Chapter 1141 Maternity Clothes

“Are these the clothes I asked you to buy?”

Davian was shocked. “Yes, Mr. Kooper. Is something wrong?”

Gilbert asked him to buy some clothes and shoes for a pregnant woman.

So, Davian went to a maternity store in a mall and asked the shopkeeper to pick the clothes for him. He figured that his taste might be bad, so he put his trust in the shopkeeper instead.

‘But, why does Mr. and Mrs. Kooper look very unhappy with the clothes?’

Gilbert grabbed the bags of clothes and threw them at him.

“They’re all either black or gray. Look at how old-fashioned the designs are and how big the dresses are! I gave you an order. Why can’t you just put some effort into it, huh?”

Davian lowered his head as Gilbert went off at him.

Then, he softly said, “I tried. I just thought that I might have bad taste in fashion. So, I told the shopkeepers to pick them for me, and I paid for everything.”

“The shopkeepers probably gave you all the designs that nobody wants.”

Christopher and Carolyn walked up and down in front of the entrance.

Christopher rubbed his hands and anxiously said, "It's already been an hour. Why is she still inside?"

Then, Carolyn said to him scornfully, "How am I supposed to know? You're really good for nothing! I'm glad that Mr. Tanner stepped in to help us this time. Otherwise, I can't imagine what kind of things Sharon has to go through in there."

Christopher arched his brows. "Mrs. Kooper Sr. was the one who dropped the charges. What does Adrien Tanner have to do with this? It's not right for you to give him all the credit. You wouldn't know if Mrs. Kooper Sr. only dropped the charges because I went to beg her last night."

"Hmph. Stop flattering yourself. Sharon would've been released if you're ever capable of doing anything. Why else would we be here waiting?"

"What..."

The gate of the detention center was finally opened while they were still arguing.

Sharon grabbed Adrien's arm directly as she cast up her tear-fraught eyes.

Christopher was about to explode with rage. "Sharon, what are you talking about? I'm the one who loves you and cares about you the most."

"So what if you love or care about me? You couldn't get me out of there either way."

Sharon looked at him without attempting to hide how much she looked down on him.

"Please don't tell anybody that you're my dad from now on. I don't want to have such a useless and incompetent man to be my father. Also, I strongly support mom divorcing you. Mr. Tanner is so much better than you, and I'm sure that mom will be a lot happier after she gets together with him."

Christopher was about to explode with rage after he heard what his daughter said.

Then, Carolyn scoffed at him before she spoke to Adrien with a lovely smile on her face. "Mr. Tanner, what brought you here?"

"I came to pick up you and Sharon. I've booked us a table at a restaurant. Sharon just got released, and I figured that we should have a meal together to get rid of the bad luck."

"Yeah! You're right!" Carolyn nodded her head approvingly, and she began to like Adrien even more.

Then, she scoffed and said to Christopher coldly, "Look at how thoughtful Mr. Tanner is. He's doing so many things for Sharon. Your social status, financial ability, and mindfulness are just nowhere comparable to Mr. Tanner."

"Spot on, mom. Let's stop wasting our time on him. We should get into Mr. Tanner's car now."

She randomly grabbed a shirt to have a look.

It was a pink, long-sleeved fairy dress. The material of the dress was thick, and the style was quite nice too.

Kisa immediately tried on the dress. She looked good in it.

Although it was a loose-fitting dress, she did not look chubby in it. She looked gentle and relaxed in the dress.

Kisa then took one of the pairs of shoes that Gilbert had bought in the morning.

She looked quite pretty in that dress with the flat shoes on.

Kisa then looked through the other clothes.

The design and color of the clothes were all very beautiful. They were a lot nicer than the clothes she saw in the morning.

'I'm not sure why he suddenly bought me these clothes. But, since he bought them for me, I'll just put them on. Just so that he doesn't pick on me.'

She then went downstairs.

Madalyn was watching a Broadway show.

Kisa stayed silent as she quietly walked toward the outside.

“I asked you to research GK’s internal core data. What’s this? I want the actual data. This kind of data can easily be found online. I can do this too. Why do I still need you all, then? Huh?”

When Kisa arrived at the company, she saw Shaun fiercely scolding his assistant.

He threw the stack of data sheets at the assistant's head as he furiously scolded, "You trash! Bunch of trash!"

Kisa coldly smiled. She laughed as she said, "Shaun, you're so capable. You'll naturally make people like us look worthless."

"Hey, Mrs. Kooper. What made you come here? Shouldn't you be resting at home?"

Shaun glanced at Kisa's belly with his cold eyes as he said that.

He seemed like he wanted to see through Kisa's belly with his ruthless and gloomy eyes to see if Kisa was ever pregnant.

