However, it has come to my attention that many unauthorized s are copying my content and presenting it as their own. This not only undermines my efforts but also deprives me of the recognition and revenue that I deserve.

To combat this issue, I have decided to switch to a video format for my novels on ///. This will make it harder for these malicious actors to steal my work and will also provide a more engaging experience for my readers. Videos are more difficult to duplicate and distribute without permission, and this format will help protect my intellectual property.

The problem of content theft is widespread and affects many creators like myself. When our work is copied and posted on other sites, we lose the ability to control how it is presented and shared. This can lead to a significant decrease in traffic and revenue. Moreover, readers might end up on low-quality s that do not offer the same level of experience that we strive to provide at ///.

I understand that this transition might be inconvenient for some of my loyal readers who prefer reading text over watching videos. However, this measure is necessary to ensure that my work remains protected and that I can continue to bring new and exciting stories to you. CHAPTER 69

Chapter 69 They Arrived With Joy, But Left In Disappointment

Zelena stepped out from the backstage area and made her way to the lobby to find the cheerleaders.

At the same time, Violeta and her group stood up and left their seats to enter the theater.

Upon spotting Zelena, the cheerleaders shouted and ran over to her.

“Lena! You made it!”

“Lena, did you get the tickets? Can we go in now?”

Zelena looked embarrassed and hesitantly replied, “I’m sorry, everyone, but I wasn’t able to get the tickets.”

“What?”

Everyone was stunned, their previously joyful expressions frozen on their faces.

“How could this happen? Didn’t you say you had the tickets? So you’re saying we came here for nothing?”

“Yeah, didn’t you mention having relatives in the theater?”

Zelena didn’t know how to explain it to them. After all, she had made a firm promise earlier that there would definitely be tickets.

In her moment of hesitation, Zelena caught a glimpse of a group of people passing by in the crowd. Her expression suddenly froze. She thought she had seen them incorrectly, so she quickly shifted her gaze to the side.

She saw Violeta and her group passing through the VIP ticket checkpoint, and the staff were holding the insider tickets!

It was indeed Violeta and her group!

There were exactly six tickets, just like Violeta and her

Zelena immediately understood that Violeta and her group must have taken the tickets that should have been hers!

Her face darkened as she said, "Someone has taken our tickets."

"Taken by someone else?"

Zelena pointed at Violeta and her group. They were currently having their tickets checked. Zelena angrily exclaimed, "It's them!"

The cheerleaders turned their gaze towards the direction Zelena was pointing and immediately recognized Violeta and Kaylee, who were having their tickets checked at the VIP entrance. The other four boys were also well-known figures in the school.

"Violeta?"

"Kaylee?"

"How did they get the tickets?"

The cheerleaders were instantly in an uproar.

They had been so excited when they arrived, but now they were just as disappointed.

They had taken many selfies in the theater and posted them on social media, boasting about being able to watch the new play at Millennium Grand Theater.

Zelena felt extremely resentful and pretended to be generous as she said, “I had already reserved the tickets, so maybe they have some other connections. Anyway, we should leave. I’m really sorry for making you come all this way for nothing. How about I treat you to a meal later?”

The cheerleaders were furious as they fixed their gazes on Violeta and her group at the ticket counter.

However, they weren’t foolish. Although they were angry, the theater was a public place, so rushing over there right now would only make them look like lunatics! They might even be kicked out by the security guards.

“Violeta and Kaylee must have gotten the tickets through Hayden and his friends.”

“Lena, Hayden’s family has a lot of influence, so it’s not surprising that they managed to get a few tickets. Let’s just go for now. We’ll settle the score with them later!”

Zelena didn’t know much about Hayden and his friends. She had only heard that their families were all wealthy second-generation businessmen.

Zoren’s family was involved in physical commerce, and they had malls and hotels, among other things.

Liam’s family dealt with jade and was a well-known jade tycoon in the country.

Jasper’s family owned one of the top ten film and television conglomerates in Hoiten, and they were quite powerful.

Among the four, only Hayden was the most low-key.

In Zelena’s recollection, she had never interacted with Hayden in her past life. Despite attending the same university, her attention was always focused on Nolan,

After graduation, she hadn’t heard any news about Hayden, or rather, she simply couldn’t access the social circles he was a part of.

Naturally, they had no connection, as they did not belong to the same. social circle.

Therefore, Zelena subconsciously regarded Hayden as just another kid. from a wealthy second-generation business family. She knew he had money, but she did not expect his family to hold such power!

Curiously, Zelena asked, "What does Hayden's family do?"

"Don't you know? Oh, right, I remember now. You're not from Quinston, so it's not surprising that you don't know."

