he saw his niece not speaking, "Nana, I'll ask you something."

As soon as he spoke out of his questioning, he suddenly realized that he was not talking to a subordinate at the hospital, but rather to a niece he had not seen for many years.

This tone was not very good

His words immediately softened and he said, “Nana, can you tell me that if the patient you surgery on this afternoon is from the Graham family?”

had

Natalie pursed her lips. She wanted to avoid the topic, so she gave Tory a dish and said, “Uncle, we don’t talk about this during dinner.”

Tory knew Natalie’s thoughts, she just wanted to change the topic.

But he was very clear about his niece’s personality.

This little girl was stubborn.

As long as she had an idea in the heart, she wouldn’t be pulled back. The insistence on marrying the Graham family back then was a good example.

Seeing that there was nothing to ask from Natalie, Tory sighed and turned his gaze to Ryan sitting at the other end of the dining table.

“Young man, she did not speak, come on! “He patted the table with a bold and unrestrained tone.

“Ah? “Upon hearing Tory suddenly point at him, Ryan quickly lifted his head.

“Ah, what? You just said that Nana had surgery for a whole day today, but who is the target of the surgery?”

With the lesson just learned, Ryan naturally dared not say anything nonsense. He quickly shifted his gaze to Natalie.

Natalie received the gaze and immediately gave him a look.

The woman’s eyes were dark and soft, and although there were no special movements, the meaning of the eyes was self-evident.

Ryan immediately understood.

He quickly put down his chopsticks and picked up public chopsticks on the other side, imitating Natalie’s recent action of picking up a dish for Tory.

“You can eat more dishes.” he said in a very sincere tone.

Tory was angry and immediately lost his chopsticks in his hand. "Do you also learn from her? Do you want to talk to me about this nonsense?"

He was about to burst out in anger when his gaze turned to see that the young man not only had a sincere tone, but also had a particularly sincere expression on his face.

The eyes were rare in clarity and warmth.

All the scolding from Tory's mouth was gone. He just ate a lot of the food made by this silly boy, so it's not easy to scold him.

Moreover, this guy was so sincere that Tory's reprimand cannot be uttered.

After minutes, he sighed helplessly and said, "I just want to ask if it's from the Graham family."

"Is it so difficult?"

The following sentence was whispered by Tory, obviously a bit angry, but due to the fact that the other person was his own niece, it's not easy to burst out anger.

Of course, Natalie heard Tory's murmur, but she still didn't answer.

Instead, she asked another question, "Uncle, how many days do you plan to stay in Los Angeles?"

Seeing that Nana still didn't answer his question, Tory knew in his heart that she probably wouldn't answer his question today.

Since there wouldn't be an answer, Tory felt that his guesses were very close to what he thought. There were only a few reasons for avoiding discussion. So he didn't ask.

"I'm not sure how long I'll stay in Los Angeles."

"So you're staying here for a while? I'm the only one living in this house, so why don't you stay here for now?"

Tory turned his head and looked around. "I think it's okay! Then I'll stay with you for now."

By the way, he could also see if the Graham family was still pestering her.

"But I usually live alone, so I don't pay much attention to food." Natalie put a dish in her bowl. "If you live here, I'll hire an aunt to cook tomorrow."

Tory blinked and said, "Why? Can't Ryan do it?"

Upon hearing this, Ryan's eyes immediately lit up and he quickly nodded in agreement.

"Yes, Doctor, can I help you cook in the future?"

Natalie's face was serious and she refused without even thinking, "Of course not. You're so busy every day, how could you come here to cook? It's enough trouble."

Ryan stopped speaking.

After all, this was a house of Nana, and it's not easy for Tory to say anything more. He had done everything he can for this young man, and there was no way he could do it without she agreeing.

Tory reached out and patted Ryan's shoulder as a gesture of comfort.

"I am here to conduct some research, mainly looking for patients of heart disease."

Natalie knew that her uncle's medical skills were very exquisite, and hers was much inferior to his uncle's clinical level.

She also knew that her uncle went out every year to conduct small-scale research to understand difficult cases from all over the country.

But this year, he's actually looking for a heart one? It was destiny.

Natalie couldn't help but twist her eyebrows and say, "Heart patients?"

"That's right. "Tory nodded, seeing that Nana's expression was somewhat incorrect, he asked again," What's the matter?"

Since Uncle was looking for a difficult and complicated heart condition. Wasn't Grandpa Graham the person Uncle was looking for?

Acute heart failure, combined with human actions, caused the elderly person's immune system to suffer another severe blow just after being rescued.

It could be said that it was extremely tricky and perfectly met his requirements.

Niki came out of the small alley and strode back to the hospital.

Chester 103 U-net

From leaving the alley to entering the ward, her eyebrows never relaxed on the way.

On the contrary, as she approached Grandpa Graham's ward, her eyebrows furrowed harder and harder.

What was she going to do in this situation?

Accompanied by a chaos in her mind, Niki entered the ward.

Dr. Meid stood in front of Grandpa Graham's bed, just giving him a needle, holding a drip bottle in his hand and hanging it on the nearby shelf.

Seeing Niki walk in, he spoke, "Miss Linch, Grandpa Graham's physical condition is almost stable

now."

Upon hearing the news, Niki forced a smile and said, "I really trouble you, Mr. Meid."

Although the corners of the mouth were raised, there was no trace of a smile, but instead there was a hint of displeasure in the eyes.

As if she didn't want Grandpa Graham's situation to improve.

Meid didn't pay attention to Niki's gaze. His tone was polite, "You're welcome."

Niki stood in the same spot, staring straight at Grandpa Graham lying in bed.

The old man closed his eyes tightly, and the wrinkles on his face were clearly visible. The expression was calm and there was no trace of pain.

This old man was sleeping peacefully, leaving behind a pile of trouble for her?!

Staring at the old man's face, Niki's eyes gradually became resentful.

If she had known earlier, she shouldn't have turned him into a vegetative being. She should have just let this old man die!

This way, there wouldn't be so many things happening now! Niki was filled with remorse in her heart.

It seemed that her heart was still too soft. If her heart was hard enough, she wouldn't fall into the current dilemma.

At this moment, Meid had already hung medication bottle for the old man. He turned to look at Niki and said, "Miss Linch, I have to trouble you to take care of him."

Niki elicited a very standard polite smile.

Meid put down his things and left the sick room.

Only Niki was left standing in place.

She gradually gritted her teeth, and in order to achieve her goal, her heart must be ruthless.

