Chapter 121 Protect You Across Time and Space

Her confused eyes had a glimmer of light.

Galen stood behind Valerie, with a slight smile on his face.

Following her for this month, Galen has been thinking about a lot of things.

He now seemed to understand why Valerie in real life had a maturity beyond her actual age.

And occasionally, there was a hint of heaviness that seeped through.

After experiencing this month in a dream, he now clearly understands.

These are all the things Valerie has experienced...

This is what she had personally experienced in her previous life.

Watching Valerie still working hard to pick up trash bottles, Galen's heart could be said to be so heartbroken that he could hardly breathe.

"Reese, you little brat!! When I wake up, I will definitely crush him!"

Galen gritted his teeth.

His fists clenched tightly, with the veins bulging.

Looking at Valerie, who had become so thin that she was unrecognizable, with her yellowish and dark skin, Galen couldn't wait to bring her home and take good care of her.

Suddenly, the scene in front of them went black, and Galen, in a panic, tried to grab Valerie to prevent her from being consumed by the darkness.

“Valerie!!!”

Is this dream going to end?

The scene shifted, and before Galen’s eyes appeared Valerie’s rental room for 25 dollars.

Valerie stared lifelessly outside, her whole body filled with a heavy gloom.

It was pouring rain outside.

And she stood at the doorway, with rain drifting in and wetting her clothes.

But she didn’t feel anything, just watched the gloomy sky.

This was Valerie, who was seventeen or eighteen years old!

Galen would not admit his mistake!

Because Valerie now, she was just this big!

But the present Valerie is so lifeless.

Galen

looked at the shack and found a spare wooden board to place on top of it, preventing any extra raindrops from falling on her head.

“Hmm? Mr. Long Legs?”

Looking at the weather outside, in a daze, she felt a movement on her head.

Subconsciously, I looked up and saw a wooden board above me, inexplicably without a roof.

She shuddered all over, and her dark eyes regained a little clarity.

Galen watched her startled reaction.

The sudden emergence of “Mr. Long Legs” from his mouth caused Galen a painful twitch in his heart.

His eye sockets turned red again without any improvement.

He stood in the rain, letting the rainwater pass through his body, with his hands behind his back, he looked at Valerie earnestly.

As Valerie looked outside at the wooden board above, she blurted out unconsciously.

But immediately shut your mouth.

Even if it was Mr. Long Legs, so what?

Life remained unchanged.

Galen's board brought Valerie back to her senses, and only then did she realize that she had already been soaked by the rain.

I casually patted and closed the door, never coming out again.

There were several cracks in the house that were still dripping with rainwater.

Valerie used to routinely take out a basin to catch the water, and then she would calculate her savings inside the house.

After finishing the calculation once, I calculated it again from beginning to end.

After calculating three times, she muttered to herself and crossed out some items on the shopping list with a pen.

She lay on the cold bed.

The eyelids gradually closed.

And outside, Galen walked through the streets and alleys, various places where scrap was collected.

Check if there were any extra planks.

Piece by piece, from far to near.

Moved all night, covering on the roof.

He stopped working for the night and sat cross-legged on the edge of the bed, just watching, until the house no longer leaked.

Valerie's spine was exposed.

He looked for a while and reached out to touch the exposed spine.

Galen pursed his lips.

It's okay, even in dreams.

He also did his best to protect Valerie.

Chapter 122 This Is Her Price

This idea had not been implemented yet.

Galen's scene changed once again.

It was still this small shack.

However, Valerie lying on the ground appeared even more mature than before

She lay on the ground, convulsing all over at the moment.

Lips turned purple, face became strangely pale.

"Valerie!!!"

Galen was so scared that he knelt down on the ground and wanted to pick up Valerie, but his hands couldn't pass through.

"Do you want to save her?"

A voice that couldn't distinguish between male and female rushed into Galen's mind.

“Who are you! Why did you show me these! Come out!”

Galen now only wanted to save Valerie and no longer wanted to investigate who this person was.

“You couldn’t save her, this was her price...”

Cost? What cost?

