

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover

By Madison King Chapter 281

Chapter 281 If there was something wrong with Nana, you must pay the price.

Tory closely followed Julian without moving his eyes away from Natalie, and he looked highly nervous.

Julian walked ahead and because he was tall and had long legs so he walked quickly.

Moreover, he often did exercises so his arms were very powerful. Even if he held a woman in his arms, he still walked fast.

As a doctor, Tory often stood for several hours in the operating room and was also very busy with work.

He needed to manage all things in the hospital and take care of the laboratory with a combination of Chinese and Western medicine. So he was also busy.

His body condition was not good so it was actually very difficult for him to follow Julian.

He had to run to keep up with him.

But as Tory walked, he suddenly noticed that Julian began to slow down.

He was puzzled.

So he separated his attention to Julian reluctantly.

Julian's expression was a bit serious and he didn't know what he was thinking.

How did he dare to be absent-minded in such critical moments?

He didn't know the priorities at all!

Wasn't he worried about Nana's condition?

If she just had a common fever, she would recover soon after getting an injection or medication.

But if she had a severe high fever, it would be very dangerous!

In this situation, if she was not treated appropriately, her brain might be damaged and causing convulsions, coma, and some mental diseases.

Even acidosis, alkalosis, shock, and even death might occur,

After confirming that it was Nana in his arms, he never moved his eyes away from her for a moment.

Nana had not said a word or even moved in his arms from the beginning until now.

It was very likely that she was in a coma.

The situation was clearly urgent.

Tory felt angry and he lifted his hand and vigorously patted Julian's shoulder.

With a loud "snap" sound.

Very loud.

The loud sound was enough to show how much strength he used to pat Julian.

But Julian didn't even frown, as if he didn't feel any pain at all.

"What are you thinking about? Can you hurry up?"

"If there was something wrong with Nana, you must pay the price."

His words were extremely ruthless, completely devoid of his usual kindness.

Julian calmed down.

He looked down at Natalie in his arms.

4

Although he didn't say anything, he accelerated his pace noticeably and he even began to run.

Tory followed closely behind.

People were still discussing, "Who is the person in that man's arms?"

One of them pondered and said, "With so many bodyguards of the Spears family following behind, is that the person the Spears family is looking for?"

Upon hearing his words, people all realized that and agreed with him, "It makes sense."

Lara had just come out of the bathroom when she heard their discussion.

Did they find Natalie so quickly?

She was surprised and followed the direction of the crowd.

A group of bodyguards blocked her view, so she couldn't see clearly who was walking at the front.

So she had to follow up and take a look.

She just wanted to confirm if the Spears family had found Natalie.

Lara, wearing the high heels, walked fast towards the group of bodyguards.

The bustling guests passed by, and she furrowed as she walked in the crowd.

However, as she walked out, she felt that there were more and more people in front of her, as if there were countless guests.

It was really annoying.

Why there were so many people attending the meeting?

Was the name of the divine doctor of the Spears family so famous?

Why so many people in New York rushed to come?

Lara muttered as she struggled through the crowd.

After much effort, she finally saw the figure of a man among a group of bodyguards.

Julian?

She only felt confused.

Why was Julian there? Was he holding Natalie in his arms?

How could he know where Natalie was?

Did Julian volunteered to hold Natalie after Tory found her?

If so, he was just a playboy.

He didn't even care about his girlfriend but rushed to hold another woman?

Get Boy

Lara furrowed tightly, and she quickened her pace to see it more clearly.

But Julian had already carried Natalie into the car, and Tory, dressed in a white coat, followed closely behind.

They all disappeared into the car.

There was only a group of bodyguards left, and they stood neatly in front of the car, enveloping the entire car tightly.

No one could enter the car.

Lara had no choice but to return to the hall again.

She walked slowly back while pondering.

Was she wrong?

That person must be Julian.

As she was walking, she saw Niki with red eyes.

ww

She was absent-minded and she seemed to be in a bad mood. Her eyes were also red, as if she had just cried.

“Miss Linch?”

After seeing her, Lara almost had a definite answer in her heart.

It was only Julian, the scumbag that could make Niki look like what she was now.

“Miss Linch, did you cry?”

Niki turned her head and saw Lara.

She shook her head and said gently, as if she was trying to suppress her trembling tone, “No.”

But Lara could see through her disguise at a glance.

“You lied to me. You cried.”

Niki still shook her head.

She didn’t want Lara to focus on her, so she changed the topic.

“Julian... he found Natalie.”

Lara nodded.

“I see it.”

“But how did he know where she was?”

Niki gently shook her head and said, “I don’t know.”

“The key point is that Natalie has been rescued, and you haven’t voluntarily confessed your crime yet.”

“When she wakes up, she will definitely tell what happened to the Spears family.”

“If the Spears family fully believes her words and comes to make trouble,”

“what will you do?”

Niki’s eyes were filled with concern, and she was nervous when she said these words. It was clear that she worried about her.

Lara’s face expression froze.

She only focused on scolding Julian and forgot what Natalie might do.

“I...” Lara opened her mouth, feeling nervous.

Niki also frowned, thinking of countermeasures in her heart.

Since Julian could find Natalie, perhaps he knew something.

If he discovered something, she might be exposed,

Although the possibility was small, just in case...

The best way was to let Lara take all the responsibilities as soon as possible.

As long as Lara admitted that she did everything, then no one would think.

too much about this matter.

Correspondingly, she could also perfectly clear the suspicion and no one would think that she was the culprit.

An idea came up to her mind.

“Lara, why don’t you go now?”

Lara hesitated for a moment and said, “What?”

“Shall I go now?”

“What am I going to do? Confess my crime?”

Niki nodded and said determinedly, as if she was satisfied with the idea,

“Yes!”

“You go and confess your crime now.”

Get Bodos

“Everything can still be saved while she hasn’t woken up yet.”

“You just need to go as soon as possible and explain that you didn’t do it on purpose and the Spears family may forgive you.”

As Niki spoke, she raised her hand and pushed Lara forward.

Lara was forced to move forward.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 282 Her Beauty

Lara was pushed by Niki while she was still trying to turn around.

She was a bit hesitant, “I... I haven’t decided it yet.”

Niki did not give her a chance to speak.

“There is nothing left for you to think about.”

“Lara, I am doing it for the good of you.”

“You don’t want Natalie to be like, but I know her very well. She is a vindictive woman, and when she wakes up, you’ll be ruined.”

Niki looked anxious, as if there were wolves chasing after her.

She couldn’t wait to push Lara immediately into the car.

Upon hearing her words, Lara was hesitant.

But she still wasn’t very willing to confess her crime, “I don’t think it is a good idea.”

Niki became serious and said, “Lara, are you really not afraid that Natalie would tell Tory everything?”

Lara shook her head and said, “Of course I’m afraid.”

“So why don’t you want to go?”

Niki kept staring at her.

But Lara tried to avoid her gaze, appearing a bit embarrassed.

Niki seemed to suddenly remember something and patted her head and said, “Are you afraid that Natalie will laugh at you?”

“Or do you think that it is shameful for you to confess your crime and you can’t say it yourself?”

Lara didn’t look good, and she neither denied nor affirmed.

“I...”

Before she finished her words, Niki patted her head and made a final decision.

“Since you feel ashamed, let me do it.”

“Anyway, I will do everything to protect you and I am not afraid of being ashamed.”

Lara just kept shaking her head and she was so stubborn.

“No, you can’t do that.”

Niki was anxious in her heart.

Why she was keeping dragging her feet?

Would she die if she went to confess her crime?

Why she kept putting off doing that?

It would be okay if she didn’t want to do that. But why she was still unwilling to when she said she would go instead of her?

Lara was from New York, and even if Tory was angry with her, he would forgive her for the sake of the Turner family.

Niki didn’t know why she didn’t dare to do so with the background of the Turner family.

“I have an another idea regarding that you are unwilling to do so. I don’t know whether you are interested or not.”

A hint of determination flashed in Niki’s eyes.

This was the last choice.

Lara was frightened by her expression and said, “What’s your idea?”

“I will confess the crime for you.”

Her words really startled Lara.

“Are you... going to help me confess the crime?”

