The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 328

"9 million dollars! That's the price I'm looking for. If you can't accept it, then you'll have to get someone else to do the job," Xander said persistently.

"This... Fine!" Samuel hesitated and still nodded his head to agree with the price.

Although 9 million dollars was not a small amount of money, it was nothing to Sullivan Enterprises. As long as Xander could kill Leon on behalf of Samuel and Brody, the money was well spent.

"Mr. Long, let me remind you something. Leon is quite powerful and not an easy person to kill. But he has just gotten himself a new girlfriend. If you use his girlfriend, it'll be a lot easier..." Brody hesitated and told Xander about Janice.

"Good. Very good! This is important information. Thank you for providing such valuable information. Don't worry. I'll kill that kid. I promise I won't let you down," Xander laughed.

As the old saying went, "Human beings die in pursuit of wealth and birds die in pursuit of food."

Everything in the gangster world was prioritized by money. It was normal to do extreme measures in pursuit of money. Brody suggested a good idea for him.

On the contrary, he did not put it in his mind when Brody mentioned that Leon was quite powerful. He saw Leon once so he reckoned Leon would not be that powerful since Leon was so young.

"One more thing. I had a deep grudge against him. If you catch him, don't kill him yet. I'll like to torment him myself. Otherwise, I will have a hard time clearing the anger in my heart!" Brody said viciously.

"Sure. That's not a problem!" Xander agreed swiftly.

Back to the cinema.

After the movie was over, Leon, Iris, and Louisa left the cinema. The smile on Leon's face never disappeared after he thought back about how he hugged Iris intimately in the dark. He felt so excited and felt like he was walking on a cloud.

Since Iris did not reject him hugging her, it meant that she accepted him. All things came to those who waited. From this moment on, the relationship between him and Iris finally improved significantly.

He just needed to find a chance to confess his feelings to her and a high chance that his confession would be returned in favor. This was his current biggest wish. It excited him very much to know that his wish was about to come true.

"Hey, jerk! Why are you smiling like an idiot? How come I never realize you are so annoying?" Iris asked.

Her face was blushing. She knew why Leon was gloating. At that moment, she was so embarrassed that she became furious. She stepped on Leon's feet vehemently and walked away to the front while holding her proud and beautiful face up high.

Leon gasped because of painfulness. He finally toned down a little and stopped acting so snobbish.

"Hey, Leon. What's wrong? Extreme joy begets sorrow?" Louisa moved over and smiled sneakily.

She purposely created this opportunity for Leon. Thus, she monitored Leon's movements all the time and saw how bold and reckless Leon was.

The only one hidden in the dark was Iris. She kept on covering it because she was afraid Leon's movement would disturb Louisa. Nevertheless, she did not know Louisa watched the whole time. If Iris found out about it, anger would rise in her like a tide.

"Louisa, thank you for creating this opportunity. You're the best," Leon smiled gratefully.

"You're welcome. I think Iris has always been so lonely. She does need someone to accompany her and give her happiness."
