The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 325

That was not all.

With help from Louisa, his relationship with Iris was becoming closer. They spent much of their time together and their affection for each other grew. The only thing left was the right timing and opportunity.

It was a Saturday. Leon and Iris were not working and Louisa did not need to go to school.

“Iris, since it's Saturday, why don't we go shopping and watch a movie?” Louisa crackled and grabbed Iris's arm.

“That's right. I heard there's a comedy on air that's pretty good. We can go and watch it,” Leon quickly agreed with the suggestion.

He got the hint and knew Louisa was helping him to create an opportunity! Other than being a little quirky, his future cousin-in-law treated him quite well.

‘Umm... Alright.’ After a little hesitation, Iris nodded and agreed.

It would be considered a date if she had to go shopping and watch a movie with Leon alone. She probably would reject the suggestion with her reserved personality. However, it was a different story if three people were going together. She did not need to consider too much.

They left the mansion and drove toward the cinema.

In the cinema.

Their seats were next to each other. Louisa chose to sit on the left side of the three seats first. Iris had no choice and sat in the middle. Therefore, Leon sat next to her on her right side.

The most important thing about watching a movie in the cinema was the atmosphere. Those who patronized the cinema were either young married couples, dating couples, or best friends.

As the lights were switched off, the hall was pitch dark. The atmosphere was starting to become quite subtle. This was the first time Leon asked Iris out on a date to watch a movie. He was slightly excited about it. Although he was quite dumb in romance, he was not an idiot. He knew he should not wait for the girl to make the move. As a gentleman, he should be the one making the move first.

Since Louisa created an opportunity for him, it was up to him to treasure and used the opportunity wisely. He gritted his teeth and secretly extended his hand to go past Iris's back and placed it on her soft and thin waist to hug her lightly.

Iris's body trembled and her heart skipped a beat when she felt Leon's warm hand. It never occurred to her that Leon would have the courage to harass her in the dark. The first thought was to struggle away. However, Leon did not let her go and hugged her tighter instead.

‘Scumbag!’ Iris was angry and ashamed. She thought of kicking Leon but having Louisa beside her, she did not dare to do anything impulsive to disturb and alarm Louisa.

That was not the point. The main point was human beings are emotional creatures. As they spent day and night together, both of them experienced many things together.

She did not notice it but she slowly developed feelings for Leon deep down in her heart gradually. Due to the difference in their family background, she tried hard to restrain her feelings and kept a distance from Leon.

After Leon took the initiative to disturb her persistent heart, her feelings were a mess now. She just could not bear to reject Leon's sweet gesture!

‘Forget about it. Just let him be. I'll settle with him after we finish the movie,’ she thought.

She pretended to be calm and comforted herself in her heart. Nevertheless, her red and burning ears betrayed her and showed her real feelings.

Luckily, they were in the dark. She did not have to worry that someone would find out about her shyness and anxiety.