Niki nodded and said in a determined tone, “That’s right. Since you don’t want to do so, then let me do it for you.”

“There must be someone to take the responsibility and why not let me do it?”

“I am just repaying your favor.”

“You not only saved my life but also gave me two invitation cards for the meeting. I had nothing to repay you, so let me repay all these favors today.”

Lara was first shocked, and then moved.

Why did she be willing to help her?

Natalie was her enemy.

If Niki took the responsibility for her, then Natalie would have something on her and Niki would definitely be bullied by her.

Why didn’t she be afraid?

Or she was willing to sacrifice herself for her to such an extent.

“Miss Linch, you...”

Niki naturally noticed her expression.

”

Lara was straightforward and had no ulterior motives, and Niki had already won her trust. Therefore, Niki could see through what she was thinking at the moment.

She was secretly delighted.

She was confident this time.

“Lara, I have decided to go and you can rest assured to stay here.”

As she spoke, Niki released her hands gripping on Lara’s clothes and walked firmly towards the car.

“Hey...”

Lara went into panic and she quickly ran to keep up.

The buck stopped here and it was unreasonable to let Niki take the responsibility for her.

Niki regarded her as a friend, and she couldn’t let her get into trouble.

“Wait for me!”

Niki pretended not to hear. And the more urgent Lara shouted, the faster she walked.

She was just forcing Lara to make the decision.

She bet that this time she would definitely make up her mind.

Sure enough, Lara compromised.

“I’ll go and confess my crime! Miss Linch, you don’t need to go!”

Niki suddenly stopped, and she smiled.

She knew her very well.

It was not an difficult task to control her.

However, the smile on her face flashed, and she turned her head and put on a worried expression again.

“Are you really going to do, Lara?”

Lara nodded without any hesitation.

“You should wait here and don’t let Natalie see you.”

She didn’t want Niki to get involved in this matter.

Otherwise, Natalie would definitely not let go of kind Niki.

Niki looked a bit worried, “Let me go with you.”

Lara shook her head and stopped her, “If you regard me as your friend, then just stay here.”

Get Bo

Upon hearing that, there was no need for Niki to continue performing.

She thought it was enough.

“Okay, be careful.”

Niki stood and watched her.

Julian picked up Natalie into the car.

He gently placed the woman on the bed, and then carefully picked up the blanket to cover her.

He had just covered her with the blanket and hadn’t had time to retract his hand.

Tory rushed onto the car and even pushed him directly to the side.

“Doctor, check the patient first!”

Tory squeezed out Julian and stood by the bed and said urgently. “Doctor, I think there's something wrong with her."

"Please check it carefully."

On the other side, Julian's shoulder was pushed to the window of the car by Tory, making a muffled sound.

There was a pain in his shoulder, and he furrowed slightly.

This doctor was too urgent.

He was so impolite.

He was about to get angry but he saw Tory's anxious expression.

He seemed to have thought of something. But he didn't open his mouth and said nothing.

He just stood quietly next to her, watching her lying on the bed.

There were many small raindrops on her head and face. Her exquisite hairstyle had become somewhat messy due to the high fever.

A few strands of hair clung to her cheeks in disorder, and her face was red due to the high fever.

Although she was sick, she was still beautiful.

The doctor held the instrument and carefully examined her body.

The doctor gently lifted her chin.

From Julian's perspective, the woman's cheek was so beautiful and charming.

He didn't know why.

His heart was filled with inexplicable emotions.

He actually thought that Natalie was as beautiful as poppies.

Dangerous yet tempting.

Julian then awkwardly withdrew his gaze.

“Doctor, what’s her current situation?”

As soon as the doctor finished his examination, Tory couldn’t wait to inquire about her condition.

The doctor looked up.

“Her condition was not good”

What?!

Tory and Julian almost lifted their eyes at the same time.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 283 I will not harm her

Upon hearing this sentence, Tory’s face suddenly changed.

“What? What does it mean not to be optimistic? Please be clear.”

His eyes were filled with disbelief.

The doctor remained silent, he just looked at Tory with a fixed expression in his eyes.

At the moment when they looked at each other, Tory seemed to understand something.

In fact, as a doctor, he had already had a guess in his heart when he saw Nana fall into a coma.

But he didn’t want to think about it.

Tory always felt that there was still some other hope.

Perhaps his theoretical knowledge was not comprehensive.

Nana would definitely be fine.

As long as there was no accurate test, there was still hope for everything.

Tory had been constantly hypnotizing himself in his heart.

But after the doctor said this, his self-deception had nowhere to hide.

“So are you sure?”

Tory trembled and asked this question.

Get Bog

Although he was also a doctor himself, each doctor's expertise varied, and he was ultimately not very sure about unfamiliar fields.

So he pinned his hope on this doctor.

The doctor's gaze was a bit hesitant.

Julian stood next to him, and after the intense emotional fluctuations, the initial worry on his face had faded.

Now he had regained his sanity.

He understood that it was no use worrying.

The most important thing was to quickly implement assistance to Natalie.

Julian's expression was extremely calm, and he steadily observed the doctor's expression.

His keen insight made him see that the doctor was already nervously swallowing saliva.

“I'm not very sure.”

As the words fell, Julian's voice rang out cleanly.

"Take it to the central hospital in Chicago."

"The central hospital has doctors I know who are quite skilled in this area."

Tory turned to look at him.

Julian's face was calm, even a bit indifferent, and there was no hint of anxiety on his face.

Get Boys

"This is currently the best choice."

As Julian spoke, he walked steadily towards Tory and stopped in front of the hospital bed under the man's extreme gaze.

"Central hospital?"

Tory repeated the name in his mouth, as if searching for information about the hospital in his mind.

Half a second later, he shook his head.

The Spears family go to their own hospital for medical treatment.

Definitely not going to other small hospitals.

There was no other reason.

Just because the Spears family was undoubtedly the top pharmaceutical family in US.

Although the Spears family started with traditional Chinese medicine in the early days, they had also made great achievements in Western medicine in recent years. The main development direction was the combination of traditional Chinese medicine, which was the field that Natalie had been researching.

In terms of medical expertise, there was no family that can rival the Spears family.

The hospital run by the Spears family was naturally the top presence in the country.

Except for Spears' own hospital, Tory did not trust any other hospital.

Get Bog

Not to mention this hospital that he hadn't even heard of.

Julian saw Tory shake his head and thought he didn't believe it.

He didn't believe he knew experts from the central hospital.

The man lowered his head and took out his phone from his pocket, speaking confidently.

"If you don't believe the expert's phone number on my phone, you can call now."

Tory didn't even look up and refused directly.

"No need, I'll think of a way."

Julian frowned when he saw Tory's stubborn appearance.

"You have no other choice besides this method."

Tory ignored him.

"For Natalie now, time is life and she can't afford it."

"Every second of procrastination could endanger her life."

Tory remained silent.

The atmosphere was deadlocked.

After half a sound, Tory seemed to have finally made up his mind. He paused and slowly clenched his hand on the armrest of the hospital bed.

“I’ll give it a try myself.”

The sound passed through the entire car, with a completely silent hoarseness and composure.

It was clearly decided after careful consideration.

The three doctors next to him looked shocked.

They were surprised and said, ‘Do you want to try it yourself?’

Upon closer inspection, there was still a hint of nervousness on his face.

Tory nodded.

“You also need to prepare and help me.”

Time waits for no one, Tory was well aware of the urgency of time now. After the words fell, he almost immediately walked to the compartment inside, ready to change into surgical clothes.

The doctor trotted up behind him.

However, the doctor shrank and his face looked a bit twisted.

When the doctor saw that Tory had really picked up his surgical uniform and started putting it on, he was clearly a bit flustered.

“The instrument used in this surgery was borrowed by the Turner family not long ago and has not been returned yet.”

“You may not be able to perform the surgery yourself today.”

The doctor spoke trembling.

“Who borrowed it? “Tory’s hands suddenly stopped and his anger also rose.

“The Turner family.”

The doctor lowered his head and dared not go to see Tory.

Because the Spears family had regulations, in order to better avoid emergency situations, any instruments on this car cannot be borrowed without authorization.

But the Turner family had given too much money.

He couldn't resist the temptation for a moment, so he mysteriously borrowed the instrument.

