

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 153 -

Chapter 153 Leo

Sarah carried a bag of fruits and followed the gentle and refined Phil into the living room.

The decoration of the room was all retro style, with a strong Zen atmosphere.

Phil also burned incense, and the whole room was filled with the scent of it.

There was also the sound of flowing water, which was caused by him placing a water decoration in the living room.

Sarah blinked her eyes as she looked at these new surroundings that were completely unfamiliar to her.

He kept looking around.

“Come, have something to eat.”

Phil took out some snacks from home and came to Sarah. Before long, he took out some delicious food from home and placed it in front of Sarah.

“Phil... enough, enough.”

Sarah also felt the warmth of her elders for the first time and suddenly became at a loss.

Both of them were being polite, and at this moment, Sarah suddenly spoke up and asked a question.

“Phil, why are you the only one at home? Where is your wife?”

When Phil heard Sarah was looking for his wife, he paused.

He also placed the things in his hand on the coffee table and let out a slight sigh.

“Good child, come and say hello to Beatrice.”

Phil greeted Sarah and walked to the other side of the living room.

A woman with black and white hair sat quietly in a wheelchair, looking out of the window, silently gazing.

Outside the window, it was the area right below the entrance.

Her figure was slender, even when sitting in a wheelchair, she did not slouch, sitting so upright.

You can still see her temperament.

The temperament and quality of life of the couple can be seen from their cultural heritage and extensive knowledge.

But now, the hostess just sat there, staring blankly, her gaze fixed on the outside.

“Beatrice, there was a child who wanted to say hello to you.”

Phil gently approached and placed his hands lightly on Beatrice’s shoulders.

I hoped that she could give herself some response.

But Beatrice still had no reaction, her eyes lifelessly staring out of the window.

Phil patiently said a few more words, but Beatrice still ignored him.

Slightly disappointed, he straightened his body and covered her with a blanket.

“Sorry, my partner, due to some issues, currently has no reaction to anything from the outside world.”

Sarah had a vague idea of why Beatrice had turned out this way, and she nervously nodded, indicating that she understood.

She finally understands why Valerie came over last night to thank her personally.

Originally, it was necessary to see the true appearance of things with one's own eyes.

Upon seeing Sarah's appearance, Phil adjusted his state and smiled at Sarah again.

“Are you called Sarah?”

“Yes, Phil.”

He seated Sarah and poured her a cup of tea.

“Phil, why did you leave home?”

Ah, as expected, you still ask.

Sarah hesitated for a moment and didn't speak immediately.

Phil realized that he had asked too directly and quickly explained.

“Don’t worry, Phil won’t tell anyone. He’s just curious. As an exchange, I’ll tell you first why Beatrice became like this.”

Without waiting for Sarah to be ready, Phil slowly explained the reasons behind the matter to her.

Even though Sarah had heard Valerie talk about it, when she heard it from the person involved, this overwhelming feeling of helplessness and heart ache directly struck her soul.

She listened attentively as Phil spoke.

When Phil talked about going to the scene with Beatrice and seeing their own son.

He trembled and closed his mouth, no longer speaking.

Just reddened my eyes, took off my glasses and wiped them, took a deep breath to calm myself down.

Looking at my dearest child being so brutally harmed in front of me.

Even though so many years have passed,

It was still extremely painful for him.

“Phil, are you okay?”

Sarah was at a loss and wanted to hand Phil a napkin, but he waved his hand.

“I made you laugh.”
