

The Ex-Husband's Revenge

Dragonsky

Chapter 19

"What exactly happened?" Elder Young was in a daze. He just woke up from his state of unconsciousness, so he had no idea what happened.

"This is what happened..." Iris walked over and told Elder Young everything.

Elder Young was shocked. He sent a slap right at Gilbert, berating him, "You idiot, what did you do?! Leon tried to save me out of the kindness of his heart. It doesn't matter if he managed to cure me or not, he still tried his best. How could you repay his kindness like that?! Hurry up and apologize to him!"

Gilbert did not like Leon after everything that happened, but with his father's threats, he reluctantly walked over and said, "Leon, I was wrong for doing what I did just now. I'm sorry..."

"Mister Young, you're being too polite. It was just a small misunderstanding. Everything is fine," Leon said in a hurry.

At that moment, Graham walked over as well. Graham gave Leon a bow, "Young man, I'm sorry for being impolite just now! Your medical skills are amazing.

They are practically miraculous. You have earned my deepest respect! Also, can I ask you if what you used earlier was the Six Points of Fate? The technique has been lost for centuries." 1

The moment he mentioned the Six Points of Fate, Graham had an incredibly excited look on his face.

His assistant was in a state of disbelief. He looked at Leon incredulously.

"What's the Six Points of Fate? I've never heard of it before," Leon was surprised at Graham's questions. All he did earlier was strike at the points that were reflected in his mind. He did not know what that technique was called.

"Then where did you learn that technique, as well as your medical skills?" Graham was confused.

"I-It was inherited..." Leon said hesitantly.

He did get all those memories from an ancestor of the Wolfs, so it was not wrong calling it an inheritance.

Seeing as Leon seemed to be trying to hide something, Graham did not continue pressing the matter. Leon did not use any internal energy when he treated Elder Young as well, so Graham could not tell if it was the Six Points of Fate.

However, there was something he was sure of. The fact that Leon was able to treat Elder Young's strange illness meant that Leon's medical knowledge was incredibly deep. At least, Leon should be just as good as him.

"Young man, this is my name card. If you're interested, we can talk about medicine in the future," Graham handed Leon his name card.

After that, he bid farewell to Elder Young before leaving with his assistant. ³

"Leon, you didn't just save Iris, you saved me as well. From now on, you're a valued guest of the Youngs. You're also a great benefactor of ours! Tell me, what do you want? Just say it!" Elder Young said gratefully. He was a lot more sincere than before.

"There's no need. You don't have to be so courteous. I don't want anything," Leon hurriedly shook his head.

"I can't allow that! The Youngs always repay our debts. You've helped us so much. If we just accept all that kindness without paying you back, I wouldn't be able to sleep soundly at night," Elder Young said seriously.

Earlier, he suspected that Leon was just putting on an act, pretending to reject their offer so they would offer him even more rewards. 1

Yet, Elder Young was certain at that moment that Leon did not want anything back. 1

Elder Young was too wary!

Before Leon could answer, Iris said, "Leon, grandfather is very grateful to you. You shouldn't say no anymore. If you need anything, tell us. We'll do it!"

Seeing as they kept on insisting, Leon fell silent for a moment before saying, "Elder Young, I do have a request. I desperately need a job right now.

"If you can, could you possibly arrange for a stable job for me? I don't even mind being a regular salesman."

"That's all you want?" Elder Young could not believe his ears. 9

Iris was shocked as well. There was a glint in her beautiful eyes.

She thought that Leon would take the chance to get something from all this, but she never expected that a job would be all Leon wanted. That request was a little too simple!