He thought there wouldn't be an emergency, but who would have thought of something like this suddenly happening! Just caught him off guard.

“Who allowed you to lend it out! Don't you understand the rules of the Spears family?”

Tory's face was extremely ugly, full of anger, as if he wished to kick the doctor out of the car.

The doctor lowered his head, sweat covering his entire forehead, and could only keep apologizing, “I was wrong! I was wrong! I was wrong.”

It seemed that Tory was too angry, and he only felt his eyes turn black and his mind buzzing.

The doctor saw that Tory had not spoken, so he secretly looked up and squinted at him.

“Why don't you go to the central hospital?”

“It's very close to the central hospital here, and it's only a few minutes trip.”

Having worked at the Spears family for so long, he had already known this girl lying in the hospital bed.

She was the only daughter of the Spears family.

She couldn't be more precious.

If the only daughter of the Spears family really died here today, his life would definitely not be enough to compensate!

"And the doctors at the central hospital are actually quite professional in this area. You can take the lady there first."

The doctor's voice was weak.

Julian originally planned to get off the car directly to make room for Tory's surgery.

But when he heard the doctor's words, he interrupted.

"I know the way and can drive."

"Natalie is my wife, and I will definitely not harm her."

The man's tone was unusually firm.

Tory seemed to have been passively shaken, or there was really no other way.

He sighed.

"Then go to the central hospital."

Lara was standing outside the car. She was just about to make a decision to surrender, but suddenly two doctors came out of the car.

Get Bott

They quickly brought the things outside the door into the car, and she immediately heard the car's engine start, as if it was about to leave immediately.

Lara was a bit stunned.

What's going on? Were they leaving now?

Standing not far away, Niki kept her gaze fixed on the car, and she clearly noticed that it had already started.

Niki's face suddenly changed.

Julian was still in the car!

Where was he going?

Did he want to leave her alone in this unfamiliar communication for the sake of Natalie?

She felt like her lungs were about to explode.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 284 Mr. Graham, who silently worked

Seeing that the car was about to start, Niki couldn't think much. She quickly trotted over.

Although she ran very fast and arrived at the place before the car started, she was stopped by a group of bodyguards in front of the car.

The bodyguard didn't say a word, but quietly looked at Niki.

Although they didn't say a word, they revealed a strong sense of killing, making people feel that as long as they took a slight step forward, they would definitely be mercilessly killed.

Niki's body trembled unconsciously, and she was a bit scared away.

But the thought of Julian still being entangled by the little demon of Natalie inside made her heart feel as uncomfortable as scratching her liver with a hundred claws.

She couldn't just give up easily.

Niki silently encouraged herself in her heart. Anyway, in broad daylight, the Spears family would definitely not be able to directly attack her.

She stiffened her head and tried to enter, but was suddenly stared at by the guard's majestic and fierce gaze, and then retreated back.

Seeing that the car was about to leave, Niki was extremely anxious and -turned to look at Lara.

She saw Lara just standing there in a daze, with a slightly awkward expression and a feeling of confusion, as if she had not yet figured out the situation.

Seeing Lara's appearance, Niki cursed her as a waste in her heart.

She's really useless.

Everyone was leaving now, why was she still waiting here?

Like a silly goose.

There's really no other choice, Niki could only open her mouth and remind, "Sister, what are you thinking of?"

“The car is about to leave. What are you going to do?”

“If it weren’t for the bodyguard stopping me, I would have rushed up long ago.”

Lara shook his head and said, “I don’t know what to do.”

Due to Natalie’s urgent situation, the car drove extremely fast.

Almost in the blink of an eye, the car was completely invisible.

There was only a string of car exhaust and ground lime particles carried by the wheels rushing towards us from all directions.

Niki was choked to death, so she could only step back in succession to avoid getting her expensive dress stained with dust.

Although she had deliberately conceded, after the dust had extinguished, she still achieved a disheveled face.

Damn it!

Niki raised her hand and touched her hair, which was stained with many small particles. When she touched her face again, she felt that her skin had become quite rough.

How should she return to the exchange meeting in the future with her current situation.

Julian’s car was driving extremely fast.

The surrounding scenery changed rapidly with the speed of the car, and the wind and rain rub against the glass, with a hint of turbulence.

It was originally an ordinary car filled with medical equipment, but it was forced to be driven with a racing sensation.

Even the turning speed was extremely fast, and the three doctors sitting inside were swayed and had to grab the armrest next to them to barely sit firmly.

“Too fast.”

“Dr. Spears, the instruments in this car can’t withstand such turmoil.”

The man tried his best to maintain balance while speaking to Tory.

His little heart kept pounding, and he was scared by the speed of the car.

He had never ridden such a fast car since he was young, and at this level of speed, there was a feeling that something would happen the next second.

On the other side, Tory, for the first time, did not condemn Julian.

He silently gripped the hospital bed with one hand to ensure that Natalie did not feel any turbulence.

However, it was amazing that the front of the car was very bumpy, but the place where the hospital bed was located was not very bumpy, as if deliberately controlled.

This kid didn’t look very reliable, at least his driving skills were quite good.

“The big instrument behind me was specifically instructed by the old master, so I dare not break it.”

The doctor tried using him to slow down the car, even if it was only a little slower.

Tory remained unmoved.

wwwwww

He just raised his eyes slightly, his tone not good, “Can this instrument compare to her?”

“Even if all the instruments in this car were scrapped, they wouldn’t be as good as her.”

“If you don’t want to sit, you can get off now.”

After saying this, the doctor immediately remained silent.

He silently lowered his head and let the car jolt him back and forth.

In less than ten minutes, Julian drove his car to the entrance of the central hospital.

His driving skills were very good. Although the car was fast, it parked - smoothly.

Julian unfastened his seat belt and then opened the back door of the car to assist the three doctors in pushing out the hospital bed together.

Ret Bhilant Th

“Thank you. “Tory, for the first time, saved face and said thank you.

Julian nodded in response.

The road to the hospital was a bit bumpy, and Julian walked ahead, silently sweeping away the larger stones on the ground with his head lowered.

They finally got into the hospital, but the time coincided with the peak of the hospital, and the entire hospital was bustling with people.

There were various people, all of them mixing together to make the road impassable.

“Why are there so many people? How can we get through? “The doctor was completely dumbfounded.

Tory's face was also a bit ugly.

Julian pursed his lips.

Although he didn't say anything, he voluntarily lowered his head and rolled up.

his sleeves, taking the lead in opening up a spacious path for Natalie with his own body.

The hospital bed followed behind him and smoothly entered the VIP passage in the corner.

Mr. Graham had never done this kind of labor himself since he was born.

It's all done by the servants around him

Being both a driver and helper like today, and even responsible for serving as a "human-flesh wall" to pave the way for Natalie.

These were all true for the first time.

Just as they left the VIP passage, several doctors were already waiting at the door.

"Mr. Graham, you are here."

"We have arranged everything, and we have prepared all the top facilities and wards in the hospital for you."

After seeing Julian, they immediately gathered around with a complimentary expression on their faces.

Obviously, their eyes were only on Julian, completely ignoring Tory and the three doctors standing behind him.

After all, doctors from small places were like frogs in a well, only knowing the big shots in their eyes.

For people outside the well, they had no concept in their minds.

Tory was just an ordinary person in their eyes.

Julian didn't even bother to raise his eyes and ignored their flattery.

"The patient is in the back and needs to undergo surgery immediately. Please do so as soon as possible."

"If the surgery is successful, I will pay a lot."

Upon hearing this, the doctors naturally nodded. They immediately summon the nurse to push Natalie's bed into the operating room.

Tory gently pushed out the hospital bed, as if hesitating a bit.

However, the nurse's actions were very ruthless, without giving him any hesitation, and she quickly pulled the hospital bed away.

Tory's hands suddenly emptied, "Hey."

After he reacted, the person had already entered the operating room.

Tory felt as if his 2 operating room.

heart was empty as he slowly sat on the sofa outside the

His face had a complex expression.

His heart was constantly entangled, unsure whether his choice was right or not.

Looking up, he saw Julian leaning lightly against the wall, holding his hands, with a very cold expression. It seems that the person who was just pushed in was a stranger and has nothing to do with him.

