Chapter 1401 He'll Definitely Find Her

Kisa was startled and began to feel curious. Strange... How can there be light?'

The tiny spot of light was not very bright. Kisa stared at it for a long time, only to realize that it was coming through the cracks of the ruins. The rubble from the collapse had formed a wall. Kisa needed to find out whether someone was there or if someone had dropped their phone. The faint light looked like a flashlight from a mobile.

Kisa touched her way around but still could not find a way out. "Hello? Is anyone there?" she shouted, but no one answered.

'Someone must have dropped a phone on the other side,' she thought. 'This will be much easier if only I can grab it.'

Kisa put her hands on the wall and continued walking along it, but she still could not find an exit. Suddenly, she heard a vague sound of people talking. The voices sounded familiar.

Kisa leaned against the rubble weakly, staring at the figure shrouded in a faint light. She did not dare to move. She feared that the figure would disappear like a bubble if she moved.

I'm having a hallucination. Am I dying? But... At least I get to see him.'

Suddenly, Kisa did not feel so afraid or helpless anymore.

She smiled at the figure and muttered, "Will you blame me for not protecting our child?"

The man appeared in front of her as soon as she said that. He knelt down and stared at her without blinking. Under the faint light from the phone's flashlight function, the man's black eyes looked like coal.

"Kisa... Where are you? Kisa..."

Kelvin kept calling her name and dug through the dirt and rubble with his bare hands. After a while, his hands were covered in blood. "You can't die on us, Kisa. What will Gilbert do if you're dead? How is he going to live without you? Kisa... Please be okay... Kisa..." His eyes were red with tears as he roared frantically into the ruins.

Adrien stood aside, smoking a cigarette and surveying at the damage thoughtfully. 'Is that woman really dead? How will I keep up this game if she's dead?'

He narrowed his eyes coldly, and he seemed irritated.

"You lot, go and look for them. Make sure you rescue Mr. Mullen Sr. and Mrs. Kooper," Adrien ordered the bodyguards behind him.

Chapter 1404 I Don't Care If You Want To Die

Kelvin was agitated and asked, "Where is she? Is she okay? Is she safe?" Adrien was also staring at Anthony at that point, nervous about finding out the answer. He did not want Kisa to die just like that.

Anthony was silent for a long time. When he started to speak, his voice was weak. "Gilbert took. her out of there, but I'm unsure if she's alive."

"Gilbert? How can he be here? Are you toying with me?" Kelvin asked, taken aback by what he heard. Anthony did not pay any attention to him. Instead, he just stared at Mr. Mullen Sr.'s lifeless body in a daze, and everyone in the Mullen family fell into a mourning state.

Adrien looked toward the horizon of the ruins thoughtfully 'Seems like there's another exit in this basement that even that old man did not know about Sara, Sara, Sara. I've underestimated you...'

Kisa frowned as she looked at the man. 'What does he mean by that? Was he actually hurt by what I said that day? Does he no longer want this relationship with me?'

Suddenly, Gilbert stretched out his hand and stroked her belly with his slender fingers for a while. "However, I'll still have you by my side for the sake of this child," he said.

"You can go wherever you like when the child is born. I won't care about you anymore. Even if you face something as tragic as what just happened, you'll be on your own."

Kisa blankly stared at the hand that was lingering on her stomach. Subconsciously, she reached out to grab it, but the man withdrew his touch. Kisa's hand stopped in mid-air, empty and lonely.

Chapter 1406 Distributing The Inheritance

Everyone in the Mullen family was shocked when they found out that 50% of the family's property and business shares were given to Anthony. Albert got 10%, while Leon, Isaac, and Joe each got only 5%. Meanwhile, Vivian got 15%, and finally Mrs. Mullen Sr. got 10%.

Kisa was also taken aback when she heard about the distribution of the inheritance. She looked at Kelvin and asked, "Are you sure? The distribution numbers seem rather unreasonable. Doesn't this mean that Anthony is now the head of the Mullen family? Wasn't he the most unfavorable one out of them all?"

