

After the Divorce CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover

By Madison King Chapter 301

Chapter 301 Welcome home!

The car had been parked at the door for a long time, but Natalie was not ready to open.

the door.

Usually, people would get impatient.

But Tory just sat nearby and looked at Natalie patiently.

His eyes were warm and kind like an elder.

He didn't want to push Natalie.

He knew that she needed to prepared herself, so he just waited to show his respect.

During this period, several servants had come over, trying to open the door to welcome.

Noticing that, Tory stopped them in the car by raising the hand and gave a sign to them to let them leave in case that they bothered Natalie.

Natalie who sat on the seat, kept breathing to adjust, and felt she was alright soon.

She knew she had to do that.

She knew she would come back in the end, so she decided to be brave.

She told herself in the heart.

After a moment, she finally made up her mind and spoke softly as she opened the door, "Uncle, let's go."

Okay, "said Tory with a hint of relief on his face.

He knew that Natalie would get over it.

Natalie got out of the car, and followed by Tory closely. The gate was so glamorous, and there was a plaque made by expensive wood to show the nobility of this family.

The style was generous and elegant.

The lights on both sides of the gate were bright, as if they were welcoming Natalie.

Before Natalie came in, she could feel her complex emotion at the gate, and everything familiar showed up one by one.

She knew them.

What happened in the childhood began to show up in her mind...

Her tenderness and weakness crushed out... since she saw this familiar house.

She wanted to cry.

Three years had passed... she finally returned home.

"What's the matter?" asked Tory as he noticed the pause of Natalie.

Natalie tried her best to suppress her emotion and said, "It's okay

The servants at the door were quite excited after seeing who had come clearly.

The gate was opened.

Before Natalie stepped into another foot, she was shocked by what she saw.

In the hallway, there was a row of servants, some were familiar, some not. And all of them bended and said at the same time as Natalie opened the door, "Welcome home, lady."

That made Natalie think she was the boss of a gang.

Natalie smiled slightly.

She was not nervous at all because of that.

Who came up with the idea?

In this century... that was really embarrassed for her.

Without noticing that, Tory even showed off with a smile, "How about that? Do you feel the warmth? We are welcome Natalie..."

Natalie kept smiling to pretend.

But in her heart, she was really shocked by the awkward arrangement.

Get Boys

Without saying anything, Natalie moved quickly to leave this place.

"Why did you do that? Wait me..."

Natalie walked faster and faster.

There was a long corridor with many winding paths on both sides and there was a white wall built on the water at the end of the corridor.

As she walked, she almost felt that she was lost.

It seemed that this house was renovated recently, which made this place strange but familiar.

Natali continued to move forward based on her intuition.

As she came to the white wall on the water, and saw the wave- like design on the top of the wall made by black bricks.

That was the end.

Natalie awkwardly touched her head and hesitated as she stood in front of the wall.

She had to wait her uncle.

But he didn't show up after waiting for a long time.

"Have you forgotten the way?" said someone in a kind voice suddenly.

Natalie turned around.

There was a middle-aged man who wore a black gown and big pants in front of her.

Although old, but there was not gray hair in his head.

Natalie said with bright eyes after recognizing, "Butler!"

Natalie said with obvious joy and shining eyes, "Long time no see. I miss you so much."

She didn't expect that this butler would be the first familiar one she met.

Butler smiled and said as he touched his beard, "I miss you too"

Get Boys

He observed Natalie as if she was the granddaughter of him in a gentle way.

"You are more beautiful, lady!" exclaimed the man sincerely.

"But thinner..." muttered the butler to himself.

This butler thought of something as he said, and patted at his head to blame himself.

He quickly bent down slightly and pointed towards one direction and said, "Miss, I will lead you to your grandfather. This way."

“He has been waiting for you.”

“Grandpa... waiting for me?” said Natalie with doubt.

She followed the butler to pass through the wall and walked through a wider corridor.

After walking for a long time, they arrive at one red gate and they could hear the sound of piano and song.

Natalie slowly walked in.

Julian got colder after leaving the hospital.

The look of Julian was kind of terrified, as if he was so dangerous.

Niki welcomed Julian and sent the breakfast made by herself to Julian.

His answer was so indifferent.

That froze Niki, and she had no choice but to take back it.

In fact, she was pretend that she was asleep when Julian left in the early morning.

Niki knew where he had gone.

To protect her pride, she had to pretend and had to make breakfast as she tried her best to suppress all her hatred.

She just wanted to see the smile of Julian.

Get Blogs

But she didn't expect that Julian was not willing to such a simple thing at all.

The world was quiet again after that.

They didn't talk to each other and the atmosphere was so awkward.

More specific, Niki was the only one who got mad.

Julian locked himself in the balcony the whole day and took nothing.

That made it impossible for Niki to do anything.

She just looked at the back of this man helplessly.

She could not figure out the reason for his loneliness... and the gloomy emotion.

Was he missing Natalie?

But he had seen Natalie this morning....

Niki could not understand.

The gloomy atmosphere was changed when someone called.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 302 The desire to check his phone

Niki held a wine glass and looked at Julian's back with a distracted gaze. The mellow wine kept shaking gently, making a delicate sound.

She looked at Julian while thinking whether she should take the initiative to comfort him.

She was in a dilemma.

One of the men said, "Julian secretly went to see Natalie this morning... It's very serious.

The point was that he secretly met another woman!"

This meant that not only did his "heart" go on Natalie, but also his "body".

Julian's sour expression was all due to Natalie... that shameless woman!

Niki felt badly sick.

She could get over anything that Julian did to Natalie before, except this one.

It made her feel so nauseous.

She couldn't bear it.

Her resentment partly came from her jealousy towards Natalie, partly from disgust.

Julian had already done this, why should she even comfort him?!

Julian didn't care about her feelings at all. He just sat on the balcony all day for other women... However, Niki comforted him. Niki found herself cheap.

Since it was Natalie who caused the harm, she should not try to fix it. She didn't want to be the one that always bowed her head.

Niki raised her neck and drank everything from the glass in one gulp.

The wine flowed down the tube and had a somewhat bitter taste, just like her mood.

Niki picked up the bottle and glanced at the body, which was an expensive bottle of red -wine.

Upon seeing the high price of this wine, Niki couldn't help but pour two more glasses. Indeed, she was sad. But she couldn't miss the chance to take the advantage.

She kept drinking, looking sullen.

Det Bo

But another little person in her heart was talking at this moment: "Julian had been enchanted by the bitch. If you don't fight for it, you will never have a chance again!"

"Do you want to see Natalie continue to be arrogant? If you don't comfort Julian today, we'll have to wait and see Natalie return to the Graham family tomorrow!"

"At that time, you won't be able to be Mrs. Graham! You will be cruelly trampled underfoot by Natalie!

Upon hearing this, Niki was frightened.

4

She raised her hand to rub her skinny arm. She didn't want to be in that case.

She wanted to trample Natalie under her feet.

Obviously, the hatred towards Natalie outweighed her self-esteem. Niki did not hesitate.

to choose the latter.

She braced herself to comfort Julian into being happy.

At this moment, the phone bell suddenly rang, and her attention was diverted. She glanced around to find the source of the sound.

Finally, she found a vibrating phone on the table...

Niki walked slowly towards her phone and only realized that it was actually Julian's.

She turned to look at the man on the balcony... He left his phone here?

There was no doubt that there were many secrets of the Graham Group in the man's phone.

Did this mean that... Julian subconsciously did not set up defenses against her?

After all, he just put his phone here and was not afraid his phone to be seen by her... Did it mean that he believe in her?

Niki couldn't help comforting herself in this way.

