

After the Divorce, CEO Realizes He's the Stand-In Lover By Madison King

Chapter 31 Offering a kiss

Only the Dragon Valley in New York had these special roots growing.

Is this box sent from New York? Then who sent it? This person clearly knew what kind of medicine she was studying.

Is there someone watching her?

Natalie was puzzled. She took out the herbs from the box and observed them carefully. She grew up in the Spears family and knew all kinds of herbs. Obviously, these were freshly harvested and also of excellent quality.

Natalie raised her eyebrows. Since such a good gift had been sent to her, she couldn't refuse this kindness.

It would be a pity if such good stuff were not used properly.

As for the person who was watching her, it seemed that she could not tell whether that was an enemy or a friend. If there was any following action that was disadvantageous to her, she had ways to find them.

She put the herbs back in the boxes and took out her phone to call her assistant, "Ryan, please come to my house tomorrow. I have some herbs to take to the lab."

"Okay, doctor."

"Is the construction completed? When can we go to the lab?"

In order not to expose her, Philip specially built a new laboratory in Los Angeles for her and it was in a covert place. When she suddenly got these rare herbs today, she just couldn't wait to use them to develop new drugs.

"It should be finished this week. I will inform you as soon as I get the notice."

“Recently, the research and development of new drugs in Glory Group has come to a standstill. We couldn’t reach Mr. Johnson. The vice president just contacted me and asked if you can go to the company to direct the development of new drugs. What do you think?” Ryan asked.

“Where has he been to? Couldn’t reach him?” Natalie poured herself a glass of water.

Was he dumped? Could Philip be hurt so badly? It reminded her of the embarrassment that no one answered when she called him just now.

Natalie sighed, “I see. I’ll go when I’m free.”

She had planned to pay a visit when she got the news. After all, she was part of Glory....

At the same time, Julian parked the car at the door of the apartment. Niki got out of the car reluctantly. She pulled Julian’s sleeves and said, “Julian, you really don’t come in with me? Just have a rest. It’s not good for your health to work all the time.”

Julian pinched his nose, “There are really a lot of things to deal with in the company recently...”

Niki moved closer to Julian and drew circles with her fingers on the man’s pure black suit. “I don’t want you to work so hard...”

Julian lowered his head slightly and pulled the woman out of his arms. His tone was calm. “There are some issues with the clinical trials. As the CEO of the company, I have to deal with these things.”

Seeing that Julian still insisted to leave, Niki blinked her eyes looked straight at the man in front of her. She said in a sweet voice, “Niki just wants to spend a little more time with you. You can’t even do that for me?”

Julian thought for a moment, and apparently he didn’t know what to do with the woman. So he looked at Niki, who was pleading, and reluctantly compromised. “Then you could go to the company with me.”

? Um-mm well, although she wanted Julian to go upstairs with her, she could accept it if she could go to the company with him. Maybe she could sleep in the lounge of the office with him.

“Okay,” Niki smiled brightly, “I promise I won’t disturb you.”

When the car arrived at the company, Niki followed Julian upstairs. It was her first time to come to the CEO's office.

Sitting at the desk, with one hand propping her chin, Niki looked at Julian who was carefully reading documents in front of the desk. His features were almost perfect, almost like a Greek statue.

Looking at the man's face, Niki thought of something. She stood up, made a cup of coffee and carefully put it on his desk. But for some reason, she failed to hold it steadily, and hot coffee spilled on her dress.

Niki exclaimed.

Hearing this, Julian stood up in a hurry and wiped his face with a tissue. "Why are you so careless? Are you hurt?"

"Julian, I didn't mean to. I just wanted to make a cup of coffee for you. Please don't blame me..." Niki shook her head as she said, "it's not hot... I brought you after I wait till it got cold."

Julian didn't know whether there were scalds so he was still a little worried. He stood up and picked up the phone. "Ask the doctor to come to the office now."

Niki shook her head, "It's really nothing. There's no need to be so troublesome. It's just that my clothes was in a mess..."

Julian touched her head and picked up the phone again. "Bring a lady's dress and I'll text you the size."

Not long after, the doctor came with a medical kit. When she saw Niki sitting on the chair, she was confused for a moment, but soon she returned to her usual look.

She carefully checked Niki's body, and took out some ice cubes. "Mr. Graham, this lady is fine, and there is no scald. Her skin is just a little red. If you are worried, we could use ice to make her feel better."

Niki nodded repeatedly. "Thank you, doctor. I told you that it was nothing serious but he insisted on calling you..." As Niki spoke, she gave a coquettish glance at Julian.

Julian withdrew his gaze and said, "Leave the clothes here. You can go now."

"Okay." The doctor put down the dress and walked out of the office without looking sideways.

A woman who looked like Mrs. Graham appeared in the CEO's office. And he called her here in such a hurry but this woman was clearly not hurt. The doctor thought to herself, 'Is that Mr. Graham's ex lover?

She had heard that Mrs. Graham was just a substitute, but she didn't believe that such a beautiful woman could be a substitute for someone?

But when she saw how the CEO treated this woman today, she finally believed it.....

Niki took the dress, glanced at Julian affectionately, who was already back to work. She then went into the lounge.

The sound of a woman changing clothes came from the lounge. Niki looked at herself in the mirror. Her hair was straggled on her shoulders. Under the pure white dress were her slim legs. She looked innocent and charming in this dress.

She looked at herself in the mirror and said slowly, "Julian, there's something wrong. Can you come in and help me?"

The door opened and Julian walked in. He saw the woman with her shoulders exposed standing in front of the mirror, a little uneasy. Her flawless back was also exposed, and her smooth skin was glowing under the light.

"Julian, help me zip it up please. I can't reach it..." Niki said in a trembling voice.

Julian's hand swept over her dress, and zipped it for her slowly upward. When the man's fingers accidentally touched her sensitive spot on the back, the chemistry suddenly grew between them.

Niki felt more assured then. According to her plan, the timing was just right....

Without hesitation, Niki turned her head, closed her eyes, pulled the man over and kissed him.

But before her lips reached his...

Unexpectedly, there was a knock on the door, and the zipper just reached the top so the man gently pushed her away.

“Someone is here,” said Julian in a low voice. He didn’t know why he felt a little irritable in the ambiguous atmosphere?

After saying that, Julian walked out silently, leaving Niki stunned.

Chapter 32 Graham Group was in trouble

Niki hadn’t recovered from the moment she was pushed away by Julian.

Why did they knock at the door just at this moment?! Niki was furious.

She tidied up her clothes and maintained a calm look. She followed Julian out of the lounge.

“Mr. Graham, I got some bad news...” The assistant knocked on the door while speaking. Before he could finish her words, the door of the office suddenly opened.

The president’s expressionless face appeared in front of him. He looked over his shoulder and saw a woman in a pure white dress.

This woman looked like Mrs. Graham! He couldn’t help but take a few more glances at the woman standing next to him. She was very beautiful, with a delicate and lovely face.

The assistant couldn’t help but think of the face of the CEO’s wife, similarly gorgeous and charming. The conflict on her face made her look much more aloof than the lady beside the CEO though.

After observing carefully, the assistant sighed in his mind that although the two of them looked alike, they were just similar in some ways. Mrs. Graham was more of Mr. Graham’s type.

But why did this woman appear in the CEO’s office at this time? Could it be... The assistant was shocked.

“What’s the matter?” The assistant was brought to his senses by Julian’s deep voice.

The assistant finally remembered why he was here. He patted his head and said anxiously, “Boss, there is something wrong with the laboratory!”