"Don't keep me in suspense. Just tell me."

Under Zelena's persistent questioning, her friends finally revealed the truth as they walked out of the theatre.

"Actually, we didn't know at first either. We only know this because the club president had some contact with Hayden. His parents always travel in official cars..."

The cheerleaders briefly explained Hayden's family background to Zelena.

In simple terms, his family had held government positions for several generations, and he had ancestors who had royal blood. Hayden's parents. held high-ranking positions, so he could even be considered a 'prince'

Zelena's eyes widened after she heard that. She had never imagined that Hayden would have such a background!

The cheerleaders noticed the expression on Zelena's face and chuckled. "Don't underestimate him just because he's low-key. He is actually the real big shot in our school. He expelled a student from the tennis club with just a few words the last time. Do you think anyone can do that?"

"But not everyone can get close to Hayden. Even Zoren and the others are only able to hang out with him because they have been friends since. childhood. He is very cautious about making friends, and his future after he graduates has already been planned out. As for women like Violeta and Kaylee, well, let's not even mention them. They don't even meet the standards of the Frost family!"

Someone teased, "It's not that they don't meet the standards. They are even worse than us! How pathetic."

Zelena never expected that Violeta would have such good luck to befriend Hayden, and she never expected that Hayden would be the best among the four of them.

The cheerleaders were right. If someone from a prestigious family worked hard and lowered themselves, they might be able to marry into Hayden's family.

Based on family background alone, someone like Hayden would definitely look for someone from a similar background in the future.

Even if Violeta was lucky enough to befriend Hayden, it would be impossible for their relationship to progress further. With that thought in mind, Zelena felt a little better.

Since they were not able to watch the first showing of 'The Magpie Feast', the cheerleaders' resentment towards Violeta and Kaylee grew stronger.

They might not be able to mess with Hayden and the others, but they could deal with Violeta and Kaylee.

The Moon Festival was coming soon. When the time came, they would definitely give the tennis club a good slap in the face.

Two hours later.

The splendid play came to an end

Violeta and her companions followed the crowd out of the theater. The night sky was adorned with twinkling stars, resembling a beautiful painting.

"That play was amazing..." murmured someone in the crowd.

Kaylee looked as if she had not had enough. She said, "The performers in the play are truly talented! I wish I could become a theatre performer too!"

Violeta smiled and replied, "It's a goal worth striving for."

Only a few people who graduated from the performing arts managed to achieve fame and success, while the majority would be overshadowed by others.

In Violeta's recollection from her previous life, the most renowned person from their class was Zelena.

As for the others, some persisted in pursuing acting careers, while others pursued further education.

The film industry was too crowded, so becoming a professional theatre performer would be a good alternative.

CHAPTER 70

Chapter 70 Let's Have A Competition

"It would be even better if I could become an actor at the Millennium Grand Theater!"

Kaylee began to daydream.

Violeta said, "Go for it. The Millennium Grand Theater recruits new talents from Toland University every year."

"Yeah, then I'll head back now. Goodbye, Vio and Seniors!"

After bidding them farewell, Kaylee hurriedly crossed the street to catch a bus home.

If she wanted to join the Millennium Grand Theater as a stage actor, Violeta could help her.

However, Violeta didn't immediately offer her assistance. Instead, she wanted Kaylee to improve her skills through her own efforts.

Many people aspire to enter the Millennium Grand Theater every year, but only a few are accepted. The competition is fierce,

If Kaylee meets professional standards but lacks connections, then Violeta can certainly lend her a hand. If Kaylee's skills are not up to par, she won't push her forward.

She should leave this opportunity to someone else.

"Vio, shall I give you a ride home?"

Zoren was about to speak but was interrupted by Jasper's punch. He quickly changed his words, "I suddenly remembered that I have something to do. Let our dear friend, Hayden, take you home!"

Violeta was speechless.

"Hayden, I'm leaving Vio in your hands! Make sure to safely take her home."

The three of them quickly drove away, leaving only Violeta with Hayden.

Violeta was slightly startled. She sighed and turned to look at Hayden.

She asked, "Where's your car?"

As they were speaking, the driver arrived and opened the car door. Violeta was just about to get in.

Hayden's clear voice came from behind.

"Sit in the back."

"Oh, okay

Violeta turned on her tiptoes and sat in the back, next to Hayden.

After dropping off Violeta in front of her house, Hayden rolled down the car window. His dark eyes fixed on her, and he said, "Goodnight."

"Goodnight."

Violeta waved at him and then turned to enter the house.

Hayden watched her go inside before instructing the driver to leave.

The next day, they arrived at school.

The instructor announced the preparations for the school's Moon Festival and encouraged everyone to sign up for the performance.