"Yeah. That's why the other sons of the Mullen family went crazy. They're saying that he killed Mr. Mullen Sr. and forged the will. Leon, Isaac, and Joe are planning to join forces and sue Anthony."

Kisa frowned. "What happened next? There hasn't been any news from the Mullen family in the past half a month. Has the inheritance dispute been resolved?"

“The only reason there hasn’t been any news is that Anthony had something to do with it. After all, the argument would be a huge scandal. If it gets out on the news, their family will become a laughingstock to the public eye.”

Chapter 1407 Going Against Him With Their Child

Kisa slowly looked up and saw Gilbert’s indifferent handsome face. She had been recuperating in the villa for over half a month now and saw the man day and night. The man had never smiled at her during the time she was there.

Even though the two slept on the same bed, they had their backs facing each other, which made Kisa feel lonely and bitter. However, she did not say a word about his indifference and had no right to blame him. All she could do was bear it in silence.

‘I have to figure out Adrien’s true purpose before telling him anything,’ she thought.

Kelvin had come over several times and noticed that Gilbert was upset. Seeing the gloomy expression on the man’s face, Kelvin walked over to him tactfully with the help of his crutch. His leg had been injured when the basement had collapsed the other day, but it was not as serious as Kisa’s injury. He was still able to walk around with his crutches, while Kisa had to sit in a wheelchair.

“Then I’ll feed you!”

After saying that, Gilbert raised her chin with one of his hands, forcing her to look up. Before Kisa could say anything, the man pried her mouth open with two fingers. The woman was in pain and wanted to shout at him, but the man had no mercy. He poured the chicken soup directly into her mouth.

Although his actions were rough, the soup did not splash out of Kisa’s mouth. It wasn’t until she was forced to swallow that the man let her go. Kisa started to choke and cough non-stop as her stomach began to churn. She then bent over and started to hurl. However, nothing came out of her. She caressed her own chest while she suffered.

‘F*ck me. This man must think I was only pretending to throw up all this while, huh?’

Just as she expected, the man took a few steps back and looked at her with a sneer. “Didn’t you say you can’t drink it? Why were you able to down it without any issues then?”

Kisa’s face was red, making her pale face look livelier. She held onto the armrest of the wheelchair and looked at his cold face as her vision became blurry. Kisa did not know whether it was because of anger or grievance that she was crying. But she could not speak. All she did was just stare at the man with tears in her eyes.

“My eyes fooled me? What do you mean? Do you think I’m so crazy that I couldn’t even recognize Sara? Or do you think that I’m intentionally putting the blame on her? Huh?”

“That’s not what I’m saying, Kisa.” Kelvin frowned and said, “It’s just... There’s no way that Sara would hide there. And, even if what you say is true, even if she was really there, there’s no way she’s capable of doing those things. She’s so kind; she wouldn’t even dream of hurting a fly. There’s no way she could have done all that to put our life in danger.”

‘Hah. Even Kelvin has a high opinion of her. Gilbert, who has always seen her as an angel, would never believe me.’ Kisa suddenly became a little frustrated.

She lowered her head and said weakly, “You should go.”

Chapter 1410 Late Night Love

“What?” Gilbert turned to look at Kisa, pulling his hand away as if he hated her touch. Kisa took a deep breath, suppressed the pain in her heart, and said calmly, “I have something to tell you.”

“Is that so? Go ahead then.” The man’s tone was light. He walked to the window, opened it wide, and took out a box of cigarettes. He grabbed one of the cigarettes and lit it. Kisa noticed that Gilbert had been smoking more and more these days.

The man took a big puff and exhaled the smoke before impatiently saying, “I don’t have all day, you know. Time is ticking, and I have matters to attend to. So, talk.”

Kisa grabbed her blanket tightly and said, “I saw Sara in the Mullen family’s basement.”

Gilbert paused. He looked directly at Kisa, but her dull eyes showed no emotion. "What are you trying to imply?" he chuckled.
