

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 345

Chapter 345

After everything that happened, he built some connections for himself. Other than the Youngs, he had a good relationship with the Wicks and the Shears as well.

The Shears were not just close to him, but they were even business partners.

With his connections, he might not be able to compete with some heir of a major family, but someone like Theodore was beneath his notice!

“My money and power give me that courage! You injured my bodyguards just now. It's already assault. I'll have the police arrest you! Then, you're free to enjoy things at the police station!” Theodore laughed as he pulled out his phone.

“You...”

“Wyatt, you were the one who was trying to attack Leon first. Why are you pinning the blame on him now? You're shameless!” Janice was shocked. She started to get furious. She saw some shameless people before, but no one as shameless as Theodore!

“It doesn't matter who started things. Based on the law, if you've injured someone, you should at least pay for the hospital bills. That's just the most basic thing! This guy is just a poor orphan. He probably doesn't have the money to pay for any hospital fees, so I guess he'll just have to sit in prison instead!” Theodore laughed mockingly, feeling even more confident.

“Ah, my hand broke...”

“Oh, I feel like my leg is broken too...”

The two bodyguards started to groan in pain.

In truth, Leon showed mercy, and never really injured them. However, Theodore already showed them what needed to be done.

To play along with Theodore's show, they stayed on the ground, not getting up.

Leon was speechless.

“Brat, for Miss Janice's sake, I'll give you one last chance! If you're willing to kneel and apologize before you get lost, I'll consider letting you off! Otherwise, just wait for jail!” Theodore pointed at Leon and said arrogantly.

Leon was Janice's college classmate, and could even be Janice's boyfriend. If he sent Leon to jail, Janice would hate him. Then, the engagement would be ruined.

So, he decided to try to earn some of Janice's trust by only having Leon apologize. He did not mind sparing Leon one time.

“Leon, did you hear that? Mister Wyatt is being merciful. He's willing to give you another chance. Why don't you hurry up and apologize!” Joey immediately jumped up and shouted at Leon, not forgetting to flatter Theodore.

Theodore was very happy with it, and he shot Joey an approving look.

“Leon, Joey's right. You injured someone, so it's your fault. You should just apologize.”

“That's right, it's better if you just move on from it...”

Both Leanne and Horace advised Leon.

Both of them knew that Leon was a poor orphan. There was no way he had the money and power to contend with Theodore.

It was not realistic!

Even though kneeling to apologize would ruin Leon's dignity as a man, it was still better than Leon being sent to prison!

“Leon, what do we do?” Janice looked at Leon in panic.

She knew that Leon did not have anything else remarkable about him other than his martial arts. He had no money or power. He not be able to compete with Theodore at all!

If Leon did not kneel and apologize and ended up being arrested by the police, it would be incredibly problematic!

Spread the love