Is there any cost that is so cruel?

He paced anxiously in the room, looking for any emergency items he could use.

But this house was empty and bare, even the food was kept in cold water to preserve it.

There was no first aid kit anymore.

Just when Galen didn’t know what to do, Valerie slowly woke up.

She held her hands tightly over the intensely painful area.

Taking a deep breath, I allowed myself to take a break.

Looking at the yellowed ceiling.

She eventually got up and went to the hospital for a full-body examination.

Tremblingly, she stood up from the ground and struggled to pick up her bag, getting ready to hang it on her body.

The pain after waking up was not as intense anymore, but it still felt uncomfortable.

A person was alone and helpless.

There was a problem with my body, so I had to go to the hospital alone.

Galen watched Valerie's thin and lonely figure, and stood beside her, placing his hand on Valerie's shoulder.

I silently accompanied her all the way.

Accompanied her to do various medical examinations.

"You only had two months left."

The doctor's heavy words not only made Valerie's heart skip a beat but also sent a chill down Galen's spine.

He widened his eyes, preventing the tears from overflowing.

Valerie's eyes only slightly widened, but quickly returned to normal.

"Ah... I understood, thank you, doctor."

"Do you... still want treatment?"

It was Valerie's calm reaction that made the doctor unable to resist asking gently.

Valerie smiled at the doctor with a haggard face.

Having seen all kinds of people as a doctor, when seeing someone like Valerie, a hint of pity appeared in the eyes.

“Little girl, get along well with your family.”

“...Um, thank you, doctor.”

Valerie stood still, but still smiled in response to the doctor’s words.

She had no family left.

Chapter 123 Galen Gets Angry

Just woke up, Galen was still calming his mind.

In his mind, Valerie still looked the same as when she passed away in the previous life.

He spoke hoarsely.

“Where was Valerie...”

He knew Valerie was there in this world, but he still felt anxious.

“Dad, Valerie is with Derek inside the apartment. Should I call her over?”

Ramona approached and spoke softly.

Galen let out a long sigh.

“Help me up.”

The weak voice, people in the ward immediately approached and carefully helped him up.

The intense pain that spread throughout his body made Galen understand.

This was the result after he helped Valerie in his dream.

But he was willing.

So he didn't plan to tell the children in the room that he was not feeling well.

“Let your fathers come to me.”

Galen pointed at Tucker and Calvin.

Although they were confused, they also called their own father.

It was a special period, and no one specifically went far to work.

They were all near their homes, waiting for the time when they would be needed.

The two of them received the notification and immediately rushed over without stopping.

“Grandpa, we have called for help. Is there anything else that is bothering you?”

Galen shook his head and remained silent.

Tucker and Calvin exchanged a glance and dared not speak out of turn.

Having lived with Galen for so long, they knew it clearly.

Grandfather is now extremely angry.

Mica held the report card in her hand, blinking as she watched Galen take deep breaths out of anger.

He hurried forward.

Smiling, I looked at Galen and placed my hands on top of his.

“Grandpa, you just woke up. You shouldn’t exert yourself too much, as it could be bad for your health.”

Galen felt the warmth in his hands, and his anger in his heart subsided slightly .

“Okay, Mica, Grandpa will pay attention.”

The other hand gently patted Mica’s hand, and Galen tried to calm himself down.

It’s not worth it, Reese, it’s not worth getting so angry at yourself.

In a short while, Lamar and Steven arrived at the ward, walking hurriedly with slightly rapid breathing.

“Dad, we came. What’s the matter?”

The two of them looked worried and immediately came to Galen’s bedside, waiting for him to speak.

“Steven, Lamar, did you not collaborate with the Horton family?”

Galen, sitting on the bed, suddenly asked them about their business matters.

“Ah...yes, the Horton family treated Valerie poorly, so we all didn’t have a choice but to not collaborate with the Horton family...”

Chapter 124 Can I Hold You?

Valerie was taken aback by Derek's sudden seriousness, and the heart-racing words he uttered.

Frozen stiff..

Her gaze was a bit evasive, she dared not look directly at Derek.