The phone kept ringing, but Niki lowered her head and leaned over to see that the screen was very bright. The phone was from Julian's grandpa.

Her heart throbbed.

That old man??

Shouldn't he still lie in the hospital bed? How could he call?!

This was not reasonable!

Had he already woken up? As soon as this idea came out, Niki felt a shiver all over her, and a sense of fear surged up in her heart.

If she had already woken up... Niki's eyelashes flickered, and infinite possibilities surged through her mind.

Among these countless possibilities, the only thing that could be confirmed was that his waking up did her no good.

Niki stared at the screen. Her fingers clenched into fists, and she forced herself to calm.

down.

She hesitated to answer this call for Julian.

Niki couldn't make up her mind. She was really afraid that the old man's voice would.

sound... She would be scared to death.

Her hand clenched into a fist, then released. It repeated again and again. The moment she touched the phone, she recoiled, hesitant to answer this call.

She didn't know how long the phone ringtone had been ringing before it ceased.

Niki's fingers finally stretched out, and she bent down to gasp for breath as if she had come back to life.

She slowly walked towards the phone and silently held it.

The moment she got it, her thoughts suddenly drifted and she wanted to check the phone.

In fact, she had never had the idea before because she trusted Julian, trusted his character, and felt that he would definitely not do anything to disappoint her.

But today... Julian really let her down.

The pent-up curiosity and desire surged at this moment. She wanted to see what was on the man's phone.

Without hesitation, she picked up the phone, pressed a string of passwords without hesitation, and quietly wait for the phone to unlock.

She entered her own birthday.

It was incorrect.

Niki's eyes widened. She felt a bit unbelievable.

*

The password was incorrect? No way! Did she accidentally make a mistake just now?

Niki didn't give up and typed the password again. The password was still incorrect.

Now, Niki froze.

The password she just entered was that a few years ago when she was with Julian, he told her personally.

Not only that, he also personally guaranteed that he would never change the password.

He would use her birthday as a lifelong password

Now, it was clear that he had broken his promise.

Niki's hand trembled faintly as she held her phone. If it weren't for the high quality of the phone, it would have been severely crushed by now.

Julian... How could he change his password??

What did he think about their past?

Niki only felt that her stomach was tumultuous and couldn't recover for a long time.

She turned to look at the man, who was still standing on the balcony... She couldn't wait –to rush into the balcony and question him, why on earth did he need to change the password? He really didn't like her anymore?

Did he change his mind? Had he already fallen in love with Natalie?

Get Bodos

After all, Niki endured and forced herself to regain her composure.

Perhaps it was because she left too suddenly, so Julian got angry and changed the phone password in a fit of anger?

It made sense. Niki silently comforted herself.

She thought for a moment and typed Julian's birthday.

It was incorrect again.

Niki scratched her head irritably. Why was it also false?

She then entered a series of dates such as their anniversary of love, the date of their first date, the date of their first hand-in-hand, the date of their reunion, and so on.

She had filled it all out.

But none of them was the right answer.

Niki was a bit stunned.

As time passed, an absurd idea gradually came to her mind... Shouldn't the password be Natalie's birthday?!

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 303 He deserves it

If Julian's password was Natalie's birthday... Niki thought she would go crazy.

Completely crazy.

Her hands kept shaking. She managed to enter Natalie's birthday.

She suddenly stopped when she finished half of it.

She realized that she didn't know Natalie's birthday... she didn't even know any information about Natalie.

The only thing she knew was... Natalie was an orphan, and loved to snatch other women's men!

Niki couldn't help but reflect, did she know too little about Natalie?

She should have learned more about Natalie. That was the way to defeat her.

Niki's eyes squinted. She felt that she had underestimated Natalie.

When she was in her thoughts, the phone rang again. Niki saw the familiar name. A sudden sense of panic caught her.

Niki almost threw out the phone.

After the fear surged up, she almost forgot about the password and was only thinking about what to do.

Wasn't this old man really waking up?

If he woke up... Niki dared not think about the consequences, her palms are sweating.

She wondered whether she should answer the phone.

Niki's face turned pale in an instant. Then she tried to figure out a way.

She knew it was not a good way to dodge the phone. Oliver would definitely continue to call until the phone was connected.

It was unavoidable.

She managed to make up her mind.

She would like to see what Oliver, the lucky dog, would say.

Niki's hand was about to be pressed down, but another idea suddenly came to her mind... She couldn't answer the phone herself.

Julian would be angry if she did that without his authorization. Julian should answer the phone personally.

Niki turned to look at Julian on the balcony. He still stood there, holding a cigarette.

The smoke rose and curled up in a continuous stream, stretching all the way to the azure sky before finally disappearing into the sky.

His silhouette really made people hesitant to approach him.

Niki gritted her teeth while staring at his back, forcing herself to calm down. "It's okay, it's okay."

Even if Oliver woke up, he had no evidence.

Anyway, she didn't do it herself. Delta did all of this!

Niki found herself safe.

Niki kept comforting herself that she would be found out.

The most important thing at this time was to remain calm and never mess around.

Although she had been silently adjusting her tense emotions, there were still small beads of sweat oozing from her head.

Niki walked slowly towards Julian.

The glass window of the balcony was gently knocked, and at first, it made a slight sound, but the man did not hear it. Niki could only make a few forceful knocking before he turned his head.

They looked at each other in the eyes.

Julian's face remained noble and indifferent, with a cold gaze enveloping him, as if he had no emotions.

The man seemed to be asking her with a cold look, "What's the matter?"

His gaze remained as proud as ever, but it became even colder.

Niki swallowed her saliva and stuttered, "Well... Grandpa called over..."

Julian didn't seem to hear what she was saying. His eyebrows furrowed and his narrow eyes fixed on Niki's slightly flustered face.

Niki raised the phone, and her tone also increased. "Grandpa called."

Afraid that Julian couldn't see, she even waved the phone in an attempt to attract his attention.

Fortunately, Julian had good eyesight, and he could see the word "Grandpa" clearly on his phone screen.

He almost immediately extinguished the burning cigarette end, opened the glass door of the balcony, and then strode towards Niki.

"Julian... Grandpa called! Has he woken up?"

As soon as Julian came over, Niki quickly put on a look of surprise and joy, as if eagerly anticipating that Oliver could live.

Julian couldn't attend to answering Niki's words. He was too excited. He immediately connected the phone.

There were voices coming from the phone.

But the phone did not turn on hands-free, so that Niki couldn't hear what Oliver said.

She was anxious, very eager to know what Oliver was saying... it mattered a lot to her.

Niki clenched her teeth and kept taking small steps around Julian, trying to hear the content clearly.

However, Julian was not as happy as expected. Instead, his eyebrows furrowed and tightened, and his eyes were like deep lakes frozen in winter.

Niki suddenly felt a bit confused.

Why? If Oliver woke up, Julian be happy. Why did Julian now look depressed?

An idea came to Niki's mind. Oliver might had not woken up.

Sure enough, the next second, Julian hung up the phone with a gloomy gaze.

Niki tentatively asked, "Julian... how's it going? Is Grandpa already awake? Are we going to visit him now?"

A series of questions made his face even darker.

He said, "We will go back to Los Angeles." Then he opened the door and walked out.

Niki was left standing alone in the same place.

She was stunned, and by the time she came back to her sense, Julian had already disappeared.

Niki couldn't help it. Although she didn't know why he suddenly rushed back, she could only quickly pack something up and follow him downstairs.

She didn't even forget to finish the remaining glass of red wine before leaving.

After all, it was very expensive! Normally, she couldn't afford to drink that red wine.

Niki drank the red wine in one gulp and then hurriedly went downstairs.