T

Chapter 194 Threats

Niki stared at Grandpa Graham's calm and peaceful face. Dr. Meid had just injected Grandpa

Graham with medication, but the effect had not completely subsided, so his entire body appeared slightly stiff.

The woman's heart was filled with turmoil, and her eyes gradually narrowed. Her silent gaze slowly swept over the old man's face.

Before she prepared to prescribe medicine to the old man, she asked Delta what side effects these medicines had or if there was a possibility of failure.

He shook his head firmly and swore confidently that the success rate of this medicine was 100%. As long as he took action, that person would definitely become a vegetative being.

Niki's face remained expressionless as she knew that the pain in Grandpa Graham's body was about to come. Even if Meid could barely stabilize his condition, the overwhelming pain could not be concealed.

This deadly pain was slowly approaching with a stagnant pulse and the pumping of brain blood flow.

Finally the one who greeted this old man would be death.

And at this moment, what she needed to do was to end the old man's life ahead of schedule. By doing so, she no longer had to struggle to find the so-called Spears family's Secret Medicine, and she didn't have to fulfill her promise even if she insisted on it.

There was no obstruction in marrying into the Graham family.

After ending his life, she only needed to completely put aside her responsibility and pretend to be panicked before calling Julian to inform him of his death in advance.

This matter would be resolved.

Since she had already made up her mind, Niki raised her head and scanned the surrounding walls.

This was the Graham family's private ward, and for privacy protection, there was no camera installed inside.

Niki's heart calmed down a bit, and she took a deep breath and slowly approached the old man. As she walked, her gaze gradually shifted from the old man's face to the ventilator nose mask on his face.

She reached out her hand and slowly put on her gloves.

Immediately after, she had a cloudy face and her gloved hand reached out to the steamy nose mask.

Fingers touch the transparent respirator nose mask, feeling cold.

The cold feeling transmitted to her brain was like a reminder that what she was doing was full of sin. But there was no fluctuation in Niki's mind.

She had no expression on her face, not even blinking her eyes, and slowly took off the nose mask.

Her usually charming big eyes revealed the indifference and cruelty that were not typical of her age.

Everything was over.

Niki hooked her lips.

Just as everything was falling to the ground, there was a sudden "pop!" sound outside the door.

The door opened.

Niki's body was full of excitement, her pupils suddenly narrowed, and the door opened too quickly without any signs. She couldn't even throw out the nose mask in her hand in time.

What's going on? How could someone suddenly come in?

The sound of footsteps came.

It's over. It's like Meid suddenly came back again.

Her brain was completely blank.

Niki even held the nasal mask in her hand, and the evidence couldn't even be shaken off. The woman was even stiff at the moment, afraid to turn her head.

However, the voice in her ear was not the person she imagined, "Miss Linch."

"Delta? "Upon hearing the familiar voice, Niki immediately turned her head and let go of her suspended heart.

As soon as Delta opened the door, he saw Niki holding a nose mask in her hand, which shook his heart. After fixing his gaze on Grandpa Graham, as expected, the nasal mask on his face had disappeared.

Niki was trying to kill him!

After realizing this problem, Delta felt bad.

He took steps, crawling to Niki's side. Without even thinking, he grabbed the nose mask and put it on Grandpa Graham's face again.

"Delta, what are you doing? "Niki's eyes widened and her tone was also very unfriendly, clearly dissatisfied with his behavior.

"Miss Linch... we can't be confused."

Delta's hand trembled and he placed the nose mask on Grandpa Graham's face, but due to nervousness, he even wore it twice.

A state of complete confusion.

"Are you teaching me how to do things?"

Niki stood behind him, without thinking about it, she took off the nose mask again.

"Miss Linch, you can't! This is murder! "Delta had a clear sense of panic in his eyes.

Obviously, he didn't want to kill Grandpa Graham, and his conscience in his heart was still alive.

"Murder? "Niki curled her lips.

Delta tightly covered the nose mask with his hand, refusing to let Niki take it away. "This is a crime, you're going to jail!"

Upon hearing this, Niki's smile grew even stronger at the corners of her mouth, and she even burst out laughing with a hint of contempt and mockery in her voice.

"Crime? Do you know it's a crime now? Do you think it's a crime that you give me the medicine to make Grandpa Graham look like he is now? Do you want to go to prison? How many years do you have to go to prison?"

"Is it three years, five years, indefinite, or even the death penalty?"

Niki's words fell like knives, but Delta stopped speaking.

Seeing him like this, Niki continued to speak, "Do you understand the truth that there is no turning back arrow when bowing?"

"Since we have already taken the medicine, there is no possibility of regret and we can only continue to move forward."

Delta understood and his hands trembled slightly, even with his lips trembling.

"No, it's not like that, we can turn around. "He truly realized the seriousness of the situation when he saw the bloody death approaching.

Niki ignored his whispered words and said, "But don't worry, we are two grasshoppers on the same rope. If you die, I will die, and if you live, I will live. As long as I'm okay, I'll definitely take care of you."

Delta didn't speak.

"You can move away now. "Niki said, her voice not fluctuating at all.

What she just said was so clear. Delta was a smart person who knew which option was the best for him now.

She believed he would make the right choice.

Delta didn't move, his expression was introverted at the moment, his feet seemed to stick to the ground, and he didn't move at all.

The entire stubborn figure perfectly matched the white coat he was wearing.

Niki raised her eyebrows.

She looked at the stubborn figure, lowered her gaze for a moment, and finally lifted her head, then smiled slightly. The slightly raised corners of the mouth made people feel gloomy without a sound.

'It seemed that Delta was not a clever person.

"Delta, you won't let it go? "Niki's mouth opened and closed, and her eyes grew more impatient.

"This is murder! "The man was still muttering to himself, unable to accept it.

Nobody knew if it's because she'd been with Julian for a long time, or perhaps Niki had an impatient temperament, but she had been suppressing herself for so many years.

Her impatience accumulated to the extreme, and as soon as she wanted to start it directly, an idea suddenly burst into her mind.

A brilliant idea.

"What do you think this is? "Suddenly, Niki changed her tone and raised her slender hand, waving at him.

"Hmm? "Delta looked up and didn't understand the reason for Niki's actions.

"Did you wear gloves when touching the nose mask?"

The man still didn't quite understand.

Niki continued to speak, her voice indifferent. "Would you like to go and see if there are any of your fingerprints on that nose mask?"

Delta's body suddenly stiffened.

How could he have time to think so much about the urgent situation just now? Of course, without even thinking, he flew straight to grab the nose mask.

"Did you personally do the thing that turned Grandpa Graham into a vegetative being? "Niki spread out her hand and said, "I haven't participated in it at all."

