

Reborn 1061

Chapter 1061 Encounter

"She's not here." Theodore didn't pay any more attention to Caroline. He was not interested in other women now, since his mind was full of Little Bunny's rejection towards him earlier today. He was not in the mood anyway.

"Didn't I just hear that she came to your side?" asked she.

What was Little Bunny up to again?

"She didn't come here."

"Where did she go?! She moved out of the homestay from the crew's side." Caroline said.

Theodore paused as he wiped his hand through his hair. He turned back and looked at her again, "What did you say?"

"Don't you know that?"

At this moment, there was also some regret inside her. If she had known, she wouldn't have told him.

Theodore now had the impulse to go find Little Bunny.

"I don't know," Theodore said coldly and swallowed the impulse to go find her. He couldn't show weakness to Little Bunny for now, or Little Bunny would push her luck again.

Caroline was surprised when Theodore didn't make any move. She knew he wanted to find Little Bunny. But she was smart enough to know that she couldn't mention Little Bunny at this moment.

She moaned with pain and get his attention.

Caroline looked upset, "I just went out for a run and thought I would stop by to see Little Bunny. But it was too dark outside and I accidentally stepped on a rock, spraining my ankle."

Theodore glanced at her ankle. She had been constantly tiptoeing. So he asked, "Do you want to sit for a while?"

"Thank you." Caroline quickly agreed and struggled to move to the chair not faraway from her.

Just as she lifted her foot, she grumbled in a flirting manner.

"Ah!" Caroline exclaimed again. At the same time, she threw herself to Theodore out of balance.

Theodore acted quickly and caught her in one swift motion. Caroline's graceful figure leaned against his body. She touched his body and accidentally pulled the bath towel on him off.

An entirely naked man was now standing in front of her, while she clung herself to his body.

Just like that, it was seen by Little Bunny, who never thought of coming here.

But it was too cold outside. She might have been frozen to death if she slept in the air for a whole night.

And she was afraid to ruin tomorrow's filming. The crew already had some issues with her, and if she can't shoot tomorrow, their dissatisfaction with her will surely increase. She would play opposite Caroline, who had half a day for filming. If she delayed any longer, she would truly be the culprit of the crew.

Her assistant constantly sneezing and feeling freezing, though very hesitant, finally went to Theodore's homestay with Tanya.

There were many rooms here, but she could stay in any room she liked only if Theodore permitted. As soon as she arrived, she stumbled upon the sight of Theodore and Caroline.

"How could Theodore ever be lonely?" she thought to herself.

Rejected by her, he still had many choices. At this moment, it was easy to tell that Caroline was actively trying to seduce him. Caroline was jealous of her and it was clear as day. She came here for Theodore tonight since she was unhappy that Little Bunny had better opportunities than her.

Little Bunny didn't want to bother them so she quickly turned around to leave.

"Little Bunny, don't misunderstand me, it's not what you saw..." Caroline spoke up.

With that said, there came a sudden scream. She pretended to be scared by Theodore's body.

"Shut up! Haven't you seen cocks before?" Theodore said and loosed his grip on her. Then he picked up the towel on the ground and wrapped it around his waist roughly.

In no time, he stormed out of the room and grabbed Little Bunny's arm.

Little Bunny's arm hurt. She frowned and turned to look at him. At the moment, Tanya was not coming up with them and was still downstairs. Little Bunny didn't want Tanya to know about her and Theodore's affair; she didn't want more people to know.

"Listen to me, I can explain." Theodore pulled her with great force.

Her arm was a bit sore. But she didn't call out, thinking that if Theodore finished speaking early, she could then talk about her matters.

"It was just a misunderstanding. I didn't do anything with that woman." Theodore said slowly and with a hint of dominance. That sounded more like a command than an explanation.

Of course, Little Bunny didn't want to hear any of this. That meant nothing to her anyway. Even if he was just about to do something with Caroline, it had nothing to do with her.

"The guesthouse on the set is full, I want to stay here for one night."

Theodore suddenly laughed. He thought it was an excuse for her. As the lead actress, she wouldn't have any room.

But he wasn't the kind of person who wouldn't give Little Bunny a face when she needed it. Now that she had softened up, he wouldn't make things difficult for her either.

"Stay here." Said he.

"Thank you. I'll stay downstairs."

"Little Bunny!" Theodore sounded angry all at once.

Who the hell told you to stay downstairs?

"Little Bunny..." Caroline's cautious voice came from behind Theodore.

Theodore was getting impatient now. He was discussing something important with Little Bunny.

Couldn't this woman show some awareness?

"Don't get me wrong, there is nothing between Mr Wold and me," explained Caroline sincerely. "I came looking for you but found out that you weren't here. I accidentally fell onto Mr Wold because I sprained my ankle. We are innocent."

Little Bunny found this amusing. The two dirtiest people under one roof told her that they were innocent. She couldn't help but laugh out loud at this thought.

Her laughter caught both Theodore and Caroline off guard. They could see through her sarcastic smile. Caroline's face changed immediately. They both slept with men with intentions, so what right did Little Bunny have to laugh at her?

Theodore was even more annoyed as he shouted at Little Bunny loudly, "What are you laughing at?!"

Little Bunny held back a bit, realizing that she had been hasty earlier.

She said, "Nothing much. Just thinking that whether or not there is innocence between you doesn't matter. I'm just here looking for a place to stay."

"Little Bunny, when will you ever be honest?" Theodore exclaimed in frustration.

It was too late now if she wanted to pretend. If only she'd spoken up earlier, he could've tried harder to please her.

"I've given my room to her, so I need to stay here tonight. But if Caroline stays here tonight, I'll go back to my room." Little Bunny in a plain tone.

Chapter 1062 Drive Caroline Away

"Little Bunny!" Theodore grabbed Little Bunny's arm again, harder than before.

Annoyed, Little Bunny looked coldly at him. Her rejection towards this man was so strong that it couldn't be concealed. Theodore's anger flared up even more, "If you dare to leave, just try it!"

Theodore was a bit frightening at this moment.

"Mr Wold," Caroline began in a soft and innocent voice. Compared to Little Bunny's tough appearance now, Caroline was gentle and docile.

"Can you guys please stop arguing?" Caroline's face was full of remorse and she spoke in a pitiful tone, "It's all my fault. Can you guys not fight because of me? It makes me so sad and scared..."

"Get out!" Theodore suddenly shouted.

Caroline was taken aback and she didn't react at all. Little Bunny was also a little surprised at that moment. She couldn't help but take a glance at Caroline, who flushed at the moment. Little Bunny never expected that Theodore would make Caroline leave.

She couldn't understand what was in this man's mind, since everyone knew how to choose between her and Caroline, who was the hottest actress for now.

Was Theodore sick?! He refused what was given to him. Little Bunny couldn't understand this kind of perverse taste.