Just as I arrived downstairs, she saw Julian already sitting in the car and looking ahead.

with a restless expression.

Niki naturally didn't dare to delay for a moment and quickly got into the car.

The roar sounded and the car started.

Niki was sitting in the passenger seat, and she was really curious to know if Oliver was awake, so she couldn't help but ask about it.

"Julian... what did Grandpa say?"

Julian had no expression on his face. He was in a bad mood. Just when Niki thought he wouldn't answer, he suddenly spoke up.

"Grandpa... his condition is even worse. I'm afraid he can't live long now. Mother demands that we go back and take a look."

Niki was clearly stunned at his response.

Half a second later, she realized the meaning of his words. So Oliver hadn't woken up?

Oliver didn't make that call?

After Niki realized it, she was completely ecstatic. She felt that she escaped from desperation.

Sure enough, Oliver had taken that drug, he couldn't survive!

Although he was extremely happy, she still had to put on a lost look and say, "How could this be?”

“How can he get so badly worse?”

“Actually... actually... if it weren’t for your sudden disappearance in the second half of the exchange meeting, you would have invited the divine doctor of the Spears family.”

“Grandpa... will not run out of time now...” said Niki, as if choking up and unable to continue.

Niki’s words may seem regretful, but in fact, she was blaming Julian in a hidden way.

She was deliberately reminding Julian that the reason for the situation at this moment was all because he ignored the meeting and instead went to save Natalie, that bitch.

He personally abandoned his grandfather in order to save Natalie.

It was all his own fault. He deserved it.

Sure enough, as soon as this remark was made, Julian’s expression immediately changed.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 304 It is just something about the newness

Julian’s face was extremely sour. Upon hearing that, he frowned and he looked terribly sullen.

Niki noticed it. But she kept complaining as if she didn’t care about his emotions.

She continued to speak in an annoying way.

“Julian... what should we do now? If only you hadn't left... then Grandpa would have been saved.”

“What else did the doctor say? Do we have a chance to save Grandpa?

“If there is really no chance...” Niki said half way and suddenly stopped, “No, no, no, there must be a chance. Grandpa is such a good person. He will be lucky.”

Niki chattered incessantly until the chill around Julian deepened.

“Julian... I have wanted to find the great doctor from the Spears family for had a try. But I am too humble. The doctor didn't want to help me.”

She kept indicating that Julian failed her.

you. I also

It sounded like she, a woman, shouldered the responsibility to ask for the great doctor's help and was even abused by the bodyguards, but Julian, a man, did nothing.

“I found my courage to go to the great doctor. But there were so many bodyguards. I am just a woman, alone. I couldn't get close to the doctor and was almost kicked out by those bodyguards.”

Thinking of the scene at that time, Niki felt a pang of sadness.

She was about to say something more when Julian's hand suddenly hit the steering wheel. He stepped on the brake with one foot on the accelerator, and the car suddenly came to a stop, causing Niki to lean forward and almost hit the glass.

“Ah...” Niki exclaimed in surprise and then rubbed her forehead with her hand.

“Julian... what’s the matter?” Niki looked as if she didn’t understand why Julian suddenly stopped.

#

“Why did you suddenly brake the car? It’s very dangerous! Julian, did you get hurt?”

But in fact, she was very clear about the reason why Julian suddenly became angry.

Niki felt a sense of joy inexplicably. It was a feeling of revenge.

However, the target of retaliation was not Julian, but Natalie.

She thought, “Fine, Julian likes Natalie. He sneaked into the hospital to see her. He went to the dressing room like a ‘hero’ to save her.”

Therefore, she would make Julian bear guilty toward his grandpa whenever he faced Natalie.

She wanted him to know that his sudden feeling towards Natalie...

Thinking of this, Niki couldn’t help but sneer. Niki thought that Julian was interested at Natalie just because of something like newness.

When Julian got back his mind, he would regret it immensely. He would understand that his feelings for Natalie were nothing compared to his grandfather’s life.

And what he truly loved was still her, Niki, whom he had loved for three years!

Natalie should be nothing to him.

Niki sneered. She was certain that owing to her making such a fuss when Julian thought of Natalie, he would think of his own grandfather who was terminally ill.

At that time, it would be overwhelming guilt... All his feelings for Natalie would have vanished.

The more Niki thought about it, the happier she felt. She couldn't hide her joy.

She looked at Julian 'anxiously', as if worried about him. "Julian... are you okay?"

"If you feel sick, let me drive for you."

Niki lowered her head and unbuttoned her seat belt, wanting to change seats with

Julian.

Unexpectedly, her words actually made him even more irritable. He turned to look at Niki, with a clear, cold, and intimidating examination in his eyes.

"Can you be quiet for a while?"

His gaze was extremely intimidating.

Niki felt inexplicably timid for a moment, but she pursed her lips and tried to calm down.

She pretended to not know why he got angry. She quickly nodded 'in fear' and said,

"Julian... I'm sorry..."

"I won't speak anymore. Don't be angry with me."

Julian remained silent at her apology. He placed one hand on the steering wheel and the other hand on the window, appearing extremely irritable.

Even inexplicably, there was an urge to light another cigarette to have relief.

But he restrained himself.

The man's gaze was fixed on the front like an eagle, and the air in the car was suppressed.

Niki sat silently aside.

Compared to usual, she had become much more rational this time... She knew she shouldn't do too much.

The two of them had been sitting in the car for a long time... Just when Niki thought Julian was going to keep sitting, someone called Julian.

She glanced up.

The note was also "Grandpa".

Niki couldn't help but frown.

Julian seemed a bit impatient. He took his hand back from the window and answered the phone. This time, Niki faintly heard Linda's voice on the phone.

However, she didn't hear the specific content clearly.

But it didn't matter. Julian restarted the car. She could guess what Linda had said.

It must be that Oliver's condition was really bad, forcing Linda to make frequent phone calls to urge Julian.

The car rushed back to Los Angeles at a lightning-fast speed.

Late at night, in the Graham's residence.

The vast residence now maintained a deathly silence. It was very oppressive. Even the servants who cleaned the yard on weekdays were found nowhere.

Almost as soon as Julian got off the car, he felt that something was wrong.

Julian looked stern and walked hastily inside. Niki naturally noticed the air was abnormal. She lowered her head and followed behind Julian.

Julian entered the living room and didn't see Linda. He raised his hand and called out to Gina, "Where's your mother? Has she gone to bed?"

Gina happened to have just come downstairs when she saw Julian. She was surprised and said, "Mr. Graham, there you are."

"Mrs. Graham is up there! You go and take a look."

After saying this, she hesitated before finally saying, "She... looks bad."

Before she finished speaking, Julian got her. He took heavy steps up the stairs.

Niki silently followed behind.

In the room, Linda sat dumbfounded by the bed as if she had lost her thought, her face much haggard.

She looked aged several years, though just a few days had passed.

"Julian, you're here..." Upon hearing the commotion, Linda turned her head as if she had got her mind back.

Before Julian could reply, Linda noticed Niki standing silently behind him.

Linda stopped abruptly. Her eyes narrowed and her pale face looked chilly cold.

Niki's face suddenly stiffened.

Linda's gaze was truly terrifying.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 305 You want to abandon me again?

Niki was frightened by the look in Linda's eyes, and she couldn't help but lean behind

Julian in an attempt to seek his protection.

Actually, she was not afraid of Linda usually. She just found Linda very annoying.

She also knew that if she wanted to marry into the Graham family, the first hurdle she must pass was Linda.

If Linda didn't agree, she wouldn't be able to marry into the Graham family even if she could please Julian to the greatest extent.

Moreover, Julian's feelings for her were not as strong as before now..