A bad premonition arose, and Delta's hands and feet suddenly became cold. "What do you mean?"

The woman's words gradually pressed, "You insist on opposing me, I have no choice but to confess you."

Chapter 195 Reserved a backup

"You insist on opposing me, I have no choice but to confess you." Niki's unemotional words echoed in his ear.

Delta only felt like falling into an ice cellar.

“Are you going to cross the river and demolish the bridge?”

Niki seemed to find it funny, as she slowly approached Delta with pure white high heels. The man was stiff all over, just looking at her like that.

The man’s eyes seemed stubborn, “You’re trying to threaten me, right?”

Niki walked slowly until she was in front of the man, then stopped his steps and lowered his head slightly.

“You’re wrong. I’m not threatening you.” she shook her head and leaned her head in his ear.

“This is a choice. ” she said, without raising her head. Instead, she continued to lower her head and straightened the collar of Delta’s coat.

“I believe you can make the right choice.”

Delta’s hands trembled uncontrollably.

Seeing Delta’s reaction like this, Niki curled her lips. She returned to her original position with a playful smile on her face.

After standing still, she tilted her eyes at him and quietly waited for the man’s movements next.

But Delta was trembling and still didn’t do anything.

Niki’s pupils suddenly contracted and she became completely anxious.

She just spoke so clearly, how could he still remain indifferent?? Did he really want to go to prison?

How could someone be willing to take on their own future for an unrelated life? Niki couldn’t figure it out.

At this moment, her heart was filled with anger, speechlessness, and a grudge.

The woman's gaze was fierce and she was too lazy to talk nonsense to the man anymore. She just wanted to quickly cut through the chaos and settle this matter directly.

A nurse suddenly pushed the door in, her voice innocent and sweet, "Sorry to bother, I'll record the data for the patient."

Niki's hand was forced to stop.

She clearly remembered locking the door after Delta came in. How could anyone have pushed the door in?

Delta intentionally opened the door?

As soon as the nurse entered the room, she felt an inexplicable atmosphere, and the suffocating feeling made her back furry.

When writing, she casually looked up and could see Niki's straight hooked eyes, which made her heart even more uneasy.

In this atmosphere, barely finishing recording the data, she grabbed the notebook and fled out of this intensive care unit.

Niki's original movements stopped when she was interrupted like this.

Suddenly, an unexpected person came in, and the nurse had already seen her in the intensive care unit.

In this situation, it was somewhat difficult for her to successfully put Grandpa Graham to death. and create her alibi evidence, perfectly framing someone else.

Niki frowned.

There was actually a bit of bravado in what she just said, after all, she didn't know if Delta had backup.

Leave a way for oneself when doing anything, this was Niki's principle of doing things.

Looking at the current situation, Delta had indeed backup. She had looked down on this.

guy.

Niki's teeth were almost crushed, and if it weren't for keeping this doctor for other purposes, she would almost now want to directly send Grandpa Graham and him to death.

"I think we have other ways." the man's tone dissuaded.

"What's the solution? If this old man doesn't die today, I really have to go to the Spears family to find the secret medicine. "In that way, her lie would be completely exposed.

Originally, due to Natalie's involvement, Julian had some dissatisfaction with her. If her oath is humiliated this time, her image in front of Julian would only worsen.

Delta kept shaking his hands and muttering to himself, 'There's a way, there'll be a way.'

Greenlife villa, and Natalie have finished their dinner.

Get Bo

Ryan left the door, followed closely by Natalie. She wanted to send Ryan out of Greenlife villa directly, but Ryan didn't want her to follow him so long distance.

Natalie had to stop and stand outside the villa, the cold wind blowing through her hair. The woman was wrapped in a camel-colored coat and watched Ryan leave with a calm gaze.

It wasn't until the car left her sight that Natalie wrapped up her coat again and walked back into the room.

The room was very warm, and Natalie casually took off her clothes. Today's hours-long surgery left her physically and mentally exhausted, and her eyelids even tired.

She walked with heavy steps, preparing to go to bed, only to see her uncle's back shadowy and he was still in the living room.

Tory didn't go to the guest room to sleep, instead he sat on the sofa, unsure of what he was doing.

Natalie yawned a few times and approached Tory.

The man sat upright in front of the coffee table, with glasses on his face that nobody didn't know where to take them out, and his fingers flipped through some experimental data done by Natalie

- over the years.

“Uncle, you’re not going to bed?”

When Tory heard the sound, he turned his head and put down the experimental data in his hand.

“Nana, come here. “The man’s tone was rare and serious, and his expression was also very solemn, as if he was about to tell a big story.

“What’s the matter? “Natalie placed her coat on the sofa.

Before she could reach Tory’s side, she heard the man ask, “What’s wrong with Grandpa Graham?”

“Ah? “Natalie didn’t react to this question for a moment.

“You don’t have to pretend anymore. I know you’re performing surgery on the Graham family this afternoon. What’s the situation with Grandpa Graham now?”

Natalie frowned and said, “Did Ryan tell you?”

Tory smiled at the corners of his mouth and said, “Do I still need that kid to tell me? I know you.”

Before Nana married the Graham family, he stayed with Nana in the Dragon Valley to study various medicinal herbs, and their relationship was closer than the rest of the Spears family.

He naturally knew what every move on Nana’s face, every frown represented.

Chanter 195 Ratenied a backve

Tory patted the position next to him and gestured for Natalie to sit over. “You’ve exposed all your thoughts on your face, so I naturally know you’ve had surgery on the Graham family.”

Natalie pursed her lips, but she didn’t sit over following Tory’s gesture. Instead, he lowered his head and glanced at his watch, indicating that it had already passed twelve o’clock.

At this moment, she was not only tired, but also exhausted, as if unable to lift her spirits.

The surgery exhausted her energy, and she ate for a long time, so it’s really time to go to bed now.

As she thought about sleeping, she spoke absentmindedly, "Grandpa Graham has acute heart failure, but the personal doctor of the Graham family clearly has no ability to rescue him, so I went to help."

"Acute heart failure? "Tory's face changed.

"Did you succeed in the surgery?"

Even if the surgery was difficult, Tory always had inexplicable confidence in Natalie.

"Hmm. "Natalie nodded lightly.

But before she could finish speaking, she continued to speak vaguely, "Although I have already rescued Grandpa Graham, someone has other intentions towards the old man and has given him some medicine to turn him into a vegetative being."

"A vegetative being? "Tory frowned," But was he designed to be a vegetative being just after the rescue?"

Natalie nodded.

Upon hearing this, Tory's brow furrowed slightly, and his expression seemed thoughtful.