“What?” Julian’s calm expression suddenly changed. Niki sensed that there was something wrong with Julian’s tone, so she turned to look at the man.

“Wasn’t everything going on well at the meeting yesterday? What could go wrong?” Julian said angrily, looking at his assistant with a gloomy face.

He seldom lost his temper in front of his employees in the company, but now when he heard the news, he was obviously out of control.

In the past two years, the company had been dedicated to the research and development of this anti-cancer drug, and had invested a lot of money in it. The Graham Group’s future was wagered on this drug, and he would never allow any mistake to happen to this project.

The assistant got nervous. He worked overtime for nights, and still the clinical test was not going well, which the CEO attached great importance to. He even accidentally broke some secrets that could not be told.

He almost cried in his heart.

The assistant answered, “There’s something wrong with the clinical test...”

Hearing this, Julian frowned. “I’ve told you so many times before! How could it still go wrong while so many people are watching over it. Call the person in charge to the office immediately!”

“Okay, I’ll call him right now.” The assistant hurriedly ran out of the office.

Julian noticed Niki was standing aside. His voice was still filled with anger. Obviously, he was furious about the bad news. “I have some meetings later. Niki, you can go back to your apartment now.”

“I’ll call the driver to wait for you downstairs. You can go now.”

Why does it have to go wrong the day when she comes to the company with Julian? Why does it have to happen at the most critical moment? Niki clenched her nails into her flesh.

But she didn’t dare to say anything when she saw Julian’s gloomy face. Niki lowered her eyes and said obediently, “Well, Julian, take care of yourself. I’m leaving now...”

Niki walked out of the office step by step reluctantly...

As soon as she walked out of the office, the person in charge arrived gingerly. He looked up and saw the CEO was reading some documents with a gloomy face. His hands were trembling uncontrollably, and he didn't even notice that there was someone walking out.

"Boss, there is something wrong with the clinical test for the anti-cancer drugs..."

After saying that, the man immediately lowered his head and stared at the floor, not daring to look at Julian's face at all.

"Cut the crap! I know something is wrong. Tell me what exactly happened!" Julian's voice was extremely cold and intimidating.

"The dosage was not well controlled, and it didn't go well during the joint test, causing the entire clinical test to fail..." The person in charge lowered his head.

Julian looked dispirited but his voice was still calm. "So the development has to be delayed because of this little hiccup? How long will it cost us?"

This project was of great importance to the Graham Group which hadn't developed its own medicine in the field of cancer. Previously, the company's main medicine, New Bleomycin Drug, was authorized by Glory Group. Now that its own project went wrong... Julian's heart sank and he was full of anger.

"At least two more years..."

Two years?!! It would be too late!

The man's eyes darkened, his eyebrows covered with a layer of coldness, and his whole body also emitted an inhospitable air. "Do you think you're responsible for this failure?"

"Yes..." The man in charge said in a trembling voice. He knew that the drug was of great importance to the Graham Group and his body was shaking uncontrollably.

*You can fuck off now. Don't appear in front of me again." Julian said in a very cold voice, without even considering the fact that this man had been working in the company for nearly forty years.

The Graham Group didn't need such an employee.

“Mr. Graham, I... the person in charge wanted to say something He raised his head and saw the man’s unfriendly face, sensing that he would not even leave decently if he were to say anything. The man lowered his head and turned around awkwardly.

Julian picked up the phone, “Inform all the senior executives to have a meeting tomorrow morning!”

The next day, in the meeting room on the top floor of the Graham Group.

Sitting in the chair and listening to the vice president’s report on the fallure of the drug development, Julian fell into silence.

The vice president continued, “Boss, there is one more thing I have to tell you...”

Julian looked up indifferently and said, “What?”

“Our contract with Glory on New Bleomycin Drug is due to expire next year. According to the plan, we can successfully launch our own patent drug before the expire. But now it seems that we can’t.”

“The development of this main drug has failed, and the following relevant ones have to be dropped as well. In addition, we’re also about to lose our company’s best-selling one, New Bleomycin Drug. I’m afraid this is...”

The tension in the meeting room became high the moment he finished his words. The whole room was silent as if even a pin dropping could be heard. For a moment, everyone could only hear themselves breathing.

Julian’s eyes were even colder, and his anger rose to the peak. He tried hard to hold back his anger, “Did I ask you to make more backup plans but you ignored my advice?”

Everyone was silent, and no one dared to speak.

The consequence of this failure was too serious. They didn’t have a solution at all, and they couldn’t find a genius who could quickly develop new drugs within a year, so they didn’t dare to take the initiative to speak in this situation.

The news that the person in charge of this project was fired yesterday had spread all over the company.

Looking at the silent board, Julian was even more angry. He frowned and said, “Get out. The vice president stays.”

All the senior executives immediately stood up and left, and the vice president stood beside Julian.

“What do you think?” Julian was rubbing his nose with one hand. Obviously, he was very tired.

They had to face the fact that the company didn’t have an outstanding research team.

But he couldn’t allow the Graham Group to return to the state when his father died.

“Boss, there is only one way for us. We can ask Glory for longer authorization. If there is really no other way...”

The vice president opened his mouth.

Ask for longer authorization?

Julian kept silent for a moment, as if he had compromised, “Well, let my assistant arrange for a dinner. Find a nice restaurant. Don’t fuck it again.”

After the vice president left, Julian leaned against the back of the sofa chair and frowned at the heavy traffic outside the office building. No one could tell what he was thinking from his face.

Chapter 33 Chief expert of Glory Group

After a while, the assistant came in.

“Mr. Graham, I just got in touch with Glory Group. They said that their boss isn’t at home and they don’t know where he is.”.

“Not at home?” Julian frowned.

“Are you sure they are telling the truth? Or do Philip find an excuse not to meet us?”
Said Julian, looking up at his assistant.

The assistant scratched his head and replied, “It’s true. They haven’t seen Philip for days. I also thought of this and asked several other companies. But they haven’t seen Philip either.”

Julian frowned deeper. He turned the silver cufflink shining with cold light in his sleeve and waved at his assistant, "Go out please."

In the morning, Natalie received a call from Ryan, saying that the lab had been completed. She couldn't wait to see it and drove to the lab.

Ryan had been waiting for her downstairs. Although he was her assistant, he hadn't seen her for three years and had been working on a project alone.

At that time, he had just graduated from a top university with a doctor's degree. Against his parents' wishes, he insisted on entering the pharmacy industry without taking over the family business.

He gave up everything his parents gave him and worked hard among a group of graduates with doctorate. Finally, he managed to enter the company that countless medicine students dreamed of.

Fortunately, on the first day he came to the company, Philip announced that he would choose an assistant among the new trainees. That assistant would work with the expert of Glory Group, who owned countless projects, resources, connections. More importantly, he would learn a lot from the expert.

He tried his best to stand out and got the position.

To his surprise, this expert was the chief expert of Glory Group!

He had thought that he was lucky enough to be the assistant of the chief expert. After working for a few years, he knew that she had another identity, a very famous but very low-key expert in the world. No one had seen her before, but her various research was world-famous and let everyone know her existence.

He had admired her since he was a child.

He had never thought of connecting the two of them, but after knowing the truth, he thought it was reasonable. It turned out that the reason why Glory Group could always be the leader of the industry was clear.

Ryan stood at the door expressionlessly. Although he had already been promoted and was no longer just an intern, he was still very nervous and was just pretending to be calm.