This guy was like an ice-cube face, anything that happened in front of him. felt like it hasn't happened at all.

The whole appearance was calm.

Tory's heart was filled with an inexplicable flame, and he frowned.

"Kid."

He spoke to Julian.

-Julian was momentarily taken aback, his eyelashes blinking. After a while, he hesitated and spoke in a very flat tone, "Are you calling me?"

Tory nodded and waved to him, with an elderly demeanor and extremely impolite tone.

Get Boyers

"It's you, come here."

Julian did not move, his thin lips pursed in a straight line with extreme displeasure.

He had better really have something to do.

Seeing Julian still standing still, Tory was really anxious. "You come here!"

The man looked coldly at Tory's anxious expression. He raised his eyebrows lightly, pressed his hand to his lips, and spoke softly, "Shh."

"Natalie is undergoing surgery, don't make any noise."

Tory was stunned for a moment, but he really scared him.

The phone rang and Julian looked down.

The moment he saw the name, his face changed a bit and he quickly walked out to answer the phone.

Tory was still in a daze. It was a long time after the man left that he realized that Julian seemed to be teasing him?

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 285 Companion

Tory reacted and just wanted to educate this boy well, but when he looked up, he realized that Julian had disappeared.

Eh?

The person was just here, why did he suddenly disappear?

Tory glanced left and right, but did not see Julian. With a puzzled mood, he withdrew his eyes.

Just as he lowered my head, his phone suddenly rang.

Tory glanced and realized that the phone was from Adam.

www

His heart jumped and he suddenly realized that he was busy taking Niki to the hospital, almost forgetting to report her safety to Adam.

Maybe it's not safety.

Thinking of this, Tory frowned and glanced at the operating room.

Silently praying in his heart she would surely be in peace.

Tory nervously pressed the connect button.

The anxious voice of Adam on the phone came almost instantly, "How's Niki?

Have you found Niki?"

“I said I wanted to help you search together, right? You’re still blocking me from searching together, what should we do now?”

“Niki is such a good child, how come such a thing happened?”

The more Adam spoke, the more anxious he became, as if trapped in the emotion of losing his granddaughter and unable to get out.

Tory sighed.

“You see, even at such an old age, you can’t hold your breath. Speak slowly, why hurry?”

Adam coughed and spoke even more anxiously, “Can I not be in a hurry? My granddaughter is about to be lost.”

“If I can sit idly by even if I lose my granddaughter, am I still human?”

Tory squeezed out a smile.

Perhaps to ease the atmosphere, the man said something from the past.

“Didn’t you say before that you didn’t care about Niki? What else did you say Niki is best not to go home for a lifetime, doesn’t the Spears family have this granddaughter?”

On the phone, Tory’s slightly teasing voice penetrated the old man’s ear.

“Why are you so concerned about your granddaughter now?”

“Did you change your mind?”

Adam suddenly stopped speaking.

For an instant, the air was a bit quiet.

Tory held his phone and didn’t hear a response for a long time. He was a bit confused. So he held his phone in front of him and glanced at it.

He didn't hang up the phone.

So why was there no sound?

Did what he just said make Dad angry?

Just as Tory thought that he would not speak again, the old man's voice rang up again.

"You kid's abilities are all in your mouth, right?"

"You have the time to say these things, why don't you go find her?"

"If you can't find Niki today, don't go home. Just pretend that the Spears family never had you, and I don't have you son either."

There was a hint of gnashing teeth in Adam's words.

That's really tough.

Tory couldn't help but shake his head, it seemed that he was not as important as one tenth of his granddaughter.

He no longer curved around, hiding the teasing in his eyes while looking up at the operating room.

"Don't worry, I have already found Niki."

The tone tended to be serious.

"You can rest assured to attend the exchange meeting. With so many guests in the lobby, it's not easy for the organizer to handle it. If you attend normally, you can still calm down a bit."

"Did you really find it? "Adam's tone suddenly increased.

Completely ignoring the second half of Tory's sentence.

"Has the person who wants to harm Niki been found? "He always felt that the reason for Niki's disappearance was not ordinary.

Tory had not yet answered, and the next question followed closely.

"Where can you find Niki?"

"Where is Niki now? Has she been scared?"

"Whether she was injured or not, it's better to have the doctor check her."

One question after another, making Tory unable to put in a word.

The old man was still asking various questions, while Tory held up his phone and could only sigh silently in his heart.

In fact, the old man was usually a rather serious and rigid person. After all, he held the highest power in the entire Spears family, and generally speaking, he was full of authority.

But as long as it came to his granddaughter, without knowing why, he would become a garrulous ordinary elderly person.

Like an ordinary grandpa, he chatted about his granddaughter and always tried to be kind to his granddaughter without paying.

Since Niki married the Graham family and completely fell out with the Spears family, Tory had never seen his virtue like this again.

Today's sudden brainstorming problems really brought him back to the past.

"Just focus on giving the lecture and remember that I'm here, so don't worry so much."

Tory answered lightly.

“Shouldn’t she be okay? “The old man still refused to give up.

At this moment, Julian’s figure flashed past Tory and finally stopped in front of the operating room door.

Tory held his phone while glancing up at Julian.

Why did this guy suddenly appear again.

He seemed to have a cigarette in the hand?

Tory didn’t really see it, so he had to squint his eyes and look carefully.

“Are you still listening, kid?”

“Do you dare to ignore my words?”

Before he could see it clearly, the hurried voice of the old man on the phone was deafening, making him tremble with fear and holding his phone far away from him.

The sound was a bit loud.

It was so big that even Julian heard him. He instinctively frowned and turned to look at Tory.

For an instant, Tory was a bit awkward.

Tory’s hand, holding up his phone, stopped in midair, feeling a bit unsure of what to say for a moment.

His elder image was completely destroyed by the old man’s roar.

His elders’ dignity.

He relying solely on this dignity to support Niki.

Tory and Julian's probing gaze collided, and for some reason, Julian's actions and words suddenly appeared in his mind.

The man lightly covered his lips with his fingers, and his voice was frivolous.

"Natalie is undergoing surgery, don't make any noise."

How could he feel even more humiliated.

Tory could only endure embarrassment while pretending to be calm and reluctantly replied, "I'm listening."

"There's something going on here, hang up first."

Without waiting for Adam to finish speaking, Tory forcefully hung up the phone.

He did not say anything about Niki's uncertain life in the operating room.

He didn't want to say it either.

He didn't want the old man to go through such a scary thing at his age.

Julian's tall body stood tall and straight. Seeing Tory hang up the phone, he calmly withdrew his exploratory gaze.

Both of them sat on benches, one on the left and the other on the right.

Chapter 285 Companion

00 01%

"Do you smoke?"

A question suddenly arose.

Tory stared at the cigarette held in Julian's hand with a slightly dissatisfied tone.

“She don’t like smoking people.”

Julian raised his eyebrows and nodded gently to show that he knew.

“Do you still smoke?”

Tory became even more angry.

Although Julian didn’t know why Tory was angry, he still raised his hand holding the cigarette and shook it in front of the man.

“I don’t smoke.”

“I just have the habit of holding cigarettes.”

When Julian was agitated, he unconsciously held a cigarette in his hand.

Watching the slender smoke swirling in his hand, gradually turning into ashes.

The restlessness in the heart would be slightly relieved.

As for this habit, it’s related to one person.

Tory gave Julian a skeptical glance upon hearing this.

He always felt a bit incredulous.

Get Bogen –

But he didn’t say anything more.

Time flies, and the sky outside was completely dark.

How long did the lights in the operating room stay on, and Julian and Tory sat on the benches outside for.

Tory didn’t even dare to go to the bathroom, afraid that Natalie would be pushed out of the operating room when he left.

Niki, who had just completed the surgery, must be very weak. He must personally take over Niki.

As for Julian

Why did he sit in front of the operating room door without moving a step away?

The long eyelashes reflected light, and Julian's eyelashes trembled.

In fact, he didn't know out of what psychology he was, like Tory, guarding the operating room.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 286 Break the principle for her

The atmosphere outside the surgery was always oppressive.

Due to the VIP operating room, this corridor was exceptionally quiet, with only pale walls and hospital beds left

The remaining ones were the iron frames and medical equipment shimmering with blue light, smearing large blocks of cool colored light and shadow in the dazzling light.

