

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 354

Chapter 354

“It wasn’t such a big deal, you don’t need to do all this. However, I should still give you some advice. I hope you won’t be so tyrannical in the future,” Leon said.

He was not someone petty. He never planned on holding Horsen responsible anyway.

Furthermore, Horsen apologized so sincerely just now, there was no way he could.

“Thank you. Thank you for being merciful, Mister Wolf.” Horsen stood up happily.

“Horsen, tell me. What exactly happened? What went on between you and Mister Wolf?” Fane asked calmly.

Even though Leon already forgave Horsen, he still needed to find out exactly what happened.

If Horsen did anything evil that went against the rules of the underworld, he would not let Horsen off easily even if Leon forgave him!

“This is what happened...” Horsen did not dare to hide everything and explained what happened in detail, including what happened between Leon and Theodore.

Theodore told Horsen that the door was broken because Theodore’s subordinates fought with Leon.

“That rotten Wyatt Group? A complete piece of trash like that dared to go against Mister Wolf? You don’t know your place!” Fane coldly looked at Theodore.

That gaze was very sharp, and Theodore felt a chill in his heart. He was so scared his legs turned to jelly, not knowing what to do.

“Mister Wolf, since we’re both friends, let me help you handle this. Take it as a token of our friendship,”

Fane looked at Leon, letting out a smile. He wanted to gain some favor with Leon.

In truth, he became friends with Leon because he had something to ask of Leon. If he could earn some favor from Leon because of this, then it would only benefit him.

“Then... Fine,” Leon said after some hesitation.

He did not plan on bothering with an idiot like Theodore, but when he thought about how difficult Theodore made things for Janice, and the fact that Theodore wanted to get him sent to jail, he was quite angered.

To stop Theodore from doing anything to Janice in the future, he felt like Fane giving a few warnings would probably be enough to scare Theodore away.

However, he underestimated the people of the underworld. Fane’s next words completely shocked him!

“Mason, give out the order. Any companies that are working with The Wyatt Group are to stop their cooperation within three days!”

“I want the Wyatt Group to close for bankruptcy in three days! If any company doesn’t obey or does anything in the dark, then they’ll suffer the same fate!” Fane ordered coldly.

“What?” Theodore was stunned.

He did not dare to doubt what Fane said. With Fane’s status as the Southern King’s son, and the power the Southern King had, Fane killing their company would be incredibly easy!

As long as Fane said a few words, it would be enough to destroy their company!

“Don’t...”

“Mister Poole, I know my mistakes now. Please forgive our family...”

Theodore was in complete despair. He knelt in front of Fane, and constantly pleaded.

He made a blunder this time. If the Wyatt Group was dragged down with him, how would he be able to face his family?

Furthermore, he was already used to a life of luxury. How was he going to survive if the company closed down?
