

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2027

Chapter 2027

"It's fine! Fletcher, you and your team should stay here and rest! I will hunt the Poisonwielder with Scott and the others!" Leon smiled.

Not only was the Poisonwielder severely injured, but he was also poisoned by the Deadly Veratrum poison, so this was the perfect chance for them to eliminate the Poisonwielder.

On top of that, Leon succeeded in planting the Soul Searcher on the Poisonwielder and since he could track the Poisonwielder with ease, he only needed a few Dragon Guards' assistance to slay the Poisonwielder.

However, since the existence of the Soul Searcher was better off being kept as a secret, Leon did not see the point in explaining himself to Fletcher.

"What? But, that can't work!" Fletcher and the others were stunned.

"Mister Wolf, forgive me for being blunt, but the Poisonwielder is a cunning man and even if he is injured at the moment, he is still a formidable opponent! Without our help, the six of you won't be able to restrain him,' Fletcher said worriedly.

Not only was the Poisonwielder a poison expert, but he was also a formidable Almighty martial artist.

It seemed unlikely for Leon and the others to track the Poisonwielder down, and even if they succeeded in doing so, they would not be able to defeat him and might end up being killed.

"Yeah! Mister Wolf, Fletcher is right! The Poisonwielder cannot be taken lightly, so we need to act with caution!"

Scott and the others agreed along.

They did not fear the Poisonwielder, but knew that he possessed far more than just the Reaper's Breath and were all concerned.

Since the Dragon Guards came close to getting wiped out, none of them dared to take any risk without guarantee, or they would not be able to face the consequence should anything bad happen to Leon.

"Mister Wolf, how about this? I will call Mister Orpwood, the person in charge of the western region Dragon Corps, and get him to send over two Platinum Dragon Guards in the Intermediate Almighty State here to back you up! That way, we won't be taking any risk!" Fletcher suggested.

The western region Dragon Corps did not dispatch any Platinum Dragon Guards in the Intermediate Almighty State mainly because the Poisonwielder was far too good at hiding his track and they did not wish to waste unnecessary resources on him, but also because they feared the power of the Reaper's Breath.

Since they did not have the antidote for the Reaper's Breath, they did not want to risk the lives of their Platinum Dragon Guards in the Intermediate Almighty State by sending them on the mission.

However, the circumstances changed when Leon joined them with a solution to counter the Reaper's Breath.

All they needed to do was send two powerful Platinum Dragon Guards to assist Leon and they would be able to eliminate the Poisonwielder with ease, and that would be less challenging compared to having Leon and his five subordinates go after the Poisonwielder on their own.