The man sat in the cool shade of light, his thin chin furrowed tightly.

In his mind, the woman was lying on the hospital bed, with messy hair and a damp face, as well as the slightly raised lips.

Julian's Adam's apple moved.

-He was a bit anxious.

The inexplicable sensory impact, coupled with the uncertain tension of her life, intertwined together, once plunged Julian into an inexplicable confusion.

Was Natalie going to be okay?

He asked himself in his mind.

He didn't know what kind of psychology he was out of, but the only thing he knew was that he didn't want Natalie to die.

Do not hope extremely.

Tory sat opposite Julian, his palms folded, his fingers crossed, and his mouth kept whispering something.

"God bless." The devout prayer echoed throughout the corridor.

Julian looked up at Tory.

Did doctors also believe in this?

Julian seemed to find it funny. He reluctantly shook his head, then disdainfully pulled up the corner of his mouth and chuckled softly.

He never believed in God.

He didn't believe in Fairy either.

He especially didn't like to see those believers sign of the cross in the chest like they were captured by the soul.

The action of sign of the cross was like taking a sharp knife to peel out the whole heart.

He always felt extremely disgusted when he saw it.

But Tory prayed so devoutly and seriously that he didn't even hear the man's mocking sound.

He always maintained a straight posture, with words in his mouth and an extremely standard posture.

It seemed that God was really standing in front of him.

It seemed that as long as he was devout enough, God would really bless Natalie.

One second, two seconds, three seconds.

Julian's smile gradually stopped.

His disdain just dissipated.

Can the atmosphere of believing in God be contagious?

He didn't know why, but Julian was also a bit shaken in his heart. An absurd idea came into his mind.

If possible, a brief faith in God should be effective, right?

He unexpectedly began to pray softly by a miraculous gesture.

If God really existed, then please bless Natalie.

Let her survive this surgery safely.

As for the reward you bestowed on her, I am willing to pay.

After an unknown amount of time, the lights in the operating room finally went out.

The doctor in a white coat took off the blue mask on his face and slowly walked out of the operating room.

Tory and Julian almost noticed the movement in the operating room at the same time and also stood up at the same time.

The two of them seemed to be struggling, and they all rushed towards the doctor.

“How was the surgery?”

The two of them asked the question in unison.

”

Even they didn’t expect the two of them to ask the same question at the same time. Tory couldn’t help but glance at Julian, with a clear sense of disgust in his eyes.

44

At this point, he’s pretending to care.

How did you treat Niki before?

Julian was too lazy to pay attention to him.

His eyes were fixed on the doctor, not letting go of any movement on his face. “How about the surgery?”

The man in front of him had an expectant expression on his face, and his facial muscles involuntarily tightened.

He hasn’t been so nervous for a long time.

Even when Graham’s company faced bankruptcy, he was not so nervous.

The doctor was not too concerned, he said, “The surgery was very successful. Please rest assured, Mr. Graham.”

“Mr. Graham’s patient, we must have done our best to snatch her from the hands of Death.”

“Wait a moment, the nurse will push the patient into the VIP ward.”

Upon hearing this, Julian’s hanging heart finally let go.

He felt a sense of relief.

“Thank you.” the man took a deep breath and politely but seriously thanked the attending doctor.

The doctor waved his hand repeatedly, “Don’t say that. It’s my honor to serve you, and it’s also an honor for our hospital.”

Julian seemed to have remembered something, and he leaned forward slightly, attached to the doctor’s ear.

“Send me a message to the dean that the contract between the central hospital and the Graham can be directly sent to the office this year.”

Although the words were not obvious, the meaning was very clear.

The doctor’s face lit up instantly.

He almost immediately bent down and made a perfect 90 degree bow to

Julian, “Thank you, Mr. Graham! Thank you, Mr. Graham!”

Julian regained being expressionless.

“So Mr. Graham, I’ll leave first?” Said the doctor with an indescribable excitement on his face.

Julian waved his hand and signaled him to leave.

When Julian finished handling everything and was ready to turn around to see Natalie.

But he found that Tory was tightly grasping Natalie’s hand and following him step by step in the hospital bed.

The nurse pushed as fast as he went.

As if to stick to her.

Julian's eyes seemed to have been pierced by a needle.

The scene before him was a bit dazzling.

Especially the hands of this impolite guy.

How could he just grab it casually? Could he take advantage of women?

So old a person, still thinking of taking advantage of others? Julian let out a cold snort.

Julian inserted his pocket with one hand and bit his back teeth, but without thinking, he quickly walked towards Tory.

"Can you stand to the left?"

Julian's tone was very impolite.

Tory didn't know, so he looked up at the man and said, "Why?"

There was clearly a large gap next to him that could allow him to walk through, without blocking Julian's path.

Why did he have to stand to the left?

"If you want to go, you can rest assured to leave."

The man shook his head.

His lips parted slightly as he spoke, "You're obstructing the nurse. It's not convenient for the nurse to push the cart."

"So please make way."

As soon as the words fell, Julian half leaned over and forcefully squeezed between Tory and the hospital bed, forcefully interrupting the hands that were intertwined.

Tory was a bit stunned.

He looked up incredulously at Julian.

Julian just put one hand in his pocket and nodded slightly towards Natalie's slender palm.

Without that uncle's hand.

It's much more pleasing to the eye.

"You little boy, you're too impolite, right?" Tory, who had a good temper, couldn't help but be angry at the moment.

"Am I impolite? You're still holding onto the little girl's hand."

As Julian spoke, he turned his head to look at him.

"Are you just being polite?"

"You. "Tory didn't know what to say for a moment.

He's Natalie's uncle. Grab her hand, what's wrong?

Did this guy even want to be jealous of her elders?

From his perspective, jealous men tend to have a strong sense of jealousy and vigilance.

As for men who are full of jealousy, it was even more terrifying.

In the future, it's impossible to decide who else to be jealous of. Maybe even Niki's Grandpa!

Now Tory was even more careful about Niki.

He sighed in his heart. It's a lot of suffering to live with such a jealous man.

Why was Niki so pitiful?

Tory thought this way and just wanted to educate Julian, but found out that the man had already taken the hospital bed from the nurse and pushed

Natalie all the way into the VIP room.

That serious appearance really made him look like a good husband.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 287 She is a fool

Julian took the hospital bed from the nurse and carefully pushed Natalie into the VIP ward.

The ward was very large, and due to VIP reasons, the overall decoration was very exquisite, even making it difficult to tell if it was in the ward or a luxury hotel.

Julian grabbed the handle of the bed in his hand and slowly stopped to look around the ward slightly.

Measure carefully from top to bottom, from left to right, without leaving any corner behind.

He was looking for potential safety hazards in this ward.

The Graham had many competitors. Previously, when he was on business trips, he often faced many bad things, so he had to develop such a cautious habit.

After all, this was not at Graham's Hospital, and Julian cannot guarantee whether it was safe here.

What he needed to do was ensure that Natalie was absolutely safe in this ward.

After circling around, Julian felt a little relieved.

While observing the surroundings, he also noticed the decoration of this ward.

Very simple and elegant.

He didn't know why to feel an inexplicable emotion when he saw such decoration in his heart.

The simple and dignified feeling matched Natalie's temperament very well.

She must be very happy living here.

Because everything here was just right, completely in line with her aesthetic.

The man couldn't help but recall the way Natalie stayed at home.

At that time, she always sat by the warm stove in the living room, wearing a white long skirt.

The long skirt was a very plain white color, just like the decoration of this ward.

She sat in a rattan rocking chair, bowing her head and meticulously weaving a blanket, with warm flames within reach.

Natalie always sat in the living room weaving blankets for him, but he used the excuse of complicated company affairs and came back late every day.

How late did he come back? Natalie sat in front of the fire for as long as possible.

Even the flames in the stove were completely extinguished. She seemed to finally understand that he wouldn't come back tonight.

Until then, Natalie would barely stand up and silently return to her room, leaving only a thin and lonely figure behind.

Sometimes, Julian didn't actually come back late, but he just didn't go in and preferred to let Natalie sit alone by the stove.

Because he didn't want to see her.