As soon as he saw the car far away, he hurried forward to open the door of the garage. The car slowly drove in, and Ryan strode to keep up with it.

When the car stopped, Natalie got out of the car. Ryan looked up and found that Natalie was still as beautiful as three years ago, which was amazing.

But she gave him a different temperament which he couldn't tell exactly.

"It's been a long time since I last saw you." Said Natalie with a smile.

Looking up, Ryan saw a faint smile on her face, like the spring breeze, with a gentle and touching feeling.

Maybe she didn't change? Looking at the familiar smile on her face, Ryan was a little stunned.

"Let's go in. I can't wait to see what it looks like in the lab." Seeing that Ryan was a little absent-minded, Natalie waved at him.

She knew that there was respect in his heart for her and had been trying to make him less stressed. In fact, she hoped that he would treat her as a friend.

"Well, let's go inside."

"Oh, by the way, help me find a set of lab clothes." As she spoke, she put on a mask and walked in the elevator to the lab.

"Okay, I've already prepared it." Said Ryan, who followed closely behind her and carefully handed a set of lab clothes.

He was still very nervous.

Natalie took the clothes and said, "The medicinal materials I told you last time were put in my trunk. You don't have to look for them any more and can move them in by the way."

Ryan nodded and turned around to fetch the medicinal materials.

After changing into the lab clothes, Natalie walked into the lab, which was very big, even a little luxurious. There were all kinds of pharmaceutical equipment in it, including the latest equipment she had seen on the magazine.

"Doctor, where can we save the medicinal materials?"

Natalie pointed to the place. After putting down the herbs, Ryan looked around and said, "Doctor, what do you think of this lab?"

Natalie carefully looked at all kinds of equipment and said, "It's good. These equipment means that Philip has spent a lot of time and energy."

Some equipment couldn't be bought with money. For example, the smaller device in her hands were only available from the equipment company in New York.

Hearing her answer, Ryan nodded.

Seeing that Natalie was still observing the equipment, he said seemingly inadvertently, "Can I be your assistant and work with you in the future?"

Chapter 33 Chief expert of Glory Groun

Ryan said word by word with obvious nervousness.

Looking at Ryan, who was even a little stuttering when speaking, a smile appeared on her face, but she was afraid that if she laughed, Ryan would be more nervous. So she still maintained a gentle expression and said, "Of course. Otherwise, why did I ask you to bring me here today?"

Ryan blushed and scratched his head shyly. "Thank you."

Walking out of the lab, Natalie waved at Ryan and said, "You can leave now. I have something to deal with and I'll call you when I come to the lab."

Ryan was happy and nodded hard, "Okay, please take care."

In the future, he would be able to work with her and he couldn't help but feel happy, even bouncing up.

Seeing Ryan leave, Natalie took out her phone and dialed the number of Julian.

She had been called to the Graham family by the police before, but she was so careless that she only took the divorce agreement prepared by Niki and forgot Julian's.

She took it with her today, wanting to call Julian to take it or send it to him since she had nothing else to do.

The sooner they got divorced, the better. She didn't want to delay it too long.

The phone rang.

Julian was reading documents at his desk. He had just called Dylan and asked him to find the number of Philip's personal assistant's.

Unlike him, Dylan was unruly and had a wide range of contacts as a lawyer. He could get all kinds of information in Los Angeles.

Julian took out his phone and saw Natalie's name on the screen.

It seemed that Natalie couldn't pretend anymore.

Did she call him and beg him not to divorce? Why didn't she give up? The constant entanglement and pleading would only make him more disgusted with her..

Julian was already very upset because of the failure in the development of the medicine and the authorization expiration of the main medicine. Seeing the call, he was even more upset.

Julian hung up the phone decisively.

He didn't want to listen to her pleading.

Chapter 34 He didn't know her?

Julian hung up the phone and didn't answer her phone?

What did he mean? Natalie blinked her eyes, unable to figure it out.

Was it because Niki stopped him? Or he just didn't want to answer her phone?

Looking at the page on which the phone was hung up, Natalie shook her head. Didn't he want the divorce agreement?

He hung up the phone quickly, but she still wanted a divorce!

After complaining a few words, she put her phone back into the bag with a little anger and then drove the car out of the garage.

It came to her that she seemed to have ignored Julian's message before. No wonder he hung up on her.

After putting herself in his place, Natalie calmed down and was not as angry as before.

She'd better go there in person.

She had been to Graham Group many times before, but the assistant had been waiting for her at the door of the special passageway for the boss. She had never entered the company through the front door like an employee.

She was not very clear about the phone number of the assistant, so she was sure that she couldn't enter through the private passage as before.

Natalie opened the glass door and walked in.

The receptionist sat on the chair and didn't look up at all, only seeing a figure. She asked casually, "Who are you looking for?"

"I want to see Julian."

The receptionist raised her head and saw the woman in front of her clearly.

It was a beautiful woman with a delicate face. Working as a receptionist for a long time, she had seen all kinds of beautiful women, but she had never seen someone more beautiful than this woman.

But she was looking for Julian? The receptionist's eyes became strange.

Humph, no matter how beautiful she was, she was just an over confident woman.

The receptionist suppressed the disdain and said expressionlessly, "You can't see Mr. Graham as you want. Do you have an appointment?"

Hearing this, Natalie frowned. She really didn't have an appointment.

She smiled, "Sorry, I don't have an appointment for the time being. Is there any other way to see Mr. Graham?"

The receptionist sneered in her heart.

She had seen a lot of such kind of women. Every month, many good-looking women came to see Julian, thinking that they were the Cinderella in fairy tales and would be lucky to be loved by the prince at first sight.

Of course, there were women from rich families. They thought that they were superior to others because of their wealth. With good appearance, they believed that they would definitely make Mr. Graham fall in love.

But what was the truth?

Mr. Graham never looked at them, and they didn't even have the chance to meet him.

Many women were infatuated with Mr. Graham, but he was so indifferent that even if they were lucky to see him, they would only be dejected in his cold eyes.

Well, she had seen a lot of such women, and the woman in front of her was just one of them.

'I'm sorry. You can't see Mr. Graham without an appointment. Please come again another day.' The receptionist replied with disgust in her eyes. Although she was trying to hide it, it was still obvious.

Apparently, Natalie sensed the mockery in the receptionist's words and expression. She understood that she was treated as the shameless woman who came to seduce Julian.

As a receptionist in such a big company for a long time, it was very likely that she would subconsciously feel that she was superior to others and look down on others. Natalie was very clear in her heart.

She didn't want to quarrel with the receptionist. The receptionist had to change her mind, but someone would teach her the lesson in the future at a high price.

She turned around, found out Julian's number and dialed it again.

The receptionist raised her eyebrows, and the irony in her eyes was more obvious. She refused her, but this woman still insisted on staying.

The phone rang for a long time, but no one answered. Natalie's face darkened.

She continued to speak patiently, "Please help me inform Mr. Graham that Natalie is here to send him the divorce agreement."

The receptionist raised her eyebrows and felt that this was the funniest joke she had ever heard in the world.

She rolled her eyes in her heart. This woman was not only over confident, but also paranoid?

The divorce agreement? Did she mean that she married Mr. Graham? Was she crazy?

The receptionist picked up the phone reluctantly and dialed the number of the boss's office. Her tone instantly became very gentle. "Hello, this is the receptionist. I want to find the boss's assistant."

The assistant took the phone, and he heard a polite female voice on the phone. "A lady came downstairs this way, saying that her name is Natalie and wanted to see Mr. Graham. Please inform him."