Violeta sat in the back row, resting her chin on one hand and twirling a pen with the other.

Many students in the front row began to discuss it excitedly.

"I watched the previous Moon Festival dance performance by the dance club on the forum. It was amazing! Their street dance was so good, very captivating."

"Every performance by the dance club is excellent. They have been the champions for many years in a row

"Yes! Lena is in the dance club. Lena, can you give us a hint about what performance the dance club is preparing for this year?"

"Yeah, tell us..."

Zelena instantly became the center of attention in the class. She shyly covered her face and said, "Please don't ask me anymore. The club hasn't decided on the performance yet, but it will most likely be a dance performance. We won't disappoint everyone."

Kaylee in the back row rolled her eyes and commented, "Such an arrogant person."

"If it weren't for our club slacking off every year, they wouldn't have a chance."

After the argument with the members of the dance club on the bus last time, Kaylee's fondness for the group plummeted to negative levels.

The two clubs already had a bad relationship. Now, Kaylee considers the dance club her archenemy.

Violeta remained silent, quietly packing up her books and preparing for the end of class. SEARCH THE to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

As the bell rang, Violeta and Kaylee prepared to leave the classroom for their tennis club. Just as they walked out of the classroom door, they heard a few sarcastic voices from behind.

Candy said, "I don't think the tennis club should participate in the Moon Festival. It's so embarrassing. They always make fools of themselves on stage."

Gillian added, "They never have any impressive performances. They're like clowns."

Candy continued, I watched last year's recording. What were they even doing on stage? It was laughable!"

Zelena responded, "Oh, please don't say that, and don't speak so loudly. It wouldn't be good if Sis heard!"

Violeta and Kaylee turned around, their eyes icy and indifferent as they looked at them.

Kaylee asked, "Are you saying this for us to hear? Come on, we're right in front of you. Say it now!"

Gillian and Candy's expressions froze.

Gillian replied, "Kaylee, did we mention you by name? What's with this attitude? Just mind your own business! We can say whatever we want. It's none of your concern!"

Candy added, "Besides, did we say anything wrong? When has the tennis club ever outperformed the dance club in the Moon Festival?"

Kaylee lowered her gaze and said loudly. "We don't bother arguing with the dance club! They can only rely on their rankings in some campus activities! If they have the ability, they should participate in external competitions and bring glory to the school!"

At that moment, the classroom was still filled with many people. Kaylee's loud voice instantly attracted the attention of others.

Zelena took the opportunity to quickly step forward and play the role of a peacemaker.

"Stop it, everyone. Every club has its strengths. Actually, I wanted Sis to join the dance club with me, considering her lack of coordination. Oh, I mean, she doesn't know how to dance, so I gave up on that idea.

What?

Did Zelena just imply that Violeta lacks coordination?

The people in the classroom exchanged glances and began to whisper.

"So Violeta lacks coordination. It's such a shame to have such a beautiful face."

Originally, it was a matter between clubs, unrelated to individuals.

But now, Zelena has shifted the focus of the conversation to Violeta.

Violeta narrowed her eyes, and her rosy lips slowly parted. “Zelena, every time I try to see you as a decent person, can you try to act a little more like one?”

Zelena, feeling wronged, took a step forward and grabbed Violeta’s arm. She said, ‘Sis, I’m sorry. You can scold me. I didn’t mean to bring this up.’”

Violeta felt extreme disgust as she looked at Zelena and said, “I don’t like to insult people. Usually, I prefer to use my hands.”

As she finished speaking, Violeta raised her hand and pushed Zelena to the ground. Zelena fell heavily on her backside and was stunned!

‘Ouch!’

“I don’t appreciate trash touching me,” Violeta said.

Everyone was stunned.

No one expected Violeta to take action.

Isn’t she audacious?

Candy and Gillian rushed forward to help Zelena, who was on the ground. “Are you okay, Lena?”

“Everyone saw it! Violeta physically attacked someone!”

Kaylee looked at them with a dumbfounded expression and asked, “Are you two out of your minds? Zelena deserved it, and besides, she’s not fragile. What’s the big deal if she gets pushed? Violeta is being kind by not slapping her.”

The two stood at the doorway, looking down at Zelena, Candy, and Gillian.

“The dance club won’t be in first place in the Moon Festival this year.

“If not the Dance Club, then is it your tennis club?”

“You got it right. It’s the tennis club. If you don’t believe it, let’s have a competition.”

Zelena clenched her fists. A sinister look was hidden beneath her dark lashes, and she said, “Don’t be ridiculous, Sis. Does the tennis club have any outstanding performances?”

Violeta smirked. “Well, let’s wait and see.”
