The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 273

He would not be able to explain himself to his father and the board members if that happened.

“Honey, this is all Leon’s fault! He is the one who reported us to the Wick Group! He is behind this!” Marilyn pointed at Leon and screamed.

“How dare you, Wolf?!” Brody sobered and glared daggers at Leon.

Both him and Marilyn had thought that Leon was merely putting on an act, only to realize that they had been the fools.

“That’s right. I did it! You two said that I can’t hurt you, so I thought that the Sullivan Family really is that powerful! What a disappointment!” Leon mocked.

“Why you-

Brody gritted out, feeling his blood boil with rage. Had he not witnessed what a great fighter Leon was, he would have launched himself onto Leon by now.

“Leon Wolf, just remember that you have this coming! If you have a death wish, I’m going to make that wish come true!” Brody burst into laughter devilishly.

Ever since he was injured by Leon the time before, he had sworn to seek revenge and hired a few skilled fighters with high payment, with one of them being an extremely seasoned martial artist, which should be proven useful in this situation.

“Mister Shelton, you may all come in!” Brody clapped and five men who had been guarding the store from the outside walked in.

The man that led the group was in his mid-thirties. He waltzed in casually with his hands behind his back, looking as though he did not have a care in the world even if the sky came crashing down.

The other four had towering heights and strong builds underneath the suits they wore and seemed to be slightly stronger than common bodyguards.

“Brody Sullivan! What do you think you are doing? You want to resort to violence?!” Leon’s expression darkened.

“Scared? You broke my leg before and now, you are going to shut down the operation of our chain stores! I’m going to make you pay!” Brody gritted out viciously, before casting a look at the men.

The men other than the head of the group immediately surrounded Leon and Janice.

Janice had not imagined the situation would escalate and paled as she roared, “you’ve really gone too far! I’m warning you! This is a civilized society and if you dare to do anything, I’m calling the police!”

“The police? Call them! By the time they get here, the two of you would be on the ground!” Brody sneered. He was determined to injure Leon, and as long as no one was killed, he would only be asked to pay for the medical fee even when the police arrived and he had more than enough money to pay them.

“Why you...” Her face flushed as she was rendered speechless.

Noticing the tension in the air, the other customers immediately left, with a few braver ones staying behind to watch them from afar.

“Leon, what should we do now?” Janice bit on her lower lip worriedly. She had never been in a situation like this before and had no clue as to what she should do.
