

Rejecting Your Rejection

Chapter 13 Life As It Is

After you, I will make sure to never love again. At least its what you taught me as a Mate.

When she woke up a day after Dante scare the hell out of her more like giving her a lifetime nightmare she finds herself back in their house.

Laura spend most of her time with the kids while Cameron was being attentive to her most of the time. He has always been there for her trying to make her act normal and live a normal life without fear. He went to an extent where he train her for the past two weeks how to defend herself.

Cameron told her that Dante has suggested for him to when he dropped her off that day. He told her that Dante never explain what happens to her and Daniella didn't even bother to share.

Speaking of Dante Daniella never saw him again since the incident in his pack cell. She was doing better and for a whole week she managed to get back up on her feet plus her training were really helpful. The council has been giving out warning alerts for Rogues around the border.

"Hey" Cameron came from the stairs with Holly in his arm.

"You're working today?"

"yeah... Why?"

he put her in her crib next to Clyde who was on the floor in the living room playing with his pile of toys.

"I want you to come home early. I already ask Kyle to drop by to pick you up"

ADVERTISEMENT

"Kyle?" she ask in confusion "how did-"

"you forgot Alpha Dantes sister was one of our friend, and I know almost everyone in that Pack,"

"okay" and she grab her bag then kisses Holly and Clyde before heading out "see you later guys."

She decided to go by taxi to work today and let her car rest for a day. After all she didn't have the money to fix it if it broke down again.

Cora has shown up to her work today "Heya Dani" she beams at her "how have you been doing?"

“great” she replies.

Cora took a seat by the counter eyeing the pastries on display “I’ll have your afghan cookie and a mocha.” Daniella quickly attend to her order then settle down behind the counter opposite her.

Luckily they have fewer guests to attend to, so it was good to have a little chat with her new friend.

“I’ve heard you been to our Pack”

ADVERTISEMENT

Daniella gawk aside “yeah I was, due to a rogue’s attack and I happened to be here when they did.” She didn’t want to talk about the real reason so she watches as Cora took a bite of her cookie. “Hmm this is so good” then she leans forward “and I also know our sy Kyle is picking you up.”

“Oh yeah my brother in law Cameron ask him to” Cora just nod her head and took a sip of her mocha.

“So do you want to visit to my pack again?” Daniella half smile “I would love to but I just can’t” Cora pressed her lips together “okay.”

The door bell ring they both turn to Kiev who waves at her. Kiev has been there for her in the past weeks. He has been a very supportive friend to her and Daniella never told him anything about her life as she just avoid the topic and talk on other things.

He was near to them Cora suddenly have that distasteful look on her face. She pushes away her plate standing up.

“I think I just lost my appete, umm I’ll see you some other day Dani” she grab her purse from the counter and head out.

“What’s with you and the Crimson pack members,” she ask Kiev

“they’re just jealous that they don’t get to have this handsome face and body” he jokes taking a seat before her.

“Really Kiev, are you sure? You didn’t do anything to make you the number one hater to your former pack members?”

ADVERTISEMENT

“Nah, not sure of but I think they just didn’t like the fact I turned down little miss prissy who was walking out of here. Oh yeah before you say mate no were not” he grins.

Daniella whack him on the back of the head. “Ms. Prissy is a friend of mine so don’t mock her,” he warns him.

They talk again for a while before he went back to his work. He still works at the restaurant she used to work. After him she went back to continue with her duties in the cafe.

When she closes down for the day Kyle was already there to pick her up then to drop her off home. They didn't talk that much on their way as it was so awkward to her. So they just made small talk and then that was it.

She opens the door to only welcome with voices and she closes her eyes once she heard the other unwanted voice coming from the living room.

.....

Another update for my lovely readers and I would like to apologise to @jheraisy for not having more updates as you have comments. I was kinda busy baby-sitting my twin nieces on the weekend... Thank you for encouraging me dear Thank you again everyone for your continuous support.. More updates today

Love Xox,

Nica