Feeling drowsy, she couldn't hear what Tory asked and said, and then lay unconscious in bed and fell asleep.

The next morning, Natalie woke up from bed.

As usual, she first walked to the living room and poured herself a cup of tea. After taking a small sip, she saw a note on the coffee table.

"I'm busy, I won't be back at noon."

This bold and elegant font appeared to be from Tory.

Chapter 196 Tory's help

Natalie picked up the note, raised her eyebrows, "You're not coming back?" Without even thinking, she picked up her phone and called Tory.

Confidently, she reached out her finger and found the address book on her phone. She slid from top to bottom and searched back and forth three times, but she couldn't find Uncle Tory's phone number.

Natalie blinked and was momentarily stunned.

After seconds, she patted her head and remembered that she had changed her phone directly after leaving the Spears family. The Spears family's phone numbers had also dissipated with the old phone number.

Natalie could only scratch her head helplessly. Since there was no contact information for Tory, she had no choice but to give up contact.

But her uncle slept so late last night and got up early today to go out. Where would he go?

What important thing could make him stay up and rush out? Besides, her uncle had never been to Los Angeles before, so why not let her take him to familiarize himself with the environment?

Natalie couldn't figure it out.

While contemplating, there was a knock outside the door. Natalie put down her phone and went to open the door with a pair of slippers hanging down.

The door was opened, followed by a chill.

She looked up at the person outside the door, who was an older woman, about forty years old, with wrinkles on her face. Although her face wore the vicissitudes not of his age, she was dressed very decently.

This haggard and pale still cannot conceal her warmth, inexplicably giving people a very comfortable feeling.

“Who are you looking for?” said Natalie.

“I am the nanny you invited. “The person was a bit timid, and her eyes were also a bit erratic.

“Did I hire a nanny?”

Although she said she wanted to hire a nanny yesterday, because she was tired, she didn't even know when and how she fell asleep last night.

Not to mention hiring a nanny.

The person's eyes became even more uneasy, and she couldn't even speak quickly. “You didn't invite me, was that me going the wrong way?” She turned her eyes around as if looking for another house.

But she looked around and saw only this house in her sight.

She had long heard that the houses in this wealthy area were built big and well, but she never expected that within a few miles of this wealthy area, only one house would be built.

The surrounding area of the house was surrounded by mountains and rivers, which was like a paradise in the world. She had also worked as a nanny in a wealthy family before, but she had never seen such a beautiful house.

And there was such a beautiful hostess in this house, like a fairy.

The nanny pinched the corner of her clothes and said weakly, “It should be I didn't go wrong.”

As if suddenly remembering something, she added, “Mr. Swan invited me.”

Did Ryan invite her? Were his movements so fast? She just casually mentioned yesterday, but today he just invited the nanny home.

Ryan was really a bit too kind to her.

Natalie pursed her lips and said, “Then come in.”

The nanny walked into this luxurious and spacious villa with great restraint. Before she could fully step in, she urgently spoke, "Have you had breakfast yet? Shall I make breakfast for you first?"

On her first day at the employer's house, she definitely wanted to show off well.

Natalie did not refuse. She closed the door and sat at the nearby dining table.

Her mind couldn't help but recall last night's incident. In her memory, she told her uncle about her surgery for Grandpa Graham? Was she still telling him all about the symptoms of the old man?

Natalie suddenly had a bad premonition.

Uncle, with his temperament, wouldn't he go directly to Graham's private hospital to find the Graham family, would he?

Natalie didn't want her uncle to meet the Graham family. She had been entangled with the Graham family alone for a long time. She really didn't want anyone in the Spears family to be inexplicably involved with the Graham family because of her.

She felt nervous and almost immediately got up, picked up the woolen coat on the hanger, and casually put it on her body, nervously about to go out.

Yesterday, when Tory mentioned that she had come to Los Angeles to seek medical treatment, she thought about asking her uncle to help treat Grandpa Graham.

After all, her clinical level was still much worse than her uncle's.

If there was Uncle's help, and he must have brought some Spears family's Secret Medicine with him, Grandpa Graham would definitely be able to be pulled back from the jaws of death by him.

But on second thoughts, she realized that since Niki had already said she could find the Spears family's secret medicine, she also vowed to save Grandpa Graham.

Why did she bother to ask her uncle for help?

Thinking of this, Natalie shook her head. Grandpa Graham's life had nothing to do with her, so she couldn't let her uncle go find the Graham family.

Her anxious mentality forced her to accelerate her movements even more.

"Miss where are you going? "The nanny had just started the fire and brought out fresh dishes when she heard a commotion in the living room.

She ran out with a spatula in her hand and saw the beautiful hostess nervously putting on her shoes, preparing to go out.

"Don't you have breakfast? "She was holding a spatula in her hand, feeling quite at a loss.

Upon hearing the sound, Natalie paused for a moment and immediately opened her mouth, "I don't eat now."

"There is a guest room next to the stairs where you go straight and turn right. You can sleep there in the future. You can move all your things over this afternoon. If you can't finish moving and need help, just call this number."

Natalie casually tore a yellow sticky note from the wall and wrote a string of Hugh's phone number.

After finishing these words, she went straight out of the door.

At this time, the Graham family's private hospital.

The intensive care unit was empty except for Grandpa Graham, who was lying in bed.

The gaze turned to the outside of the operating room window, and Niki was holding her phone in her hand, facing the person on the phone with difficulty.

"Niki, when are you going to the Spears family? I have already arranged the car.

"Julian's voice came from her phone.

Niki sat in a chair with a pale expression on her face.

Yesterday, Julian had already made several phone calls to urge her, all of which were fooled by her.

the

But Julian was after all tough, such a meticulous and sensitive person. Niki's deception was only useful yesterday. If she continued to procrastinate like this today, she would definitely expose truth.

Now in this situation, she couldn't fool anymore.

Niki bit her lips, "I'm ready. I'll call Joey."

Julian didn't notice anything unusual. He held up the phone with one hand and was reviewing the documents on the table with the other.

Grandpa suddenly had an accident, causing everything in the company to pile up. In addition, there was a sudden incident in the company yesterday, which caused some chaos in Graham Group now. He couldn't leave for a while.

"Okay, if you're ready today, just call me and ask Lily to help you more."

The phone hung up and Niki stood up, her eyebrows almost furrowed together.

"Miss Linch! I've found a helper! "Suddenly, there was a hurried voice coming up the stairs in the corridor.

Niki raised her eyebrows and looked at the staircase. Delta walked out first, with an excited expression on his face.