"Why did you bring her here?" Linda's eyes became extremely cold and even filled with great anger at the moment she saw Niki.

She suddenly sat up from the bed and was about to pounce on Niki, trying to drive Niki out of the Graham family.

“Ah... Julian...” Niki was so scared that she hid straight behind Julian.

Julian subconsciously resisted Niki’s attempt to hide behind him. But then he saw his mother’s aggressive demeanor...

He couldn’t help but feel a bit afraid that Linda would really hurt Niki.

Julian furrowed his brow and raised his hand to stop Linda. “Mother, please calm down a bit.”

Linda was stopped by his strong arm. She was a woman. Moreover, her body has become even more haggard recently due to her hard work taking care of Oliver. Of course, she couldn’t resist Julian.

Her hand could only be waved up and down in an attempt to grab Niki’s clothes and drive her out.

“How could you bring her here? She is not welcomed by the Grahams.” Linda turned to Niki and shouted, “Go out... I told you to go out, now!”

Niki was terrified, and her tears were about to be scared out by Linda.

Get Bogos

She tightly grasped Julian’s clothes. Julian’s purely handmade suit had been trampled to pieces by Niki due to fear.

“Julian... what’s wrong with Mrs. Graham? Has she taken pills today? She is crazy now...”

Niki was scared to death on her face, but she mocked in her heart.

Niki thought Linda was mad.

She wondered whether it was because of Oliver.

Niki didn't expect such a situation to happen. At second thought, she found it was not bad for her.

It was best if Linda was really crazy! This way, Linda could never prevent her from marrying into the Graham family..

If Oliver died and Linda got mad, no one could stop her from being Julian's wife.

No one!

Upon this thought, Niki's fear vanished into thin air, replaced by faint anticipation and excitement.

Julian paid much effort to block Linda with his hand, but Linda's move was too fierce, and he could only try to control his strength to avoid accidentally injuring his mother.

If the force was light, Linda could not be stopped; But if the force was too much, Linda might be hurt.

"Julian... I really feel that something goes wrong with Mrs. Graham..." Niki whispered behind Julian.

He frowned subconsciously upon hearing Niki's words.

Actually, he was also puzzled by Linda...

After all, in his impression, his mother had always been elegant and gentle.

Linda had always been appreciated because of her good manners. Julian had never seen Linda in this way.

Julian tentatively said, "Mother, have you taken your medicine today? If not, I can help you take it."

Linda ignored Julian and was determined to drive Niki out.

"I won't permit this woman to step into the Graham family."

As Linda spoke, she had to move forward again, and her neat hair tended to become.

scattered.

Niki was so scared that she kept retreating.

Julian's patience seemed to have been exhausted. He let out a long sigh and exerted force on his arm, forcefully sending Linda back to the bedside.

Linda struggled hard.

"My illness is physical! It's not hurting my brain! I am not insane. Listen, drive Niki out right now!"

Julian placed his palm on Linda's shoulder and pressed her hard to prevent her from moving.

Then he raised his voice while asking, "Where's Gina?! Call Gina over."

The servants around quickly went to Gina.

In a moment, Gina hurried up in an apron.

“Mr. Graham, what can I do for you?” She spoke as she wiped her hands onto the apron.

Before she could finish speaking, she looked up and saw Linda tightly imprisoned by Julian.

“Mr. Graham, what are you doing?”

Gina quit wiping her hands and ran straight to the bedside. She snatched Linda from Julian’s hand.

She protected Linda.

“Mr. Graham, how could you do this to her? She has been in a bad state these days. You shall be nice to her.”

Julian stood straight, ignoring Gina’s words.

He just looked at Gina and said, “Has she taken pills today?”

“Yes, yes! She takes pills every day.”

Gina quickly replied loudly.

Julian frowned.

“Then what’s wrong with her? Why is she in such a bad state?”

Niki leaned out from behind Julian and silently looked at Linda, whose clothes were scattered.

Niki’s big eyes rolled around. It seemed that she had some unpleasant ideas.

Upon hearing this, Gina quickly knelt down on the ground.

“Mrs. Graham is in such a state because she is too tired. She has done too much for the Graham family!”

“Mr. Graham, you are busy and barely come back here. Mrs. Graham had to take care of the Graham family alone.”

“Besides, your grandfather...” Halfway through, Gina seemed unwilling to finish. She changed the topic. “To take care of him, Mrs. Graham hasn’t slept well for a few nights.”

“How could you treat her in this way!”

Gina’s tears streamed down.

Julian stopped speaking.

He felt that he did something wrong. He changed the topic by asking, “Where is Grandpa now?”

“He is...”

H

Before she could finish speaking, Linda, who had just calmed down, spoke loudly again, completely losing her usual demeanor.

Get Do

“Send Nikile out! Otherwise, you don’t deserve to see your grandfather.”

“You know your grandfather’s opinion. He only admits Natalie to be his granddaughter-in-law.”

“How could you bring this woman here? You don’t deserve to see your grandfather.”

Linda’s eyes were like eagles, staring fiercely at Niki, and her voice was also fierce.

Julian’s face turned iron livid.

But he really remembered the promise he made to his grandfather at the time...

When his position as CEO was threatened, he promised Oliver that he would not divorce Natalie.

Now, Julian felt indeed guilty.

He looked up at his mother’s gaze and became even more guilty.

He knew Oliver was in bad condition. It was not a good time to argue with his mother.

Julian turned to look at Niki and said, “Niki, you...”

Niki widened her eyes, feeling a bad premonition.

“Julian... are you going to abandon me?” Niki’s charming eyes seemed to be pleading.

“It’s very late now.”

“Julian, you’ve dropped me once. Now you want to do that again?”

Julian’s Adam’s apple moved. Seemingly he was hesitant.

But after a moment, he said in his hoarse voice, “I’ll have the driver take you back to the apartment.”

Julian made a call to his driver.

Niki seemed incredulous as she stood in shock.

She found it incredible that Julian would abandon her for Linda, nothing but an insane woman.

How could Julian abandon her repeatedly for someone unimportant?

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 306 Be reasonable

Julian demanded the driver on the phone. "Park the car at the entrance and see Ms. Linch back to her apartment later."

The driver said yes.

Niki was shocked that Julian did make the call.

She couldn't help but say, "Julian... I want to see your grandfather. I am worried about him..."

"Although Grandpa treated me poorly before, I should visit him. He is my elder."

Niki earnestly pleaded.

The reason why she followed Julian here was to confirm Oliver's condition.

She should figure out how long Oliver could survive, so she could prepare for her next step.

If Oliver showed signs of recovery, she needed to do something to worsen his condition. If Oliver was going to die, she could rest assured.

If that was the case, she could just sit quietly and wait for the news of Oliver's death.

If she left now, she would be unable to check that and her visit here would be in vain!

"It's true. I am really worried about him. Please let me take a look."

She was forcefully interrupted by Julian, "No need."

"You don't have to worry about him. It's late. You must have been tired. You'd better go back to have a good rest." Julian tried to maintain a gentle attitude.

Niki was reluctant. But when she saw Julian's resolute expression, she knew he wouldn't change his mind.

She quickly lowered her head and bit her lips, thinking about countermeasures...

She must find a way to make Julian keep her. She had to check Oliver's condition.

Niki wanted to say something more.

However, Julian no longer had patience. He gave Niki a very cold look.

"Just do what I told you."

His tone carried a strong sense of oppression.

Niki immediately remained silent.

Linda saw her son finally compromise, and her expression softened slightly. She was much more gentle now.

◦

Not as radical and crazy as before.

Linda stared at Niki while raising her hand and gently stroking her hair. Her breathing was quite rapid.