"I'll say it again!" Theodore turned directly to Caroline and shouted, "Get fucking lost!"

Caroline was startled, seeing the killing intent in Theodore's eyes. There was a kind of fear that emanated from deep within, making her spine chill. She naturally did not dare to offend Theodore.

Although suppressing great anger, she still smiled as a good person and said, "I'll leave right away and not disturb you. You guys have a good chat. Little Bunny, it's all just a misunderstanding..."

Caroline didn't finish her sentence as she was intimidated by Theodore's ominous gaze and dared not speak further.

She quickly limped away. When leaving, she was so furious. For so many years, she had never failed. This time, she was defeated by Little Bunny. But she would note it down.

There were only Theodore and Little Bunny left in place. It was tense between the two of them. Little Bunny dared not speak any more at the moment. She endured it silently, enduring the pain as Theodore grabbed her arm tightly.

"Are you happy now?" Theodore asked.

Little Bunny felt slightly confused.

"I drove away other women for you, are you happy now?"

Little Bunny wanted to say something. She would rather have been the one driven away. But she didn't dare speak up because Theodore was riled now. Perhaps he didn't even want to drive Caroline away, he just did it to show her something. But her silence made him think she agreed with him.

He let go of her arm and said coldly, "Sleep in my room."

Little Bunny recoiled at the thought but before she could say anything, Theodore warned her again, "Don't make me say it a second time! I'm not patient enough!"

It was a threat. After saying that, he turned around and left without thinking that Little Bunny would dare defy him again. She watched his back as he walked away but ultimately decided to compromise. When had she ever been able to stand up against Theodore?

She gritted her teeth and made a difficult decision before walking into his room. Inside the room, Theodore took off his towel while telling Little Bunny to take a shower.

Little Bunny bit her lip in disgust.

"I asked you to take a shower!" he repeated.

Finally, Little Bunny got into the bathroom. If there was no way out, making him feel disgusted would be better than nothing at all. But in reality, she couldn't resist him. After washing herself briefly, she put on conservative pyjamas and walked out of the bathroom. She saw Theodore lying on the bed playing video games on his phone.

She couldn't help but feel like he was being careless about everything despite being in such an important position today because of his power alone. This thought troubled her deeply inside but she still approached the bed reluctantly before lying down next to its edge with only inches between them. Theodore was noisy while playing with his smartphone, while Little Bunny wished he could play with the phone throughout the night. She closed her eyes and forced herself to sleep. After a while, Theodore turned off the phone and approached her.

Little Bunny was tense, bearing disgust for this man. However, something surprising happened-nothing happened. She only felt the light next to her being turned off. Then the light on the other side was also turned off. The room became dark.

Theodore lay down next to her. After lying down, he naturally held her in his arms. Little Bunny's body stiffened. She had been preparing for the worst in her mind all along but nothing happened for a long time. She even heard Theodore's even breathing and it seemed like he had fallen asleep.

She was surprised.

Did Theodore not do anything while holding her?!

Of course, she wouldn't be grateful. She would only feel lucky instead. Maybe Theodore just wasn't feeling well.

The next day, it was still early in the morning when Little Bunny quietly got out of bed so as not to wake up Theodore. She just didn't want to face him again.

After getting dressed, she went straight to the adjacent room to wash up, afraid that any noise might wake him up from his slumber.

Little Bunny quickly finished washing up and planned on leaving with Tanya from the guesthouse together. As soon as she finished washing up and walked out into the hallway though, she saw Theodore standing there wearing casual home clothes waiting for her.

Little Bunny pursed her lips.

When did Theodore start waking up this early?

"Although I know you're afraid of disturbing my sleep," said Theodore with a cold tone mixed with commanding authority. "I don't want you going into other rooms next time."

"Mm-hmm," replied Little Bunny without wanting an argument with him so early in the morning.

"Let's go downstairs and have breakfast together." Said Theodore arrogantly, walking ahead of her.

Little Bunny was at a loss for words. She never thought about having breakfast together with him before, but now she could only follow behind him reluctantly downstairs where they sat at a quaint little garden table outside the guesthouse.

Breakfast was plentiful but Little Bunny ate very little. As an artist, one must maintain their figure and could eat casually; and facing Theodore made everything tasteless for her.

"Why are you eating so little?" asked Theodore, somewhat displeased.

"I'm trying to lose weight."

“You’re already slim enough! Why do you need more weight loss?” exclaimed Theodore angrily. “Don’t you know men prefer women who are slightly plump?”

Chapter 1063 Caroline’s Cunning

Little Bunny wanted to say that men were not important to her and all she cared about was her career. At that moment, she did not argue with Theodore, but neither did she obey him.

“Open your mouth.” Theodore couldn’t help but put a boiled egg beside her mouth.

Little Bunny pursed his lips tightly.

“Little Bunny, I don’t want to say it a second time.” Theodore fumed.

She glanced at him and said, “I only eat egg wh-...”

Before she could finish her words, Theodore stuffed the egg into her mouth. Little Bunny almost choked on it. She instinctively wanted to throw up.

“Don’t dare to spit it out!” Theodore threatened fiercely.

Little Bunny’s eyes flickered, starting to chew it with effort. She had just eaten the whites of two eggs, if she ate more, it would exceed the limit. Theodore watched with great interest as Little Bunny ate the egg. He was staring at her small mouth. It was apparent that she was struggling to chew.

Damn it. He wanted desperately to press her onto the table and kiss her hard... He had fought so hard against himself not to have sex with her last night, thinking that she would be tired from filming today. So he held back. Besides, she had said that she didn’t want to stay in the same room with him. Though he was reluctant to admit that, he felt like she didn’t want to lie to him.

He was moved by himself, he was so good to Little Bunny. Surprisingly, he cared so much about her feelings.

Little Bunny finally finished eating the egg after much effort. Theodore also managed to restrain himself from doing anything to her.

She drank some warm water and said, “I’m going to shoot a movie now.”

“I’ll accompany you.”

“No need.”

“Little Bunny,”

“I’ll come to find you after I finish filming.” She compromised.

She didn’t want Theodore to cause trouble on site. His appearance made everyone on the set nervous, even oppressive.

Theodore looked at her and asked, “Really?”

“Uh-huh,” she nodded. There was no way to resist, only compromise. She thought Theodore was impulsive. It could be one day, one week or one month. It wouldn’t exceed half a year, she believed.

“Come back once you finished your work, I don’t want to wait for you too long.” Said he, overbearing yet pleased. He thought Little Bunny was just putting on airs on purpose while she still wanted to be with him.

“Okay,” Little Bunny agreed. And finally, she left smoothly.

She went to the set with Tanya. In general, Little Bunny arrived relatively early. When she got to the set today, many staff members had not arrived yet. She thus was waiting in the dressing room to do her makeup. Ans she heard some familiar voice coming from the next room. It was a conversation between Caroline’s agent and Stord, the director.

