

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 342

Chapter 342

Leon paused for a moment before he said seriously, "I know some alternative medicine. When I looked at your aura just now, it was quite dark all around. It's not a good omen."

"If I'm not mistaken, you must have overindulged yourself, and your body has been ravaged by too much alcohol and sex. You're even struggling with some things that men can do..."

I'm just giving you a warning. If you don't stop yourself, you might be crippled, or even die!" Leon briefly explained.

"What?"

Everyone was shocked when they heard that.

Even though Leon explained it more politely, everyone understood what Leon meant. Theodore's body was in a bad condition, and he was already unable to properly function when it came to relationships between men and women. Even his life was at stake.

Only, they did not know if what Leon said was true.

However, none of them saw Leon's medical skills before, so they all thought that Leon just made it up!

"H-how did you know?" Theodore was shocked as he asked.

Since he loved to indulge himself in vices, his body was quite damaged. Recently, he kept feeling like he struggled, and would often need to take pills to help himself out.

Leon hit the nail right on the head, so he was shocked, unable to tell if Leon was being truthful or not.

"Mister Wyatt, could you..."

Everyone else was dumbfounded. Their jaws almost dropped to the ground.

They thought that Leon lied, but Theodore's reaction seemed to have confirmed what Leon said!

"I..." Theodore's face reddened as he realized that he shot himself in the foot.

He could not describe the shame he felt when everyone looked at him strangely.

"Nonsense! My body is doing very well. There's nothing like what you're saying!"

"If you keep up with your nonsense, I'll beat you up!" Theodore got angry as he glared at Leon viciously.

However, he found that it was a bit late for him to refute anything.

Everyone else started to feel like he might be trying to hide things!

"I was just trying to warn you out of the kindness of my heart. It's fine if you don't want to accept it, but why are you shouting at me?!" Leon had an unhappy look on his face.

He just wanted to give Theodore a warning as a doctor, but since Theodore refused to believe it, there was nothing he could do.

"Missus Lynch, this man's body is ill. I urge you and Mister Lynch to reconsider. You can't let Janice get engaged to him, it'll end up harming Janice!" Leon looked over at Leanne and said sincerely.

"That..." Leanne was speechless.

Even though Theodore was rich and powerful, health was still the most important. If he was not healthy, then all the money in the world was useless.

If Theodore ended up being crippled or dying, and she forced her daughter to get engaged to Theodore, would she not be pushing her daughter into the fire?

She knew what was right and what was wrong.

"Mister Wyatt, let our family consider the engagement for now," Leanne clenched her teeth and returned the card to Theodore.

It was obvious that she already gave up, and was just being polite with her rejection.

"Don't!"

"Missus Lynch, don't listen to this guy's words. My body is very healthy, there's no illness there! He's not even a doctor, and he didn't even check my body with anything. How could he know there was a problem? He's clearly deliberately saying all this to destroy my engagement with Miss Janice!"
