

Rejecting Your Rejection Reject Him

"I Dante Hernandez will....."

Dante losing his step fell back giving Allen who has been shifted back into his human form an advantage to cut through his arms and legs using the silver blade. Then he moves forward grabbed him and bends him on his knees.

Daniella was about to kill Zane when Allen growl at them "let him go or I'll kill him" she swerves around looking at her mate, her hands now around Zane's neck choking him to death.

"Let him go and that goes for the rest of you. If not your Alpha here will die" he spit out his blood then wipe it with the back of his hand.

The Crimson seeing their leader kneeling on the ground with a silver blade around his throat stops. Daniella's grip loosens and Zane's body dropped on the floor helplessly. He scoots away from her then to Allen's side.

"Good girl, now for the rest of you let go"

"No" shouted Dante "don't you dare listen"

Allen tightens his hold the knife draws blood from his skin.

"Please no" cries Daniella while holding her stomach "please don't, we'll do it"

"No" Dante growl.

Yet again Allen punches him which results in him coughing out blood. "Please no" she begs "we'll let go" the pack members look at her as if she's insane.

She caught on Cameron then look at Jem who instantly understood her choice "everyone let go and listen to what she says" he mind link "but be aware to still hold up your guards" without giving out any suspicion that they were communicating Dani pleads with them again and this time they let go of their weapons and the Crescent wolves including some surviving Rogues.

She prays to the moon goddess for strength and this better be work.

"Good now before I kill off your Alpha I want you to do one thing for me" Allen keeps on smirking "reject him" everyone gasps with shock.

"You still think I'll let you mate me with that mark on your neck and thing in your stomach after my victory today. They are Dante's, not mine. So reject him while I'm being nice" he demanded.

Daniella took a step forward but he stops her "ah stay there" she begs again for the moon goddess to help her.

"Don't think of mind linking him, now do it" she looks at Dante half kneel on the ground and almost bath in blood. The strong Dante earlier no longer kneel but the most vulnerable one who was feeling ashamed by now that he couldn't even protect his Mate.

She begs again for him to look up at her and when he did she pleads with him through her eyes.

Her hands moving to her stomach tears dropping from her eyes then she looks around to their pack and to him again.

Dante knew what she meant that she needed him to be there for her, their pup, and their pack. She's pleading for him to hold on a little bit the Dante that people fears that everyone respected and loves.

He knew if he dies these people's lives won't ever be the same again and he won't get to make his Daniella smile or his pup be happy. He can't die that easily; he won't be resting in peace not knowing that his people aren't safe.

Daniella starts to sob "I Daniella," she said between her sobs "Maynard Reject you Alpha Dante Hernandez of Crimson Pack."

There was no pain as Dante still needs to complete the rejection. Allen pushes the knife deeper into his shoulder making him groan in pain.

"Accept her rejection" when he felt Allen's guard loosen a little he prays the moon goddess to give him and his wolf one final strength and when he felt it he spoke and he took Allen by surprise when he held on to his arm tighten his hold on it and when he saw the other one coming to his way from the back he deject his move and broke it before flipping him on the ground before him.

"I Dante Hernandez" he pauses" smirking a little "rejected your rejection, Daniella Maynard"

Everyone else starts to fight again against their opponents Daniella was too quick to get to Zane before he could kill Dante. The blade that was in Allen's hand flew up in the air and once Dante caught it within his hands he tortures Allen by stabbing his legs then his arms and stomach in a quick movement.

When he felt his strength weaken and Allen almost on the brink of death he stops.

"What's the matter, friend?" Allen laughs while coughing up blood "couldn't finish doing it right best friend."

Dante laughs a little "it's a shame I never thought you'll consider me as your friend because to me you were never a friend. With our thoughts and with our hidden desire in upheaval I don't think I was ever a friend to you but rather your sworn enemy. And I'm not letting you live another day foe. You were just a good foe to me in the beginning."

Dante raises his hand with a silver blade in it to finish off Allen but a hand stops him Daniella took it from him even though he refuse to. Dani took him out quickly. It was so easy as Dante was tired with that she looks at Allen with coldness in her eyes

"For my mate, my pup, our pack and for all those you have killed and betrayed" with that being said she swiftly kills off Allen.