Chapter 101 Are You Valerie?

Derek's eyes lit up when he saw Valerie agree.

"It's good that you were willing to go out and play with me. We can decide where to go later. You should rest quickly, and I also need to convey the message to my grandfather"

Ah!

Indeed!

Grandpa, they were having a meeting for their own matters again.

It's fake to say that one is not moved.

But still, it's quite embarrassing.

Valerie stood up and turned around, heading toward Galen's study

"Wait a moment."

Derek grabbed her arm, preventing her from moving forward.

"Derry?"

"Val, it's better for me to convey this matter. If you go there now, it will make them even more reluctant to let you meet anyone from the Horton family. I feel they might do many extreme things."

In the end, he came alone to inquire because he had thought of such a scenario.

Well...

If Grandpa had seen Valerie, he would have had a worried and embarrassed expression on his face.

He, the elderly person, specified the first outbreak...

Valerie's feet came to a halt as she wanted to move forward.

I

She seemed to have also anticipated the angry expressions of the Horton family when facing them.

And Galen, with a face red from anger...

"Well, then it would be troublesome for you to go and say it, thank everyone on my behalf!"

Derek smiled.

"Well, don't worry, I will make sure to convey it properly."

Not leaving immediately, he held Valerie's hand and watched her lie down on the bed.

It was almost summer now, so there was no hot water bottle in the bed.

There was just an additional top-grade agarwood incense for better sleep on the bedside.

Recently, Valerie had been having trouble sleeping, so Derek specifically found a potent agarwood to help her sleep.

-Put it on the bedside after you finish.

Watching Valerie getting ready to sleep, Derek skillfully turned off the lights for her.

"Goodnight Val, see you tomorrow."

"Goodnight, Derry."

As per usual, Valerie bid goodnight. After Derek turned off the lights, her eyelids started to feel heavy.

Derek returned to the study and conveyed Valerie's message to everyone.

The study fell into silence once again.

"Ah, Valerie was just too kind."

"Good child, how did she end up being born into the Horton family....."

They had already become strangers to the Horton family.

And it was a bit awkward.

Although she was happy, she liked the Fisher family.

But as soon as she thought about the suffering she had endured with the Horton family before, the raging anger in the study began to rise slowly.

"Alright, let's respect Valerie's decision and go rest now. Do we know what to do tomorrow?"

Galen was the first to speak.

"I got it, Grandpa/Dad."

Galen waved his hand, got up, and walked back to his room.

Other people looked at each other in confusion and then got up one by one to return to their own rooms to rest.

Everything was waiting for tomorrow.

The youngest master of the Fisher family had his coming-of-age ceremony, which caused quite a sensation throughout the entire town.

And he was also good friends with the young master of a medical family.

The two of them joined forces, and the power and status became even more underestimated.

"Huh? It feels like they had very little connection with the Horton family."

“Isn’t it? Maybe because the Horton family’s children were girls, they felt embarrassed to play with them.”

“Couldn’t even afford to play, didn’t the Miss Horton from the Horton family go missing? This Miss used to be classmates with these two young masters.”

Back then, we didn’t even play together, let alone now. Moreover, the Horton family may have been grieving the loss of their daughter, as in recent years, there have been only a few stories about the young masters. I have heard about them, but I have never heard about their youngest daughter.”

Chapter 102 The Gift

“Valerie?”

Kieran’s pupils contracted intensely the moment he saw Valerie.

A flash of Valerie’s childhood appearance crossed my mind.

He was a bit absent-minded.

He hesitantly asked uncertainly, wanting to approach and confirm.

“Excuse me, may I ask who you are?”

Valerie recognized Kieran, but she didn’t want to get too involved with him.

And, it had been so long since they had seen each other, she was really embarrassed.

Took a few steps back again.

Kieran snapped back to reality.

“Sorry, I mistook someone.”

Kieran carefully observed the girl in front of him once again, but unfortunately, his memories of Valerie only remained from when they were young, and after so long, he couldn't remember them very clearly.

Hapologized to Valerie.

He continued walking forward and went to the bathroom.

Why was he in the rest corridor at this time?

Kieran, who brushed past Valerie, observed her once again.

The clothing was grand and elegant, and the fabric looked very expensive.