After the intense action, her strength ran out and she became weak.

Gina saw this and quickly helped Linda to the bedside. "Mrs. Graham, please take a break now."

Gina knew that Niki was the cause of such an annoying drama.

Gina thought that Niki should be sly.

Nowadays, Niki even dared to go against Linda in front of Julian. If Niki managed to be Julian's wife, she might do something more unbearable.

Gina didn't want to serve such a bad woman.

Gina strongly agreed with Linda's demand. Niki should be driven out. Niki's being here dishonored the Graham family.

As time passed by, the driver had already parked the car downstairs. Heavy footsteps were heard on the stairs.

Step by step, Julian came to him.

"Take Ms. Linch down with you, and you can leave after you drop her off at her apartment."

Julian spoke coldly and gestured to the driver.

The driver lowered his head and said, "I see. I will escort Ms. Linch safely back to the apartment."

Upon seeing this situation, Niki quickly retreated to prevent the driver from dragging her.

She was so anxious that her eyes turned and her mind ran quickly.

But in the end, she didn't come up with any good solution, so she gritted her teeth, and she knelt down towards Linda.

"Mrs. Graham, I know you have a problem with me... You think I betrayed the Graham family back then, but that's a misunderstanding."

"You shall let it go and we are supposed to look forward."

"I hope you accept me, nothing more."

Niki could say anything to achieve her goal.

For her own purposes, she would like to do anything, even if it cost her dignity.

"What are you doing?!" Julian was clearly frightened by Niki's actions.

He bent down and reached out his hand to pull Niki up. "Why are you kneeling? Get up."

Niki stubbornly shook her head and said, "I can't get up."

Get Bonus

“Mrs. Graham has been disgusted with me for many years. She gets me wrong, I shall fix it. If I don’t, I will be unable to see grandpa and you anymore.”

Julian softened his voice. “No, my mother won’t stop me from seeing you. Just get up.”

Niki remained motionless as if she had been glued to the floor.

Julian tightened his palm, his mouth a hard line.

In this situation, he....

He was sandwiched in the middle, completely unaware of what he should do.

On one side was his mother, and on the other was his lover. He was completely in a dilemma.

Linda looked at Niki kneeling in front of her with indifference, completely ignoring Niki as if she hadn’t heard her.

Linda even combed her hair expressionlessly.

Linda didn’t speak, and Gina naturally didn’t speak either.

Gina walked past Niki and cautiously handed Linda water. “Madam, you need some water.”

Niki was speechless.

Niki thought, “Why does she need water?”

“Drinks some to regain the energy to keep scolding me?”

Niki was extremely angry.

But she could only kneel in place and kept silent, pretending to be pitiful.

The scene was once deadlocked.

It wasn't until a doctor ran into the room from the stairs that the stalemate air was broken.

He stumbled towards Linda and whispered something in her ear.

Linda's face suddenly changed.

Without saying anything, she stood up in a panic and headed towards the left corridor.

Julian quickly followed up and asked, "Mom, what happened? Is there another problem with Grandpa?"

Niki immediately got up from the ground and trotted to keep up.

Before taking a few steps, a figure suddenly flashed in front of her and stopped her in place.

Niki became angry in no seconds. She said, "What are you doing? Get out of the way." The woman's eyes were fixed on Linda.

That person didn't move.

Niki tried to push the person, but couldn't push it away. In the end, she had no choice but to spare the person a glance.

It turned out to be the servant who had just brought water to Linda.

"What are you doing? Get out of the way! Can't you hear me?"

Just now, Gina's words annoyed Niki. Now Gina blocked Niki's way. Niki was more angry.

Gina's face remained expressionless, "I'm sorry, Ms. Linch. Mrs. Graham said that you can't go, so I can't let you go

"Get lost, or I'll have Julian fire you."

Gina had been working as a nanny for many years and had a lot of strength. Niki was no match for her.

Under compulsion, Niki could only use Julian to threaten Gina.

But Gina didn't buy it. She stood still. "I only follow Mrs. Graham's command. Your threat doesn't work on me."

"Take my advice, behave yourself."

"It's also for your own good."

"You?!" Niki was furious. "You, an inferior servant, how dare you disobey me!"

On the other side, Julian followed Linda and hurried to a bedroom.

Oliver lay in the bed, his face even more haggard than before, and his body even thinner than before, making people feel heartbroken when they look at him.

"Madam, there you are."

The doctor said, "Mr. Graham's illness... we have done our best..."

"In this situation, if we can't find the great doctor from the Spears family..."

Julian looked at his grandfather lying in bed and suddenly said, "What will happen?"

The doctor glanced at him and lowered his head. The doctor said in a low voice, "He can hold on for at most another month."

"A month?!" Julian clenched his hand into a fist, "So we have to invite Dr. Spears here."

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 307 Become

The doctor lowered his head and dared not go to see Julian. Naturally, he did not hear Julian's words.

Julian asked again with a stern look.

"Are you sure grandpa can only hold on for a month?" Julian spoke as he slowly walked towards the doctor and soon stood in front of him.

Julian had a strong sense of oppression.

The doctor heard it clearly this time, and he nodded hurriedly, "Sure... Mr. Graham is in danger now."

"The poison is too strong. He should have been able to keep in the state of vegetative beings, but now..."

"I don't know why. Mr. Graham's condition is getting worse and worse. Now he can't even maintain his vegetative state,"

Before he could finish speaking, Julian was as if he had been provoked and suddenly said with a chill, "What do you mean?"

"How can you say that!"

With every word spoken, Julian took a step forward, and the doctor was nervously forced towards the corner.

"You're a doctor and we pay you a lot. You should do your job well. Now you told me that you can't cure my grandpa and you even have no idea why he gets worse?"

"You are a quack. The Graham family has hired you for such a long time with high salaries. You failed us." Julian became angrier as he spoke. He even wanted to kick the doctor out.

The doctors hired by the Graham family were all waste!!

No one knew why Grandpa got worse.

What a bunch of waste!

Julian's veins erupted on his forehead, the tip of his tongue pressed against his back teeth, his feet were already slightly raised, and he was about to kick the doctor in the stomach.

But for some reason, Julian thought of something. He finally managed to suppress his temper. He just kicked open the medicine box on the ground.

The box was not tightly fastened. With such a kick from the man, it flew away with a loud splash, and the medicine inside also scattered.

Many of them contain liquid medicine from glass bottles, which collided with the ground and eventually broke, causing the sticky liquid to flow out.

The doctor was scared to death, with a cold sweat streaming down his forehead. He quickly waved his hand and said,

Cat Bonus

“Mr. Graham... I’m sorry. I’ve tried my best. But your grandpa’s illness is rare. I can’t manage to cure him.”

Julian didn’t want to bother himself to listen to the doctor. His mind was in a daze at the moment. He just felt that the doctor was too noisy.

“Go away.”

The doctor was stunned and thought he had heard the wrong thing. “Mr. Graham, what do you say?”

“I told you to go away, can’t you hear me?”

Julian suppressed his anger and almost squeezed the words out of his teeth.

The doctor was scared and quickly got up from the ground. He ran trembling towards the door, almost slipping several times.

Niki ultimately couldn’t get Gina. She could only curse Gina in her heart.

But Niki was still reluctant to leave.

She sat on the sofa in the living room all the time, as if waiting for Julian to come out.

To monitor Niki, Gina did not leave. Gina stood at the staircase and stared at Niki.

The two of them were so deadlocked. The air was filled with suppression.

As time passed by, Julian finally walked out of the corridor with heavy steps.

Niki immediately stood up and quickly walked towards Julian.

“Julian... You finally came out... How’s Grandpa going?”

