

The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky

Chapter 392

Read The Ex-Husband's Revenge By Dragonsky Chapter 392

Happiness struck and he was over the moon that Iris agreed to date him. Unable to contain his excitement, he moved closer to kiss her again, only to be stopped by Iris.

"Can you just let me finish? I can agree to be your girlfriend, but my grandpa and dad might not, which is why I need you to work hard for their approval!" She warned, feeling slightly concerned.

She fell for Leon long ago, but as their background differed, she could not bring herself to initiate a relationship.

Leon was merely an orphan without background, who was married before, so it was evident that her family would not agree to such a match.

Iris's relationship with her father was not always harmonious, so she did not mind if her father objected to the relationship; however, she was always close with her grandfather and never disobeyed him in the past. If her grandfather refused Leon, she could be stuck at crossroads.

Thankfully, Leon proved himself capable. Not only did he offer assistance in running the company business, but he also managed to build connections with the Shears and Fane Poole.

Considering the potential he showed, Leon might be able to obtain her grandfather's approval with some hard work. That way, she could be with him without concern.

"Yeah. I'll work hard to fulfill your expectations." Leon nodded hesitantly. He wanted to talk about Cynthion Group, but Iris seemed jealous of Janice and Cynthia, so she might be upset if she found out about his partnership with them.

Putting all aside, Cynthion Group did not begin running and its growth was yet to be guaranteed.

Leon decided that it was best to keep his involvement in Cynthion Group in the dark until he managed to accomplish something.

"Baam! Baam!"

Just then, the knocking on the door interrupted the two.

Iris jolted out of Leon's arms like a deer in headlights.

At the same time, Louisa pushed the door open and walked inside as the door was not locked. When she spotted the blush on her cousin's cheeks, she immediately realized what happened.

"Louisa, why are you here? It's late now. Aren't you going to sleep?" Leon asked in confusion.

He just made Iris his girlfriend and he wanted to take the opportunity to strengthen their relationship, only to be interrupted by Louisa.

Leon finally realized that his success or failure in pursuing Iris depended solely on Louisa..

"I came here to see how the two of you are doin, and prevent you from doing something inappropriate to my cousin!" Louisa smirked.

"What are you talking about? What do you mean, inappropriate?" Iris blushed a crimson shade.

"I mean it. You look so pretty that any man will struggle to control himself in front of you."

Spread the love