According to their conversation, Caroline intended to return to the television industry and hoped to be the leading actress in Stord’s next show. Stord readily agreed and promised that if there were no unexpected circumstances, he would choose to work with Caroline first. The agent couldn't hide his joy, but he asked with concern whether Little Bunny would be chosen as she had worked well with the director. With a hint of sarcasm, Stord said that if it weren't for Little Bunny intentionally showing off by bringing Theodore, he might have considered working with her again. However, he would not work with her in the future.

Tanya was getting a little fed up. Little Bunny stopped her. Moreover, Theodore's behaviour was indeed very off-putting. She thus didn't want to explain anything for herself on this matter.

After a while, the makeup artist arrived and applied makeup to Little Bunny. Little Bunny would film with Caroline today. Caroline had also changed into her costume. Indeed, she was quite dedicated in her circle. So even though sometimes she was a bit arrogant, she was still welcomed by most directors.

This scene between the two of them was about a quarrel, in which Little Bunny needed to slap Caroline in the face. Originally, it had been agreed to be a fake slap. But when they were filming, Caroline spoke up while smiling, "Just slap me, don't worry. I want to give the audience what they want and I don't want to be caught by my fans for that anyway."

Little Bunny confirmed repeatedly. She knew Caroline was a professional in acting. So she agreed in the end.

A real slap fell onto Caroline's face. Little Bunny didn't use much strength. But the sound was a bit loud and Caroline's expression was very exaggerated as if her slap could send her flying.

"Cut! Are you crazy, Little Bunny? We've said it's a fake slap!" The director suddenly exclaimed.

Little Bunny was about to explain, but Caroline quickly said, "It's okay, she probably thinks it's better to fight."

Caroline acted as a victim in no time.

Little Bunny looked at her. But Caroline didn't pay attention to her gaze and continued, "It doesn't hurt that much." However, with that said, her eyes turned red.

At this moment, Caroline's agent came over and slapped Little Bunny hard in the face. That was a powerful slap. Little Bunny covered her face and was truly angry. She shouted at Caroline loudly, "Caroline! Did you ask me to give you a real slap? What are you pretending for?!"

"When did I say we were going to fight for real?" Caroline looked at her with teary eyes. "Little bunny, do you hate me because I didn't help you get the supporting role in my last movie? I tried my best but the director said you weren't suitable for that part."

As she spoke, tears streamed down her face, making her look very aggrieved.

Little Bunny glared at Caroline fiercely. She knew that Caroline was disgusting but had not expected she would wrong her like this. She felt like this kind of drama only happened in cheesy romance TV shows. Even in showbiz circles where hypocrisy was rampant, there wouldn't be anyone shameless enough to act so fake like this. She had underestimated how low she could stoop.

"Sorry, Little Bunny," said Caroline apologetically while looking very humble as if constantly trying not to offend her. People in showbiz knew how grateful Caroline had always been towards Little Bunny. And now, Caroline's attitude towards her made it even more obvious.

However, Little Bunny's current reaction clearly showed how ungrateful she was towards Caroline.

She had never been afraid of acting against Caroline, because no matter how hard Caroline tried, she couldn't match up with Little Bunny's natural talent when it came to acting. But when it came down to framing others, she admired Caroline's skills.

Chapter 1064 Their Ruse

“Caroline, how many times do I have to tell you? You don’t need to be so subservient in front of Little Bunny!” Caroline’s agent exclaimed, her face full of concern for her. “Little Bunny did help you in the past, and you’ve been doing your best to help her too. You’ve been pulling resources for her and increasing her exposure both publicly and privately. Little Bunny has come this far in such a short time because of your hard work. You’ve repaid the favour she did for you! She’s being ungrateful and taking advantage of your kindness. Some people are just insatiable, they think too highly of themselves. Think about it, did she give you that role out of genuine goodwill or was it just a handout? Why didn’t she want that role? She probably couldn’t handle it herself so she gave it to you. Don’t be so stubborn about repaying her kindness!”

Naturally, Caroline’s agent was more powerful than Caroline. Every sentence of hers elevated Caroline to the highest point while belittling Little Bunny. Caroline wasn’t one to be underestimated either. She quickly agreed with her agent while looking embarrassed at the same time. She then said, “Don’t say that about Little Bunny, she isn’t like that at all. We’ve always had a good relationship...”

“You’re still defending her!” The agent angrily interrupted her, exasperatedly saying, “I know exactly what you’ve done for her over these years. Her first high-end endorsement was given by you. And you even gave her the role in her first movie. And later on, you gave her so many shows and commercials. Your kindness to her has already gone beyond enough!”

“I just feel like since we’re best friends, I should do whatever I can to help.” Caroline carefully replied while looking afraid of upsetting her agent. In front of others, she appeared extremely kind-hearted. Whenever there were any negative news reports involving Caroline acting like a diva or anything else negative related to herself came out, her agents would take responsibility for everything.

“Your good intentions don’t necessarily mean someone will appreciate them.” The agent spoke up indignantly, “Look at what happened with your face after getting hit by her. ”

“It doesn’t hurt actually...”

“It doesn’t hurt?” The agent looked at her with sympathy. “I can’t even bear to see her face, Stord.” The director watched the dramatic scene unfold before him, as did all the actors and crew on set. When Caroline’s agent called out to him, he quickly responded. “I want to give Caroline an ice pack for her face. Can we shoot this scene later?” asked Caroline’s agent.

“Sure,” the director nodded. “Let her rest for a bit and we’ll shoot other scenes first.”

“No, I don’t want to delay the filming schedule.” Caroline suddenly refused, seeming to be dedicated.

“It won’t take long, go rest and adjust your state of mind first.” Stord was friendly towards her. After today’s incident, his impression of her had improved even more.

“Well, er, excuse me.” Caroline left under her agent’s protection in front of everyone’s eyes.

Little Bunny was still on set when she heard all those lies that were deliberately spread about her by Caroline’s agent. She didn’t refute them because what would be the point? No one would believe her anyway. Everyone thought she didn’t know how to repay the kindness and that she became worse when she tried to argue back. So Little Bunny endured silently and suppressed her anger because, after all, Caroline was only a guest star who would leave soon enough anyway.

In showbiz where people often got slandered, it wasn’t anything new for Little Bunny.

“You should also adjust your emotions.” Suggested Stord to Little Bunny, in a natural tone, without being so gentle anymore.

Little Bunny nodded slightly. She turned around and left set while feeling everyone’s pointing fingers behind her back. They must have been disgusted with her by now.