It seems to be the child of a wealthy person's family.

It really had nothing to do with Valerie.

For some reason, Kieran felt a little disappointed.

Walking toward the bathroom, he stood still for a long time and finally took out his phone.

He typed a paragraph and hovered his thumb over the send button for a while.

In the end, each word was deleted one by one.

Put the phone back in the pocket.

What's the point of investigating? It's not like Valerie is actually here.

Now at home, only he was still secretly searching.

He had told Reese that he was still searching for Valerie.

But what he received in return was Reese's angry rebuke.

“It has been three years! Three years! Orphanages, as well as various deep mountains, have all been searched, and people are nowhere to be found! What else are you looking for?”

Without hesitation, they burned paper money for Valerie as a way of identification.

Kieran was extremely shocked.

Did they assume the other person was dead because they couldn't find them?

From then on, the rift between him and Reese deepened.

When arguing with Reese, Bruce was also there listening, but unusually, he didn't interrupt.

Just listened in silence like this.

After the argument was over, he went to Kieran's study.

“Bro, stop looking for her. Let's just consider her dead.”

“Do you know what you were saying?”

Reese didn't understand, but what is Bruce saying now?

Bruce's expression became even colder.

“Brother! It's been so long! What are you still holding on to? Even if you find her, what are you going to do? She escaped on her own, if you bring her back, will she be happy?”

Kieran was speechless.

But he didn't stop.

Bruce didn't reply to his words anymore, he just closed the door.

In the bathroom, Kieran rubbed his temples wearily.

We need to hurry back. Today, the whole family went out together, and he was still the backbone. We can't be late.

When I came out again, there was no one in the corridor. The little girl who looked a lot like Valerie had disappeared.

He paused his fingers slightly.

Back to the scene.

“Kier! Where did you go? Why are you so slow?”

Zoe, dressed in a gorgeous gown, had fair and delicate skin, along with expensive jewelry.

“I just went to the bathroom.”

Looking at the little girl in front of him, Kieran rubbed her head.

Now, only Zoe has not been corrupted at home.

He used all his abilities to protect her

Valerie walked quickly back to the living room.

Meeting the Horton family right from the beginning was indeed a bit unsettling.

Derek, who had just come out of his own room, and Mica, saw Valerie sitting in the living room and both of them stopped in their tracks.

Chapter 103 Fuzzy Memories

The scene of the banquet.

Kieran was choosing food for Zoe.

Reyna walked up to him at some point.

“Kieran, today is the coming-of-age ceremony of the young master of the Fisher family. Top figures from various industries will be coming, either with their children or alone.”

“Some of them are around your age or a few years older, you can take a look.”

This was a reminder to get married.

Since the fourth year of Valerie’s disappearance, Kieran hardly ever came home.

At the age when he was ready for marriage, he chose to distance himself from his family.

This made Reyna completely unmotivated.

He shifted his attention back to his other two sons, but one of them frequently went on business trips while the other stayed in Woodvale.

So now, all three of them are in their thirties, but none of them has gotten married yet.

Sure enough, taking advantage of the rare opportunity to meet today, she began her attack.

Even if these three disagree, she would still help them find someone.

Chapter 103 Fuzzy Memories (1)

“Mom, I have told you many times, please don’t interfere in my matters.”

Reyna’s eyes widened in an instant.

“What are you saying? You’re almost forty and still don’t want to get married? Do you want to grow old alone?!”

Reyna's face immediately turned pale, and it wasn't because she was outside now. She would definitely speak louder.

Kieran would have looked really unpleasant if he hadn't been outside today, especially considering it was an important occasion.

He forced himself to take a deep breath and not let himself get angry, despite feeling uncomfortable in his current situation.

"Mom, I didn't want to argue with you today. Don't just focus on me, go and see others too."

Today, Reyna could be said to have had a challenging task.

She took on the task of finding wives for her three sons with full force.

Kieran watched as Reyna's figure receded into the distance, and he wanted to open his mouth.

Should I tell her?

Today I saw a girl who looked very similar to Valerie.

He thought for a second and then gave up.

What if not? Wouldn't that just make Reyna's anticipation in vain?

Kieran continued his action and selected delicious food for Zoe.

By the way.

