THE EX-HUSBAND'S REVENGE BY DRAGONSKY CHAPTER 31

List chapter

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 31 Donald was Joseph's distant nephew, and the company only employed him to become the head of security because Joseph was the one who brought him in. It was understood that he would never disobey Joseph's order. "Damn you! How dare you lay a finger on my uncle! You're dead meat! Fellas, smack this kid and beat the crap out of him! I'll take responsibility if he kicks the bucket today!" Donald shouted angrily. He took out the rubber baton he carried with him and took the lead to deliver a barrage of attacks on Leon. The other security guards also pulled out their rubber batons and rushed violently toward Leon. "Be careful!" Lily was rattled by the sight of what happened. It was because Leon wanted to help her that the conflict with Leon happened. Now that the situation was out of control, she became anxious and had no idea what to do. Donald was once well-known as a hired thug, and he had no problem going against five or six people and coming out unscathed. He previously did time for beating a person up so bad that they ended up crippled, and he spent two years in jail before Joseph got him out. "How stupid can he be to offend Mister Conrad? Knowing Donald's violent tendencies, that kid will be severely injured by the end of this!" The sound of repeated whacking resounded through the air as the rubber batons struck Leon's body like raindrops during a storm. Leon hugged his head and groaned in endless pain. He initially decided to just endure the pain for a while because he was the one who first laid his hand on Joseph. Unfortunately, the strikes became increasingly vicious, for they aimed at his tender areas as well as his lower body. There seemed to be no doubt that they intended to cripple him. As if being beaten up was not bad enough, they had every intention of obliterating Leon's manhood as well! Leon could not bear to have that happen. To that end, he stretched his hand in search of something to grab and immediately managed to grasp a rubber baton that one of the guards held. Then, he delivered a kick to the security guard's chest. "Arrgh..... || The kick sent him flying, and he let out a scream before crashing into the wall behind him and falling heavily onto the ground. "Darn you! How dare you fight back! Oh, you're asking for it!" Donald started gritting his teeth with rage and raised the rubber baton to whack Leon's head. He was prepared to use all his strength, and his uncle's voice even urged him from behind, "Kill him! I'll bear the consequences if he dies!" If that strike were to land on Leon, the least that would happen to him was a cracked skull! "It's over..." Lily's pretty face turned pale. She could not bear to see Leon's tragic end and closed her eyes in despair. At that critical juncture, Leon raised his left arm to block the rubber baton, which nearly dislocated as a result. Credit was due to Leon's physique because any ordinary person would have suffered a broken arm if they were to shield themselves from the attack. Failure to protect oneself would result in a concussion at best, and death or near-death at worst. "Don't blame me for giving you an eye for an eye!" Leon threw a right hook and landed a strong punch on Donald's cheek. Two of Donald's bloody teeth flew out of his mouth. Before he could even react to what happened, Leon followed up with a thumping kick on his chest. The impact was very strong, and Donald flew through the air like a line-broken kite. He spat out several mouthfuls of blood after landing on the ground, and it was clear that his injury was much more severe than Joseph's. Joseph shouted viciously, "Why are you guys just standing there? Hit him. I already assured you I'll bear the consequences!" The remaining four security guards flew into a rage and attacked even more ruthlessly. They raised their rubber batons high to strike the joints and tender areas on Leon's body. Their attacks came so quickly and Leon decided that he was better off ignoring the barrage rather than shielding against every single one. He attacked them back in a frenzy, dealing punches and kicks at random. In less than ten seconds, the four security guards were defeated by Leon's hands and collapsed to the ground all at once. "How..." Everyone, including Joseph and Lily, were dumbfounded. They could never have dreamed that such a skinny twig like Leon could defeat Donald and five other capable security guards. Furthermore, none of Donald's injuries seemed to be minor. There were fractures all over and he vomited blood. He did not even have the strength to stand up and simply slumped on the ground. On the other hand, Leon stood tall, as if none of the injuries earlier were a problem to him. "You've got balls, Kid, but being good at fighting doesn't count for anything! Everything that you did, including injuring the company's security guards, is a gross violation of the company's rules and regulations! You are hereby fired! Now get the hell out of my face!" Joseph lambasted with a ferocious look on his face.