When she returned backstage, Tanya was indignant. Tanya wanted to rush over to defend her earlier but due to how intimidating Carolyn's manager looked like at that moment, Tanya couldn't muster up any courage. Caroline's agent was an experienced veteran who had been in showbiz circles for over ten years already. After all, Tanya was just barely 20 years old. Caroline's manager wasn't someone whom Tanya could compete against or even look straight into her eyes with confidence.

"Miss Little Bunny, why didn't you explain just now?" Tanya was so anxious that her eyes turned red.

"You've worked hard for all these resources over the years, how can they all be credited to Caroline?! She has no shame!"

"What's the use of explaining?" Little Bunny remained calm as she looked at herself in the mirror with a big red mark on her face. "Caroline has been saying in the media for years that we have a deep relationship. It's already deeply ingrained in everyone's hearts. If I speak ill of her, it would only backfire on me."

"Caroline is such a scheming woman!" Tanya said fiercely. "She always plays the card of your relationship and takes advantage of her greater fame to do whatever she wants to you!"

Little Bunny wasn't feeling good right now either.

"I just don't understand why she suddenly targeted you like this. Even if there's no good friendship between you two, she shouldn't come and step on you like this today!"

At first, Little Bunny didn't understand either. So she didn't have too much guard against what Caroline might do to her. But now it suddenly dawned on her.

Caroline wanted to take her revenge on her, to retaliate for being kicked out by Theodore last night. As someone so proud as Caroline, she couldn't accept Theodore's indifference towards her. The other reason was to get the role in Stord's next TV drama production. Although Stord had temporarily agreed to work with Caroline, both Caroline and her agent were afraid that things might change unexpectedly. So they deliberately blackened Little Bunny's name so that the director wouldn't dare use her again in his next project.

Caroline could go all out when it came down to achieving goals without any scruples or sympathy whatsoever.

"Miss Little Bunny, why not... resist a little bit?" Tanya suddenly gathered up some courage and said.

"Resisting will only make my reputation fall even faster."

"What I mean is..." Tanya looked at her hesitantly as if there were some words she couldn't say aloud yet.

Little Bunny frowned slightly.

"What I mean is, why not take advantage of Mr Wold's power? Mr Wold has such great authority, he can make anyone disappear from showbiz whenever he wants. As long as you ask him for help, Caroline will disappear from the industry immediately."

Chapter 1065 Any Woman Would Be the Same to Him

Tanya's words left Little Bunny stunned for a moment. She appeared composed on the outside, holding back her emotions, but inside she wondered if she could stand up to Caroline. After all, the injustice was too much to bear. But Theodore was the only person she had never considered for help. She had never trusted him and didn't believe he would ever help her in any way. But now that Tanya had mentioned it, she indeed felt a twinge of curiosity.

"I don't think you need to put up with this kind of treatment." Tanya cautiously encouraged her.

Little Bunny had suffered many injustices in the entertainment industry. Many people speculated that she only made it big because of some wealthy benefactor, but only Tanya knew how hard Little Bunny worked for everything, from endorsements to roles, without relying on others' help or money. And despite being in showbiz for so long, Little Bunny remained pure and untainted by any scandals or rumours involving producers, investors, directors or other artists. Even when Theodore suddenly showed up unannounced today during filming and startled everyone present, Little Bunny didn't seem interested in flirting with him at all. His presence seemed more like an inconvenience than anything else. But now, Tanya felt grateful for Theodore's arrival. If he were here now and willing to grant Little Bunny's requests, Caroline would finally get what was coming to her.

Little Bunny was torn inside though she said nothing in response. She didn't want to rely on that man. But as they stood together silently inside the makeup room, the door was knocked from outside.

"Miss Little Bunny, Stord is waiting for you on set. Caroline has already gone ahead!"

"How could she prepare herself so quickly?" Tanya remarked incredulously upon hearing this news.

Amidst their surprise, however, came disdain. Tanya commented, "She must be faking it."

Little Bunny also understood exactly what was going on here too. But rather than dwell on it any longer than necessary, she simply opened the door and stepped out into view once more.

As she walked over, they heard Caroline apologizing profusely for delaying the shoot due to her reasons. She was playing up her good-girl image. When Caroline saw Little Bunny arrive, she quickly approached and took her hand. "Hey, Little Bunny. You're not still angry, are you?"

Little Bunny looked at her fake appearance in disbelief. She admired how Caroline could turn even her life into a play.

"No," Little Bunny forced a smile. In front of so many people, she couldn't do anything to Caroline. All she could do was calm things down and finish filming as soon as possible so that Caroline would leave early.

"That's good," said Caroline with a smile. "How's your face? Does it hurt?"

"Not really."

"My agent was careless earlier. Don't blame her though, she cares about me too." Complained Caroline while also showing off.

Little Bunny just smiled faintly and said, "Let's start filming."

"Okay," agreed Caroline immediately before saying some polite words to the crew members on set.

Filming officially began.

Thanks to the great acting skills of both Little Bunny and Caroline, they breezed through several scenes together without any issues.

Caroline finished filming quickly.

After finishing everything up on set, Carolina bowed politely to thank all the crew members before leaving for the dressing room to change clothes and remove makeup.

"I've packed my bags already and have asked our driver to wait outside. We'll leave directly after this for lunch." Carolina's agent was arranging their schedule.

Caroline paused while taking off her earrings, "We're going overseas only after tomorrow, right?"

"Yes, so you can rest for another day once we get back."

"I want to stay here for one more day." Replied Caroline.

"What?" Her agent was surprised by this request, since based on what she knew about Caroline, there wasn't any reason why she would want an extra day in such an inconvenient place like this one.

"There are too many winding roads out there, it will make me feel uncomfortable again since I didn't sleep well last night, plus I woke up early today." explained Caroline, "Besides, coming here is an opportunity that I should take advantage of by spending more time with Stord so that he won't give away my role.”

Although the agent felt that Caroline’s approach was different from her usual style, she was convinced by Caroline in the end.

“If that’s the case, then it’s okay.”

“Go outside now and buy some cooked food to bring back. We will invite the cast and crew for dinner tonight.”

“Okay.”

That would help her impress the film group without a doubt.

Caroline looked at her agent in the mirror and smirked wickedly. Her intention was Theodore. She wouldn’t allow herself to fail this time.

After the makeup removal was completed, her agent went directly to purchase dinner for the evening, giving Caroline some alone time. She once again went to Theodore’s guesthouse.

Upon arriving there, the owner who had seen Caroline yesterday did not stop her from entering.

“Is Mr Wold here?”

“In the yard,” the boss quickly said, “waiting for Miss Little Bunny to have lunch.”

Caroline felt a little unhappy when she heard her boss say that. To her surprise, Little Bunny made Theodore wait for her. She said a few polite words to the boss and then headed straight for the elegant backyard of the homestay.