The answer to her was a moment of silence.

Niki looked up, and the cold light reflected Julian’s slightly disappointed and tired face. Julian seemed to be much haggard.

Seeing this scene, Niki knew what she should do.

She silently released her grip on the man’s arm and said nothing.

Judging from Julian’s expression, Niki knew that Oliver’s condition was worse. Oliver would die sooner or later.

And she just needed to wait for Oliver’s death.

Niki’s mouth curled into a faint smile. She felt relieved and got happier.

Julian walked down the stairs with heavy steps, from the living room to the gate. Finally, he left the room to reach the pavilion of the Graham’s residence.

It was very cold outside, let alone it had been late at night. As soon as Niki came out, she shivered.

Although she felt reluctant to accompany Julian here to suffer the cold, she would like to stand by Julian’s side to pretend to be considerate.

“Julian... do you need me to take you a coat? It’s very cold here.”

The response to her was still a moment of silence.

Niki didn’t feel embarrassed at all. She continued, “Do you need a glass of warm water?”

As she spoke, she quickly walked into the living room.

In the living room, Gina was going to take a glass to Linda and served her to take today's medicine.

Hardly had she picked up the cup when a figure suddenly walked in.

The person grabbed the glass directly from Gina's hand, poured some water into it, and then walked out.

The person did all of this silently and skillfully. Gina was stunned.

After seconds, Gina realized that the glass in her hand was gone.

Gina couldn't believe Niki to be so impolite.

Gina didn't know why Julian choose Niki, rather than Natalie, a gentle and sensible woman.

There were so many glass bottles over there. But Niki snatched the one in her hand.

Niki even took it for granted. Did she think that the Graham family had been hers?

Gina was so angry that she took several breaths before suppressing her anger.

Niki slowly walked out with a glass of warm water. She walked slowly to Julian.

She cautiously handed it to Julian. Her eyes filled with concern. It seemed that she did care about Julian.

"Julian... Drink some water, it's too cold."

But her suggestion didn't make Julian feel better. Instead, it made him even more irritable.

What he needed now was quietness. He needed to think something through.

He didn't want to be bothered now.

“I don’t want it.” The man’s voice was cold and hard.

Niki still advised, “Julian... drink some. Otherwise, you might catch a cold.”

Unexpectedly, she didn’t get a gentle response. Julian overturned the water accidentally and it dripped all over Niki.

Niki screamed.

Get Bonam

The hot water spilled on her delicate skin, and a sharp pain spread on the back of her hand, causing Niki to frown in pain.

Julian turned to look at her.

Niki’s scream completely awakened him. He realized that his behavior was unreasonable.

“Niki, are you okay?” He bent down and grabbed Niki’s hand.

Niki withdrew her small hand from his. “I’m fine.”

Julian could tell that she was pretending to be fine. He lowered his eyes and said, “I’m sorry.”

“Grandpa’s condition is not good, I am worried about him, so I hadn’t controlled myself well.”

The doctor said that he only had one more month to survive.

Niki’s eyelids gave a sudden leap.

A month?! It seemed that the medicine chosen by the doctor was pretty good. It could make Oliver die so quickly.

“If we can’t find Dr. Spears, he will die.”

Niki raised her eyes in due time, and her little hand gripped the man’s hand again. “Julian... don’t be sad.”

“I actually have another way... to find Dr. Spears.”

Julian was surprised and looked at her. “Are you serious?”

Niki nodded and said, “After all, I am also from a branch of the Spear family.”

“I know the location of the Spears family in New York. I can take you to it to find Dr. Spears.”

Niki’s eyes were sparkling under the moonlight.

Julian’s eyelashes trembled.

Niki quietly curled her lips again.

She knew that as long as she gave Julian a little hope when he fell into the abyss of pain, she could earn his favor back.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 308 The branch of the Spears family

Upon hearing this, Julian slowly raised his head, with an incomprehensible emotion in his deep pupils.

Niki thought he didn’t understand her words.

She spoke slowly again, “Julian... didn’t you hear what I just said?”

“I just told you...”

Before she could finish speaking, Julian raised his arm to interrupt her.

Niki was confused. She had to cease speaking.

“Julian, 1...”

Niki saw no sign of surprise on Julian’s face. He even frowned harder than before.

It was weird. Niki didn’t know why.

Niki's initial pride immediately diminished by half, and she couldn't understand what Julian was thinking at the moment.

Actually, she just said that to earn Julian's favor. She didn't take her words seriously. She didn't want Oliver to be cured.

Moreover, Niki was only from a collateral branch of the Spears family. She used to call herself Ms. Spears to gain vanity.

But in fact, she was just from a small branch and had no right to see the head of the Spears family.

Niki said that just to make Julian value her.

She wanted Julian to know that she was much better than Natalie, who could do nothing for him. She was the one that could help him when he was in difficulty.

Natalie could do nothing for Julian.

But now Julian seemed not to believe this chance could get work. Niki didn't know why.

Niki had thought that Julian would appreciate her and take her as his hope in his desperation. At last, his heart would come back to her.

Things should be gone in this way.

There was no way else to save Oliver. This was the last chance. Julian should catch it hard. How could Julian be so cold? Did she speak something wrong?

Niki's eyelashes trembled gently, but she couldn't figure out when she had made a mistake.

"Julian... you don't think I can do this?"

"The Spears family is mysterious and rarely gets along with others."

"I come from its branch. I have my way to find it."

"Julian, you don't need to worry, I can help you handle it. Rest assured."

Niki found it possible that Julian didn't believe that she could find the Spears family.

Julian stood with his hands on his back, his expression unpredictable under the moonlight. "You want to take me to Dr. Spears?"

"Yes." Niki nodded.

The man suddenly chuckled, seeming to find her words somewhat absurd.

"Julian... don't you believe me? I can do it." Niki was a bit anxious.

Before she could finish speaking, Julian suddenly changed his expression, his eyes cold and indifferent, and there seemed to be anger burning on his forehead.

"Why didn't you say it when I spent so much money for getting the invitation?"

"On the way from Chicago to Los Angeles, you mentioned time and time again that I failed to find Dr. Spears. But you have never mentioned that you know the specific location of the Spears family before."

"Niki, you take me as a fool?"

Although his tone was not high, the powerful aura he emitted made the air somewhat silent and stuffy.

Niki froze.

Julian's questioning echoed in her mind...

She had just been preoccupied with wanting to impress men. She hadn't thought about it.

She didn't expect Julian to be so meticulous and asked this question.

Niki's forehead was sweating a bit. She didn't know what to say.

She didn't know how to reply.

She couldn't say that she watched him spend so much for the invitation aside deliberately, and bid her chance to tell him that she could help him when he was in desperation.

“Why didn’t you speak?” Julian raised his tone, and a sense of oppression immediately came up.

Niki was startled and quickly grabbed his clothes.

“Julian... I wanted to say it before, but...”

Her mind ran wildly. She tried to figure out a way to fix this. But she failed.

Julian was smart. If she casually made up a few excuses, he would see through them in no seconds.

She didn’t want to get him more furious.

Julian raised his eyebrows and looked at the woman. He waited for her explanation quietly.

Niki was scared. She stammered, “Julian... I...”

Julian’s patience ran out. He was going to leave her to go back to the room.

Niki was instantly anxious, and she grabbed him.

Julian frowned and turned back.

“Julian, I didn’t say it before because I was afraid that you might disdain me... It’s all my fault. I am so sorry.”

As Niki spoke, tears instantly filled her eyes, and a trickle of tears seeped out of her pitiful large eyes. She looked pitiful.

“You are afraid I might look down on you?” Julian stopped as he stepped out. “Why?”