Following closely behind was a middle-aged man who was not tall, had an average figure, and even wore ordinary clothes.

Niki was annoyed in her heart and swept over him with a blank expression, saying, "Who is this?"

Delta stopped in front of Niki and spoke excitedly, "He has the Spears family's Secret Medicine!"

Chapter 197 Heavenly Surprise

Niki's restless face suddenly changed. She said to herself "does he have the Spears family's secret medicine?"

Then she looked at the man, up and down, standing next to Delta, and he didn't look like a member of the Spears family at all.

As she could remember, it seemed that there was no such a man in the Spears family.

Then Tory Spear met her eyes.

Tory had met so many people and was good at reading people's mind. He only glanced at the expression on Niki's face and knew what she was thinking.

She just couldn't believe it.

He said nothing, but walked straight over Niki to the door of the intensive care unit and looked at the old man lying in bed through the glass window.

If it weren't for Natalie, he wouldn't have come even if the Graham family begged him to.

"What are you doing!" Niki was already annoyed. When she saw Tory walking directly past her, she felt that this person was really impolite.

Therefore, her tone was full of annoyance and antipathy. She was very dissatisfied with Tory's impolite behavior and wondered how could Delta turn to such an impolite person?

Upon hearing Niki's rebuke, Tory turned around and glanced at her unpleasantly.

Although he didn't know who this woman was, since she was here, she must have something to do with the Graham family.

"Is this how the Graham family treat guests? This woman does have no couth!" Tory furrowed his brow.

He wondered what kind of spell the Graham family had recited to Natalie, making her busy their things wholeheartedly.

Seeing Niki raise her hand to call the bodyguard to drive this Tory out, Delta quickly pulled her aside.

“Why are you pulling me?” Niki spoke in a disdainful tone, with a shake of her arm, getting her arm away from his hand.

It seemed she was sick of men’s touch.

LI Saki awkwardly released his hand.

“Miss Linch, don’t be so impulsive. This man really has the Spears family’s secret medicine.”

“You mean it?”

Upon hearing Delta’s affirmation, Niki lifted her eyes and looked down at Tory standing at the entrance of the intensive care unit.

This guy showed no signs of wealth from top to bottom, and his clothes were all nonbrand. How could he come from the Spears family?

The people of the Spears family all wore fancy clothes and lived an extremely exquisite life. Although this person’s attire was decent, it’s still far from being up to the standards of the Spears family.

She examined the man in front of her, feeling that he was the last person to have the Spears family’s secret medicine.

Seeing that Niki didn’t believe him, Delta became anxious and said, “He is our only chance.

Shouldn’t we give him a try?”

Since Niki would definitely not be able to obtain medicinal herbs if she went to the Spears family then, the man was indeed a chance.

But hearing this, Niki furrowed her eyebrows.

Li Saki pinched his palm because he realized that his tone was not quite right just now. Immediately, he felt nervous and asked cautiously, “shall we give him a try?”

Three years ago, he was just an inconspicuous doctor at the Graham family ‘s private hospital, and Niki had helped him.

When his mother was critically ill and he was unable to pay his mother’s medical bills, she helped him overcome the difficulties.

He wanted to repay her, but she suddenly disappeared.

Three years later, Delta suddenly received a phone call from Niki, and couldn’t help but feel excited.

But what he didn’t expect was that the only thing she asked him was how to turn an elderly person who had just been successfully rescued into a vegetable.

To be honest, at that moment, the excitement in Delta’s heart was extinguished in an instant. He felt unrest in his heart. After some struggle, due to her kindness three years ago, he gritted his teeth and told her how to manage that.

But when he arrived at the hospital, he found that the old man Niki was referring to was Grandpa Graham!

Li Saki had never thought that Niki’s would be so cruel before. Making Grandpa Graham a vegetable is already his bottom line, and he really didn’t want to see his death due to himself.

It was clearly that Niki changed her idea by his words so she asked “where did you find this man?”

Upon feeling she was a little convinced, Delta quickly relied “I came to the hospital from home this morning and saw this person man stopped by two bodyguards at the entrance of the hospital.”

"I then came closer to ask what happened. It really surprised me when he said he came to save Grandpa Graham.

Niki rolled her eyes kept asking, "Did he came up and said he was here to save Grandpa Graham?"

The Graham family has kept the fact that Grandpa Graham was sick a secret, and no one knew it except for some people who were close to the Graham family.

"Yes. "Li Saki nodded," I was also very confused then, and I didn't believe he could save Grandpa

Graham. So, I just told him that Grandpa Graham was badly ill and it's a really tough task to cure him. Now, only the Spears family's secret medicine could help."

"But what he said next really shocked me. He just said he had the Spears family's secret medicine."

Hearing this, Delta immediately took the man to the intensive care unit without delaying.

"As long as he is a sensible person, he won't dare to lie in front of the Graham family. If he dares to say that, then he must have the secret medicine. "Li Saki said in an affirmative tone.

After hearing this, Niki's impatience diminished a bit, because she thought Delta's words made some sense. With the Graham family's position in Los Angeles, no one dares to deceive the Graham family.

And then he was indeed her only chance... She had no other choices but to let Tory have a try.

Niki put on a smile and slowly walked up to Tory. "Sir, would you please tell me your surname?"

Tory glanced up at her and said "Spears."

Niki raised her eyebrows and went on asking “are you from the Spears family in New York?”

Tory was speechless. He had already said his surname was Spears and he had the Spears family’s secret medicine. Then where else could he come from?

He kept his shirt on replying “Yes.”

Chapter 107 Haavenly Surorica

94.97%

Without waiting for Niki to speak, he pointed to the patient lying in the intensive care unit and asked directly, “Can I go in now?”

He always felt that there was something wrong when he saw Natalie’s expression yesterday.

He supposed that if Grandpa Graham didn’t recover, Natalie would continue to worry about him. It’s better to cure him as soon as possible, so that Natalie would relief.

Niki narrowed her eyes and said, “You’re going to treat Grandpa Graham now? Are you in a hurry?”

She always felt a bit strange.

There is no such thing as free lunch in the world. So, when seeing a man in such a hurry, Niki couldn’t help but be cautious.

Tory nodded and he didn’t waste much more time. Then he lowered his head immediately, and took out a small wooden box from his pocket and opened it in front of Niki.

As soon as the wooden box was opened, a kind of wooden fragrance came, and in just a moment, it filled the entire ward.

The fragrance was mixed with the smell of herb and wood, which made it unique. The smell was -not at all unpleasant, but so balmy that made people comfortable and it seemed to have the function to cheer people up.

This smell was... too familiar!