At that moment, Theodore was sitting there on a rocking chair, resting with his eyes closed. Caroline walked over quietly. As she walked up to him, her body was tensed up. Theodore exerted a strong force on her arm, causing her to fall directly into his embrace. Theodore hasn’t even opened his eyes, hugging her tightly. Then, a deep kiss was imprinted on Caroline’s lips. Her heart fluttered slightly. She couldn’t forget Theodore’s rejection of her last night and that had been weighing heavily on her mind.

She closed her eyes and kiss him actively.

Little Bunny stood nearby and watched them, wondering whether she should go over there or not.

For Theodore, any woman would be the same to him. Her thought of asking him for help perished. So she turned around and was about to leave.

“Miss Little Bunny!” Theodore’s assistant Samson suddenly came in from outside, calling out to her.

Chapter 1066 Theodore’s Explanation

It was a bit embarrassing for Little Bunny to stumble upon someone kissing, while Theodore was startled by Samson’s voice.

He opened his eyes and saw the woman in front of him, whom he was kissing passionately, was not Little Bunny. He had mistaken her for Little Bunny. Theodore immediately pushed Caroline away. And she bumped against the pillar beside them hard. At that moment, she didn’t understand why Theodore had kissed her so passionately just a moment ago, but now he was pushing her away like this. She thought he had been enjoying kissing her. She had also felt his desire for her earlier. If there were no one disturbing, they would have had sex already.

Her eyes flickered and when she came back to her senses, she saw Theodore running towards Little Bunny like a sprinter.

Samson was also embarrassed. He didn’t plan to call out to Little Bunny in the first place. But he couldn’t understand and felt a bit annoyed as he saw Theodore kissing another woman since they originally came to this desolate place for Little Bunny. So even intentionally, Samson let Theodore know Little Bunny was right there watching him kissing another woman.

Having been by Theodore's side for so many years, Samson somehow felt that Theodore didn't know the lady kissing him was not Little Bunny. Otherwise, there wouldn't be such a panic.

"Little Bunny," Theodore began.

She didn't look at him.

"I thought it was you who kissed me," Theodore explained urgently and quickly, "I didn't even open my eyes, I had no idea it was not you!"

It didn't matter to her anyway, since he had been sleeping with countless women. Moreover, Little Bunny's mind is nothing at all. She was just a little bit lost for giving up the idea of asking him for help.

"It's all because of you!" Theodore explained, suddenly becoming a bit angry and frustrated.

Little Bunny's eyes flickered slightly. She couldn't help but look at him. It seemed like there was still a water stain left on his lips where Caroline kissed him. She didn't feel jealous or something but it just grossed her out. Both of their salivae were disgusting. So the next second, she shifted her gaze away.

"Weren't you supposed to come back earlier? I've been waiting for you to have lunch and I'm so tired!"

Theodore said, "If I hasn't been sleepy, I wouldn't have mistaken her for you."

Little Bunny didn't listen to his explanation since that was meaningless to her.

"And another thing! Why do you always refuse to let me kiss you?"

Little Bunny frowned.

"You keep rejecting me and won't let me touch you. I forgot what your taste was like until just now! If it weren't for that, I wouldn't have mistaken someone else! I felt the lips weren't as soft as they used to be!"

Theodore's explanation didn't make her feel any better. Instead, she felt even more disgusted. He seemed to describe how passionate the kiss was between him and Caroline.

Fortunately, Little Bunny did have no feelings towards Theodore. If it were any other woman, they might have been hurt by Theodore.

Samson on the side was worried about his boss. He had never seen any guy pursue a woman so foolishly before. He even doubted whether or not Theodore would ever catch up with Little Bunny in his lifetime.

"I-I..." Caroline suddenly appeared beside them. She seemed to regain consciousness at this moment.

Little Bunny looked over at her. And so did Theodore.

"I pushed Mr Wold away earlier but his grip was too strong... I..." As she spoke, tears welled up in her eyes. It seemed like she did something shameful and felt guilty and ashamed of herself again. Theodore glanced at her and shouted, "Don't cry here, I don't want to see you anymore! Hurry up and get lost!"

Caroline suppressed her anger inside her heart. When he kissed her earlier, she thought he could easily be seduced by her charms, but now seeing how quickly he changed his mind made it hard for her to accept what happened earlier at face value alone

Theodore had feelings towards her body. But it was because of Little Bunny.

What made Little Bunny so special?

She knew very well what kind of person Little Bunny was; she deemed Little Bunny to be sanctimonious.

Could it be that Theodore preferred women who made obscure advances?

Was she being too aggressive?

Caroline was lost in thought, her face quickly showing an awkward smile. She said, "Alright, I won't disturb you anymore. I'll leave right now."

Just before leaving, Caroline suddenly turned back and explained, "I came to see Mr Wold today to apologize for what happened last night. I'm sorry for you misunderstood me but it only got worse today... I..."

Theodore gave her a look that silenced her immediately. Caroline then left with a gloomy expression on her face.

She had failed again.

After Caroline left, Theodore took the initiative to hold Little Bunny's hand but she instinctively avoided him because she felt dirty. Theodore let out a sigh and his expression turned sour. "Are you angry?" Little Bunny remained silent.

"I'll be more careful next time," Theodore said in a tone that seemed like he was admitting defeat but still sounded tough enough. It made people unable to feel his sincerity at all.

"You don't have to." Little Bunny replied. "You can be with any woman you want 'cause we have nothing between us."

"Lair." Theodore seemed to smile slightly because she was jealous again at this moment.

"Don't worry, I'm serious about you now." Said he.

Even if that was true, Little Bunny believed he would dump her very soon. As long as he became disgusted with her later on then he could just throw her away without any hesitation or second thoughts whatsoever.

"Let's go eat lunch, I'm starving!" Theodore said without caring much about how Little Bunny felt at all, since in his eyes, this whole thing would blow over soon anyway since jealousy was such an insignificant matter.

Little Bunny watched as Theodore walked ahead of her. She wanted to leave there but she couldn't afford to annoy him yet. Finally, she followed him and sat down at the table in the yard.

"When are you leaving?" asked she.

She wanted to know how long she would have to endure him.

Chapter 1067 Boycotted

"Do you not want me to leave?" Theodore asked nonchalantly, grinning.

Little Bunny was at a loss for words. Theodore's confidence was something she wasn't sure if he was born with or developed over time.

"I took a week off, so there's no rush. I can stay and keep you company for 5 days." Theodore said casually.

So all she had to do was endure for 5 days.

"How long will you be filming here?" Theodore asked, feeling like it was too far away from everything else. It wasn't an easy trip for him either, especially when he thought about the bumpy mountain roads they had to travel on just to get there. He went all out for Little Bunny's sake.

"I don't know, it depends on the director's schedule. It could be a month or 2 weeks."

"Where are you filming next?"

"Back in the Capital."

"That would be better." Theodore pondered it over before saying, "When you get back to the Capital, move in with me."