Julian spent time with her like this.

A person who cherishes time like gold is even willing to waste his most precious time in order not to meet his wife.

This was enough to demonstrate the depth of disgust.

The man sat in his suit and shoes in the car until he saw Natalie walk back to the room alone.

He walked out of the car expressionless and walked into the living room. coldly.

But even though he had already done so, the next morning, there would still be an extra blanket by his bedside.

The blankets were neatly stacked, warm and gentle, just like Natalie's elegant and dignified personality.

He didn't return home at night, but Natalie still showed him endless consideration

At this moment, Julian was thinking about various details of the past, clenching his fists and even wanting to slap himself.

Looking back at that time, when he saw that blanket in the morning, his first.

reaction was boredom, endless boredom.

He didn't understand where that emotion came from.

At that time, he subconsciously felt that Natalie was like this soft and crumbling blanket, tightly glued to him, unable to shake it off no matter how hard it was thrown.

So after a moment of disgust in his heart, he asked the servant to mercilessly throw it into the trash can.

He didn't even want to touch that blanket.

Julian's lips closed in a straight line, feeling endless regret for what he had done before.

How could he do this?

Julian's hands kept shaking and he lowered his head to look at Natalie, who was lying quietly on the hospital bed at the moment. The woman looked particularly thin.

Her arms looked very slender and delicate in the room.

As if by some supernatural means, Julian involuntarily held her slender arm in his palm.

In contrast, Natalie's arms appeared soft and fragile.

The man frowned, his pitch-black pupils indicating his surging emotions at the moment.

Spearsch a slender wrist, when weaving a blanket... must have been very tired, right?

What did she think when she waited for him to return home?

Would she hold a grudge against him for not returning home so late in her heart? Did she feel that her husband was fooling around outside?

After careful consideration, Julian quickly dismissed these two possibilities. She was Natalie.

At that time, she loved him so much that she wouldn't think that way.

Natalie must have been foolishly worried about him at that time, worried that this bastard would have an accident on the way.

Worried that he might encounter an accident and be harmed.

She was always so foolish that she was so kind to someone who didn't love her at all.

Julian closed his eyes a bit irritably, trying to suppress all these remorseful emotions.

But when he calmed down a bit, what he saw when he opened his eyes was what?

Tory had pushed away the hospital bed and was currently holding Natalie in his arms, placing the woman on the bed.

Tory noticed Julian's gaze, but he didn't take it seriously and his movements didn't stop.

Even a bit provocative, he asked, "What are you doing here, kid?"

As soon as he came in, he saw Julian standing in the spot, unsure of what he was thinking.

But this just gave him the opportunity to snatch Niki from this impolite guy.

Julian gritted his teeth and looked at Tory's movements, feeling as if he had been caught by a cat.

The hands were not enough, he held her directly?!

This was too much.

It's really like her husband no longer existed.

"I hope you can have some sense of propriety." Julian gritted his back teeth, striving to maintain a dignified state.

However, in a place that others couldn't see, his hands were tightly clenched into fists, as if he was about to strike out immediately.

Tory ignored him.

He completely ignored Julian's presence and instead calmly beckoned to the nearby nurse.

"Can you show me the data sheet?"

He was also a doctor, so he wanted to directly look at the report form to understand the actual physical condition of Niki in advance.

The nurse was very discerning. She knew who spoke the most effectively here, so she glanced at Julian lightly and found his face very ugly.

So the nurse quickly took back the hand she was about to hand out the data sheet, and then shook her head firmly, "Sorry, I can't give it to you."

The expression on Mr. Graham's face was providence. If he wanted to smile, she would hand out it; If he frowned she would never take action.

Tory's hand was resentfully taken back.

Then the nurse turned to look at Julian and spoke.

“Miss Spears’ anesthetic has not passed yet, and she may not wake up for a while. You may need to take careful care of her, Mr. Graham.”

She had been a nurse for so many years and had already developed her skills for this. She knew what she should say in this situation to make Mr. Graham. happy.

Sure enough, Julian’s fists stretched out and he nodded slightly, “Okay, you go get busy.”

The nurse lowered her head and left.

The ward fell silent.

Tory stood in front of the hospital bed, kneading the quilt for Natalie, and then wiping Natalie’s face with a towel. The whole person was very busy.

Julian silently watched all of this, feeling very unhappy.

After looking for a long time again and discovering that Tory showed no signs of stopping, Julian completely collapsed..

He was a doctor from the Spears family and had extensive background.

But Julian still couldn’t bear this person’s intimate behavior towards Natalie.

He furrowed his brow and strode towards Tory.

Since this impolite elder was unwilling to leave, he could only ask him to get out.

Even if it offended the Spears family, it doesn’t matter.

He couldn’t think so much.

As long as Tory kept swaying next to Natalie, he couldn't calm down.

This was his wife, and no other men were allowed to touch her, especially in front of him.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 288 Make an offer and leave her

Without any hesitation, Julian tightly pursed his lips and walked towards Tory.

He even walked faster and faster, wishing that he could throw Tory out immediately.

Just when he walked up behind Tory and was about to pull the man straight away and even already stretched out his hand, his phone rang.

The phone rang quickly, and the man's movements were interrupted.

At this moment, Tory also heard it, and he turned his head. As soon as he turned his head, he found Julian standing behind him.

He was startled and then took a step back in disgust to maintain a certain distance from the man.

Did this guy walk silently?

How did it feel sneaky.

Tory touched his chest and looked at Julian with lingering fear.

Two people looked at each other.

Julian frowned subconsciously, feeling a bit irritable.

Who called him at this critical moment?

Didn't he just solve everything about the company?

But as the bell rang, it became more urgent, and he couldn't help but put down his hand and turned to pick up the phone in his pocket.

"Nana has settled down, won't you leave?" Tory tilted his eyes to look at the man.

Julian's hand holding his phone suddenly stopped.

As if he had heard something funny, he pointed up at himself with an incredulous expression, "Are you talking about me?"

"Should I leave?"

Tory didn't feel anything wrong, and he nodded.

"Yes, who else should leave?"

Anyway, as her uncle, he won't leave.

!

Nana was lying alone in the hospital bed, and as her uncle, he won't leave her alone.

The thought of his old man still waiting at the communication meeting made him even more unable to leave.

If he left, his father will scold him!

After all, in his father's heart, he was not as important as Nana. He must ensure the safety of Nana.

Julian smiled more brightly, as if he had heard something extremely funny.

How could this inexplicable doctor let him go?

He was Natalie's husband. Why should he leave?

He didn't even ask Tory leave. But Tory let him go?

Julian laughed angrily and said, "Why am I leaving?"

"If someone has to leave, it should be you, okay?"

How did Natalie get to know such a person? I really need to tell her how to make friends in the future.

Don't be friends with everyone.

+

Don't think this person is a good man just because he is a doctor from the Spears family. In his opinion, this guy was simply a shameless person.

He had seen many men like Tory who liked to take advantage of women.

Especially for men at this age. They took advantage of girls without any regard for their own image.

Julian wouldn't let him do that on anyone, let alone on Nana, who was still his own wife.

However, if it happened before, Julian might hinder Tory's identity and be a bit more tolerant towards him.

But now, somehow Julian couldn't tolerate Tory's behavior for a second.

He hoped that Tory can leave as far as possible, and it's best never to appear by Natalie's side.

Tory didn't know why Julian suddenly laughed. He scratched his head and said, "I'm not leaving, I'm staying here to take care of Nana. "

“If I leave, who else can take care of Nana?” Without a doubt, no one can.

After saying this, it seemed as if something suddenly came to his mind, and the man added another sentence.

“You contacted this hospital and saved Nana’s life today...” Tory paused for a moment.

“Thank you on behalf of Nana. ”

“After the situation of Nana stabilizes slightly, I will immediately transfer to other hospital. ”

He didn’t want to owe others any favors.

He didn’t want to let Nana owe the favor of Julian.

If Julian used this favor as a reason to forcibly keep Nana by his side.....

Tory felt that with Julian’s virtue, he was very likely to do such a thing, so he wouldn’t give him this opportunity.

The phone was still ringing, as if as long as Julian didn’t answer, the phone will continue to ring.

Julian hung it up but it rang again.

