

Chapter 29

Fans of Alex and Justin responded with another wave of sarcasm and disbelief, filling the comments with criticism that started to annoy other viewers.

Lindsay assessed Eddy's facial features and used his energy to determine his son's location. Ten minutes later, she arrived at the village's irrigation reservoir. Standing by the edge, she saw two boys swimming in the middle, unaware of the impending danger.

Noticing their darkening foreheads, a sign of imminent danger, Lindsay quickly removed her hat and gloves, tossing them aside. She then took off her shoes and jumped into the water, swimming towards the boys.

Those who followed her were stunned by this sudden action. The live stream viewers were equally puzzled.

"Is Lindsay joking?"

"Swimming in the reservoir isn't safe, but Mr. Lynn's son looks fine."

"I have to give it to Lindsay; she's really putting on a show."

"The boys are swimming happily, and she's jumping in like she's saving them..."

"Has Lindsay gone mad trying to steal the spotlight and get famous?"

"This is ridiculous. Her jumping in feels so unnecessary."

Eddy, seeing his son swimming, felt relieved. When he saw Lindsay swimming towards them, he shouted at his son, "You brat, swim back here right now!"

Eddy's son, Jack Lynn, heard his father's voice and looked over but instead of coming back, he swam further away. "No, I want to play a bit longer."

His cousin, Mark Lynn, seeing this, also swam further away.

Elric watched Lindsay swim determinedly towards the boys. Although he hadn't known her for long, he felt that she always had a good reason for her actions.

He glanced at the two boys swimming further away, then removed his hat and gloves, tossed them to the ground, and kicked off his shoes. He jumped into the water and swam towards the boys.

The people on the shore were stunned by Elric's actions.

What was he doing?

The live stream viewers were also puzzled.

"What is Elric doing?"

"There's no need to get in the water. Just have the kids swim back."

"I think they're making things worse with their good intentions."

"Since they showed up, the kids are swimming further away."

"Lindsay is crazy for fame, stirring up trouble on purpose. What's Elric's excuse?"

"Did he lose his mind too?"

Chapter 29

Just as everyone was criticizing, something unexpected happened.

Suddenly, the water in the reservoir surged forward violently, creating several large waves that swept the two frightened boys away.

Wendy screamed in fear, "Ah, they got caught in the water!"

Eddy's face turned pale. "Damn it, who opened the reservoir gate?"

He was familiar with this scene. Every time they released water for irrigation, it looked like this.

Seeing his son being swept towards the gate, Eddy's legs nearly gave out from fear.

The reservoir was built on a mountain, and the height difference to the downstream irrigation channels was several dozen meters. During the release, the water flowed downwards very rapidly.

The chances of survival for the two boys being swept down were slim.

Eddy rushed to jump in and save his son, but two companions who had followed grabbed him.

"Don't panic, those two celebrities are already swimming towards the kids."

"Yes, if you jump in now, you won't make it in time and might make things worse."