Little Bunny chose silence as her response, which meant yes in Theodore's eyes since he thought she was just pretending to be coy around him anyway.

They were having lunch together. The lunch was a very rich and tasty one, but Little Bunny didn't eat much of it at all.

"Can't you eat more?" asked him. Suddenly he felt the food unappetizing because of her lack of appetite. When did Little Bunny become so influential over his mood?

"I need to lose weight."

"Little Bunny,"

"As an actress, I have no choice." She didn't intend to argue with him, nor did she want to be forced by him.

"Then don't be an actress."

She looked up at him.

"How much money do you earn as an artist? One million? Two million? Whatever amount it is I'll give it to you."

In his view, women pursued nothing more than money, let alone their careers.

"I want to act." She said patiently after taking a deep breath.

"What's the point?"

"I don't know how to explain it to you, but I love this job," she said while trying to keep calm.

"Fine then, do whatever makes you happy, but at least finish your food. You should finish half of them on your plate."

Little Bunny was a bit uncomfortable being ordered by him.

"Little Bunny!" Theodore was a bit angry. He thought she should do as he asked since he had compromised halfway.

"Okay," Little Bunny agreed. After all, it was just five days of enduring it. She would lose weight properly after these five days.

Theodore felt inexplicably good when he saw she agree to his request. That made him a bit excited.

After lunch, Theodore was still in the mood. He said, "Go back to the room for some rest."

"I have another scene to shoot."

"You're not going to sleep because of filming?" Theodore wasn't pleased but seeing that Little Bunny didn't say anything, he compromised again. "Fine then, come back early tonight so we can have dinner together."

"Alright." Or, she wouldn't be able to leave anyway.

She left directly for the shooting location even though there wasn't any scene for her during noon time. She just didn't want to stay with Theodore around.

She sat in her makeup room with her eyes closed while thinking about things. She should give up the idea of getting rid of Caroline with the help of Theodore. He could be interested in Caroline later on too. It would be a loss-loss situation for both of them involved since Caroline could also get rid of her eventually if she went down this path. So she could only be endured being annoyed by Theodore until things passed over with time. At least, that was how she comforted herself about the situation.

Suddenly, Little Bunny's phone rang.

"Little Bunny! What have you done to Caroline? Do you know what people are saying about you now? They're calling you an ungrateful person!" The manager on the other end roared angrily before hanging up abruptly without giving any chance for an explanation or response from her.

Little Bunny frowned as the sudden outburst from her manager confused and frustrated her, "What happened?"

"What happened?! Look at the news!" Her manager hung up all at once.

Little Bunny saw a headline on her phone, reading, "Did the Friendship' between Little Bunny and Caroline Break Due to the Slap?"

The title alone showed conflict. And there had been already tens of millions of views within ten minutes along with countless comments increasing rapidly. Trying hard not let emotions take over completely, she read through the article carefully.

The news had exposed everything that happened on the set today. There were photos of her slapping Caroline and photos of Caroline looking sad with red eyes. The news also wrote about how Caroline had given Little Bunny all those resources that were originally hers, but now they all belonged to Little Bunny because of Caroline's help. Everyone thought she was a backstabber and felt sorry for Caroline's kindness towards her. People said that she was just jealous because Caroline was more popular than her.

The comments were overwhelming, filled with people cursing at her and even starting a boycott against anything related to Little Bunny, from endorsements to TV shows. Little Bunny watched silently as tears welled up in her eyes. As an artist, being exposed online was nothing new or unusual, but she had always been careful not to offend anyone and avoided any scandals.

She called her manager immediately after reading the news, "I don't know why this is happening. And all of this is intentionally done by Caroline."

"What's the use of saying that now? Stord just called me and said if we don't handle this well with public relations, he will consider reducing your screen time. Also, all your endorsement deals have contacted me about pulling out. You should be ready for them."

Tears streamed down from Little Bunny's eyes.

"Is there anything we can do?"

"I don't know yet, we could only wait for the boss's arrangement." Said the manager.

"All those resources I got before were mine, can't we expose Caroline's lies?" asked Little Bunny desperately.

"Do you think everyone in showbiz is stupid? Or do you think everyone here plays fair?" retorted the manager sarcastically. "Who dares to stand up against someone like Caroline right now? She's so popular that everyone wants to suck up to her! Who would be foolish enough to risk their career for a tainted artist like you?"

The conversation ended abruptly when the manager hung up without giving any comfort or solution whatsoever.

Chapter 1068 A Chance

Little Bunny silently held her phone in her hand, feeling discomfort that she couldn't put into words. She suppressed the urge to vent her emotions.

Tanya had been by Little Bunny's side the whole time, but at first, didn't know what had happened.

When she heard Little Bunny talking to their manager, she immediately sensed something was wrong and saw the news. She saw Little Bunny's tears. Although she was extremely angry inside, Tanya didn't want to make things worse for Little Bunny by losing control of herself.

"Little Bunny,"

Little Bunny was trying hard to hold back her tears. It wasn't easy being in the entertainment industry. One wrong move could lead to irreversible consequences. She thought about all the possible outcomes and how cruel they could be, from being blacklisted from acting ever again in showbiz being one of them.

"Little Bunny," Tanya spoke up again with courage this time around. "The only person who can help you now is Mr Wold."

It puzzled Tanya why she wasn't using Theodore as a resource since he could solve all the problems if he helped out.

Little Bunny glanced at Tanya before saying, "Please go ask for a day off from filming for me today, I'm not feeling well enough yet. Tell him I'll shoot my scenes tomorrow instead."

Tanya nodded quickly before leaving the dressing room promptly while Little Bunny sat in place deep in thought, wondering what else there was left for her now. The news spread like wildfire throughout showbiz circles and soon became a trending online topic everywhere.

Little Bunny received an overwhelming amount of criticism with countless people demanding that she leave show business altogether. Even some of the little bunnies' fans were turning against their idol and pledging allegiance towards Caroline instead.

Caroline felt ecstatic when seeing these responses. After all, it was such an effortless task for her to take down Little Bunny.

Susan, a gossip-loving one, wouldn't miss the news. When she saw the headline, she felt a bit surprised. She used to think that Little Bunny and Caroline had a true friendship. When Little Bunny gave birth to Theodore's child, she didn't give her role to anyone else but Caroline. This was enough to show their relationship.

After reading the articles written completely from Caroline's perspective, she doubted whether or not Little Bunny was jealous of Caroline's better development in entertainment circles, where there were so many ulterior motives and vanity. However, as soon as she read that all of Little Bunny's resources over these years were given by Caroline herself, Susan couldn't stay calm anymore.

She even cursed herself for being foolish. How could she have doubted Little Bunny? Although they hadn't been in contact for long despite knowing each other for so many years now, she shouldn't have questioned Little Bunny's character.

