“Mica, Grandpa doesn’t want the family to know, I’m counting on you. Even if they find out, they won’t be able to help me in any way. Instead, it will only burden me more, seeing their lifeless faces.”

“I have been watching the old man for a long time and I have become tired and annoyed.”

“Grandpa, this...”

“Please, Mica, calculate it for me, Grandpa.”

Mica took a deep breath to calm herself down.

Just now, I lost control of myself. Now I still have a chance. I need to work hard to find the cause and remove it.

“Grandfather, don’t worry, I am here.”

With red eyes, Mica spoke firmly to Galen.

It is this look that always amazes Galen every time.

Every time, Mica would cry with red eyes, tears streaming down her face, while trying her best to solve the problem at hand.

No matter how difficult it was, he would still earnestly and diligently try to solve it with his own strength.

Mica wiped away her tears and took out the blood collection tube from the nearby instrument.

Chapter 202

“Grandpa, I will draw your blood first and get it tested as soon as I go back. I will also help you with my family, but I won’t say it’s from you.”

“Thank you, Mica, for letting you know so many bad things all by yourself.”

Mica regained his smile and replied to Galen’s words in a relaxed tone.

“Grandpa, you shouldn’t say that. The fact that you are willing to talk to me shows that you trust me, and that’s enough.”

Galen did not reply and just watched as he drew blood from him.

With a smile on the face, but still filled with sadness and worry in the eyes.

Having been together for so long, Galen had long regarded him as his own child.

The two of them chatted, waiting for Mica’s eyes to stop being red and return to normal.

“Grandpa, I’m going back first. If you don’t feel well, please let me know immediately, okay?”

“Okay, understood.”

Mica put on a mask and walked out of the ward.

The two people waiting in the corridor saw Mica coming out and immediately went up to greet her.

“Mica, how is grandpa? Why did it take so long for him to come out?”

The two of them came into the living room and sat down.

Valerie also wanted to pour water for Derek.

“Val, sit down and I’ll pour you a drink.”

Derek pressed Valerie’s shoulder, making her sit down.

Derek poured water while asking Valerie.

“Val. I was just in the ward and I was so excited, so I immediately accepted without carefully asking if you truly meant it from the bottom of your heart.”

Derek came to the living room carrying two cups of water. He gave Valerie the one that was warm.

Valerie could sense a hint of nervousness and uncertainty in his tone.

She let out a long breath.

“And I didn’t mind your touch, just like this.”

Speaking, Valerie took the initiative and grabbed Derek’s hand.

The sudden movement made Derek freeze and sweat started to appear on the palms of his hands.

If Valerie had listened carefully, she should have been able to hear his heartbeat, thumping again and again.

However, she wasn't doing well either, as her heart was also pounding crazily.

"You see, I didn't dislike it, but when I held hands with Mica before, there was an awkward feeling of wanting to pull away."

Derek swallowed his saliva, rubbed his palms on the sofa for a few times, and wiped off the sweat from his hands.

Held Valerie's hand tightly.

"Val, thank you for giving me this opportunity, thank you for not hating me, I am really happy."

Thumb caressed Valerie's hand back, he truly felt grateful from the bottom of his heart for the opportunity she had given him.

"However, Derry, are you really willing to stay by my side? You have just come of age, and in the future, there will be many more outstanding girls out there, and you might also find someone you like."

Derek smiled and shook his head.

"No, Val, even if there were such good girls, they wouldn't compare to you. You have something that they don't have – you are very strong, and this strength is not easily obtained by everyone."

"You were very dazzling, Val."

Derek sincerely answered Valerie.

Perhaps Valerie’s expression pleased Derek.

He smiled even brighter.

“Do you know? When grandpa told me that you were coming to our house that morning, my emotions were overwhelming.”

At that time, I didn’t like Valerie yet.

More than anything, I was interested, and I admired her courage to come out of the Horton family.

At that time, he didn’t like it when boys of his age had too much physical contact with her.

Mica couldn’t either.

I didn’t understand at that time, but as I grew up, I gradually understood.

We were together almost every day, doing tasks together, training together, celebrating birthdays together with our families, and watching the sunrise and sunset together.

He couldn’t imagine how he would face life without her.

Valerie's face turned red as Derek spoke these words.

She didn't expect Derek to be so concerned about her at such a young age.

At that moment, she could only let him hold her hand, unable to say a word due to shyness.

"Val, I wanted to treat you well. If you're willing, can we start as lovers? Or if you want to think about it for a while, it's okay. I can wait for you patiently."

Derek's gaze toward Valerie was so intense that it could almost be stretched like a thread.

He stared at Valerie intently, waiting for her response.

Now I knew that she was not uninterested in me, maybe not completely clear yet, but at least there was a qualitative breakthrough.

It didn't matter to be rejected.

Derek could wait.

Valerie pursed her lips.

She wanted to restrain her pounding heartbeat.

She also thought about it seriously for a long time, and she was also willing to be with Derek.

Even if the final result was not pleasing to anyone, it was still the consequence she had to bear.

Chapter 129 Get Her Back (1)

Derek was extremely satisfied.

I couldn't help but reach out and pinch Valerie's cheeks.

“Now we can say that we are in a committed relationship, but I know that you haven't fully reached the level of romantic interest in me yet.”