Natalie quietly listened to the receptionist reporting to the assistant.

When the assistant heard the name of the woman, his voice was a little loud. "Is that woman named Natalie?"

He just saw another woman standing next to Mr. Graham yesterday, and today his wife came to the company. Could it be her?

He couldn't make up his mind and didn't dare to make a rash decision.

The assistant cautiously came to the side of Julian with the phone in his hand. "Mr. Graham, there's a phone call from the receptionist. It's said that a woman named Natalie has arrived at the company. I think that's your wife, but don't know if you agree to let her go upstairs."

When Julian heard the name of Natalie, disgust appeared in his eyes again, deeper than just now.

She should have known what he meant since the phone wasn't answered. Why did she keep pestering him and even come to the company to make trouble?

If she kept pestering him like this, not only would he not be softhearted, but he would also hate her more. Why didn't she understand it?

She spent all her time on how to persuade him to stay and doing these meaningless things! Was there only love in her mind?

Bearing the impatience in his eyes, Julian took the phone and said, "Don't let her come up. I'm not free. Let her go.

Hearing this, the receptionist understood that it was indeed the same ending as those women. She replied softly, "Okay, Mr. Graham."

After hanging up the phone, she no longer hid her mockery, and even didn't look at the man in front of her at all. "I'm sorry. Mr. Graham said he didn't know you. Are you mistaken? Why don't you go to other companies and have a look?"

This woman looked gentle and well-dressed, but she turned out to be a material girl.

She hated this kind of woman who always wanted to marry a rich man by crooked ways and didn't work hard. to earn money. It was really shameless.

Seeing the attitude of the receptionist was getting worse, Natalie took a deep breath and didn't want to explain to her anymore.

But why did Julian say that he didn't know her?

Natalie sneered. It was so humiliating for her to send the divorce agreement by herself!

Natalie didn't want to stay any longer, picked up her bag and walked away.

The receptionist looked coldly at the woman who turned around and was about to leave. The mockery on her face was obvious.

"Natalie? Why are you here?" A voice sounded when she took a step.

Hearing the voice, Natalie and the receptionist turned their heads at the same time.

Chapter 35 A poor and powerless orphan

With a smile on her face, Niki came to send some desserts to Julian, but she didn't expect to witness it. She was overjoyed to see the embarrassed expression of Natalie.

When the receptionist called the CEO's office, her heart was hanging in the air, fearing that Julian still loved Natalie.

To her surprise, Natalie was refused by Julian, making her very happy.

It seemed that Julian didn't care about Natalie any more!

Hearing the words, Natalie turned her head and saw the girl with a bright smile on her face, a familiar face.

Why did she meet Niki again?

Natalie glanced at Niki up and down and saw that she was holding a very exquisite wooden food box, which was obviously used to contain desserts.

Did Niki come to bring some desserts to Julian?

She said so harshly that day, and the evidence had been presented, which she almost slapped on Julian's face. Why did Niki appear in front of her with a smile in just a few days?

How could she be so shameless? Natalie even doubted if the woman who cried that day was Niki.

"Why are you here? And why don't you come in?" Niki asked knowingly.

Natalie raised his eyebrows and said, "I'm here to deliver something."

Niki nodded and smiled more brightly, "Wow, but why don't you send it in?"

Frowning, Natalie didn't respond to Niki's words. She looked at Niki and asked, "Wasn't I ruthless enough that day? Why are you still here? Aren't you afraid that Julian will drive you out?"

Hearing this, Niki smiled more happily and even a little complacent. "Oh? Do you think that Julian will drive me out?"

After saying that, her eyes turned from mockery to a little pity. "But I heard that Julian just said on the phone.

that he wanted you to go out, right?"

Natalie tried her best to destroy her perfect image in front of Julian, but the degree to which Julian loved and cared for her was far beyond Natalie's imagination!

How could her deep relationship with Julian collapse so easily? How could Natalie's short three years of companionship be comparable?

Moreover, Natalie was just a substitute after she went abroad. A substitute who wanted to compete for love must overestimate herself.

A substitute should behave herself, not just blindly longing for the love. It was simply wishful for a substitute to separate the love and even turn her down.

Looking at the triumphant expression on Niki's face, Natalie was confused.

Obviously, Niki didn't seem to be afraid of being driven out by Julian. She even mocked her more confidently than before.

There was only one reason that Julian had forgiven her. Did he love Niki so much?

Natalie sneered. He was so crazy that he couldn't even think clearly.

The receptionist stood aside and looked at the two women coldly.

Seeing that Niki still wanted to speak, the receptionist said with disdain, "Ladies, if you want to quarrel, please go outside, or I'll call the security."

They just wanted to win Julian's favor.

The woman with the food box in her hand was also good-looking. Although she was not as beautiful as the material girl just now, she was one of the best.

There were also women who quarreled in the hall like today in order to compete for Julian. But they were all thrown out by the security guards.

Hearing such arrogant words, Niki turned to the receptionist, "Are you the receptionist of Graham Group?"

"Why are you so arrogant at work? You can leave now. Graham Group doesn't need an employee like you."

Hearing Niki's words, Natalie raised her eyebrows. How could she strut around before she married Julian?

The receptionist was amused by Niki's words, "Who are you? How can you fire me?"

Niki didn't want to talk to her anymore. She took out her phone from her bag and dialed the number of Julian. Then she waved the phone to the receptionist and said, "See? This is your boss's phone number."

The receptionist didn't think so and sneered.

Why was there another woman with a morbid imagination? Was she crazy?

Niki put the phone on speaker.

She wanted to make the receptionist, the bodyguards at the door, and more importantly, Niki, understand her position in Julian's heart.

"Niki?" The man asked in a low voice.

"Julian, I'm downstairs and I've just learned to make some simple desserts, so I specially made some for you," Niki said in a sweet voice.

"You are downstairs now? Just ask Gina to do this and you don't need to take so much effort." The receptionist could clearly hear that there was a trace of tiredness in Julian's gentle voice, but he still said patiently.

Niki looked at the receptionist with complacency in her eyes and said again, "I can't help you with your work, but can only make some desserts to make you happy. It's really my good intention."

Hearing the man's voice from the phone, the receptionist widened her eyes. Did the woman really know Mr. Graham? Since the man's words were so gentle, was she really Mr. Graham's girlfriend?

Julian smiled, "Then bring it up. Do you need me to send an assistant to pick you up?"

"I think... Julian, you'd better ask your assistant to pick me up. The receptionist is so fierce that she even satirized me."

The receptionist's face turned pale.

"Julian, are all the employees in the company treating the guests like this? I know that I shouldn't interfere, but I feel that such attitude will damage the image of our company."

*Really?" Said Julian, frowning.

"I don't think such a person should stay in Graham Group..." Niki gave a hint.

"I see. I will find someone to thoroughly investigate this receptionist. If that's the case, I will never tolerate it."

The receptionist was a little relieved when she heard that Mr. Graham didn't ask her to resign immediately, but she didn't dare to show it too obviously, for fear of irritating Mr. Graham's girlfriend again.

Niki wanted to say something but stopped on a second thought, not satisfied with the answer.

Noticing that Niki's eyes flashed when she heard this answer, Natalie raised her eyebrows and felt it a little funny.

Niki thought that as long as she mentioned it, Julian would immediately fire the receptionist.

It seemed that she didn't know what kind of person Julian was when it came to work.

Perhaps Niki knew well about Julian's living habits, but in terms of work, she obviously didn't know his working principles. It had to be said that he had a clear distinction between life and work. If she made trouble out of nothing and didn't even pay attention, she might irritate him in an instant.