There was still a bruise on his face. Gilbert hit him out of anger the other day.

Kisa ruthlessly frowned, "What do you mean? Jensen risked his life to rescue me from the burning jail?"

"Yes. You would've been dead if it wasn't for my boss. You wouldn't even be alive to have a romantic relationship with Gilbert. You're a heartless b*tch!

“Pff! You’re chasing me out of GK, right? Okay. I don’t care about it anyway. I have many other f*cking ways to get back at Gilbert.

“And you, you owe my boss more than you can ever repay. You’ll just live in guilt for the rest of your life.”

Shaun walked away after he scolded Kisa.

Kisa hurriedly ran to him and grabbed him. “Stop. Tell me the truth. Was Jensen really the person who saved me from the fire?”

“Get lost. You’re just an ungrateful person. What will you do if you know the truth? Will you avenge my boss?”

Shaun shook Kisa loose as he said that.

Kisa hastily took a few steps back. Her lower back immediately hit the desk. Her lower back was extremely painful. She even felt a twinge in her tummy.

She held her stomach as she went after Shaun to find out what had happened. But, her tummy was even more painful when she moved.

She took a breath in, held onto the table, and sat in the chair.

I've known him since he was around fourteen or fifteen years years old. That wasn't long after Jensen was sent abroad.

Chapter 1147 Questions Answered

Mia smiled as she pondered for a moment. Then, she said, "I guess he wanted you to be riddled with guilt about Jensen. He wanted you to continue to avenge Jensen and get back at Gilbert. You should know what kind of person Shaun is. He's very loyal to Jensen. He'd do anything to avenge him, let alone tell this lie."

Mia lowered her eyes to drink her tea as she said that. She wanted to hide the emotions that could be seen in her eyes.

Kisa suddenly sat up straight.

She was not sure if she felt disappointed or if she felt something else.

She thought to herself, 'If Jensen was the person who saved me, then could the baby whose skin had turned purple be....

'Never mind. Mia said it wasn't him.

'Moreover, what are the odds of that?

'After all, Jensen was in Raworth at that time. He couldn't come back in time to save me."

She pursed her lips as she looked in the second-floor direction, "Is Jensen okay?"

"As usual."

Mia smiled. She suddenly leaned back in the chair as she said with emotion, "Honestly, this is actually quite nice. He completely belongs to me alone now. And, I don't have to be afraid that he'd run away or like someone else."

Although Mia was smiling while she was saying that, Kisa could tell she was sad when she said it.

'Don't tell me.

He had no time to ponder. He hurriedly rushed into the toilet.

"Ah! What are you doing?"

The door was opened with a bang.

Kisa was taking a dump. She was shocked and immediately pulled up her underwear.

Her stomach was not feeling well since the afternoon.

She only noticed that she got her period when she went to the washroom.

Her period was never on time. This menstruation happened only two weeks after her last menstruation.

She did not think much. She bought a pack of menstrual pads by the roadside and hurriedly went back home.

She wanted to change her pants and put on the menstrual pad after taking a dump. But, she did not expect Gilbert to rush into the washroom like that.

Kisa looked puzzled.

'I really think that I don't feel sick other than my stomach hurting a little.

'Why do I need to stay in bed?'

She was extremely confused. But, she did not dare to get up. 'If I make him unhappy, he'd be mad at me again.'

After lying down for a short while, Gilbert came in again.

This time, he was holding a bowl of hot soup.

He strode toward her. When he saw her using her phone in the bed, he could not help but frown. "Just close your eyes and rest when you're lying down. It'll not only hurt your eyes when you use your phone this way, and it also emits radiation."

Gilbert took her phone away as he said that.

Mia could not take it anymore. She got up and asked him, "Gilbert, what are you doing? You bought me clothes and shoes. Then, you asked me to stay in bed and rest. And, you don't even let me use my phone now. What the hell are you doing?"

Gilbert pursed his lips tightly as he sat at the side of the bed. He then handed her a bowl of soup. "Drink it. It's good for your health."

Kisa frowned when she saw the bowl of black color soup. "What's this?"

Gilbert nodded. "Just do a checkup with him. It's okay. It's for your own good."

Kisa did as she was told, although she had doubts. Luckily, she had just changed into casual wear, and she just needed to lift her shirt up a little to reveal a tad of her tummy.

Kelvin immediately saw a scar on her abdomen. He glanced at Gilbert and saw that he, too, was staring at Kisa's scar. He coughed to clear his throat as he fiddled with the instruments to examine Kisa. "This scar on your stomach wasn't treated properly at first, was it?"

"Well, at the time of losing the child, I felt so sad and ran around like crazy under a heavy downpour, so the wound festered," she said indifferently. Her tone did not have many undulations, as if she was talking about someone else's story.