She wanted to call the media and expose Caroline's sinister face but Manuel stopped her saying, "Calm down."

Susan was so agitated.

"She's being wronged like this now with so many people cursing at her. Can I just sit back and do nothing? Caroline thinks Little Bunny is easy to bully since she doesn't have any backing."

"I heard Theodore went to visit Little Bunny," Manuel said bluntly.

"What?!"

"Theodore wants to pursue her again."

"How can he be shameless enough after what he did?!"

"No matter what happens we should give him another chance."

"Manuel, you're too much for your bros! Theodore has slept with so many women, isn't it unfair for Little Bunny to stay by his side?"

"I'm a big believer in second chances."

"Whoa, whoa." Susan sneered and said, "The most annoying thing about you men is that you make yourselves look noble even though you're wrong."

"No matter what happens you should also think about Nicholas," Manuel continued trying to persuade her until finally giving up due to Susan's bias against Theodore.

"No child wants their parents to separate."

Susan bit her lip. She did feel sorry for that kid.

Manuel could always be able to find her weak point.

"What I mean is, since Theodore wants to win back Little Bunny, give him a chance to show himself," Manuel smiled slightly. "Leave the credit for saving Little Bunny to Theodore."

Susan frowned.

I don't want Little Bunny to fall into Theodore's hands.

"Even if it's for Nicholas, if Theodore continues to be so fickle in the future, we will harm Little Bunny. It's good that she doesn't like Theodore now, and anything Theodore does is disgusting to Little Bunny and she won't be cherished. But if Little Bunny falls in love with Theodore..."

"When did you see Theodore serious about a woman?" Manuel asked.

"That scumbag!"

"Once he is serious, she must be important to him. Rest assured, I can guarantee that Theodore will never again be like before. As long as he is with Little Bunny, he will truly love only her."

"You must be joking."

"Wanna bet?" asked Manuel.

"How?" Susan's interest was aroused once again by him.

"If Theodore only treats Little Bunny well in the future and never goes to find other women, you promise me one thing. If the opposite happens, I promise you a request."

"What requirements?"

"Any requirements are acceptable."

"Well, if I ask you to twerk?" asked Susan.

Manuel was quiet.

"What's wrong, are you scared?" Susan taunted.

"Okay," Manuel nodded, "Anyway, it's impossible."

"Since you are so sure, I will bet with you once. If I lose, Manuel, don't go back on your word."

"Deal!"

Chapter 1069 The Wicked Woman

Susan decided to leave this opportunity to Theodore. She called him, even though she wanted desperately to see Manuel's restrained face while he danced provocatively, but of course, she wanted Little Bunny to be happy more. Theodore was still half asleep. He didn't sleep well last night and had waken up early with Little Bunny earlier today. When he received the call, he was furious, "Susan, if it's not something important, I'll lose my temper!"

"I'm not afraid of your temper," Susan said indifferently.

Theodore didn't understand why Manuel would like a woman like her.

"What do you want?" He asked sarcastically.

"I heard you're pursuing Little Bunny."

"Who told you that?"

"Manuel."

"How does he know?"

"My husband knows everything from astronomy to geography. Of course, he knows about a mere mortal like you."

"What do you want to say?" Theodore wanted to mock her casually. But now his mind was full of Little Bunny.

"Do you know what happened with Little Bunny?"

"What happened?" Theodore became nervous immediately.

"Don't you watch the news?"

"I just woke up! How could I have watched it?!"

"That's true," Susan nodded and continued, "Little Bunny had a conflict with Caroline and now everyone on the internet is calling her names and asking her out of the entertainment industry. Now Little Bunny must be feeling terrible. It's time for your hero moment."

"Damn!" Theodore cursed and quickly got up from bed ready to go find Little Bunny with Samson.

"Hey, do you know what to do?" Susan could feel Theodore's impatience rising rapidly once again.

When this guy got angry no one could stop him.

"Yes!" Without another word, Theodore hung up the phone abruptly, leaving Susan frowning in confusion. She hadn't even told him what needed doing yet.

Theodore had been by Oscar's side for many years and now he held great power. It wouldn't be a problem for him to take down Caroline. At the thought of it, Susan stopped worrying about Theodore.

All she hoped for was that Theodore would genuinely care for Little Bunny.

If he saved Little Bunny this time, perhaps she would feel touched by his efforts and soften up in front of him if Theodore tried more.

Theodore put on his clothes quickly before storming out of the room for Little Bunny. As soon as he opened the door, he saw Caroline. His face darkened as she saw her, who had caused Little Bunny so much trouble. Just as he was about to vent his anger, Caroline began with teary eyes, "Theodore, please help Little Bunny. Please help her."

She cried so hard as if she was the victim this time.

"I don't know who wrote those things online but there is no conflict between me and Little Bunny. I am not like what the media says I am... Now that Little Bunny has been exposed and boycotted on the internet, I don't know what to do. The only one I can think of is you, only you can help her now."

"Where is she?" Theodore asked.

"I don't know, maybe she's still on set."

"I'll go find her." Theodore said firmly. He wanted to comfort her right now before dealing with the issue for her.

"Mr Wold," Caroline grabbed his hand urgently before he could leave. "Don't go find her just yet. She must be feeling very low now and doesn't want to see anyone or become a laughingstock in front of others. The best way is to solve this problem first."

Theodore was hesitant, since he knew exactly how it felt when one encountered an embarrassing situation. They would hide from everyone else until they calmed down themselves instead of seeking comfort from others, just like himself. During his childhood days when he was in training with Oscar and Manuel, if he got the worst grade, he always hid somewhere without being noticed by the other two. He didn't need their comfort.

He nodded slowly in agreement with Caroline's suggestion.

"Which media outlet reported this?"

"Many media outlets are going to report it." Caroline replied anxiously while fumbling with her phone trying to contact her agent for more information about these reports. "Mr Wold, can you ask all news outlets not to publish any news related to Little Bunny? The longer these rumors spread around online, the worse it will be for her."

Theodore agreed immediately without hesitation since he held considerable power over the media industry in Northfield. He called Samson over quickly and instructed him personally that all news regarding Little Bunny should be taken down immediately from every website where they were published earlier today.

Caroline was shocked by how fast everything happened after Theodore gave orders through his assistant. Within minutes, all relevant articles disappeared completely from every website. Furthermore, anyone caught writing negative comments about Little Bunny would have their accounts blocked permanently, which made sure that nobody would talk negatively about her on social media platforms anymore.

Caroline couldn't believe how powerful Theodore truly was. She wanted to come over and win Theodore's favor. She thought it would be better for her to do this favor instead of letting Little Bunny ask him, so that she wouldn't be caught playing tricks and could also get closer to Theodore. But she never expected that one sentence from Theodore could actually erase everything. She never thought that this matter would just pass like that.