Niki had smelled it once when she was a child.

That was when she took part in the Miss Spears' birthday party. Since Grandpa Spears was delighted, he gave the Spears family, even their subordinates, a lot of good things.

What she got was this secret medicine at the time. Unfortunately, she only kept it for a day before. her father gave it to the Swan family to flatter them.

This smell aroused Niki's memory, so she then totally believed that Tory was indeed from the Spears family.

"Mr. Spears, please change your surgical uniform here."

Niki changed her attitude. She put on a smile as she opened the door for Tory hospitably, even in a bowing gesture.

It seemed that the woman who saw Tory in a rejected way minutes ago was someone else.

Tory didn't have much expression. He nodded lightly and walked into the next room to change his surgical uniform.

When Tory was changing clothes, Niki quickly pulled over Delta and spoke urgently, "You stay here and watch, I'll make a phone call."

Li Saki nodded.

Niki quickly walked to the stairwell and couldn't wait to take out her phone. "Julian, you don't have to come to pick me up."

She was so lucky that the Spears family offered help! It's just a heavenly surprise!

Why?" Julian frowned.

Niki's tone was coquettish, and she began to make up lies "I thought yesterday that since I was going back to the Spears family, I would have to tell them in advance. I didn't expect them to come over as soon as they heard that Grandpa was sick."

Surly, she was insinuating something else.

"I didn't want to trouble them but to go on my own. Well, they are really being too kind to me."

"Really?" Julian said in a joyful tone and stopped reviewing the documents.

Chapter 198 Thank you, Niki

I didn't expect the Spears family to be so kind to me. As soon as they heard that Grandpa Graham was sick and needed the Spears family's secret medicine, they immediately sent a man to deliver it."

"Uncle Spears intended to come in person, but I didn't want to trouble him, so I asked him not to come." Niki said softly.

Julian's expression slightly changed as he spoke "has the man arrived at the hospital now?"

"Yes, and he is preparing to treat Grandpa."

"Ok, I'll go over now." Julian stopped signing documents. As he was excited then, he signed the last stroke with much strength.

"How sweet you are, Niki!"

"Don't say that. I can't be more happy if I can offer some help."

Niki stood outside the intensive care unit, holding her phone in her hand, with a bright smile on her face.

The sudden surprise made her feel extremely happy.

The restlessness and grumpiness in the morning dissipated and then she felt nothing but jaunty.

Tory changed his clothes and was dressed in pure white, with a mask on his face. It's hard to say if it's due to psychological or other factors, in Niki's eyes then, this man really looked like a mature and skilled doctor.

Seeing him coming out, Niki quickly welcomed him.

“Julian, see you later. The doctor is going in, and I will help next to him.”

“Ok. “Julian couldn’t help but curl his lips when he heard that Niki was so considerate.

Niki hung up on the phone.

Julian put down his phone, closed the document on the table, picked up his suit jacket, and put it over his body.

As he walked outside, he said “prepare the car and go to the hospital.”

Joey had just finished his morning work and was preparing for his lunch break when he suddenly heard Julian’s voice. He stood up and said unconsciously, “Okay, I’ll go drive now.”

Julian put on his coat and went downstairs quickly.

“Why does Boss leave?” an employee noticed him leaving and asked,” He has never walked by at this time.”

“Don’t inquire about Boss’s business, “said a colleague beside him, knocking on the person’s head. “Have you finished all your work?”

“If not, you will feel sorry if boss come back to hold a regular meeting later.”

Julian was very serious about their work, which made them very stressed.

“If you continue to gossip like that, maybe you will be treated like Joey.”

Sure enough, upon hearing this, the gossiping employee immediately turned around, sat back in the chair, and returned to work.

Joey followed Julian every day. Although his salary was exorbitant, he was extremely busy.

Sometimes he had to do the work alone that usually needed three people.

Joey parked the car downstairs at the company, opened the door for Julian, and then Julian sat in the car.

Having been with Julian for so long, Joey was good at observing his moods.

As he started the engine, he looked into the rearview mirror at Julian sitting in the back row and said, "Boss, why do you suddenly go to the hospital at this moment?"

According to his observation, the expression on Julian's face then indicated he was in a good mood.

"Niki invited the Spears family to come over." Julian lightly pressed his fingers against the car window and looked coldly out of the car.

The slender fingers rhythmically tapped on the window edge, showing that he was eager to get to the hospital

"That's great. With the help of the Spears family, Lord Graham will soon get better!" "Joey's mouth also widened.

As long as Lord Graham would recover, his boss' mood would definitely follow suit, so he won't have to be vigilant all day in the company.

The car sped towards the Graham family's private hospital.

Tory tightened the white mask on his nose bridge, opened the door of the intensive care unit, and stepped in.

Just as he was about to turn around and close the door, a hand suddenly extended out of the door, stopping him from closing the door.

He raised his eyes, and Niki had a flattering smile on her face. Her large, grape-like eyes narrowed slightly due to the smile.

"Mr. Spears, I'll come in and help you."

Tory glanced at Niki from top to bottom. How could this woman want to enter the intensive care unit without wearing protective clothing?

He twitched at the corner of his mouth and waved his hand, "No need, I can do it myself."

"Let me help you, please. It's easier to have someone to help you than to be alone. "He is from the Spears family, a person Niki nearly had no chance to meet.

Therefore, she wanted to seize the opportunity to leave a good impression on him.

She didn't expect him to remember her, but she would be satisfied if only he had an impression of her.

"No need. "Tory replied again impatiently.

After saying this, he immediately slammed the door and walked straight towards Lord Graham, who was lying on the hospital bed.

Niki was rejected. She was even unable to stop her flattering smile so she awkwardly turned her head and walked outside the window to watch Tory's every move.

Tory opened the wooden box, took out a dab of medicinal herbs from it, and first ground them into powder... A set of movements were very skilled and professional. While Niki didn't know what was he doing.

Seeing Tory so professional, she couldn't help but regret for what she did before.

She pursed her lips and recalled her previous expressions and movements. And she was worried about if he would hate her for her previous disrespectful behavior.

Moreover, given Tory's expression as he forcefully closed the door, she felt he was obviously angry and unwilling to pay attention to her.

Niki was very confident in her charm because few men could remain expressionless in front of her smiling face, let alone give her a cold shoulder.

It seemed that he really had a grudge against her... Niki dared not think further, only feeling a burst of regret.

As she was filled with remorse, footsteps could be heard approaching her.

Niki turned around and saw Julian walking in with urgent steps. He was tall and straight, with sharp eyes and eyebrows.