Julian was restless and raised his eyebrows, “Transferring to another hospital?”

“That’s right, Nana requires a better environment.”

Julian’s eyes blinked, as if he didn’t understand.

A better environment?

Julian looked up and down at this ward and found that it was so exquisite.

Did he still want a better environment?

He gave a sneer.

This was clearly an excuse.

This hospital in Chicago was a private hospital with first-class facilities nationwide, let alone they stayed in a VIP ward.

Julian couldn't think of a better room than this.

Tory said he wanted to give Nana a better environment, but in his opinion, it was just an excuse.

"As for the cost of this surgery and hospitalization, you can directly tell me, and the Spears family will pay you ten times the price."

"Consider it as repay your favor."

Tory's words were clear and sharp, with a feeling of being resolute.

"Ten times?" Julian repeated.

Tory smiled and said, "Why, do you feel dissatisfied?"

"If you're not satisfied, twenty times is an option."

The last thing the Spears family needed was money.

The second thing was herbs.

He can still afford this money.

www

Upon hearing Tory's shameless words, Julian couldn't help but raise his eyebrows coldly.

Was Tory solving problems with money?

Julian used to give money to others, but today was the first time someone else gave money to him.

It's really interesting.

Tory saw that Julian didn't speak and just smiled, so he thought Julian had agreed to this amount.

"Deal. Twenty times, and we won't owe you anything."

was

Since Julian was willing to accept this money, it indicated that money was still quite important to him.

After all, as a businessman, he will make the choice that was most advantageous to him.

Thinking like this, a thought suddenly came to Tory's mind.

He cleared his throat and said, "I have one more thing I want to discuss with you."

"The Spears family can offer you amount of money, as long as you leave Nana."

A hint of shock flashed on Julian's face, thinking he had heard wrong.

"What did you say?" The man couldn't believe it.

Did he really mean it?

Tory said it again, and this time he spoke word by word very clearly.

"You can make an offer that is enough to make you divorce Nana. "

"If you don't want money, you can ask for something else. As long as it's not too much, the Spears family can satisfy you.”

Julian heard clearly this time.

He completely heard it.

But he was still shocked.

After the shock, a feeling of humiliation swept over his heart.

For him as a man, this was an immense insult, an insult to his personality.

Julian gritted his teeth and felt angry, “Do I lack that money?”

He never imagined that this kind of drama would happen to him.

How could the scene of a wicked mother-in-law driving away her daughter-in-law in TV dramas happen to him?

It’s ridiculous, it’s really ridiculous.

How could he be insulted like this as the president of Graham’s company?

Tory didn’t feel anything.

“Just make an offer, and the Spears family will satisfy you.”

Tory was clear about how Julian treated Nana before.

He didn’t love Nana at all.

Since he didn’t love Nana, it doesn’t matter whether he gets divorced or not.

In Tory’s eyes, the reason why Julian subconsciously refused just now was because the price was not high enough.

As long as the bait was large enough, no fish will not bite.

Moreover, Julian was still a self-interested businessman, and he will definitely make suitable choices that were beneficial to himself.

Getting a divorce while also receiving a large amount of benefits was a steady and profitable business.

Julian's face turned slightly red after hearing these words, his teeth clenched tightly, and he was about to break down.

He didn't even know whether Tory was crazy or himself.

How else would someone say such crazy things to him?

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 289 Make a choice

"How's it going? Have you considered it yet?"

Tory lowered his head and carefully wiped Natalie's face with a towel, asking without turning his head.

He said it simply, as if confirming that Julian would agree.

After all, Julian just agreed to offset this favor with 20 times the hospitalization and surgical expenses.

Since he can agree to the previous request, there was no essential difference.

between this sincere request and the previous one.

It's just buying freedom for Nana with money.

As a businessman, Julian must understand that this was a good deal.

But what surprised Tory was that there was only dead silence.

In the vast VIP ward, only the small ticking sound of instruments remained.

Tory instinctively frowned, and he looked up at Julian, realizing that the man.

was now in a stagnant condition.

He was both profound and terrifying.

Tory slowed down wiping and he raised his eyebrows slightly. “Why isn’t Mr. Graham speaking?”

Was it because the conditions he offered were not high enough?

“Mr. Graham, if you feel that the conditions provided by the Spears family are not good, as I just said, you can make an offer.

As long as it’s not too much, the Spears family can meet you.”

Tory ignored Julian’s terrifying expression and continued to maintain a confident state.

Tory thought, Julian is so good at pretending.

Pretending to be unwilling, but actually he really wants it?

After all, in this world, there’s no one without desire?

And every desire is satisfied by money.

“Mr. Graham, have you considered it well? After all, opportunities don’t wait.”

Tory deliberately prolonged his tone.

“If you accept the gift from the Spears family, the Graham family will rise by more than one level.

And the magnitude of this increase, solely based on your strength, may not be achievable within five years.”

“Are you sure you won’t consider such a good opportunity?”

Tory asked in a low voice, skillfully and persuasively.

This statement was like a magic spell, constantly hypnotizing the simple fish. in the water, luring them to the bait.

And Julian was the fish in the water.

However, things did not go as Tory had hoped.

Julian was indeed a fish, but he was not simple, let alone foolishly hooked.

The man stood opposite Tory, his eyes narrowed tightly into a straight line, and he looked somewhat gloomy and sharp.

“I won’t accept it. You don’t have to waste your words.”

Get Bogd

Tory immediately noticed the difference in Julian’s words.

He didn’t even show his respects anymore.

It’s really impolite.

“My patience is limited. Don’t touch my bottom line again and again.” Julian continued with a gloomy face.

The tone of this statement was extremely low.

“Give you two choices, either leave here immediately or shut up now.”

Julian was trying to maintain a trace of rationality.

If he couldn’t control it, he was sure he would take action against this impolite man.

But he also had principles when hitting people.

At first glance, this man was powerless. If he hit him, it looked like he’s bullying the weak.

It's so boring.

But without doing anything, this man kept testing his bottom line, which was really annoying.

It's difficult to make a choice.

After Julian finished speaking, his eyes were fixed on Tory with a fierce expression on his face, and a burning gaze flashed in his pupils.

Somehow, Tory felt a bit scared when he was looked at like this.

However, the fear only existed for an instant, and Tory quickly shook his head to shake away all the fear in his mind

Julian was just a kid. Tory was old and had rich experience.

Would he still be afraid of Julian?

He ignored Julian's words and continued, "Did Mr. Graham not accept it?"

This was a great opportunity for Nana to leave this scumbag, and he must seize it for Nana.

Even discerning people can see that Nana was completely at a disadvantage in this relationship.

This marriage was entirely dominated by Julian, which was unhealthy.

Nana was young and didn't understand. Can he still not understand it?

He must let Nana divorce.

This was all for the sake of Nana.

When Tory saw Julian not speaking up, he changed his expression and said,

"How about giving Mr. Graham a few more days? Can you think about it?"

"This opportunity is really rare. I don't want you to miss it."

Still, only silence responded to him.

Tory couldn't figure it out.

A divorce agreement for a chance to rise to the top was a sure bet!

Why can't Julian realize it?

He continued to elevate the conditions.

"Even if you ask the Spears family to buy the entire Chicago and give it to the Graham family, it's no problem! The Spears family will agree to you!"

Tory secretly speculated in his heart that this was Julian's means of negotiation, and he must have wanted to constantly increase the price by pretending not to agree.

Good, his goal had been achieved.

He did indeed continuously increase prices due to Julian's silence.

If this was Julian's plan, then he had succeeded.

Because it didn't matter how much the price is, as long as it's for Nana, everything can be negotiated.

But the higher Tory's conditions were raised, the uglier Julian's face became.

Because in the eyes of men, this was a great insult to him.

Was Julian someone who will compromise for money?

Julian gritted his teeth, trying to suppress his anger and barely squeezed words out of his mouth.

"I just gave you a chance, but you still challenge my bottom line."

"I'm not a good person."

Tory raised his eyes after hearing it.

“Since you choose not to shut up, don’t blame me for being impolite.”

A hint of doubt flashed on Tory’s face, “What are you doing?”

Julian ignored him, but instead stepped forward and slowly walked towards Tory’s direction step by step.

