

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 284

Chapter 284

"Wh—Who are you?" Leon ran around the room in the most discomfited manner possible.

"I. Am. Your. Worst. Nightmare!" The young woman gritted out in rage. Realizing that she could not catch up to Leon, she grabbed whatever was closest to her and flung them toward him.

The room turned into a mess within a blink of an eye.

The noises soon caught the attention of Iris, who was upstairs.

She had probably come out of the shower and walked down in a skin-tight silk gown with wet hair like a mermaid that had just come onto shore.

"Louisa, Leon, what are you two doing?" She was shocked to find the room in its state.

"Cousin Iris!" The young woman threw herself into Iris's arms.

"C- Cousin?! Iris, this is your cousin?" Leon was shocked and impressed at the same time. It was no wonder that the young woman was as beautiful as a fairy. Apparently, beauty ran in Iris's family.

"Yeah. Allow me to introduce you. This is my cousin, Louisa Greene. Louisa, this is Leon." Iris introduced the two with a gentle smile.

"Leon? He should be called Lewd instead!" Louisa glared daggers at Leon.

"Lewd?" Iris was confused. "What's going on, Louisa? What happened?"

"He... He bullied me..." Louisa muttered tearfully.

"He bullied you? Seriously? I would be thanking the gods if you are not bullying others. Who on earth would dare to bully you?" Iris's eyes darted between the two people before her, before turning to look at the mess on the ground.

Iris's grandfather and aunt had been her closest family so she knew her cousin, Louisa, like the back of her hand.

Louisa was the little devil of the family with countless ways of pranking others, and no one dared to cross her; on the other hand, Leon had been a gentleman so far and could not possibly bully someone for no reason, so Iris did not believe for a moment that he would bully Louisa.

"I..." Louisa was rendered speechless. As a lady, she could not bring herself to describe what happened, especially when Leon did not mean to see her naked, so she would only embarrass herself by talking about it.

"Alright! Whoever bullied who. This ends here!" Iris said, before noticing Louisa's long, fair legs exposed under the towel. She scowled and said, "you are a girl, so you shouldn't run around with nothing but a towel on. Hurry to your room and get changed!"

"Alright..." Louisa swallowed her pride and glared at Leon, before heading back to her room angrily.

Knowing that he was to blame, Leon started cleaning the mess on the ground after she left.

"Iris, why is your cousin here?" He asked.

"Oh. She got into Springfield University and school starts tomorrow. My aunt sent her here to stay during her time in college and asked for my help to take care of her," Iris explained.

Just then, Louisa returned, fully dressed. "Iris, who's this guy? Why is he in your house?" She shot a frustrated look at Leon, despising him for their first encounter.