The man walked with great strides, and Joey, who followed behind, felt like he was about to fly and couldn't keep up with the Julian's pace.

"Julian, you're here!" Niki hid her regretful expression and put on a happy face as she saw Julian approaching.

Has the doctor entered yet? "Julian stopped.

"Yes, he has already been treating Grandpa Graham." Niki grabbed Julian's hand and said, "Julian, don't worry. My family is famous for our medical skill, and we can definitely make Grandpa Graham safe."

Her words were full of comfort.

Julian lowered his eyes.

As soon as he lowered his head, he saw the woman with long eyelashes, eyes like black grapes soaked in mist, and an unconcealable expression of concern in her eyes. Obviously, she was worried about her grandfather's safety.

Julian was moved.

He reached out and touched the woman's hair with a gentle tone "thank you, Niki."

"This is all what I should do. Julian, you don't have to say that."

As she spoke, Niki pursed her mouth pretending she was angry "I will really be angry if you say

'thank you' to me again."

Seeing the woman looking at him pretending to be angry, Julian curled his lips and instinctively wanted to reach out and rub her face.

But halfway through, he suddenly remembered something and withdrew his hand.

“Julian...?” Niki blinked.

Julian looked away and said, “I’ll go see how Grandpa is doing.”

The man slightly pursed his lips and released Niki’s hand. He took a step towards the window of the Intensive care unit and looked inside at Tory, who was operating surgery.

Niki was left alone, contemplating as she stared at Julian’s back.

Chapter 199 Ignorance

Julian lowered his eyes lowered sharply, standing by the window, and stared at every move of the people inside.

Julian walked too fast, and Joey couldn’t catch up with him at all. He arrived late.

He climbed upstairs panting heavily. Niki glared at him as if she seemed to blame him for making the noise in the quiet atmosphere.

Joey looked at Niki and he awkwardly and consciously stood aside, trying to reduce his presence as much as possible.

Niki withdrew her gaze. Although she didn’t know why Julian didn’t touch her face and suddenly withdrew his hand, she adjusted her emotions and walked steadily towards him.

“Julian, you...”

Before she could utter her words, Julian turned his head and spoke first, “What is the name of this doctor inside?”

The Spears family had done him such a big favor, he must definitely thank them.

Upon hearing this, Niki blinked her eyes and felt uneasy.

She couldn’t know his name at all. She just knew he’s Mr. Spears.

“It doesn’t matter, Julian. Just call him Mr. Spears.” She said.

“This gentleman has helped me a lot, and the Graham family must thank him.”

Niki was awkward and said, "There's no need. Uncle told me that if the Graham family is in trouble, the Spears must give a hand."

"After we married, we are one family. This is what we should do."

She had her plan.

As she said this, Julian looked over at her, and seemed to think of something."

She was startled.

"Julian? What's wrong?" Although she was a bit flustered, she still looked innocent, as if he had done something wrong.

"Did I say something wrong?"

Chanter 100 InnOESBEO

95.77%

Julian looked at her a while, then lightly pursed his thin lips and moved his gaze away.

It seemed like he wanted to say something, but he didn't.

He spoke slowly, "Although your uncle said so, we still have to thank him. It was the courtesy.

Right?"

"Ah... yes," Niki didn't know what to say for a moment, so she instinctively responded.

Julian seemed to be determined to know his name... She couldn't stop him. She thought she should have asked his name first.

"So, what's the name of this doctor inside?"

Seeing that she had not spoken, Julian thought that what he had just said was too harsh.

He lowered his eyes and reflected seriously.

After all, Niki brought the man here and he had done such a favor to the Graham family. He should be modest and polite.

He adjusted his tone and said, "After Grandpa wakes up, he must also want to know the name of his savior."

He said this with a serious expression in his eyes.

"Well..." The more serious Julian was, the more awkward Niki was.

Delta stood by and keenly observed her embarrassment, so he quickly stepped forward to make a comeback.

"Mr. Graham."

Upon hearing this, Julian raised his eyes and continued to frown. He looked at the man and said,

"Who are you?"

"I am a doctor from the hospital of the Graham group." Delta stepped forward and said.

"What's the matter?" Julian remained indifferent. He didn't know this Delta at all.

The impatience in his eyes was obvious.

Delta respectfully bowed under Julian's impatient gaze. He said calmly, without fear or trembling.

"You may not know that the Spears family is hermit here in New York. They never want others to know who they are."

He didn't finish all the sentences.

Niki suddenly knew what he meant, and she quickly followed him and said, "Yes, Julian, we still need to respect this. The Spears family really don't like to reveal names outside."

"If I reveal his name to you today, I'm afraid the doctor won't be happy when he comes out."

“Grandpa Graham wouldn’t want his savior to be unhappy...” said Niki in a sincere tone.

Julian stopped speaking after hearing this. His expression underwent a subtle change.

It’s hard to say whether he believed this or not.

Niki secretly glanced at Delta and signaled him to leave before Julian said anything.

Although his words just reminded her and temporarily freed her from the awkward situation.

But at this stage, the less people know about her relationship with Delta, the better. She was actually very dissatisfied with his hasty behavior of speaking up.

The constantly flashing red light was suddenly off, and there was sudden noise coming from the – intensive care unit.

“Is this over?” Niki first said, and she quickly walked forward.

Julian followed her closely behind.

Tory had just opened the door when he met the woman standing outside. He was startled and took several steps back.

Julian immediately spoke out as a reminder, “Be careful.”

Tory raised his eyes and saw a tall man in a formal suit.

The man stood behind the woman just now. Tory quickly recognized him with his cold face and stern facial features.

Julian!

He immediately became expressionless, with disgust on his face. Even with a mask on his face, he couldn’t conceal his emotions.

Three years have passed, and this guy still had a disgusting stinky face.

“Dr. Spears, you’ve been tired. Take a break now.” Niki didn’t notice Tory’s gaze change. She asked the bodyguard to bring a soft seat.

The chairs at the entrance are quite hard, and your waist is not good. Sit in this chair that is specifically designed for you.”

Tory frowned. He didn’t know why she knew his waist aching. Then he waved his hand and said lightly, “No need.”

After saying this, he lowered his head and took off his mask and gloves.

He heard Julian say worriedly, “Doctor, how is my grandfather now? Can he wake up now?”

Tory took off his gloves halfway, raised his eyebrows. He saw Julian’s sincere gaze.

Julian looked so sincere, waiting for the reply.

A man who is about 1.80 meters, half bent and looking at Tory sincerely. It’s hard to refuse.

What’s more, this person is Julian, who is usually invincible.