"I'll ask my assistant to pick you up now." Since Julian hung up the phone after he finished his words, Niki had to hold back the words she was about to say.

With an unnatural look, Niki put down her cell phone. She was not as complacent as before, but she still cleared her throat and said in an inexplicable arrogant voice, "Did you hear that? When Julian knows your usual work performance, you will be fired."

She turned to look at Natalie and said, "I'm sorry, Natalie. Julian made it clear on the phone that he didn't want you to go to his office. I really want to take you upstairs, but I don't dare to disobey him."

"But I really admire your perseverance. You are abandoned by Julian, but you are still willing to give up your dignity to come here. You must love him very much, right?"

Hearing her strange words, Natalie felt sick.

Niki continued, "Oh, an orphan like you, who is neither rich nor powerful, must have to hold on to the only excellent and rich man in your life."

Chapter 35 A poor and powerless orphan

The assistant came downstairs in a hurry and heard the words clearly.

Chapter 36 Fabricated authorization

Was she an orphan? The assistant was surprised.

"Don't you feel ashamed by saying that? Don't you feel guilty?" Said Natalie, feeling that she had never known Niki and had never seen such a shameless person.

How could she say these words without changing her face? And she was so confident.

Noticing the assistant's figure, Niki smiled and said, "Why do I feel guilty? It seems that you are more guilty than me. Since you can do these things, don't be afraid of others."

The assistant slightly bent over and walked up to her. "Miss Linch, Mr. Graham asked me to pick you up."

After saying that, he stood there without looking sideways, as if he really didn't know Natalie.

Glancing at the assistant, Natalie sneered in her heart.

They were all snobbish people.

"Thank you so much." Niki said, nodding slightly. Then she took a look at Natalie with an inexplicable look in her eyes.

"It's not troublesome. It's my great honor to pick you up."

He had roughly understood what Julian was thinking and had silently chosen to stand on the side of Niki. He felt that it was much better than choosing the one who was powerless and was about to be abandoned.

Hearing the assistant's words, Niki put on a reserved smile and said, "Let's go upstairs. Don't make Julian wait too long."

She walked into the special elevator for Mr. Graham, and the assistant trotted to keep up with her.

Seeing that, Natalie shook her head and sighed in her heart.

She had sent the divorce agreement to the company, which was pushed out by Niki herself. Niki wanted her to divorce with Julian so much, but it turned out that she messed it up.

She couldn't blame anyone for not seizing the good opportunity.

But what Natalie said that day was so clear, and the evidence was also very clear. How could Julian not care and accept Niki without any hesitation?

Was Niki somebody? Or did Julian lose his mind because of love? Or was Niki really so hard for him to give up? A smile appeared on the corner of Natalie's mouth. Well, she could only respect and bless him.

She only hoped that Julian could take good care of his family's property and not be taken by Niki.

After all, it was her painstaking efforts for three years, and also the painstaking efforts of Henry.

She also hoped that Julian could take good care of the elders and fulfill his duty. As for other things, she didn't care at all.

Chapter 36 Fabricated authorization

In this way, she could also do some filial piety for Henry.

Thinking of Henry, Natalie couldn't keep calm any more, and her heart seemed to be firmly gripped by sadness. Compared to what Henry had done for Graham Group, what she had done with guilt was nothing.

Natalie tried to calm down. She took a deep breath, put on her sunglasses and was about to leave, but she bumped into two older people, a man and a woman.

The man was tall, medium height, well-dressed, with a pair of slender eyes and a red face, looking very rich.

The woman looked much younger and must pay much attention to maintenance. The bag in her hand was very expensive. But her eyes reflected an inexplicable sense of cunning.

Natalie stopped and recognized the two people at a glance, Rudy and Yvonne?

Her eyes widened. Why did they come to the company?!

But the surprise only lasted for a moment. She quickly calmed down and brushed past the two people, pretending to be expressionless.

They were obviously discussing something, and didn't notice who was passing by. Within several steps, they stopped and sat aside.

Natalie walked over quietly and sat down behind them.

As the shareholders of Graham Group, Rudy and Yvonne were also the uncle and aunt of Julian.

Since the accident of William, they had been coveting the position of the leader of Graham Group. So they had been busy in the Graham family, and had also shown a lot of courtesy to Grandpa Graham.

But they didn't expect that Grandpa Graham would give the position to Julian. As a result, they were so angry from embarrassment that they even provoked Julian in the company for many times. It was the worst time when Natalie just married into the Graham family.

At that time, in order to make Julian the boss, Natalie gave them a large amount of money, which was enough for them to live a comfortable life in the next few decades.

They had promised her that they would never appear in Graham Group again. How could they go back? What were they going to do?

“Is your information accurate this time?” Sitting next to Rudy, Yvonne asked indifferently.

“Of course. Yesterday, Julian held a meeting in the company and All the employees knew about it. If you don’t believe me, you can ask any of them.” Rudy said with certainty.

“That’s good. I have told you that Grandpa Graham shouldn’t have given such an important position to Julian. What does such a young man know? How can he be relieved to give such a big company to him?” Yvonne was excited.

Rudy sighed, “Grandpa Graham is so stupid. How could such a situation happen today if I were the boss? Shouldn’t he prepare in advance for such an important thing as expired authorization? There is no corresponding plan at all.”

Natalie raised her eyes and looked at the two people in front of her.

Expired authorization? That must be the main drug of Graham Group, New Bleomycin Drug, which was indeed authorized by Glory Group.

But she remembered that it would be expired next year and how could they be in such a hurry? Couldn’t Graham Group develop new drugs before this? At the last exchange meeting, she heard that they was developing new drugs.

Rudy said these words in an excited tone. As if he felt that his voice was a little loud, he lowered his voice, “As long as we negotiate with him this time, he must agree to everything we ask!”

“This position must be mine.”

Natalie lowered her eyes and looked a little angry.

How could they be authorized by Glory Group! This medicine was developed by her. If they wanted to get the authorization, she had to sign it. Since she had never signed it, it was obviously fabricated!

They even planned to negotiate with Julian with a fake authorization certificate. How could they come up with such a shameful method? It was really a shame to the Graham family.

Back then, she had given them so much money and they promised that they would never disturb Julian and the development of the Graham Group again. It had only been a short time before they broken the agreement. How shameless they were!

Yvonne nodded but was still worried. "What if the fabricated authorization is recognized? Are you sure it's workable?"

Rudy's eyes were firm. "Who can find out that? The boss of Glory Group isn't in Los Angeles. Where can he tell whether it's true or not? Besides, we can only give him a look."

"Julian signed his name on the document that he gave up the position first, and then we gave him the certificate How could I be so stupid to give it to him first?"

Rudy said with a smile, as if the position was right his.

Natalie sneered. It was really a great plan.

Chapter 37 Interfering in Graham Group

Natalie stood up.

She was very shameless about the behavior and thoughts of the two people.

But when she stood up, she hesitated. It was obviously not a wise choice to rashly appear in front of them.

She didn't show up before, but found someone else to give the money. If she showed up now, her identity would be exposed.

But even if she asked others to do this, they might blackmail her again. Although she didn't lack the money, she didn't want to give it to such a greedy person for no reason.

Was there any way to stop them?

With her eyelashes drooping, Natalie sat down again. Perhaps she could check if they had any other companies under their names?

She didn't mind starting with their company. According to their personalities, they must have done something illegal, and it was inevitable that there was evidence.

