The Ex-Husband's Revenge chapter 2466

As Renee and Leon were speechless, Ariella changed the subject. "Renee, are you and Mister Wolf going to dinner now? Why don't we all go together?"

"Well," Renee glanced at Leon.

Ariella was her best friend and it has been a while since they last met, so she wanted to spend some time with her.

However, Leon was the first to ask her to dinner and she already accepted his invitation. Hence, she needed Leon's permission if she wanted Ariella to join them.

"I don't mind!" Leon shrugged.

He knew that Ariella was Renee's friend and he could tell that Renee wanted her to join, so he saw no point in stopping her.

"You're asking permission to dine with your friend, yet deny that you're dating.

How stubborn," Ariella noticed Renee's glance and chuckled.

"Seriously," Renee was slightly irritated, but could not argue.

After all, Ariella already jumped to a conclusion and it was indeed quite odd for them to be seen in a hotel together.

No matter how hard she tried to explain, it would only worsen. Hence, she gave up and believed that Ariella would soon come to realize it was a misunderstanding.

"Alright. Let's all go to eat together!"

With Leon's approval, Ariella grabbed Renee's arm and went to the reception to order a room, before placing orders for food.

Following the waiter, the four arrived at a luxurious private room.

They all took their seats and the waiter started serving dishes.

"Mister Wolf, which family do you belong to?" While food was being served, Joshua asked.

As the eldest unwed daughter of the Morrisons, Renee was a lady of high status. Hence, if Leon was her boyfriend, he had to be the heir to a powerful family, or he would not be worthy of Renee.

However, he could not think of a single family with the name Wolf in the western region, which baffled him.

“Oh, Hugh isn’t from the western region. He is from the southern region,” Renee explained.

“The southern region? I see!” Realization dawned on Joshua, but he soon realized that something was off. “Hang on.

There’s no powerful family with the name Wolf in the southern region either!” he said in confusion.

The southern and western regions were located next to one another so he heard of all the powerful families in the southern region before. Still, he did not know any family that shared the Wolf name.

“Mister Hacket, I’m not from any major family.” Leon shook his head.

“What? You’re not from any major family? Who are you, then? ” Joshua was shocked.

Naturally, he was not the only one. Ariella was stunned as well and the two stared at Leon in disbelief.

They already mistook Leon for Renee’s boyfriend.

In the world of martial artists and ancient lineages, it was known for people to date and marry people of equal status. To their bewilderment, Renee was dating someone not even from a powerful family.

This completely caught them off guard and the two were stunned.

“I’m the vice president of Cynthion Group in the southern region.”

Leon was not Renee’s boyfriend and did not know what Joshua and Ariella were thinking. Hence, he did not think much of it and told the ‘truth’.

“Vice president of Cynthion Group? What is that?”

Both Joshua and Ariella snapped out of it and exchanged confused glances.

Neither of them heard about this budding enterprise and they had no clue as to what the company was about. Most importantly, they assumed Leon was at least an extremely wealthy and powerful figure if he was not from any powerful family.

To their bewilderment, he was merely a vice president of a small business in the southern region.

This meant that he was miles away from being Renee's equal and none of them could understand why Renee fell for such a man.

"It's no wonder!" Realization dawned on Ariella.

She was confused at first as to why Renee refused to acknowledge that Leon was her boyfriend. However, with such a difference between their statuses, she realized that Renee was likely hiding it because she did not want her family to oppose it.

This was the only explanation she could think of.

"Miss Morrison, how could you date an ordinary man? He's just a vice president of some company! He's hardly your match!" Joshua said in shock.

Unlike Ariella, his initial thought was that Leon did not deserve a woman as beautiful as Renee.

Upon learning about Leon's humble background, he was filled with contempt and felt extremely jealous of Leon. He could not figure out how Leon captured Renee's heart as it was simply unbelievable.

"Mister Hacket, I'll say this one last time. Hugh isn't my boyfriend. Also, Cynthion Group is great. Even if he is just a vice president, he isn't as mediocre as you think he is," Renee said in displeasure.

Joshua and Ariella may not know anything about Cynthion Group, but she did.

The Energy Nurturing Pills produced by Cynthion Group worked wonders and held great value for martial artists in aiding their training.

Hence, its influence rivaled most powerful families, or her brother would not try so hard to strike a deal with Cynthion Group.

On top of that, she learned that Hugh was a relative of the chairman of Cynthion Group from an earlier discussion.

Though Hugh was merely a vice-president, she assumed that he held an important role in the company considering his connection with the founder.

Seeing how Hugh stood strong when he faced pressure from Jayden and the elders, she instinctively realized there was more to him.