He can talk to Zoe and see if she remembers.

Thinking this way, Kieran quickened his pace and arrived by Zoe's side

"Zoe, are you hungry? Eat a little first, and if it's not enough, I'll get more for you."

"Thank you, Kier!"

Zoe happily took the tray from Kieran's hand.

He started to eat in small bites.

Kieran sat down next to Zoe and asked in a low, deep voice.

“Zoe, do you remember your sister?”

Hmm?

The sudden topic made Zoe stop eating.

“Sister?”

She always knew that she had an older sister, but this was a childhood memory for her.

It has been so long since it passed, and there has been no deliberate mention of Valerie at home.

So now, her memory of Valerie is quite vague.

“I. I know, what’s wrong? Kier?”

“If my brother saw someone who looks very similar to me, would you be willing to believe him and go see with him?”

Zoe stopped chewing and clenched the fork in her hand.

“I, I... I kind of forgot what my sister looked like.”

“It’s okay, brother knows. So, would you like to go with brother to see this person who looks like sister?”

Zoe hesitated.

She closed her mouth tightly, selectively remaining silent, refusing to answer Kieran’s questions.

The long silence made Kieran’s newly arisen enthusiasm gradually dissipate.

“Okay, I got it. It’s fine. Zoe, you go ahead and eat first.”

“Kier...”

Kieran rubbed her head.

“It’s okay, you eat. You don’t need to think about this matter anymore.”

Kieran gave up.

If there is another chance to see that little girl again, I will check it myself.

Chapter 104 Run!

Zoe watched Derek being stared at by many girls.

She withdrew her head again.

The delicious food in the plate completely lost its taste.

Last night, Reese mentioned to himself that if possible, he would establish a good relationship with Derek, even as friends.

But looking at a group of girls around.

Zoe lowered her head again, no longer approaching, and retreated to the corner.

My mind was filled with the words Reese said to me last night.

But the body did not move.

Reese looked at Zoe’s appearance.

Anxiously, almost about to step forward, wanting to personally go and make friends with Derek for Zoe.

Zoe seemed to sense Reese's gaze, she turned her head and saw her own father staring wide-eyed.

She kept shaking her head, indicating her to go forward and make friends with Derek.

The beating of her heart began to clearly transmit to her limbs.

Her hands and feet started to feel cold.

Reese immediately avoided eye contact and suddenly turned her head, leaving the hall and quickening her pace as she walked toward the outside.

She wanted to breathe fresh air.

"Hey!"

Watching her precious daughter give up such a great opportunity and simply leave, Reese was frustrated.

I had to approach the members of the Fisher family myself to establish a relationship.

Zoe ran out of the hall and arrived at the outside garden.

Today, the Fisher family's garden was open, and guests could visit.

Zoe came to the garden and took a deep breath to clear her mind of clutter.

"Let's take a break."

Muttering to herself, she wandered around the garden.

The flowers here have all been tidied up in the morning, and the garden now looks particularly neat and beautiful.

Zoe's eyes instantly felt much cooler

"It looked really good..."

As Zoe was walking, a faint woody scent suddenly came from under her nose.

Hmm?

Following the scent, she looked up at the source of the fragrance.

At some point, she came to the back of the mansion, following the garden.

This should be the house where the Fisher family lived.

At this moment, a window was open.

Zoe saw the person by the window, and her pupils suddenly contracted intensely.

She stretched out her hands and tightly covered her mouth.

Valerie, who was reading by the window, caught Zoe's eyes

Zoe's heart drummed for a moment.

Uncertainty, doubt, and shock.

"Hmm? Zoe? What are you doing here? Are you okay?"

Just finished smoking outside, Bruce was also wandering around in the garden.

I saw Zoe looking pale as she stared upstairs.

Bruce called out to Zoe and wanted to go forward to see what was hidden behind the bushes.

Make Zoe show such an expression.

"B—Bruce? I, I'm fine!"

Zoe, who hadn't recovered yet, watched as Bruce approached.

No!

Couldn't come!

Don't let Bruce see it!

Zoe dragged her trembling legs toward Bruce, preventing him from moving forward,

“Hmm? What’s wrong? What’s up there?”

Bruce’s frown deepened as he observed Zoe’s peculiar behavior, wanting to see what was on her mind.