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 32 Donald might have failed to get revenge on Joseph's behalf, but the latter could still get one last chance to vent his anger by chasing Leon out of the company. To top it off, Leon would lose the company's protection and intervention if he was fired, thus paving the way for Joseph to call the police and have Leon arrested. "You? Firing me? As if you have the authority!" Leon glared coldly at Joseph and walked slowly toward him. "What are you doing? I'm warning you! D-d-don't you dare come any closer..." Joseph continued to back away and a bad feeling rose faintly from his heart. "I have this urge to beat you up again because looking at you is pissing me off!" Leon sneered. The situation went so far past the point of no return that there was nothing for him to be scared of anymore. It would feel so good if he could teach Joseph a lesson and vent all that anger on the man. After all, Leon clearly remembered that Joseph wanted him dead. He believed that everything would be worth it even if he damaged his reputation in Iris's eyes and she kicked him out of the company. "How dare you..." Joseph's expression changed dramatically. His first instinct was to escape, but alas, there was nowhere for him to go. "Stop right there!" a cold voice ordered just as Leon. raised his fist and was about to deal a blow to Joseph. Ariel entered in her high heels. "Miss Summers! Thank heavens you came! Hurry up and help me..." Joseph rejoiced and rushed up to Ariel at once. "What in the world just happened, Mister Conrad? What's with this mess?!" Ariel's expression soured to the extreme as she looked at the cluttered floor and the six injured security guards. “Well, you see, it all started with Leon. He...” Joseph pointed at Leon and gave a brief rundown of what happened, but he conveniently omitted the fact that he bullied Lily and deliberately made the situation difficult for Leon. “What? You did all this, Leon?” Ariel was stunned and she looked incredulously at Leon. The previous motorcycle incident gave her the impression that Leon was a sissy, so one could imagine her surprise when she heard that the person whom she thought was a sissy knocked down six strong security guards all by herself! That would be quite a show of bravery! ‘Just my type!’ A twinkle appeared in Ariel’s eyes. Joseph was a little puzzled. Ariel looked at Leon with a pissed-off expression when she first came, but oddly enough, she seemed to be excited for a reason after he explained everything to her. “Yes. I did all this. But I won’t take all the blame for this. Mister Conrad made his subordinate uncomfortable and forced his degenerate impulses on-” Leon began to explain what happened in detail, but Joseph interrupted him and said, “He’s lying! Miss Cameron and I were discussing work inside the office. I have no intention of pressuring her into doing anything she doesn’t want to do. It’s all a big fat lie! Go ahead and ask her now! She’ll tell you whether or not I’m lying!” Leon smiled coldly. Joseph still tried to be stubborn, but that would soon end when Lily exposes his lies!

The Ex-Husband’s Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 33 Lily trembled uncontrollably, for she knew that Joseph held a high position in the company. Even if she told the truth, the most Ariel could do to Joseph was reprimand him, and it was not like any severe action would be taken against him. Things would only go south from then on because Joseph would almost certainly exercise his authority to fire her! Lily began to hesitate when she thought about her sick mother on the hospital bed, her younger brother's tuition fees, and the high hopes all her relatives placed on her. "Go on. Tell me," Ariel urged. "I... Mister Conrad and I were just discussing work in the office. He didn't do anything inappropriate..." It was challenging for Lily to say that. She lowered her head the entire time and did not dare to look at Leon. Despite her eternal gratitude to Leon for saving her, the burden of being fired was too heavy a consequence for her to bear. There was nothing else she could do other than apologize to Leon in her heart. "Huh?" Her statement was like a bolt from the blue for Leon and his smile instantly disappeared. He could never imagine that Lily would be the one to dismiss his kind gesture even though he risked it all just to save her! "You heard that, didn't you, Miss Summers? He's making wild accusations against me!" Joseph smiled smugly. "This was all your doing then, Leon! Iri- Ahem, the company has rules and regulations that you must comply with. It's not a place where you can just do whatever you want!" Ariel chided. Iris just reminded Leon to do his job well, yet it took him no time to rely on Iris's backing to oppress other people! 'We can't just let this go on. If worse comes to worst and he gets fired, I'll just take him in and raise him myself,' Ariel thought. "That's not what happened, Miss Summers. Please let me expl-" Leon glanced angrily at Lily and felt a sour twinge in his heart. What Lily gave him that day was a very vivid lesson that forced him to realize the cruel reality of society! "Enough, I don't want to hear your arguments!" Ariel interrupted Leon's words with a wave of her hand and did not take kindly to his vile conduct. "Now that the truth has come to light, it's clear that Leon committed a serious violation of the company's rules and regulations, in addition to injuring several of our people. It's only right that he should be fired immediately..." Joseph said coldly. "This was all just a minor misunderstanding. Leon will apologize to you and the matter will be put to rest!" Ariel said curtly. Leon was yet to answer when Joseph expressed his unhappiness. "Just an apology? That's not enough! He hit me and injured me! And you're just going to overlook all that as long as he apologizes to me? I won't accept it!" Ariel glanced intently at Joseph. "What do you want then? || "I want him fired and handed over to the police!" Joseph demanded. "Mister Conrad, while there's no denying that you're injured, Leon's hand is injured too. This situation went out of control, and you-as the head of the president's department—are responsible to some extent as well. I'll ask Leon to apologize, so just accept his apology for my sake. Shake hands with him, make peace, and just let bygones be bygones! As for your injury and medical expenses, the company will bear the full cost.” Ariel frowned and said in a negotiating tone. She knew that Leon was Iris’s savior, so even if it was all Leon’s fault, Iris would never fire him, much less agree to hand him over to the police! Besides, Leon was not all to blame for what happened, because Joseph indisputably instructed the security guards to beat Leon up. Leon only wounded them out of self-defense. With the situation coming to a head, both parties were equally responsible. Ariel wanted to mediate the situation to downplay the whole issue and resolve it quickly. By then, Ariel gradually calmed down and stopped acting on impulse.