But Tory didn’t seem to hear him. He didn’t even look at Julian and just took off his gloves.

A series of movements are slow and orderly.

Julian watched his slow movements like this, and for an instant, he got irritated.

He took a deep breath and told himself that perhaps the doctor had such a strange temper.

It took Tory a long time for him to take off his gloves.

Seeing this, Julian patiently asked again, “Doctor, how is my grandfather?”

Tory still didn’t hear that.

He packed the wooden box, put it back in his pocket, and walked outside.

“What’s the meaning of this?”

He might be busy with his matters and didn’t hear that last time. But how about this time? Julian said this in such a clear way, and Tory must hear it.

Is this doctor intentional? Does he have any objections to Julian?

Being neglected twice in a row, Julian unconsciously became angry in his heart.

Chapter 200 Am I a beggar?

Get Po

Tory put the small wooden box into his pocket. The box was not too big, but it actually propped up his pocket.

He placed the clothes he had just worn during the treatment on the chair, and then looked up at Niki with a blank expression.

Niki wanted to say something, but she didn't.

Anyway, since this person dares to leave, the old man lying inside must have been treated pretty well.

In this situation, it is advantageous for her that Tory leaves.

If Julian asks any more questions that she can't handle, she can make some excuses without the presence of him.

Anyway, no one can expose it.

Tory didn't even give Julian a half look and slowly walked out of the room with his hands behind his back.

Just as he was about to leave, Julian stopped him.

"Doctor."

His tone was indifferent, but people knew he was unhappy.

Upon hearing this, Niki had a bad premonition. She quickly walked forward, grabbed Julian, and said, "Julian, he's such a person. Don't be angry."

"Grandpa Graham must have already been all right. Let's go in and take a look together."

After all, this doctor comes from the Spear family, if Julian angers him, Niki will also get involved. She could let the good impression be destroyed.

"Julian?" She seemed to urge and beg him.

Julian seemed not to hear her and he asked the bodyguard stop Tory.

Tory was walking forward with his hands behind his back, and when he saw the bodyguard suddenly appearing in front of him, he raised his dark eyebrows.

He turned his head and looked at Julian, saying, "What does this mean?"

As Niki saw this, she immediately felt Julian would beat the doctor, so she quickly spoke up,

—

"Julian, he just saved Grandpa. Please calm down."

Julian said coldly, "I'm very calm."

As he spoke, he continued to raise his hand to signal to the bodyguard.

The bodyguard received the signal and directly took out the gun in his hand and pressed it against Tory's abdomen, step by step pushing him back to his original position.

Even though Tory disliked Julian no matter how much, the muzzle of the gun in front of him was against his abdomen, and he had to follow him even if he didn't want to. He was forced to move back to the entrance of the intensive care unit.

Julian walked straight towards him.

Looking at the man walking towards him, Tory curled his lips and chuckled lightly, saying without hesitation, "I'm kind of disappointed at the Graham family's hospitality."

The sarcasm was evident in the words.

Julian ignored him.

Just when Tory thought that Julian was going to do something to him, he found him turn his direction, walk to the chair, and then stop.

Hmm? What is this for?

Julian reached out his slender hand and directly took the clothes Tory had just taken off from the chair.

Hmm? Tory stared, unsure of what he was up to.

The man threw the clothes in his hand in the direction of Joey. Joey quickly caught the clothes and then held them in his arms.

“Sit down, doctor.”

Julian pulled the chair aside and gestured for Tory to sit down.

Tory was reluctant but the gun was against his abs, and even if he didn't want to do it, he had to do

1.

He sat down.

The next second, what Julian said surprised him. “Joey, bring the gift I prepared for Dr. Spears.”

This also made Niki surprised. She thought that he would beat the doctor in anger.

Jory quickly put down the clothes in his hand, and then went out to get something.

In a moment, he walked in with a group of people.

Joey led them and carried two sandalwood boxes with brocade edges. The people following him held medicinal herbs, tea, diamonds and gold in their hands

Various gifts.

Niki was stunned as she saw this.

Julian prepared so many things... just to thank Dr. Spears? Isn't it too generous?

Joey held the plate and stop in front of Tory. Julian raised his hand and signaled, “Open it.”

The sandalwood box was opened, and when viewed from top to bottom, there was a smooth red silk lining inside, with several medicinal herbs blocked with red silk threads.

In the other box, there were also medicinal herbs. On the top of the ginseng was a beautifully styled paper with a thank you note.

Tory glanced at these two wooden boxes and then looked at all the things.

It seemed like he was amused. He grinned heartily and shook his whole body violently.

“Am I a bagger?”

Hearing this, Niki’s eyelash trembled, and she was shocked to hear what Tory said. It seemed that the Spears family leader was richer than she thought.

Tory even said that after he saw so many gifts.

Julian said in a rather humble tone. “I know these things are nothing to the Spears family.

But these are all prepared by the Graham family within our capabilities. Please accept them.”

Not to mention anything else, just the two carried by Joey were priceless. This medicinal herb is extremely rare, and there is absolutely no second medical house in Los Angeles that has these medicinal herbs.

Even in New York.

But what he didn’t know was that these medicinal herbs could be found everywhere in the Spears family.

“Within the capability of the Graham family?” Tory smiled and said, “Since you are incapable, don’t give these gifts then.”

None of these things add up to the value of the secret medicine he just used for Mr. Graham.

“I don’t need any gratitude from your family. All I need for you is to recognize yourself and stop harming others unknowingly.” Tory said coldly.

The implication is to remind Julian not to harass Natalie again.

“Hmm?” Julian didn’t understand what he meant.

“Although I don’t know what you mean by this, the Graham family must thank you for coming to see Grandpa today for the sake of Niki.”

“For the sake of Niki?”

After hearing this, he said angrily, “Who said I came here for the sake of Niki?” He didn’t even know who Niki was.

What? Julian was confused.

Upon hearing this, Niki panicked. She didn’t expect Julian to thank her directly, nor did she expect Tory to directly deny it on the spot.

-The man turned his head and looked at Niki, whose hands were twisted together.

“What’s going on?”

She quickly said, “It’s really not my commission.”

She then added, “Didn’t I just tell you that? I only told my uncle about it. This doctor should have been brought by my uncle, and it’s normal not to know me.”

She pretended to be calm.

Julian nodded, and it made sense.

“Your uncle?” Tory immediately glared at her. “You said your uncle invited me?”

“It’s just nonsense. I’m invited by...”.

Before he finished, there were footsteps coming from the stairs again.

Natalie, dressed in black, walked in.

If it weren’t for the traffic jam on the road, she would have arrived here long ago.