

Resume 25

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 25

You Made Harsh Remarks on Ms. Allyson's

Aylin looked at Martin and joked, "She is young. Maybe she is not serious about it. What do you think, Martin?"

Martin felt bored when he heard them chatting, "I'll go get the car."

"OK. Just go. We'll wait for you here."

After Martin left, Aylin said, "What about you, Natalia? What is your plan?"

Natalia raised her eyebrows, "I got nothing. You can't force love to happen."

"Don't fool me around. I heard that Jameson got divorced, and the Proctor family is looking for a new wife for him. You must have come back because of this, right?"

Natalia didn't nod; nor did she shake her head.

Although she and Jameson didn't grow up together, their families had been on good terms. And she was about the same age as Jameson.

She had always thought that they would be the perfect match.

However, she had never expected that Jameson would get married to a woman who had been sold into the Twilight Club.

Natalia had been angry with her family for a long time, because they didn't tell her about Jameson's marriage.

But after thinking about it, she realized that Jameson as an illegitimate child was a perfect match with a woman who worked at the club.

She thought that she could forget everything once she went abroad, but none of the men she met was better than Jameson.

Also, in the past three years, the Proctor Group had been under the control of Jameson.

He was powerful and attractive, outstanding enough to make a woman forget his illegitimate identity and fall in love with him.

Moreover, few people knew that he was an illegitimate child.

So, when she heard the news of his divorce, she immediately came back from overseas.

She had waited for three years and finally got the opportunity to fulfill her wish.

At 10:00 p.m.

After the rush hours, the bustling CBD quieted down, and there were few people on the street.

There was a man who stumbled out of a corner, and then ran toward the tallest building.

A group of men chased him with sticks.

It didn't take long for them to catch him, and then they punched and kicked him on the ground.

Jameson walked to the front of the car and stopped to look at the beating not far in front of him.

Jacob got the point at once and immediately walked over.

He learned about the situation from the words of the man who was beaten.

When Jacob came back, his had a serious look.

"Mr.Proctor, it is Ms.Allyson's father."

Under a warm street lamp, Jameson's face looked cold and cruel as he walked over with long legs.

In the crowd, Josh covered his head tightly.

Only a few words came out, "My son-in-law...President of the Proctor Group, money..."

When a group of thugs saw someone approaching, they tried to threaten him.

But when they saw Jameson was followed by a bunch of bodyguards, they knew that he must be someone powerful and immediately retreated to make way for him.

Josh was surprised when the guy stopped beating him.

He looked up and saw a pair of black leather shoes in front of him.

He looked up and then became excited.

He grabbed the legs of Jameson and said, "He is my son-in-law.He is a rich man.You can ask him for money.He will give you whatever you want!"

Jameson looked down at Josh's bloodstained hands and crouched down, saying in a cold voice, "I remember telling you not to show up again when I gave you the money last time."

Josh ignored his words.

He stood up and wiped the blood and ash off his face.

"Jameson, do you think I don't know how much money you have? Don't try to get rid of me with half a million!"

Josh thought it would be much easier to ask Jameson for money than to ask Sharon.

Rich people were generous.

Jameson had offered him half a million! Jameson looked up at those waiting around, "How much do you want now?"

Josh raised one finger and smiled, "Just one million."

Jameson derided and stood up, "Do you think I am a philanthropist?"

“Jameson, all I need is just one million.”

Josh also stood up and whispered to Jameson, “I sold Sharon to the Twilight Club at the same price. They were really generous and did not even bargain with me at all. If you hadn’t taken Sharon away, I would have had a million. I’m just asking for some interest now.”

Jameson’s eyes are cold with anger, “Get lost.”

“Jameson, I know that you are divorced from Sharon now. She is beautiful, and there are plenty of people who want to marry her. If you don’t give me the money, I will ask someone else for it. Don’t regret it.”

Jameson glared at him, his thin lips tightly pursed.

His face turned ashen with outrage.

Just as Jacob thought that Jameson was about to go berserk, Jameson said indifferently, “Give him two million.”

Hearing this, Josh became overjoyed.

He patted Jameson’s shoulder and said happily, “Good for you, Jameson! That’s the right way to go.”

Jameson pushed his hand away and warned him word by word, “Take the money. If you dare to look for trouble with Sharon again, I will let you have the money but no life to spend it.”

Josh stiffened for a moment, and he quickly smiled again, “Don’t worry. I will go far away with this money and leave you alone.”

Jameson didn’t look at him, just turned around and got into the Rolls-Royce that parked by the side of the road.

Jacob finished dealing with Josh’s matter and also got into the car.

Before he sat down, Jacob heard a cold voice coming from behind him, “Anything clue about Shawn’s whereabouts?”

Jacob answered immediately, “Mr. Shawn said that when Ms. Allyson came to him, she said that something happened at home and she was in bad need of money. He found Ms. Allyson’s work creative and decided to help her. So, he submitted an application to you, but you rejected it. You made harsh remarks on Ms. Allyson’s ideas and told him that the opportunity was for people who had design dreams, not those who regarded this competition as a business opportunity and even wanted to make a profit from it.”

Jameson didn’t say anything in response.

Jacob was completely unaware of how cruel his words were.

He didn’t want to leave Jameson with an impression that he didn’t work hard and ignored Jameson’s orders.

He was a diligent assistant, and did not allow anyone to question his work.

Jacob continued, "Mr.Shawn said that Ms.Allyson was sad and depressed after hearing this and left.Not long after, Ms.Allyson was sold to the Twilight Club.Mr.Shawn realized that it must have something to do with Ms.Allyson's family, so he went to the Twilight Club and found that Ms.Allyson was sold to the Club by the usury creditors.But...."

Jacob paused for a moment before he said, "I went to the Twilight Club to learn more about the story.A guy told me that he saw Josh when Ms.Allyson was sold to the Club.So it's very likely that he had helped the usury creditors...."