With an obvious smile on his face, Rudy said, "Even if we failed, I still have other ways to achieve the position."

Raising her eyebrows, Yvonne put down the bag on her arm. Obviously, her curiosity was aroused. "Really?"

Tell me."

Rudy smiled and said mysteriously, "I'll tell you in detail when this method doesn't work. You just need to know that we have many ways to make Julian let go of his position. Later, we can boldly negotiate with him.

Don't be frightened by him with a few words."

Hearing this, the eyes of Natalie deepened. It seemed that Rudy was well prepared, and he was determined to get the position.

Hearing this, Yvonne nodded and looked at him with satisfaction. "Then I'm relieved. Wish us a pleasant cooperation."

Rudy grinned happily and made a gesture of welcome to her.

Frowning, Natálie had a complicated feeling.

Since she had decided to divorce and break up with the Graham family, she should not interfere in this matter.

But when she heard that the Graham family was in such a difficult situation, she could not be calm at all.

Natalie was very clear about what would happen to Graham Group after Rudy took over the power. Rudy had done countless ridiculous things in the past. Not to mention whether he had the ability to manage such a big company, his greed and hypocrisy could tell that Graham Group would not survive in his hands.

It made sense that grandpa didn't want to hand over the company to Rudy, who was obviously older, but to Chapter 37 haterfering in Graham Group the young Julian.

Natalie was also very clear how much Henry loved his family. As long as she thought that everything that he cared about would be destroyed, and even his family would be turned upside down, she would feel extremely sad.

Yvonne stood up and walked towards the elevator, followed by Rudy with a confident smile.

At the same time, Niki followed the assistant to the floor where the CEO's office of Graham Group was located.

When Niki pushed the door open, she saw that Julian was reading documents tiredly in front of his desk. She put the desserts on the table, and then walked quietly towards him.

After she approached Julian, she slowly touched his eyes with her fair hands and said in a sweet voice,

"Guess who's here."

Julian removed the woman's hand expressionlessly, and was not in the mood to interact with Niki apparently.

Feeling that Julian was in a bad mood, Niki put down her arm awkwardly and said, "I'm here to bring some desserts to you."

As she spoke, she quickly walked to the table, picked up the food box with desserts and put it on the desk of Julian.

Niki opened the box carefully, the fragrance lingering in the office. The inner part of the box was divided into -eight cells, and each cell was filled with different cakes with incomparably exquisite style. Obviously, she was very attentive.

She took out a piece of sugar fried cake and said, "Julian, I made it for you. I remember you used to like it most."

Julian looked up at the sweet cake and frowned subconsciously.

He hadn't had any sweet food since Niki went abroad quietly.

In the past, Niki liked desserts very much and took him to eat all kinds of desserts every day, which made him, who didn't like desserts, gradually accept all kinds of cakes and candy. But since Niki disappeared, he couldn't see sweet and greasy cakes any more, which would make him feel sick subconsciously.

The feeling of nausea came to him again..

Looking at the cake and Niki's smiling face in front of him, his eyes flickered. After hesitating for a long time, he finally nodded gently. "Thank you."

Julian took the piece of cake, but before putting it into his mouth, he smelt the sweet and greasy smell and subconsciously took it away.

Niki sensed that something was wrong. She asked in a hurry, "Julian, are you okay?"

Julian waved his hand and said, "I'm okay. I'm just not hungry. Put it here first and I'll eat it when I'm free." He put the cake back and continued to review the documents with a poker face.

Looking at the untouched delicate cakes, Niki was surprised. In the past three years, Julian had changed a lot.

On the surface, Julian didn't change at all, but when she got along with him carefully, she could feel that he had changed a lot. But fortunately, he still loved her.

Just the fact that he still loved her deeply made Niki more confident. Nobody could remain the same.

Now that she had come back, she had the confidence and qualification to make Julian what he used to be.

She must hold Julian's heart and body tightly!

Niki didn't change her expression. She blinked her eyes and slowly walked to the back of the office chair. She gently touched the man's shoulder and said, "Julian, you are always reading documents so tiredly, making me sad."

Julian was still expressionless when he heard the woman's sweet words, so no one could tell what he was thinking.

Niki didn't care whether Julian responded or not. She continued, "Darling, guess who I just met downstairs?"

"I met Natalie!" Seeing that the man still didn't respond, she continued to say.

“Although Natalie said she wanted a divorce, she still couldn’t let go of you. Otherwise, why did she come. here?”

Julian said indifferently, “I’ve clearly refused her, and I’ve also made it clear that there’s no possibility between her and me. It’s just that she doesn’t listen to my advice.”

Niki sighed, “She loves you so much. I just saw her standing there alone downstairs with obvious disappointment, which I couldn’t bear and felt sorry for.”

“But I love you very much and can’t give you to her. I even don’t want to see you stay with her. Am I too selfish?”

Chapter 38 Bump Into them

Hearing this, Julian Graham touched the woman’s soft hand and said, “You didn’t do anything wrong. It’s just that Natalie Spears is too stubborn.”

Niki Linch was satisfied. “Oh, by the way, when I came, I happened to see the receptionist humiliating Natalie. Although I didn’t like that she met you in the company, I didn’t like the receptionist bullying her. So I went forward to argue with the receptionist, I didn’t expect that the receptionist would insult me!”

Julian Graham nodded, “I know you are kind-hearted and don’t like such bullying things. Niki, don’t worry. I won’t forgive her if she really does such a thing.”

Since Niki was able to stand out for Natalie, it meant that she was not the kind of person who was affected by emotions. She had her own thoughts and principles. She wouldn’t deny one person just because she didn’t like someone in some way.

He liked all kinds of good qualities of Niki.

Julian Graham let go of Niki Linch’s hand and asked, “Is Natalie Spears still downstairs?”

Hearing this, Niki’s face changed, but her mood only fluctuated for a moment. “When I went upstairs with the assistant, she was still there.”

Julian Graham nodded.

‘Is she still unwilling to leave? How could this woman be willing to leave? Did she have to ask him to say those words again? She is too stubborn!’

Taking a look at Julian, Niki said, “Julian, why don’t you go downstairs and persuade Natalie? I’m afraid that she will take things too hard...”

Now that she had to put on a full play, she had shown her innocence just now, so she had to continue to pretend.

Julian Graham didn’t say anything.

Niki Linch grabbed his sleeve and said, “Julian, just take it as Niki’s request. You can go downstairs to see Natalie. Seeing her so sad, I feel bad.”

“But let’s make a deal first. After you go downstairs, you have to keep a distance from Natalie. I don’t want to pretend that I don’t care. Could you do it?”

Julian Graham smiled, “Okay, I’ll go downstairs and make it clear to her for you.”

This was the last time he had tried to persuade her. He had said everything he could, but Natalie Spears was unwilling to let him go. He was so busy with his work that he didn’t have the patience to explain everything to her.

Moreover, even if Natalie Spears didn’t want to divorce, she shouldn’t have found him in the company because of the family affairs. This was against his principle.

She loved him and had been in the Graham family for three years, but she couldn’t even figure out what kind of person he was. How could he have a crush on her?

Julian Graham stood up and was about to go downstairs to look for her.

In fact, Niki was still a little worried. She didn’t know if that woman would pester him or not. She whispered, “Julian, do you want me to go with you?”

Julian Graham shook his head, “Don’t worry. I’ll be back soon.”

After saying that, Julian Graham opened the door and walked out.

The assistant looked up and saw the president coming out of the office. He hurried forward and asked, "Mr.

