

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2172

Chapter 2172

The next morning, Leon, Henry, Sherlyn, and Mason, who was in charge of driving, departed to meet Chandler.

As for Iris, Cynthia, and the rest of the girls, they decided to stay behind and catch up on work with John, Stephen, and Spencer looking after them.

After ingesting the alchemical pills, Stephen and Spencer advanced tremendously in their martial arts training.

Combined with the fact that John was already an Almighty Warrior, Leon was not at all worried about Iris and Cynthia's safety under their watch!

Besides, Roanne moving in to live with them also brought them a significant advantage; she was the heiress of the Thompson family, and with her presence there, neither the Southern Boss nor the Hiltons would dare to attack them, knowing the consequences of messing with the Thompsons!

After all, they would not dare, not in their right minds, to attack Iris, Cynthia, or the rest, for fear that they would harm Roanne during the process and be the target of the Thompsons' retaliation!

With Henry leading the way, Mason drove them to the foot of a lush, secluded hill.

A simple hut was built at the foot of the hill, with a quaint little vegetable garden in the front yard. Apart from this, the entire hut was surrounded by trees and bushes, making it look as though it was part of a quaint, beautiful scenery.

Leon and the rest got out of the car and strode over to the front door.

"Are you home, Chandler? I've come to visit you," Henry shouted toward the hut.

"Creak-"

All of a sudden, the front door was flung open, and a skinny, rather frail-looking man in his mid-seventies stepped out, limping with a cane.

"It's been so long, Henry," the man replied in a hoarse voice. A glimmer of delight flashed through his otherwise calm eyes at the sight of his old friend.

However, the smile soon froze on his face when he caught sight of the two unfamiliar men standing behind Henry.

"Who are these two, Henry?" the man cast a cold look at Leon and Mason.

This was his little island of tranquility, and after living by himself for so many years, he grew used to the peace and did not enjoy being intruded upon like this.

Therefore, he could not help feeling a little displeased at Henry's sudden arrival and his bringing along two strangers.

"Chandler, let me introduce you. This is the President of Cynthion Group, President Wolf. This, on the other hand, is his helper, Mason Shelton," Henry introduced them to each other.

"Nice to meet you, Elder Quinn," Leon gave him a polite smile as he greeted him.

"Cynthion Group? I've never heard of that in my life!" Chandler frowned, not paying any attention to this young man at all.

Although he lived by himself, he learned to grow his own vegetable garden and could easily satisfy his own dietary needs!

Unfortunately, he still needed some necessities that he was unable to provide himself, and thus would visit the nearest town that was a few miles away every couple of months to replenish his daily supplies.

During his visits, he would also seize the opportunity to catch up on news of the Gangster World, especially news of the Scarlet Thiefs whereabouts!

As for the newly established Cynthion Group, he never once heard of them, and did not care for them at all!