Chapter 28 Valerie Is Bullied (2)

Abbigail's face instantly turned pale.

Her eyes were evasive.

Valérie sneered in her heart.

Then Mica ran toward her from a distance.

“Valerie! Good morning!”

His voice eased Abbigail's guilty sense and nerve,

She looked straight at Mica with admiration in her eyes.

Mica noticed that Valerie was cornered. His face darkened.

It looked exactly like when he was bullied by Grey.

Mica's legs trembled, but he still summoned up the courage to walk up to Valerie and stand in front of her.

“Valerie, who are they? Do you know them?”

“Well, no.”

Mica's cold hand locked up Valerie's hand tightly. He stared at Abbigail with an alert, while the latter looked back tenderly.

“Well, Mica, I just wanted to talk to her!”

Valerie was stronger than Abbigail had imagined. She wasn't afraid of Abbigail at all.

Abbigail was a little panicked.

Why did Valerie turn out to be different?

Mica looked at Abbigail suspiciously

Then he turned to Valerie to confirm Abbigail's words.

"I don't know them, but they wanted to ask me a few questions."

Valerie looked at Abbigail curiously and enjoyed the latter's nervous eyes.

In the end, Valerie decided to help Abbigail gain her dignity.

Mica had no doubt. He held Valerie's hand and walked quickly to the classroom.

When they passed by Abbigail, Valerie looked at her sarcastically.

It vexed Abbigail very much.

But Mica was present. Abbigail didn't choose to confront Valerie face to face.

"Let's go to the classroom. We'll figure it out later."

Abbigail didn't give up, but now she had to leave with her friends.

The confrontation ended up like this.

Mica was a little puzzled. He turned to Valerie from time to time.

It made Valerie feel very uncomfortable.

"Just speak your mind."

Mica smiled awkwardly.

“No big deal. But is it true that they just wanted to ask you a few questions? They didn’t bully you, did they?”

Valerie shook her head.

“No. Don’t worry. No one can bully me.”.

Mica pursed his lips and accepted Valerie’s response.

He turned away his head. Now his cute face looked very stern.

The class was over very soon. After saying goodbye to Mica, Valerie intended to take a bus to go home.

However, her back collar was dragged by someone. She was taken to the alley where Mica was once bullied.

“Off me go!”

Valerie struggled hard. She pinched the hand which held her collar.

“Oh!”

Valerie was free of the hand that took her collar.

Feeling that she was free, Valerie immediately ran away.

She tried to escape from this group of people.

But the exit was blocked.

She couldn’t get out.

Valerie’s eyes were fierce.

“What do you want?”

They were the ones who surrounded Valerie this morning. Now they got more helpers.

Abbigail looked at Valerie grumpily.

“Look, what’s your relationship with Mica?”

“I told you we’re just classmates! What else could it be?”

Valerie was vexed. She thought it was disgusting for adults to do such a thing, not to mention this group of adolescents.

Why would they do such a thing?

One could imagine how impolite they were.

Abbigail had long held a grudge against Valerie. Since all her partners were here, Abbigail decided not to hide her dislike.

She directly walked up to Valerie and lifted her ponytail harshly.

“Is this how you answer my question? Do you believe that I will beat you?”

Valerie rolled her eyes at them.

“Tut.”

Abbigail clipped her tongue.

“Stay away from Mica!”

“Why would I listen to you? We’re in the same class. How can I stay away from him?”

Valerie wasn’t frightened and answered back.

Being trapped was the worst outcome she had thought. And things were developing as she expected.

Valerie didn't betray her emotions, but she sneered secretly.

Without giving Abbigail a chance to speak, Valerie continued.

"You like him, but you have no guts to confess. And now you're threatening me, right? When he was bullied by your suitors, you didn't dare to stand out. You feared that he would blame you. No wonder Mica doesn't like you! You're just a snobbish coward!"

These words pierced into Abbigail's heart.

She slapped Valerie.

The other partners also beat and cursed Valerie.

Valerie sneered more aggressively.

But Abbigail's face was very sulky all the time.

She was very angry.

And she was also scared.

Valerie was different from those who had once been bullied by Abbigail. Valerie wasn't what Abbigail imagined her to be.

If Valerie told the truth to Mica, Abbigail wouldn't have had any chance at all.

Abbigail nibbled at her fingernails and looked at the cornered Valerie. Some were documenting with a phone.

Abbigail walked up and stopped them.

Valerie huddled on the ground. Her wounds were swelling.

Her new-born body was too fragile.

With such a fierce attack, Valerie felt a little dizzy.

Her hair was messed up. Her cheeks were swollen. And her clothes became dirty.

Everyone could discern she was bullied.

Valerie reached into her pocket and waited for Abbigail's approach.

Just as Abbigail approached her, Valerie suddenly took out an army knife from her pocket.

The sharp knife scared all the girls. They immediately took a few steps backward.

"No!"

Abbigail was frightened.

Valerie was crazy!

"If you dare to approach me again, I'll cut you!"

Some were secretly documenting.

Abbigail was well aware of the consequence.

"How dare you? We're documenting you. Do you know what you will face if you do this?"

Valerie spat out a mouth of blood.

"Go ahead. I won't hurt you. I'll just hold this knife. If you come up, it just serves you right."

Although Valerie's voice was calm, she looked invincible.

Abbigail swallowed her saliva and didn't dare to step forward.

“A word of reminder, if you dare to tell what happened today to Mica, I assure you that you will be bullied until you graduate.”

This was the biggest threat that Abbigail could make.

She had known that Valerie was just from a common family. That was also why Abbigail dared to come here.

Abbigail had confidence

After that, she left with her partners.

Valerie was left alone in the alley.

Seeing them leave, Valerie loosened her hold on the army knife.

It hurt.