Graham, where are you going? What can I do for you?"

'Miss Linch had just been in the office for a while. Why did Mr. Graham go out? Was he going downstairs to look for Natalie Spears?'

Julian Graham asked, "Have you finished your work? Show me the new drug planning case."

"Or you can help me find CEO of the Glory Group?" His words contained lots of indifference.

"No..." The assistant answered in a trembling voice.

"Then get out of here!"

Hearing this, the assistant didn't dare to say anything more. He returned to his seat and said, "Mr. Graham, I won't disturb you anymore."

Julian Graham pressed the button of the first floor. After a while, the elevator door opened and he bumped into two people.

'Uncle and aunt?! Why are they here?'

Natalie Spears adjusted her sunglasses and was hesitating whether she should get involved in this matter. When she looked up, she saw the elevator door open and a man in a black suit standing inside with an indifferent expression.

"Why did Julian Graham go downstairs?"

She moved to the back of the pillar in the hall in a hurry. She didn't want the man to see her.

Rudy Graham took a look and found the person was Julian.

It seemed that Julian couldn't wait to give him the position of CEO! Rudy Graham smiled.

Looking at the two people in front of him, Julian Graham asked in confusion, "Uncle, why are you here? Didn't you say that you wouldn't come to the Graham Group again?"

When he just became the president, his uncle and aunt gave him a hard time. They provoked him in the company, and even contradicted him.

But he didn't say anything because his father had just passed away. And because they were his father's brother and sister, he didn't want to keep a bad relationship with the relatives.

But when they saw that he didn't fight back, the two of them became more and more aggressive, and what they had done was more and more excessive. Some things even caused the stock of the Graham Group to fall again and again.

He couldn't stand it anymore and finally decided to stop them.

But when he started to fight back, he realized that it was too late. The two of them had already had a good relationship with all shareholders. No matter what he did, the two of them were not affected at all.

Just when he didn't know how to do and felt that he had failed his father's expectations, Rudy Graham and Yvonne Graham found him and said that they would never interfere in the Graham Group and let him to take charge of.

Although he was confused why they changed so fast, he was willing to accept their decision.

"But why did they come back to the company today?"

Rudy Graham said with a smile, "Julian, let's have a talk."

Julian Graham frowned and followed Rudy Graham to the side.

The three stopped. Rudy Graham winked at Yvonne Graham.

"How's your grandpa all keeping? I'm busy with my work, so I only went to see him once. I don't know my father's physical condition recently," she asked.

Julian Graham raised his eyebrows. 'The two of them came to the company to ask about Grandpa's health?

Why don't they just go back to the Graham's house to see Grandpa? Obviously, they had other intentions."

He answered, "Grandpa is still in the same condition. He hasn't recovered yet. You can go home to see him.

when you have time."

Yvonne Graham nodded, "Okay. I'll visit my father when I'm free."

Seeing that she was so gentle and didn't want to negotiate at all, Rudy Graham regretted that she failed to live up to his expectations and had to do it by himself!

He opened his mouth and wanted to talk about the negotiation by himself. Seeing his anxiety, she pulled down Rudy Graham's sleeve.

She knew her nephew very well. He was a typical man who would be persuaded by reason but not be cowed by force.

Julian Graham didn't want to talk to them anymore. His eyes ran down the hall, but didn't see Natalie Spears at all.

'She left?'

He looked away and said, "If you have anything to say, just say it. I'm busy recently and don't have much time to chat."

Yvonne Graham smiled and rubbed her hands and said, "Nothing serious. I heard that there is something wrong with the new drugs developed by our company recently."

Julian Graham frowned, "How do you know?"

He had blocked the news for a long time. No one knew it except the senior executives of the company.

Chapter 39 Expose her identity?

Yvonne Graham sneered, "I just heard about it. Is there anything wrong with the pharmacy of our company?"

Julian Graham glanced at her, pursed his lips and said nothing.

Seeing this, Rudy Graham couldn't hold back his words at all and spoke out his thoughts, "It's useless for you to hide it. Anyway, I know it. How are you going to explain it to your grandfather?"

Yvonne Graham could not stop Rudy Graham. She sighed and stood aside.

He had guessed that the two of them came here with ulterior motives, but he didn't expect that they couldn't pretend anymore?

Julian Graham sneered, "Now that you've asked, I have nothing to say."

It was indeed his fault that the medicine research failed, but he was fully capable to solve it. He planned to hire Sam Black at a high price. As long as he agreed to be the director of the the Graham Group's medicine, the failed medicine would be solved and the Graham Group would also be able to launch the main medicine.

It was just a matter of time.

He didn't know why they wanted to inquire about it. If they wanted to use it to make things difficult for him, it was definitely impossible for them to succeed.

Rudy Graham nodded with a smile, "You admitted this thing."

Standing behind the pillar, Natalie Spears listened to their conversation with a complicated expression on her face.

Julian Graham ignored Rudy Graham. He frowned and looked around again. Obviously, he didn't believe that Natalie Spears left without seeing him.

Julian Graham glanced around the hall and didn't see the figure of Natalie Spears at all. 'Did she really leave like this?"

Rudy Graham said again, "Since you admit it, how are you going to explain it to your grandfather?"

A trace of impatience appeared in Julian Graham's eyes. "What should I tell my grandfather? Who can guarantee that the medicine will be developed smoothly?"

Obviously, Rudy Graham was irritated by Julian Graham's attitude. He snapped, "You have taken over the the Graham Group for so many years, but you can't even develop a decent new drug. Don't you feel ashamed?"

Startled by the man's sudden raised voice, Yvonne Graham grabbed the man's sleeve and pulled him behind her. "Julian, your uncle just wants the Graham Group to run better. He was over the line. Don't mind."

With impatience all over his face, Julian Graham said, "Just tell me what you want."

From what Rudy Graham said just now, he had already guessed what they wanted. The blame in his words was so obvious that he just wanted to replace him. He wanted to be the CEO.

After a pause, he continued, "If you want to threaten me with the fact that the drug development failed, you can leave now."

With an awkward smile, she said, "Now that you've already guessed it, let's not beat about the bush. Although the performance of the Graham Group was better in the past few years since you took over it, the company still doesn't have its own scientific research talents. It won't be far from being able to develop new drugs in the future!"

"We are also considering the Graham Group. At least I think your uncle is more suitable for this position than you."

The reason why she didn't mention authorization till now was that she wanted to probe into Julian's attitude first.

Julian sneered, "It's obvious to all that the the Graham Group has made progress in the past three years."

"I don't have the ability? Hand over the company to you?"

His face was full of sneer. Since Natalie Spears had left, there was no need for him to stay any longer. "If you think Grandpa will be angry because of this, you can go home and tell him."

After saying that, Julian turned around and was about to leave.

Obviously, Rudy Graham was irritated. His oily face turned livid with anger. "You don't want to give up the position?"

"Can you solve the problem that the authorization has expired? Can you develop a qualified new drug in such a short time?"

Hearing this, Julian Graham suddenly stopped.

It seemed that the two of them knew what had happened in the company recently. It was time to find out the black sheep of the company.

"If we can't take out new drugs before the authorization expires, it means that most of the company's production departments have to stop their business. Can you bear the loss?"

An unreadable expression appeared on Julian's cold face.

Natalie Spears pursed her lips and listened to the conversation of the three people.

She tended to maintain the Graham family's painstaking efforts. If Julian Graham really decided to sign it now, she would probably choose to stop it. She would never let the Graham Group be ran by these two people.

"I've already started to deal with it. You two don't have to worry about it."

