

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 2387

Chapter 2387

"Mister Wolf, you once said you'll let us go if we surrender. Please spare us!

" The Spears pleaded.

They all knew Leon was likely a man of his word, but they all saw how the Hiltons had their power destroyed and none wished to suffer the same fate.

They fell onto their knees and begged Leon for mercy.

"Get up! I've made a promise and I'll keep it. I'll make this one thing clear, though; I can spare you, but if you dare to do anything out of line from now on, I'll hunt you down!" Leon said coldly.

Before he could continue, Arthur interrupted. "Mister Wolf, the Southern Boss has run away! It's not appropriate for you to let these people go. If the Southern Boss recruits them afterward, they might be able to regroup."

"..." The Spears' hearts sank.

They did not wish to have their power taken away from them, and if Leon accepted Arthur's advice, they would suffer an even worse fate than the Hiltons. Not only would they lose their power, they might even lose their lives.

They anxiously waited for the outcome, fearing that Arthur might convince Leon.

"It's fine! Elder Thompsons, you don't have to worry. The Southern Boss has worked with both the Demon Lord and Hades. Even if he manages to escape, the Dragon Corps will be after him for the rest of his life. It won't be possible for him to gain power again!" Leon said casually.

The Southern Boss worked with infamous criminals, which was a taboo for the Dragon Corps.

Alfred was already chasing after the Southern Boss, and even if he failed, the Dragon Corps would put out a bounty for the Southern Boss, making it extremely difficult for the Southern Boss to survive in the Southern region.

"That might be right, but," Arthur muttered hesitantly.

"It's fine! Don't worry, I know what I'm doing!" Leon smiled.

As a Dragon Guard, he had to consider the bigger picture.

With the Southern Boss defeated, the Spears fell apart and without their control, the underground community would descend into chaos, which would eventually affect the community as a whole and the Dragon Corps had to work hard to prevent such an outcome.

The Spears who surrendered were all powerful individuals with connections and with them freed, they would be able to restore order in the underground community.

Since Leon was the one who took the Southern Boss down, he had the responsibility to make sure that the aftermath was minimized or he would be held accountable for any casualty that arose.