At that moment, she started thinking about Theodore again. Winning this man meant she would have power in the industry. With these thoughts in her mind, Caroline spoke up, "Mr Wold, even though there is no news about Little Bunny anymore, the conflict between her and me is still known by many people. It will ultimately have an impact on Little Bunny. How about I record another video to explain things for her? If I step forward and clarify that there really isn't any conflict between us and that it was all made up by someone with ill intentions."

"Sure," Theodore nodded. "Record now, and send it right away. Samson."

"I'll start recording right away." Samson replied and took out his phone.

Caroline took a deep breath and began recording. Due to nervousness, she gave up several times midway.

"Sorry, let me start over again." Caroline looked extremely apologetic.

Theodore was a bit impatient. But thinking about Little Bunny, he kept calm outwardly.

"Memorize your lines first before recording."

"Okay," Caroline nodded, "I was just being stupid."

With that said, she quickly picked up the lines they had just written and started memorizing them. But she intentionally made mistakes every time and let Theodore help her to review. That gave them more time together.

When Little Bunny returned, what she saw was a scene of Theodore and Caroline rehearsing their lines. She was quite confused. Why did Theodore and Caroline have to involve her when their relationship was so good?

Was it true that if she slept with Theodore a few times, he would lose interest in her?

She clenched the fists while holding a business card in her hand. That was a business card just given to her by the photographer, who promised to help her by exposing Caroline's lies if she slept with him.

Chapter 1070 Little Bunny's Choice

When Tanya left to ask for a leave of absence from the director, Little Bunny was alone in the dressing room, working herself up. Outside the door, there suddenly came a knocking sound.

Little Bunny wiped away her tears and said, "Come in." She thought it was Tanya.

The door to the room opened. A middle-aged man walked in. She didn't know this guy but she felt somewhat familiar with him.

"The photographer for the third machine seat," the man introduced himself, "My name is Louie Poole."

"Do you have something to talk to me about?" She concealed her emotions with a cold face.

"I know about you and Caroline, and I know you're the one who's been wronged!" Louie said bluntly, with a hint of helplessness in his tone.

"There's nothing to feel wronged about." Little Bunny appeared indifferent. It had been clear that no one would come to help her. And she didn't need those hypocritical comforts either.

"I have the video of your conversation with Caroline when you started filming." Louie's mouth curled into an evil smile. "So I know what Caroline said to you."

Little Bunny was a bit hesitant as she heard that. The slap was the source of everything. If there were any video proving that it was Caroline who had asked Little Bunny to slap her face, Little Bunny would be able to set the record straight. With an inner excitement, she restrained himself from showing any outward signs. She could tolerate injustice, but if allowed to clear her name, she would not give up. She asked, "Is the video in your hands?"

"Here," Louie smirked evilly. "Coincidentally, I was auditioning before your filming and without thinking, I recorded your conversation into it."

"Can I take a look?"

"Of course," Louie took out his phone and played a clip. There were indeed her and Caroline's figures and their voice had also been recorded. Little Bunny's fingers were trembling slightly as she watched the video. Louie took back his phone and said, "I can give it to you."

"How much money do you want?" asked her. She knew everything was realistic here. There was nothing that could be obtained for free. She was very aware of the survival rules in the entertainment industry.

"Money, I don't care about it," Louie said.

Little Bunny watched him warily.

"I've admired you for long. I think you are better than Caroline, your figure, your acting." Louie said with an evil smile on his face, "I think you know what I mean, Miss Little Bunny."

He was asking her for sex, Little Bunny understood that.

Louie handed her a business card and said, "Think about it, I'll be waiting for you tonight. My phone number is on the card."

With that said Louie left without lingering here too long. He didn't want to be discovered and have a negative impact. Besides, he felt confident that Little Bunny wouldn't refuse so there was no need to waste too much time persuading her.

The door closed shut behind him.

Little Bunny stared at the business card in her hand tightly. For a moment, she wanted to agree immediately. All the grievances and injustices caused by Caroline had made her eager for revenge. She desperately wanted Caroline's reputation ruined. However, despite all these years in showbiz, she had never been involved in any scandals or rumours about other men besides Theodore.

The door was knocked and opened again suddenly and Little Bunny almost jumped in fright. She quickly clenched the business card tightly in her hand as Tanya walked into the room.

"Stord has agreed to your request for leave," Tanya said thoughtfully while trying to figure out why she looked so downcast.

"Did he say anything else?"

"He also mentioned that depending on your news coverage, they may consider whether or not we will continue with this role."

Little Bunny suppressed her emotions and tightened her grip around the business card even more firmly than before as Tanya spoke those words aloud.

Tanya couldn't help but suggest once more, "We could always ask Mr Wold for help if you're feeling overwhelmed by everything going on right now."

At this moment, Little Bunny remembered Theodore again.

If she had to choose between Theodore and Louie...

She found it kind of ironic that just because she wanted nothing more than simply act out scenes as any other actress would do, it seemed like such an impossible task.

Together with Tanya, they left their dressing room.

Under the disdainful gaze of the crew members, they finally headed for where Theodore stayed.

What she thought was she should give herself one less thing to worry about since she couldn't get rid of Theodore anyway. But when she got there and saw Theodore being together with Caroline, she found herself a bit simple-minded.

Theodore and Caroline were practising some lines. When Caroline misspoke, Theodore patiently corrected her without getting angry. From their conversation, she could tell what they were doing. It seemed that Caroline was planning to record a video and post it online to defend her. Little Bunny admired Caroline for being both innocent and hideous at the same time. After she posted the video, everyone would think that Caroline was taking the high road while Little Bunny was being ungrateful. However, this seemingly whitewashing video had no meaning for Little Bunny but only helped promote Caroline further. She watched coldly as they turned their heads to see her.

Her phone suddenly rang. Little Bunny quickly silenced her phone, but Theodore and Caroline heard it anyway. Theodore stood up to go after her, but Caroline suggested, "Mr Wold, please finish the video with me before explaining everything to her."

Theodore hesitated for a moment before deciding to let it go for now. He seemed anxious to resolve things sooner rather than later.

Caroline smiled evilly because she wanted Little Bunny to misunderstand that Theodore treated her just as well as he did with her so that she wouldn't dare ask him for help easily anymore. And she wouldn't have to worry about Theodore targeting her because of Little Bunny either.

Little Bunny answered a call after she got out of there.

"All negative news about you has been blocked on social media networks. What have you done?" asked the manager.

She hadn't done anything herself but maybe it was thanks to what Caroline did or even more likely what Theodore did.

"Did Theodore help you?"

"Maybe," replied Little Bunny nonchalantly.

"Now that you have such a big support behind you, hold onto it tightly and don't keep causing trouble."

She didn't promise anything because deep down inside she knew she couldn't rely on anyone else except herself.