Niki bit her lips wrongly, sobbing. “Previously, I told you that I enjoyed a high status in the Spears family, but in fact, I didn’t.”

“Although I am from the Spears family, I am only from a subsidiary of the Spears family and I am not favored.”

Julian stared at her. Although his tone was still cold, it was much better than just now. “Why did you lie to me?”

"I just want to look useful. I don't want to stay next to you like a waste."

"If you think I am useful, I can stay by your side." Niki lowered her head, with a guilty attitude..

"The Spears family wouldn't take my words seriously."

"The only thing I can do is to help you find the location of the Spears' residence."

Julian's face looked sullen.

"You think I am that snobbish?"

He never felt that Niki could be with him only when she was useful.

He had loved him since he was very young. Even if she didn't do anything, he would treat her well.

Niki seemed a bit timid. After some hesitation, she said, "I.."

"Don't be afraid, just speak up your thoughts," Julian comforted in a voice.

He didn't know which step he had done wrong before, which made Niki so afraid of him.

Get Bonus

"Previously, you felt that I dressed improperly at the banquet, and didn't behave decently. I couldn't compare with Natalie in any way."

"I know that I can't do anything well and has made you dishonored..."

"So I always want to help you in some way. I don't want you to think that I am worse than Natalie. I don't want to be dropped by you."

Julian was shocked.

Niki lowered her head and continued, "Actually, I had always wanted to take you to New York to find Dr. Spears. But I was afraid that after you found that I had lied, you wouldn't like me anymore. So I kept silent."

"But now Grandpa's condition is so bad. I have to do anything I can to help him."

She looked sincere. "In order to save Grandpa's life, even if I might be eventually abandoned, I still have no regrets."

What a sweet promise.

Julian hadn't given his response for a long time.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Chapter 309 So Rich?!

Under the moonlight, the two of them stood under the pavilion, the woman's arm carefully pulling the man, while the man's face was tense.

There seemed to be some emotional fluctuations between the two, making it difficult to understand.

After half a ring, Julian finally spoke with difficulty, "It's so late, you should go back to the apartment now."

He seemed to think his words were too harsh and would scare her, so he added, "Dear, have a good night."

Niki quietly lifted her eyes and glanced at Julian. He was not as angry as before, and the chill around him had dissipated a lot. It was obvious that he believed her words.

She breathed a sigh of relief.

It seemed that Julian believed what she had just said. She narrowly escaped a disaster.

"As for Grandpa's matter, I'll think of a way. If it really doesn't work..." Julian paused and then continued, "Then we can only use your way.”

Niki nodded obediently.

“Yes. It’s all up to you.”

Julian lowered his eyes and looked at Niki. Niki’s skin was fair and she looked meek. Her eyes were as clear as water.

She looked like an innocent rabbit.

A hint of guilt flashed silently in his heart.

Niki had never picked her words so carefully before..

She used to be so lively and could do or say anything she wished.

But now Niki was so worried and cautious. She was always afraid of being abandoned.

His Adam’s apple moved and his heart seemed to be choked with something. He spoke with a deep voice.

“I’ll call the driver over now, you get in the car.”

“I’ll take care of Grandpa. You don’t have to worry too much.”

Niki nodded obediently, “Okay.”

The driver did a quick job. In short time, the car had already been parked in the courtyard of Graham mansion. The dark Maybach flickered with lights, illuminating the pavilion.

Niki took a step towards it.

She turned back, as if they were a couple in a passionate relationship and couldn’t separate from each other.

“Julian... then I will really leave.”

Julian stood in the same spot. He just quietly looked at her. After hearing her voice, he nodded slightly.

“Julian, I will come to see Grandpa again tomorrow,”

Niki seemed to be worried about Oliver. The car door had already been opened, but she still held onto it and refused to sit in.

Julian intended to refuse at once.

After all, Linda had made it clear that she didn't welcome Niki.

If Niki came again and made Linda's condition get worse, it would be troublesome.

But now Niki shivered quietly in the cold wind. Therefore, Julian didn't refuse her directly.

She was waiting for his answer in the cold wind, but Julian silently avoided her gaze

He walked towards the room, without looking at Niki again.

Amidst the haziness, Gina's figure appeared next to Julian. Vaguely, Niki saw that Gina was holding something and reporting to the man.

Niki kept watching him until his back completely disappeared at the stairs.

After he left, the air in the courtyard fell into silence. The driver on the side was inexplicably afraid when he saw Niki being ignored by Julian Previously, Ms. Linch would always go crazy if she was ignored by Mr. Graham.

She would throw stuff. Moreover, she would be harsh on servants. No matter what they did, they would be scolded.

Today, Mr. Graham ignored her again. The driver found himself unlucky. The driver silently took two steps back to reduce Niki's attention to him.

But this time, for the first time, Niki was not angry, and instead a smile appeared on her face.

The driver caught a glimpse of the smile and felt a chill, feeling a surge of fear.

How could Ms. Lynch's smile be even more terrifying than when she was angry?!

"Let's go?" Niki suddenly turned her head and looked at the driver, her tone was soft but cold.

The driver shrunk his neck and quickly nodded, "Okay, okay, Ms. Lynch, this way, please. I'll take you back to the apartment right away."

He opened the car door on the other side for Niki Niki smiled and thanked him.

The driver was once again frightened and shivered.

He said in his heart, "Ms. Lynch, why don't you stop smiling? Your smile is terrifying."

In the morning, in the Spears' residence in New York.

Natalie was still asleep when she heard a rustle outside.

The sound was not loud. It was obvious that the person making the sound was deliberately lowering it, but it still woke her up.

Last night was her first time lying back in this bed after leaving the Spears family for so many years.

The bed was still the same, the room was still the same, and even everything in the room had not changed. Somehow, Natalie tossed and turned. She couldn't fall asleep.

She struggled to sleep until the early morning, but a sudden sound from outside woke her up.

Natalie sighed, intending to turn over and cover her head with a blanket.

But the sound outside didn't stop. She failed to get quietness.

She could only get up now,

Natalie opened her sleepy eyes and silently got down to bed. After putting on her slippers, she opened the door.

As soon as the door was opened, she saw that the courtyard was filled with servants, each in a hurry, carrying wooden boxes in their hands.

There were also servants carrying various types of furniture, including tables, chairs, and even swings, all of which were sent to the yard.

Natalie was a bit confused.

A servant noticed Natalie. She seemed surprised and quickly bent down and shouted, "Good morning, miss."

After this sound came out, everyone's eyes turned to Natalie. Servants neatly bent down and said, "Good morning, miss."

Natalie found it too much. She waved her hand and gestured to these people to get up, "Morning. Go ahead. Leave me be."

After saying this, she quickly trotted back into the room.

She was certain this must have been arranged by her uncle.

Natalie only felt a headache. She sat at the table and poured herself a glass of water to relax her mind.

Before she took a sip of the water, there was a knock on the door outside.

"Miss, can we come in?"

Natalie subconsciously nodded and said, "Come in." As she had just come to the Spears family, she wanted to appear as easygoing as possible and not make these people feel uncomfortable.

The door was pushed open, and two men walked in carrying a wooden box.

Before Natalie could speak, she saw two more people follow in, also holding wooden boxes in their hands.

One by one, in a short while, wooden boxes filled half of the room.

Natalie couldn't help but hold onto one of them and asked, "What are these?"

The maid immediately bent down and said respectfully, "Miss, these are all things that Mr.s Spears ordered to bring to you."

As she spoke, she approached one of the wooden boxes and carefully opened it.

Natalie looked down.