The Ex-Husband’s Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 34 “I’ve made it very clear that I won’t accept it! Are you deliberately trying to protect this kid, Miss Summers?” Joseph’s expression sank. He insisted on handing Leon over to the police because that was the only way he could douse the burning flames of anger in his heart! Ariel was irritated by Joseph’s unrelenting insistence. Mister Conrad, I’ve repeatedly discussed this with you in an amicable manner and treated you with the utmost respect and dignity. Please don’t cross the line!” “Leon is Iri- I mean, my friend! The point is, this matter is now behind us regardless of whether or not you agree!” Ariel was a little annoyed, more so because it was that time of the month. As a result, she could care less about whether or not it would cause an uproar. Sure enough, her remark carried a different meaning when everyone else heard it. “I The onlookers began to gossip as soon as Ariel said that. “I get it now!” ” guess it’s no surprise then that this kid was brave enough to challenge Mister Conrad. Who would’ve thought that he was one of Miss Summers’s people!” “Time to get the popcorn out!” Everyone was taken aback by what they heard and started chatting with each other the next second. No one expected Leon to be good at fighting, much less have a strong backer like Ariel! The situation became even more complicated as a result.

“Bravo, Ariel! I see that you’re trying to use your authority to put me down! You might be the president’s assistant, but I’m not some pushover that you can just mess with! You and I are equals, and you can’t be more delusional if you think you have any control over me!” Joseph was furious. Though his authority was indeed inferior to Ariel’s, his status was at least on par with hers. Other people might be afraid of Ariel, but not him! “Are you done with your nonsense? Let this be my warning to you, Joseph: my patience is limited, so don’t push your luck any further!” Ariel shot back icily. “Don’t try and scare me, Ariel. I don’t buy any of your threats! I know that you and the president are close. You don’t need to hide it! She’s the kind to know right from wrong, and she always draws a clear boundary when it comes to matters of personal and professional nature! This kid right here has seriously violated the company’s rules and regulations, and if you insist on covering for him, then don’t blame me for reporting your abuse of power to her! When she eventually decides that you are at fault, I guarantee that you’ll be the one to bear the consequences!” Joseph sneered and laced his words with threats. “Ungrateful, much! If you think you’ve got what it takes, you’re more than welcome to report this incident to her. But allow me to remind you that there’s nothing in it for you if this incident rattles the president!” Ariel sneered. “You brought this upon yourself! I don’t believe everything you said, and I’m quite certain that the president won’t be as fond of this kid as you are!” Joseph laughed despite his anger. While he acknowledged that he was no match for Ariel, he knew that he would not gain a firm footing in the company if he could not deal with a pesky colleague like Ariel! “Suit yourself, birdbrain! Let’s go, Leon!” Ariel snorted coldly, turned around, and brought Leon away without looking back. “You’ve all seen how Ariel abused her power to cover up for that, right? You’re all witnesses, so come with me to see the president!” Joseph rallied everyone to join him as he charged angrily into the president’s office. He knew very well that Ariel’s behavior made her liable to be suspected of abusing her power. Iris would never protect Ariel when it came to matters of justice and integrity, and certainly not an insignificant little pest like Leon!