“No, nothing! I just stayed in the hall for too long just now, had difficulty breathing, so I came out to catch my breath!”

Zoe doesn’t lie. It takes at least ten minutes to walk from the lobby to here.

Has she sorted things out in these ten minutes or so?

Bruce’s brow furrowed.

Zoe exerted force with both hands, trying to push Bruce back.

Hurry up...

Hurry up!

Her limbs grew cold again.

Although she was not sure if he was the person from her memory, her current intuition strongly told her not to let Bruce meet this person.

“Um... understood, let’s go back.”

Bruce glanced at Zoe, who was trembling slightly, and he spoke softly.

Seeing Bruce agree to leave, Zoe breathed a sigh of relief and relaxed her body.

I wanted to pull Bruce forward.

Suddenly, Bruce turned around and swiftly arrived at the spot Zoe had just been looking at.

Chapter 105 She Still Remembers

I watched Tristan go out.

Zoe closed her eyes and after a few minutes, she saw that no one came in.

She got up and carefully opened the door to look down the corridor, but there was no one. She then cautiously ran out, recalling the route she had just taken.

Once again, I arrived at the place where I had just seen Valerie.

She was a little nervous and looked up at the window just now.

She opened her mouth, but choked.

What did she want to shout?

Sister, right? But what if it wasn't?

Did she start spinning downstairs? Should I say something?

"Hello, did you get lost?"

A cold voice came from above.

But it made Zoe freeze in her tracks.

In my mind, there was also her childhood, when she got lost in the amusement park, there was also a little girl who asked herself like this.

It was her!

0.00%

Zoe suddenly looked up, her eyes turning red.

This time, it was a direct confrontation with Valerie.

Valerie's face was unfamiliar, but it was so similar to the face in my memory.

Suddenly, Zoe pursed her lips and her eyes instantly filled with tears.

His nose was also extremely red.

"Um, um, I'm sorry! I'm really sorry!"

Hmm?

Facing Zoe's apology, Valerie felt a bit strange.

She did not reply to Zoe.

Let's see what else she could say.

"I'm really sorry! These past few years, I often dreamt of you, dreaming that you were not doing well outside, all because I wandered aimlessly..."

Speaking of this, Zoe couldn't help but burst into tears.

Dream?

Did it go well?

Did she wander around?

What dream did she have?

Valerie's face remained cold as she watched Zoe crying and apologizing below.

"You, don't worry, I won't tell your family that you are here."

After Zoe finished speaking. Valerie's face finally twitched.

She was leaning by the window, with a cold expression on her face, looking at Zoe seriously.

It seems that she recognized herself.

She kept thinking of a solution, if something was wrong, she would immediately go down to stop her.

But the way Zoe is now, it momentarily puzzled Valerie.

Zoe wiped her tears and looked up at Valerie, who had not replied to her from beginning to end.

His eyes were cold and distant.

Zoe felt a sudden pang in her heart.

She bowed deeply toward Valerie and turned around to go back to the resting hall.

Her lips trembled, and tears welled up in her eyes.

She simply couldn't forget.

That night, my sister came back from the airport and everyone in the family was in the living room.

Although she lay down, she could still hear people talking in the living room.

The tone was still very harsh.

She was a little scared.

Chapter TOS She Stiti Remembers (1)

I quietly opened the door and saw Reese approaching her sister, fighting over a bag.

The fruits scattered all over the floor.

Accompanying it was also the angriest roar ever heard from my sister.

Zoe was scared and held her breath, not daring to make a sound.

Afterwards, she stood still like a statue, hiding behind the door and watching Valerie speak to everyone in the house, and then she rushed out of the door.

She didn't understand.

Why did the older sister want to escape from home?

Will she come back?

Simply thinking, I believed she would come back, but she didn't.

Little Zoe understood that Valerie really wouldn't come back.

The only opportunity to meet was at the amusement park.

She was a bit blurry, but she knew she had a sister who took her to find their family.

She didn't care.

Until she was ten years old, Reese started demanding her to do various things, and she suddenly felt exhausted.

The relationship among the three brothers worsened over time, and their attitudes toward their father and mother also began to differ.

She felt awkward and uncomfortable.
