

Resume 48

Ex-Husband Wants Badly to Resume Their Marriage Chapter 48

Didn't You Say You Were Beautiful and E

"I'm talking to Sharon," she replied, and then said to Sharon, "I'll hang up now and tell you how he proposes to me later!"

Then, Tiffany quickly hung up the phone. Sharon did not have the chance to say a word.

Looking at the darkened screen of her phone, she instantly felt powerless.

She did not worry that Asher would propose to Tiffany.

After all, Tiffany had hinted that she wanted to get married, but Asher played dumb.

It was obvious that he wanted to continue to be with Tiffany while consorting with another woman.

Therefore, in order not to take responsibility, he would definitely not propose.

However, Sharon did not know how to tell Tiffany about Asher's cheating on her.

As expected, half an hour later, Tiffany sent her a text message: I guessed wrong.

He did not propose to me but just gave me a bag.

Sharon thought of the two bags that Asher bought in the shop today and became furious.

She typed a few words and then deleted them. She repeated this process for several times.

Soon, Tiffany sent another message: It seems that I should wait more patiently.

Asher said that he would take me to visit his parents next month.

I think we'll discuss the wedding by then.

By the way, I've found a few beautiful wedding dresses. I'll show you the pictures.

Then a few wedding dress pictures were sent over.

Sharon, which one do you think is good-looking? Sharon deleted the words she had typed and replied: All of them look good.

Tiffany: You must come to be my bridesmaid, and you'll be the most beautiful bridesmaid in the world!

Sharon smiled and replied: I'm married, so I can't be your bridesmaid. Moreover, she had an unhappy marriage.

Tiffany: Don't say that. Jameson is a b*st*rd. He doesn't know how lucky he is to have married you.

Tiffany: Asher called me. I'll talk to you later.

Sharon put down her phone and bent over the desk.

Why was this? Why were there so many jerks in the world? A few minutes later, Sharon's phone rang again.

She did not move and just reached out her hand to get the phone.

She found it was Giana complaining to her about Jameson.

Giana had just planned to shop abroad, but before she could start her journey, Jameson arranged for her to act in a TV Series.

She lost freedom.

Sharon, after chatting with Giana for a while, asked deliberately: I have a friend...

Her friend's boyfriend has cheated on her friend, so she asks me how she should tell her friend.

Do you have any good ideas? Giana quickly replied: Your friend can treat her friend to a meal full of green food, or keep showing her green icons.

That girl and her boyfriend have been together for many years and she really loves him.

If she knew his cheating, she would be very sad.

Their topic quickly changed from cursing Jameson to cursing the jerks cheating.

It was only recently that Sharon found out what Giana's past scandal was about.

It was the story of another jerk.

Once a man born with a silver spoon asked for Giana's love.

Giana treated him indifferently at the beginning, but the man kept caring about her considerably and she was impressed.

They two had just been together for a few months when suddenly Giana appeared in a trending for no reason.

And the trending attracted broad attention.