“Derry, I...”

Derek stopped her from continuing to speak.

“Take it slow, no rush. In the time to come, focus your attention on me, and we will gradually build our relationship.”

After speaking, Derek went to the kitchen to cook for Valerie.

Valerie sat in the living room, still feeling confused.

Everything today felt like a dream, inexplicably I got engaged to Derry.

And I also knew that he had been caring about himself since he was young.

Wandering...

Valerie's room was filled with warmth...

The Horton family, at this moment, was in chaos.

After apologizing to the old fogies, Reese kept thinking about getting back that 40% stake.

But Kieran said that it would only take effect if Valerie herself was willing to come back.

Ever since Valerie was found these few days, everything started to go haywire.

It was really annoying.

“Where is Kieran? Where is he?”

Reese found the butler in the living room, not knowing which number butler he was.

The previous Ramon has resigned due to health reasons.

Now, after Ramon, there is a new butler.

“Master... Mr. Kieran has been away from home for several days.”

The temper of this landlord is really as bad as Senior Ye said, it's unbearable.

The one who can make Jayvion angry, his temper is truly not to be underestimated.

You should know that Jayvion is a legendary figure in the industry.

They were their role models.

The head of the Horton family was truly remarkable.

“What does it matter?”

After Reyna finished speaking, Reese’s gaze immediately turned toward her.

But it was his gaze that froze Reyna’s body.

She immediately lowered her head, not allowing herself to continue reading.

However, the inner imbalance suddenly became apparent.

This dumbfounded look hurt Reyna deeply.

I accompanied him to start from scratch. Indeed, he has been working hard outside, but if it weren’t for my help in the early stage, taking care of his daily life.

Will he have today?

But Reyna would not say these words openly.

She didn’t dare either.

With so many shares in her hands, she practically owned the company. After that, when ever the company had any major decisions, she could almost single-handedly make the final call.

Reese explained to Reyna and ultimately gave her an explanation for the situation.

It felt unfamiliar.

She trembled as she held her hands tightly, forcing herself not to get excited.

But suddenly, I didn’t know what to say, so I could only choose to remain silent.

Reese was still muttering about Valerie, but Reyna couldn’t listen anymore.

He got hot-headed, grabbed the car keys, and drove to the company building with a serious expression on his face.

“Where is Kieran? Let him come out!”

Everyone in the company knew Reese’s face, so the receptionist immediately went up to greet him.

“Mr. Horton, I will bring the phone to the boss right away.”

“No need, is he in the office? Take me up directly.”

Reese prevented the receptionist from making the phone call, which would let Kieran know, and he might just leave through another door directly.

He only wants to have a face-to-face conversation with Kieran now.

He pushed past the front desk girl who tried to stop him.

“Go away.”

Reese stepped onto the elevator in front of everyone’s eyes.

The receptionist immediately came to the phone and dialed an internal line for Kieran.

“Boss, the CEO came to the company today.”

Irritated, he threw the documents in his hand onto the table.

There was only one elevator that went directly to the office.

Since Reese came in, there was no way for him to escape.

Sure enough, he hadn't finished thinking when the elevator's ding sounded.

Reese walked into the office with a dark face, and Kieran stood up, looking at Reese who walked in with a gloomy expression.

“Are you determined to distance yourself from me now? Have you grown some courage?”

“What else? Are you waiting for Dad to slap me again?”

Kieran replied to Reese at a leisurely pace.

The low air pressure of the two individuals made everyone outside the office afraid to speak loudly.

The surrounding office employees quietly gathered together.

“Felipe? What's going on? Why does the boss look so determined?”

“Isn't it because the boss gave forty percent of the shares to that lady?”

“Miss? Which miss? The miss that was just found?”

“Yeah, isn't it? Without saying anything, he just gave it directly. It's normal for the boss to get angry.”

Chapter 130 It’s Illegal (1)

Kieran was shocked beyond belief.

Arrested someone?

Is this what Reese should say now?

“Dad, do you know what you’re saying? It’s illegal for you to go arrest people like this.”

and

“Is it illegal? She was originally a member of our Horton family! Even if her household registration is not here, she is still a part of our Horton family!”

“Bring her over quickly, I want to talk to her.”

Kieran should have known what Reese wanted to talk to Valerie about.

Wasn’t it just about wanting Valerie to return that forty percent of the shares?

“Wasn’t she over at Jayvion’s? Go over to Jayvion’s and bring her here.”

Without hesitation, Reese sat directly on the sofa in the office.

"If you don't bring someone back today, I won't leave!"

When Reese got angry, Kieran was really overwhelmed.

"Dad, you should know yourself that she is not with Jayvion anymore. Asking me to go and get her, isn't that putting me in a difficult situation?"

"I didn't care!"

Kieran couldn't help but be annoyed by the unreasonable behavior.

"The shares were given by me, and I don't want to take them back.

Since Dad, you want to take them back, you go find Valerie yourself. I have to work now."

Not giving in to him, Kieran sat back on the chair and ignored him.

The relationship was not good to begin with, and Kieran no longer had a good attitude toward Reese.

Reese stood up in anger and grabbed the inkstone on the coffee table, intending to smash it on the ground.

"Dad, I am currently at the office, in front of my colleagues. Are you sure you want to throw it? Don't you care about your reputation?"