The strange feeling in her heart made her clench her fists.

Over the past decade, Derek and the Fisher family's kindness toward her has left her feeling grateful.

There was still longing.

Especially Derek.

Almost since he entered the Fisher family, he has been by his side.

I seemed to have become a little arrogant due to being spoiled.

When did he start taking it for granted that she would always be by his side?

This idea sent chills down Valerie's spine!

She instinctively distanced herself from Derek, thinking that this would slow down the beating of her heart a little.

Derek saw her flushed ears.

The corners of the mouth quietly curled upwards.

But it quickly disappeared.

“Val, theoretically speaking, your physical condition should be very good. However, you fainted today due to fatigue, which is worth paying attention to.”

I wanted to watch you fall asleep at night and then observe for a while. If there was nothing else, I would leave.

“You could reject me, it’s your right.”

Derek spoke while looking at Valerie’s flushed ears, which had a few strands of loose hair.

He reached out and gently brushed those few strands to her ear.

The scorching heat in his hands made Derek’s face turn red as well.

But he did not back down and continued to wait earnestly for Valerie’s response.

“I... I got it. Then I’ll trouble you, Derry.”

Derek chuckled.

“This was what I should have done.”

Valerie eased her feelings for a moment and then looked at Derek.

The face that used to be cold toward others is now smiling at her tenderly.

Valerie seemed to be a little unwell.

She, who had always been natural in front of Derek, suddenly became a little awkward.

She lowered her head and listened to the thumping of her heart.

Derek squinted his eyes, and a slight blush appeared on his face.

He extended his index finger and scratched his nose.

Looking at Valerie's head, he opened his mouth.

"Valerie... There are some things I wanted to say, but I was afraid that if I said them, you would laugh at me.

Hmm?

Valerie was no longer shy.

She was surprised that the usually calm Derek would say such words.

And there was this perplexed expression on his face!

No, I couldn't think anymore.

Derek, who used to keep in touch with Tucker, no longer reminisces.

“Grandpa woke up, right? Okay, I will take Val to the hospital to see Grandpa at 10 o’clock.”

Derek lowered his voice.

Tucker chuckled softly on the other end of the phone.

He also laughed for a while, but his tone suddenly became serious.

“Derek, do you know if Grandpa had any issues with the Horton family recently?”

“Hmm? I don’t think so, but I haven’t been home recently, so I’m not sure. What’s going on?”

Derek frowned.

Tucker is not usually at home, how could he ask such a question?

After waking up tonight, Grandpa asked my dad to reorganize the Horton family together with Steven.

Wow.

Derek’s eyes lit up now.

“Is it confirmed now what Grandpa said?”

“Um... What did you want to do?”

Tucker widened his eyes, he felt like Derek's current mood seemed a bit elevated...

Derek put down the documents in his hand and reached for another one that he had already prepared.

"Since grandpa has already made it clear, it doesn't matter if there's one more of me."

Wow, it seems like the Horton family has been through a tough time recently.

"Hahaha, alright, take it easy and take good care of Valerie first, we can discuss other matters later."

"No need for you to remind me. I hung up."

Derek smiled and hung up Tucker's phone.

With great enthusiasm, he turned on the computer and began the plan targeting the Horton family.

Valerie, who was sleeping soundly in the room, had no idea what would happen next.

Derek, who was halfway through his work, set aside his work and gently entered Valerie's room, turning on the night light.

In the dim light, he looked at Valerie, who was sleeping, and gently reached out to touch her forehead.

After confirming that there was nothing unusual, he breathed a sigh of relief.

Gently stroking her cheek, Derek began to ponder.

After so many years have passed, tonight there is finally some progress.

Blaming myself, I thought she would always be by my side, so I never fully made a move.

The result was that she moved out without saying a word.

He only realized that he had been lacking awareness.

“Hey... Don’t push me away, Val.”

Derek muttered under his breath.

After watching for a while, he returned to the living room and casually lay down on the sofa, falling asleep in a daze.

And in the hospital, Galen slowly regained consciousness.
