

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 368

Chapter 368

“Leon, where are you? Come save me...”

Janice felt hopeless. Her eyes were already red, and she sounded like she was going to sob.

At that hopeless juncture, the only person she thought about was Leon!

Even if she did not think that Leon was someone particularly powerful, Leon was incredibly good at fighting.

If Leon could appear, Leon would probably be able to protect her with his skills just like at the mall. He would not let her get hurt!

However, she knew that it was not realistic!

Leon probably did not even know she was kidnapped at that moment, so how could he manage to save her?

It was a pipe dream!

Suddenly, she felt even more hopeless. She felt like she was in complete despair!

Boom!

Right at that moment, a massive boom was heard. The door was kicked down by Leon!

“What is going on?” Brody was shocked. He turned to look and immediately saw a murderous looking Leon standing at the door the God of Death. He looked like he was shrouded in ice as the murderous aura around him soared.

“L—Leon?” Brody was shocked. He felt terrified by Leon.

It was the first time he saw Leon look so terrifying!

“Get lost!”

Looking at what was happening in the room, Leon sent a kick right out.

Brody was not able to even react as he was sent flying by Leon’s kick. His body slammed right into the wall and he crumbled on the ground.

The bones in his body were filled with pain. He did not know how many of his ribs were broken.

“Leon, i—it’s you!” Janice was shocked. She rubbed her eyes, not believing what she saw.

She never would have expected Leon to appear when she was in the most danger!

“That’s amazing!”

Janice finally reacted. She launched into Leon’s arms emotionally. She started to cry with joy.

“Janice, are you alright?” Leon asked anxiously. He looked Janice over.

He saw that, even though Janice’s clothes were in a bad state, there was no sign of anything else.

He finally relaxed a little.

“I’m fine. Leon, thank you...”

Janice shook her head. She looked at Leon’s handsome face, and her heart started to beat wildly. She felt something she never felt before in her heart.

After that, she could not stop herself from standing on her tiptoes and kissing Leon.

“Janice, you...”

Leon was stunned as he touched his face, not knowing how to react.

Janice’s face blushed slightly. She looked down, not wanting to meet Leon’s gaze.

Before this, she always treated Leon as her best friend, and never really thought of Leon that way.

Yet, at that moment, her heart suddenly bloomed!

Women always loved fairy tales!

Every woman had a dream of being saved by a knight in shining armor.

Janice was no exception.

Earlier, when she was at her most hopeless, Leon appeared and saved her.

It was like he was her fated prince. It cemented him firmly in her heart. From that moment onwards, she realized that she liked Leon!

Spread the love