

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2010

Chapter 2010

"The Poisonwielder!"

Everyone froze in disbelief.

They all assumed that the Poisonwielder ran after capturing Elder Tiddertons' grandson, and never imagined that he would lurk in the dark to keep an eye on the Dragon Guards' movement, which completely caught them off guard.

"Damn it! How sly!" Fletcher and the others snapped out of it and gasped in fear as they felt chills down their spines.

They mistakenly assumed that the Poisonwielder was on the run and wanted to go after him. When Leon stopped them from doing so, a lot of them thought that Leon was being a coward.

It was not until this very moment that they finally realized how brilliant Leon was.

If Leon did not stop them from leaving, the Poisonwielder would be able to torture the Tiddertons as he pleased and obtain the motherwort with ease as soon as the Dragon Guards stepped foot out of the mansion.

If that happened, their mission to eliminate the Poisonwielder would fail.

Their hearts were instantly heavy, but at the same time, they were all glad that Leon made the right decision to stop them, or the Dragon Guards from both the southern and western branches would have walked right into the Poisonwielder's trap.

Scott, Chad, and Jerry felt glad as well.

They were all annoyed that Alfred selected Leon as their leader, but only realized at this very moment that Leon was far more capable than they imagined. They finally understood Alfred's reasoning for making such an arrangement.

"Who are you, kid? Why are you with the Dragon Corps?" The Poisonwielder glared at Leon maliciously.

He made a perfect plan to lure the Dragon Guards out of the Tiddertons Mansion so that he could focus on robbing the Tiddertons of the motherwort.

Everything went smoothly as he predicted and the Dragon Guards from the western region decided to go after him in response to Elder Tidderton's pleading.

However, Leon managed to convince everyone to give up on it and destroyed the Poisonwielder's plan.

At that very moment, he desperately wished that he could kill Leon immediately to vent his anger.

Leon stared right into the Poisonwielder's eyes and answered calmly, "My name is Young Wolf. I work for the southern region branch of the Dragon Corps. Are you the Poisonwielder?"

Taking Alfred's advice to heart, Leon made up an alias, taking the family names of him and Iris.

He knew that the Poisonwielder came prepared if he dared to kill the Tiddertons under the Dragon Guards' noses, but was surprised to find that the Poisonwielder did not escape and waited nearby for them to leave.