Inside the president’s office, Iris sat at her desk with some work. Leon, Joseph, and the rest of the people rushed over one after another. Iris was startled to see Leon’s disheveled look and injured hand. She got up and walked over to him.

“Whathappened to you, Leon?”“Miss Young, Leon has committed grave acts ofinsubordination, even going so far as to injure me and several of our security guards. You have to do something...Joseph did not wait for Leon to answer and played the victim while giving a brief explanation of what happened.“Is that true, Leon?”Iris’s delicate expression sank and she turned her sharp gaze toward Leon.She just warned Leon to focus on performing his duties, but in response, he turned the entire president’s department upside down as soon as he reported back!Who would expect Iris to smile at him after whathappened?

The Ex-Husband’s Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 35 “That wasn’t what happened. Mister Conrad was the one who made advances on his subordinate...” Leon had a bitter look on his face as he retold the story, but he remained incredibly uneasy because it would be difficult to win Iris’s trust if Lily were to side with Joseph. “That is outright slander, Miss Young! Miss Cameron and I were discussing work at that time. She can vouch for me...” Joseph rushed to defend himself. “Is Mister Conrad telling the truth, Miss Cameron?” Iris gestured for Lily to come up to her. “Yes...” Lily lowered her head. She was afraid to make eye contact with Iris, and most of all, Leon. “Do you have anything else to say, Leon?” Iris looked calmly at Leon. “I... No.” Leon sighed. He felt despair that was beyond words. Iris was both pissed and amused that Leon drooped his head like a defeated rooster. The difference between herself and Ariel was that she understood Leon’s character better. Leon might not have any talent or ability, but he had a morally honest character. As someone who was steadfast in his convictions and brave enough to accept responsibility, he would never stoop so low as to become a deceitful and petty person. Even though Lily vouched for Joseph, Iris still believed Leon more. Such was her trust in Leon! “Raise your head, Miss Cameron!” Iris turned to Lily. Lily did not dare to disobey her and immediately looked up to meet Iris’s gaze. “Look into my eyes! I’ll give you one last chance to answer. Who’s telling the truth? Is it Leon or Mister Conrad?” – Iris directed her sharp gaze right at Lily’s eyes, and that- along with her ever – dignified imposingness -left Lily feeling heavily pressured. “It’s Jo-” Lily opened her mouth to answer and insisted on repeating her previous answer. However, Iris’s gaze was so sharp that it made Lily feel guilty to continue the rest of her answer. Joseph’s heart skipped a beat and he had a vague bad feeling. Leon already admitted that there was nothing more to say, which made it all the more confusing as to why Iris continued to ask that question. “Miss Young, Leon has already admitted that he—” Joseph hurriedly interrupted. “Shut up! I’m asking Miss Cameron. Not you!” Iris lambasted. Joseph trembled uncontrollably and did not dare to talk any more. “You need to be able to live with your conscience, Miss Cameron! Now touch your heart and tell me the truth!” Iris looked at Lily coldly and her domineeringly cold aura was even more oppressive. “I...” Lily touched her heart with one hand. She was already very guilty to begin with, so as soon as she felt the beating of her heart through the palm of her hand, her fragile mental fortitude collapsed in an instant! “I’m sorry, Miss Young. I lied... It was Mister Conrad who abused his power to bully me, and Mister Wolf was the one who saved me. The only reason I helped Mister Conrad accuse Mister Wolf was because I was afraid of losing my job...” Lily knelt in front of Iris with a thud. Tears soon began gushing out like a broken dam and she almost lost her breath in between sobs. It was truly a sad and pitiful sight. “So, you two worked together to falsely accuse Leon!” Ariel was dumbfounded. She believed Joseph’s lies and even thought that Leon was the bad guy here. Reality gave Ariel a tight slap on her face though, because that old man was actually stringing her along the entire time! She was a little peeved as a result because that whole incident simply reinforced everyone’s idea of her as a bimbo.