Rudy Graham grinned, with a strong sense of irony on his face, "How can you solve it? Can you get the authorization? You can do nothing without it. Can you find a genius in scientific research and develop the medicine in a short time?"

Yvonne Graham came to Julian Graham and watched him, "Your uncle is right. You can't solve this problem at all. It's useless to pretend that you can solve it. Why don't you let your uncle solve it? It's good for the development of the Graham Group."

Hearing this, Julian Graham smiled, "Can you solve this matter?"

Dylan Seth hadn't called him back yet. It was true that he couldn't solve the problem in a short time, but it was obviously impossible to hand it over to Rudy Graham.

Rudy Graham snorted and took out the authorization of medicines from his bag.

He showed the file with the special seal of the Glory Group on purpose and waved it at Julian.

Julian Graham narrowed his eyes and looked at the paper file in Rudy Graham's hand. It was the seal of the Glory Group. He frowned.

"Is this an authorization?"

Rudy Graham nodded, "Of course. Now tell me whether I have the ability to help the Graham Group get through this difficulty."

Julian Graham frowned. If Rudy Graham really got the authorization, he would be able to save the situation and quickly solve the crisis of the Graham Group.....

But what if it was not a real certificate? If this authorization was just a token made up by Rudy Graham to threaten him? As far as Rudy Graham's personality was concerned, it was highly possible.

After observing Julian Graham's expression, Yvonne Graham noticed the distrust on his face. "Julian, don't you believe that your uncle got the authorization?"

Before Julian Graham opened his mouth, Rudy Graham snorted, "You don't believe me? I don't mind if you find someone to check whether this authorization of medicines is true or not in front of me."

He hadn't told her all the information about this file. The stamp of the Glory Group and even the content and form of the file were all made up according to the previous one by the spies he had arranged in the company.

Hearing this, Natalie Spears frowned.

'If there was no flaw in Rudy Graham's authorization, it could only be proved that it was fake from the signature of the authorized person. At the same time, it also meant that she had to reveal her identity..."

Chapter 40 It's none of her business

Natalie Spears frowned. 'Did Rudy Graham really get the seal and the anti-theft mark of the Glory Group?"

Hearing Rudy Graham's determined words, Julian Graham raised his eyebrows and said, "Then give me the authorization. I'll ask someone to check it."

Rudy Graham smiled and said, "I'm not stupid enough to give you the authorization. I have to make sure that I have it all the time."

Julian Graham nodded, "No problem. Take the authorization and I'll ask someone to read it on the spot."

Rudy Graham looked satisfied. He turned around and saw the hesitant look on Yvonne Graham's face. He winked at her to reassure her.

After thinking for a while, Julian Graham said, "Come to my office with me." Then he walked to the elevator and pressed the button. The three entered into the elevator.

Natalie Spears walked out. She couldn't follow him, so she could only watch the elevator door close.

She stood still and calmed down.

There was no need for her to prove the truth by showing her identity. Since she wanted to keep the Graham Group, even if Julian Graham signed and gave the position of CEO to Rudy Graham, she had other ways to prevent the Graham Group from being destroyed by Rudy Graham.

After Rudy Graham became the CEO, she only needed to acquire the Graham Group in the name of Philip Johnson when the Graham Group was getting weaker and weaker. Then the current problem could be easily solved.

As for Julian Graham? If he really chose to sign it, then it was none of his business as she acquired the Graham Group.

After thinking for a while, Natalie Spears became clearer. She turned around and left the company.

The fight between Rudy Graham, Yvonne Graham and Julian Graham should be solved by themselves. It seemed that the one who won and the one who lost had no effect on her at all.

The two followed Julian Graham to the floor where the CEO's office was.

The assistant sat at the desk and heard the footsteps. He looked up and saw the two people following the CEO.

'Were they the shareholders who had competed with the CEO for the position? At that time, it was widely spread in the company, so that the whole company was in a mess.'

'Why did they come to the CEO's office now? Is the company going to change CEO because of this?'

was still in the office.

He didn't answer Niki Linch's series of questions. "Let's talk about it later. You could sit here."

Then he opened the door and went out, leaving Niki Linch standing there.

Looking at the back of Julian Graham, Niki Linch thought, 'Is he so busy with his work? Is work so important? He didn't even have time to talk to her?'

She sat back with anger.

'Wait? Julian Graham went downstairs to look for Natalie Spears. Something must have happened between the two! Otherwise, why didn't Julian' Graham say a word to her?'

What a witch she was! He had warned her so many times before, but she just couldn't remember? What did she do to make him like this?

Did she slander her in front of Julian Graham again?

Julian Graham went out and said, "I've called someone to come here. Come to my office downstairs with me." Rudy Graham snorted in his heart and thought, 'Why doesn't Julian Graham allow me to enter his office?'

'When Julian Graham signed his name, this office would be his.'

He was squinting at the title "President" on the door, intoxicating.

The door of the office was opened from inside, and a woman appeared.

Rudy Graham took a closer look at her and thought to himself, 'Is she Natalie Spears?'

Niki Linch noticed Rudy Graham's gaze. She was startled and closed the door in a hurry.

She was so angry just now that she wanted to see if Julian Graham was busy with his work or if Natalie Spears said something in front of him to make him unwilling to stay with her. She didn't expect to see Rudy Graham as soon as she opened the door.

Rudy Graham squinted.

'No! Not Natalie Spears! She is Niki Linch!'

'But why did she come back? She was with Julian Graham? My father must not know about it, right?"

Julian Graham didn't notice what had happened just now. He went downstairs.

The three of them came to the office downstairs. The assistant offered coffee one by one. After a while, Lynden Waley opened the door and came in.

Julian Graham glanced at Rudy Graham and said, "Take it out."

After reading it, he said, "This seal is indeed from the Glory Group."

Rudy Graham nodded, "Is there anything else to say?"

“But I didn’t see the counterfeit identification on this certificate.”

Hearing this, Rudy Graham’s eyes darkened. “A counterfeit?”

“What counterfeit!’ No one had told him that there would be a counterfeit on the authorization.

Julian Graham took the authorization and threw it on the table. “Uncle, do you want to explain?”

“The person you hired are talking nonsense. He said that the authorization had a counterfeit, so is there must be a counterfeit? Is he professional or not?” Yvonne Graham asked in disbelief.

“You two can rest assured. I’m the person in charge of the authorization of the Graham Group. I’ve been negotiating with the Glory Group before. If you don’t trust me, you can go to the company and check it. There are records.”

Yvonne Graham opened her mouth but didn’t say a word.

Yvonne Graham watched Rudy Graham.

‘How could he be so unreliable? Why didn’t he tell her such important information? He made her happy for nothing!”

But there was only a moment of panic in Rudy Graham’s eyes. He cleared his throat and said, “That’s because the person who made the authorization was so careless that he didn’t even put the anti-dumping mark on it.”

“Then forget it. Let it be.” He reached out for the authorization.

With a cold snort, Julian Graham glanced at Rudy Graham, who took the authorization back to his hand.

Rudy Graham put the authorization back, without any uneasiness on his face.

It didn’t matter. Since it was impossible to make up the authorization, he had other ways. He was going to be the CEO anyway.

As long as he exposed the crisis that the Graham Group was facing to his father, Julian Graham would definitely be blamed.

What's more, he saw Niki Linch in his office just now!

It seemed that Julian Graham didn't know that the main reason why his father gave him the position of CEO was because of Natalie Spears.

He heard it by accident...

position of CEO.