While walking, he tightly clenched his fist.

The atmosphere suddenly became tense.

Tory also noticed the man’s tightly clenched fist, and he was a bit flustered.

“Can you possibly hit me?”

He just gave Julian a suggestion. Why did he start hitting people?

Was his temper so irritable?

According to Julian’s personality, had Nana been beaten by Julian before?

As long as something went against a man’s wishes, he will beat hard.....

As soon as this idea came out, Tory was startled by himself.

But the clenched fist of Julian in front of him forced him to admit it.

Julian had walked to Tory and even stretched out his hand.

Out of instinct, Tory closed his eyes tightly.

The familiar bell rang again.

At this critical moment, his phone rang.

The man stopped.

Julian was extremely irritable. He impatiently picked up his phone with one hand, and without even looking at the caller, he pressed the answer button directly.

“Julian... where are you? The exchange meeting has ended, but you left me here alone. Niki doesn't know what to do.....”

“Niki is so scared.”

The soft voice of the phone came.

Get Bogus

Accompanied by it were sobs.

Julian's face suddenly changed.

He held his phone with a stiff expression while taking a deep look at Tory, as if making a decision.

The next second, the man turned around with his phone and left.

“You wait for me in place, I'll go pick you up now.”

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 290 Petition

The man clenched his phone in his hand and finally glanced at Tory before turning his head and leaving.

There were only the sound of leather shoes rubbing against the floor.

Tory was a bit stunned. He blinked and remembered the way Julian looked at him just now.

What did it mean? Why did Julian look at him like that?

It's quite scary.

Tory's accelerating heart finally slowed down. He silently lifted his sleeve, and as expected, he had goosebumps.

Somehow, although Julian was young, his sharp eyes just now were really terrifying.

It had a strong sense of oppression.

Even Tory, who has experienced many things, had never had such a look in his eyes.

How could he have such sharp eyes?

Tory reached out and touched his arm, looking thoughtful.

At this moment, there was a knock outside the door, and Tory regained consciousness.

He suppressed his strange feeling and said, "Please come in.

H

The nurse walked in with a small cart and said, "Hello, I'll change Miss Spears' medication."

Tory gazed on the nurse's cart and scanned all the medication on it from left to right.

From his perspective, these were all relatively low-grade drugs.

If these medicines were used for Nana.....

Tory silently rejected in his heart.

"No need, you can take out the medicine."

"I can handle the change myself."

The nurse seemed a bit embarrassed when she heard this, "Mr. Graham just said... we must take good care of Miss Spears. "

Tory nodded without feeling any problem, “I’m just taking care of Miss Spears.”

The nurse looked at him with a skeptical expression, as if on guard.

Just now, Mr. Graham specifically instructed to watch out the man inside.

Don’t let him tamper with Miss Spears.

She visually inspected the entire room and combined it with Mr. Graham’s overall statement, it should be this man.

“Sorry, it would be better if I personally changed Miss Spears’ dressing.”

The nurse politely refused Tory.

She wanted to prohibit this man from molesting anyone.

Tory saw the nurse so determined, but he didn’t say anything more.

“You can change the dressing. Use other medications, don’t use the medication in your hand.”

“The medicine in your hand is not suitable for Nana.”

After saying this, Tory waved to the doctor outside the door and said,

“You go to the car to get some medicine and change it for Nana. I don’t have to tell you what medicine to use, right?”

The doctor was stunned outside. Upon hearing the sound, he immediately stood up straight and nodded quickly, “Okay, Dr. Spears, I’ll go get it now.

The man disappeared without a trace.

The nurse stood still, pondering over Tory’s words... not suitable?

The medicine in her hand was specially instructed by Mr. Graham.

They were all the best medicine from the hospital.

This man actually said it's not suitable?

This medicine was so expensive that most people can't afford it at all.

If it weren't for Mr. Graham, the hospital wouldn't have taken it out for this young lady to use.

This guy wasn't grateful at all.

The nurse silently rolled her eyes as she thought.

She was so blatantly that it was difficult for Tory not to see it.

"You... you..."

Tory was a bit stunned, as if he didn't expect the nurse to roll her eyes in front of him.

He looked incredulous and raised his hand to touch his nose, trying to calm himself down.

Why did all people outside New York are so impolite?

The impolite Julian just left, and now there's another one.

His understanding was refreshed.

The nurse took down Natalie's drops and then took out the medicine bag from the car.

She did it smoothly, completely disregarding Tory's request just now.

Tory stood aside, very speechless.

But he couldn't interrupt the nurse's movements.

Because this was a very impolite behavior. His cultivation did not allow him. to do so.

Fortunately, the doctor quickly brought in the medicine and said, “Dr. Spears, the medicine is here!”

Tory took it over and then threw it to the nurse.

The nurse instinctively caught it.

“Use this medicine for Nana. If you’re not sure, you can ask the attending doctor to see the ingredients.”

Tory managed to maintain a gentle tone, but his voice was a bit stiff.

The nurse lowered her head to look at the medicine in her arms.

She didn’t carefully look at the specific ingredients, but she could see the clear words on the medicine clearly.

The Spears family.

It was so obvious.

Who wouldn’t recognize this medicine after seeing the title?

The nurse’s pupils dilated, and her hand holding the medicine was already shaking a bit.

This should be... fake, right?

It’s definitely not true, was it?

How could Spears family’s medicine possibly appear in small places like Chicago?

In such a small place as Chicago... not to mention the medicine of the Spears family, even the medicine of any family in New York cannot appear.

What's the matter?"

Tory saw the nurse frozen in place and her hand stopped moving. He was a bit confused and lowered his head to ask.

"You don't know how to use this medicine?"

"I can teach you."

www

The nurse quickly regained consciousness and looked up at Tory.

Tory's tone was very gentle at the moment, and his attitude was also very good...

Although he looked old, he seemed to be well-educated.

At the thought of rolling her eyes at him just now, the nurse was extremely embarrassed.

It's over.

What did I just do.

"The drip is about to be over, "Tory couldn't help but remind the nurse who still didn't move.

"Sorry, I'll change it immediately."

4

The nurse changed into a gentle smile and her tone softened a lot, showing a respectful attitude.

The speed of attitude changing greatly shocked Tory.

But before he could recover, there was a commotion outside the door.

Adam walked at the front, followed by a group of bodyguards. The bodyguards in black suits immediately surrounded the entire ward.

A sense of oppression.

It seemed to be an extremely important occasion.

The nurse was frightened by this scene and almost couldn't hold the needle firmly in her hand.

"Dad, why are you here?"

Tory quickly stepped forward to welcome him.

The man smiled mildly on the surface, but in his heart, he felt a twinge of suspicion.

He clearly didn't tell him about the accident that happened to Nana.

How could the old man find this place directly?

"Can't I come?"

Adam's tone was not good. He didn't even look at Tory, so he walked straight towards Natalie lying on the hospital bed,

"What's wrong with Nana? Is it serious?"

Tory quickly shook his head and said, "It's okay. After the anesthesia, it should be okay. Dad, don't worry too much."

If he told the old man about the illness of Nana, he will definitely be punished.

Adam snorted coldly, "Can I not worry?"

"I even learn the incident and hospitalization of Nana from someone else."

"You are useless, son."

Tory quickly nodded repeatedly, "You are right. It's all my fault."

The first principle to get along with Adam was not to provoke him. You must agree to him on everything.

Otherwise, the consequences will be very serious.

Of course, this principle applied to the people, except for Nana.

Adam spoiled her so much.

"After Nana wakes up, I plan to transfer her directly to our family hospital.

What do you think?" Tory asked.

"Okay, I don't think it's very good here either..." said Adam, agreeing.

Get Borus

This hospital bed looked hard, the windows were not big enough, and the lighting was not good.

It's definitely not comfortable for Nana living here.

The nurse next to them listened as she changed dressing. The more she listened, the more fearful she became.

Was this... this... this group of people from the Spears family?!

She felt her legs start to tremble, and even couldn't stand steadily.

As a nurse, how could she even see the Spears family? It's beyond her ability.

"When will Nana wake up?" Adam noticed the shivering nurse next to him.

"Two or three...hours..." The nurse can't speak calmly.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By