Inside the wooden box were many exquisitely shaped pearl hairpins, jade rings, and gemstone earrings, each of which was brilliant and shining

Natalie's eyelids twitched. She lowered her eyes to pick up one of the earrings. The earrings were made of ruby, and ough their color was bright, it was inlaid with exquisite and elegant designs. It looked elegant.

Everything inside was incredibly valuable

She turned to look at the wooden boxes and said, "Is there jewelry in all of these boxes?"

The maid shook her head and said, "Miss, some of them house jewelry, some silk, and many precious calligraphy and paintings."

"Mr. Spears said that you can keep whatever you like, and what you don't like can be used to give away or donate to build a hospital."

Natalie was surprised and quickly picked up the cup on the table. She took a large sip of water to calm down.

She knew her family didn't lack money, but she didn't expect that after three years, the Spears family could be so wealthy.

This was far beyond her imagination.

She took a few steps forward and opened another box. Inside were indeed ancient paintings, each of which was priceless, but it was casually placed in the box.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By

Chapter 310 An agreement between Adam and Tory

Get Bonus

“Miss, you could choose among them as you like. If you have anything you want, please let me know, I’ll convey it to the master, he will definitely meet your requirements.”

Natalie bottled up her shock and nodded.

Box after box was being moved into the room. Sitting on a chair, Natalie watched the servants bustling around.

It seemed that there were countless wooden boxes outside....

She silently watched for a few minutes before finally speaking.

“Well... Let’s call it a day. There has no place for these boxes already. Place them outside first.”

How many things did Grandpa give her? She had a feeling that these servants needed another day to carry these things.

Putting so many valuable treasures in her room really made her feel a bit uneasy.

“Yes, Miss.” One servant immediately stopped and called on the people behind to stop their movements.

“Miss said it’s done. Put down these things and then you can do your own work.”

All servants bent down and left the room.

“You must be hungry since you have just woken up, Miss. I’ll bring the breakfast to you,” the maid said softly.

“Thank you,” Natalie nodded.

Before breakfast be served, Natalie heard footsteps coming from the yard, she looked out of the window.

“Nana, how was your rest last night? Did you sleep well?” Natalie heard Tory’s voice a long way away before his figure appeared in her sight.

Natalie stood up.

“You got up so early, Uncle.”

Tory wore a warm smile, “your grandpa is there, I must read the room.”

Adam had been keeping regular hours and usually woke up at 6 am every morning.

Tory was naturally forced to wake up early, or he would inevitably be scolded by Adam.

So as long as he stayed at the Spears’s house, he would follow his father’s schedule.

Before Tory finished speaking, he was caught by these wooden boxes in the yard.

“What are these, Nana?”

He remembered that Nana didn’t bring any luggage with her.

Get Bonus

What was all this stuff in the yard? Was it possible that these servants piled up all the debris here since the courtyard was unoccupied?

They dared to bully Nana!

Tory flew into a fit of rage, he shouted loudly, "It's Miss's first day here, is this how you all performed your work? The yard is cluttered with trash!"

"Move all these boxes out now. If I find out who did this, I'll teach him a lesson."

Nana had left home several years ago, but they couldn't bully her on the ground of her absence!

Nana was the only daughter of the Spears Family, no one was allowed to look down upon her.

Natalie was startled by Tory's sudden outburst, saying, "uncle, these things are not junk. They're all gifts sent by Grandpa."

"Dad sent it?" Tory tilted his head in confusion.

He turned to look at the servants standing in a row, they all lowered their heads in silence. It was so unlike them to make things difficult for Nana.

"I don't know why grandpa sent these things to me. He said if I don't want them, I could donate them to build a hospital."

Tory raised his eyebrows and smiled, "what can dad get you? It must be precious medicinal herbs or something "

As he spoke, he bent down and opened one of the wooden boxes.

Inside the box were many treasures, among which the most eye-catching one was a jade necklace, inlaid with diamonds. Bright and dazzling as the necklace was, it exuded an indescribable elegance, filling the room with brilliance.

Tory was completely stunned.

"Are these all sent by your grandfather?"

He had always thought that his father had nothing except for various herbs, after all, herbs was all Adam wanted.

He often stayed in the Gragon Valley for a whole day. He wouldn't even eat anything if he hadn't finished his research.

"Yeah," Natalie nodded.

She looked carefully at Tory and asked tentatively, "did Grandpa give too many things to me?"

"Uncle, you could take whatever you like, I can't take them all..."

After all, Uncle Tory was Grandpa's son....

Get ou

Natalie was afraid that Tory would be unhappy with Grandpa's indulgence in her.

But Tory's reaction in the next second was totally unexpected.

"Dad pre-empted me!"

"We made an agreement that neither of us should send you gift first. But I didn't expect him to break his promise and take the lead!"

Tory's desire to win was ignited.

"I also prepared a gift for you to celebrate your return. I will bring it to you later!" Tory smacked his hand down on his thigh.

"Your grandfather's gifts are all too vulgar. I thought he would give you herbs or something, not these tacky treasures."

Tacky treasures?

Natalie shrugged with a wry smile.

In the three years since she had left the Spears Family, she and Philip founded the Glory Group in order to live independently.

Philip had a strong business acumen, and the drugs he developed were indeed of high quality. So before long the Glory Group came on the market smoothly and the drugs were also exported to foreign countries.

After Glory Group went public, a large amount of capital flooded in, she made a lot of money.

She thought she was rich enough as she could buy Greenlife Villa without blinking her eyes... Unexpectedly, her grandfather and uncle were even richer than she had imagined.

She had thought she should give some money to her family to as filial piety to her elders.

But in comparison to the Spears Family's deep pockets, her money was like a drop in the ocean.

Natalie sighed about her "impoverished" self.

"What's the matter, Nana? You looked sullen, are you not satisfied with the gifts?" Tory looked at Natalie with concern, "whatever you want, I will get it for you."

Natalie hurried to shake her head and said, "I'm quite satisfied, uncle."

If she wasn't satisfied with so many precious treasures in front of her, then there was probably nothing in the world that can meet her demand.

"Well..." Tory suddenly remembered something, "we haven't gone to the Turner Family to seek justice! I almost forgot it."

"I promised you on the plane that I would find Lara and make her apologize to you."

Get Bonus

"Don't you worry. I'm on it. You have your breakfast first. After dinner, I will take you to the Turner Family."

Natalie nodded in a daze. If it weren't for Tory, she would have forgot it long ago.

She had thought that Tory forgot about it himself. Unexpectedly, it came back to him.

Making Lara apologize to her?

Although it was highly likely that Lara was behind the scenes, Natalie had not yet found out whether Niki was involved in it too.

She felt like conducting a full investigation first.

Natalie stood there, sunk in thought. Her silence made Tory think that she was too kind to get even with Lara.

“Nana, I know you are kind-hearted. But kindness is not always working on some people.”

Tory looked into Natalie’s eyes seriously.

Natalie smiled; she understood it.

Baseness is the passport of the despicable, nobility is the epitaph of the noble.

She clearly knew that in her lifetime, she must maintain kindness, but her kindness also had a bottom line. Her kindness and tolerance couldn’t be tools with which others used to bully her and deceive her.

For those who were morally corrupt and shameless, she must bottle up her mercy.

If it was Lara or some else who backstabbed her, she would definitely let her pay the price.

But she really didn’t want Uncle Tory to get caught up in this matter, after all, Niki was quite mean and vengeful.

Moreover, Niki hooked up with Lara now. With the Turner Family as her support, she could only be more reckless and more unscrupulous.

Although Niki was a long way from being a threat to the Spears Family...

Natalie wanted to solve everything on her own; she didn't want bring jinx to her family.

Because Nikdi didn't deserve it.

Title: After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By