chapter 42

Elsa recognized that was Darcie's voice. Despite her annoyance with Darcie, she said to Sylvia, "Mrs. Maskelyne, we have a meeting, sorry."

Sylvia felt terrified every time she heard them call her Mrs. Maskelyne. So she replied, "Franklin doesn't like it to go public, so, could you..."

"Captain Franklin has told us." Elsa said with a smile, "And we've notified all passengers that day. Don't worry. We won't say anything."

"Mrs. Maskelyne, why don't you and Captain Franklin disclose this great news?" One of the stewardesses asked out of curiosity.

"Probably he is trying to protect me." Sylvia said with a wink, "You know him, this charming guy!"

They all laughed and thought Sylvia was not only pretty and kind but also humorous and lovely.

Sylvia felt relieved when they left, and the aloofness appeared again on her face.

Being lovely was not her thing, really.

But what they didn't know about was there was a domestic trend of being like Mrs. Maskelyne.

Jimmy had posted the video of Sylvia online in H Rovirsa before those stewardesses could call and notify him.

Jimmy was a freelance cameraman who spent most of his time in H Rovirsa.

He felt the urge to record it when Sylvia grabbed the intercom and he also did it.

Luckily he knew that it was illegal to post videos of other people, so he put a mosaic bar over her face.

What he recorded was the scene where Sylvia was taking over the Chief purser's job and comforting passengers.

Her voice was powerfully loud and clear.

"Hello, everyone, this is Sylvia, Captain Franklin's wife. Franklin is my husband. He is professionally trained. When I married him four years ago, he had just taken over SouthStar Airlines. To better run SouthStar Airlines, he trained hard and got his pilot certificate. I know clearly what he has done to be a captain from a trainee pilot. I know very well how capable he is. So, I hope you can believe him. As my husband and the captain, he will take responsibility for me and everyone here. I'm here with you and I'm sure he won't abandon us. He will definitely be able to make a safe landing."

People saw her in a creamy purple dress, but she was like a powerful warrior!

This video was reposted millions of times with millions of comments and likes.

"Oh my gosh!"

"Mrs. Maskelyne is sick!"

“Mrs. Maskelyne is real! I thought it is just rumors.”

“Who knows Mrs. Maskelyne would be so awesome!”

“Right! I wanna marry Mrs. Maskelyne if she were a guy!”

“Just think about it, during that scary moment. The chief purser was hurt and those stewardesses were terrified, but she stood out!”

“OMG! She’s so amazing comforting them!”

“Captain Franklin is so lucky!”

“I wonder if Mrs. Maskelyne accompanies Captain Franklin every time? I’m so jealous of him.”

People went crazy online.

“Mrs. Maskelyne comforting passengers” was right on the trending list.

Given this, the same purple dress had become a hit and the same dresses were sold out within a second.

Even that pair of white half-heel shoes she was wearing was in vogue.

There was a multitude of comments flushing into Franklin’s Twitter, “Please, I need Mrs. Maskelyne’s Twitter.”

“Does Mrs. Maskelyne have a Twitter account?”

“Mr. Maskelyne, Captain Franklin, I’ll take your flight forever since now! Please, give us her Twitter account!”

“Captain Franklin, do you realize that your wife is so awesome!”

“I wanna marry her myself, too!”

However, some admirers of Franklin’s were so much different that these crazy netizens, especially those ladies from a royal family.

Those ladies left harsh comments about her when they saw Sylvia’s video.

“Well, what a nobody! Is Mr. Maskelyne blind to marry her?”

“So fake!”

“Eww! Is that even legal to take Chief purser’s job?”

“I think so. It’s illegal! She should be punished! And that chief purser should be punished as well! So unprofessional!”

“And those stewardesses! Are they really qualified?”

“What is wrong with SouthStar Airlines? Letting an untrained nobody take over and act like she knows how to do it at such a desperate time?”

“Publicity trick?! It must be a publicity trick!”

Tiffany was outraged when she saw the trending of Sylvia.

She reaffirmed the identity of the woman who picked up Franklin's phone.

She was his wife.

Shit! How shameless she was to announce herself as Franklin's wife after the divorce.

Tiffany then posted a Twitter without giving it a second thought, "I've heard that Mr. Maskelyne and Mrs. Maskelyne are divorced. So just stop talking about them together!"

She even left countless comments all about their divorce on Jimmy's Twitter. "What a disgraceful woman! Acting like she is still the wife of Mr. Maskelyne to become popular after their divorce!"

Tiffany wouldn't allow it.

So she opened her laptop and sent an email.

A reply came in a few minutes. And there were just two letters, "OK."

'Mrs. Maskelyne, a divorced woman, let's just wait and see how many glorious days you have left!'

Tiffany smirked and looked at Twitter coldly.

"Mr. Maskelyne has divorced" had become a trending topic on Twitter about an hour later.

This topic was just below the one, "Mrs. Maskelyne comforting passengers", which was ironic.

All the comments and reposts were criticizing Sylvia on the topic of "Mr. Maskelyne has divorced".

"How could she! Piggybacking on Mr. Maskelyne after they got divorced!"

"Trying to put herself in a public persona as Mrs. Maskelyne? How stupid!"

"She should go die! Franklin is mine!"

"Why would Mr. Maskelyne marry such a devious woman?"

"She just did it to get attention!"

Meanwhile, those who had watched her video were on her side, "Mrs. Maskelyne is awesome! You are all just green with envy!"
