Chapter 291

Chapter 158 Truly Envious (1)

“Sarah!”

Sarah’s mother is now furious, and her words are squeezed out from between her teeth.

Looking at my well-behaved daughter, her hair was messed up like this, and she herself suggested it.

As soon as she thought about it, she felt uncomfortable.

From junior high school onwards, she suddenly rebelled against herself, catching herself off guard and causing herself a lot of trouble.

The husband also blamed her for not managing well and deducted a lot of things for himself.

Now she is in the hospital, so she can’t blame him, but she will have a different opinion once she gets home.

In a short while, the police arrived. They had received news that Sarah had woken up and immediately came to the hospital to prepare a statement.

“Alright, family members, please step outside for a moment. We need to take a statement now.”

The police officers pushed the people out of the ward.

There was only one captain left inside.

He looked at Sarah, who had cut her hair short, and his eyes focused on the injured area.

But it was wrapped in gauze, so it was impossible to tell how much there actually was.

Hmm...

Let's start by describing the severity of the injury.

"Hello, classmate. Sorry to bother you. Are you available now to cooperate with our police and make a statement?"

Sarah nodded her head, accepting the request.

Next, she answered the police's questions very seriously.

Until the captain asked.

"Why were you there? Whose house did you stay at? How many days did you stay?"

When this problem came up, she hesitated directly.

He hesitated and didn't say it out immediately.

This was my own problem, I couldn't involve Valerie and Phil anymore.

"I, I... it was me who ran to my classmate's house, hoping that she would take me in. It was me who begged her not to tell anyone."

"Why did you escape from home? Did something hurt you at home? Don't be afraid, speak up."

The captain furrowed his brows for a moment, then quickly relaxed them, without revealing his confusion.

He asked Sarah questions in a soft and gentle voice.

But when asked this question, Sarah felt a sudden heaviness in her mouth.

Not even a word could come out.

I could only tightly clutch the blanket on the bed to express my refusal.

The captain waited for a few more minutes and let out a long sigh.

“Classmate, here’s the thing, if you don’t tell the truth, we will directly take away your classmates and Beatrice, who saved you today, to the police station for questioning.”

After all, you had been missing for almost a month, and this matter was still very important. Search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

Even if they didn’t do anything bad to you, they still have to receive the corresponding punishment. If you speak up, their punishment will be relatively smaller.

As for your classmate, since she was not yet of legal age, she would only receive our criticism.

The captain carefully explained to Sarah.

Sure enough, when she heard that others would be punished because of her.

Sarah immediately lifted her head, with a look of confusion and panic.

“No, it’s not related to them at all. It was all in the past, and I insisted on disturbing them!”

Sarah was so excited that her neck turned red and her eyes were filled with tears.

The captain looked at Sarah like this, and he also felt a hint of pity in his heart.

The captain looked at Sarah, who seemed to be emotionally excited. It appeared that this would still require some time.

"Alright, let's stop here for today. Thank you, my classmate. You can rest now."

The captain stood up and tucked Sarah in, then he walked out of the ward.

He hadn't even stepped out of the hospital room when he heard Sarah's parents blaming each other and complaining about Sarah's haircut.

His face suddenly looked bad, and he immediately understood why Sarah wanted to go out alone.

It seems that I couldn't get rid of the relationship with my own parents.

He stood at the door and listened for a while before slowly opening it.

The noise at the door suddenly ceased.

All eyes turned to the captain.

“Officer, is Sally okay?”

Phil didn’t care about Sarah’s parents, he saw them acting all pretentious.

I still went up and greeted him myself.

Beatrice’s eyes kept looking toward the ward, and she kept muttering to herself.

“Leo, my Leo...”

I often wanted to go in and take a look, but Phil always caught me and wouldn’t let me in.

“She was fine, she is resting now.”

The captain glanced at the middle-aged man and judging by his demeanor, he seemed to be a teacher.

Full of cultural temperament.

So worried about Sarah, he must have known that Sarah was hiding at that classmate’s house.

The captain didn’t say anything anymore. He didn’t plan to deal with their matters today.

He came directly in front of the couple.

They took them to the police station to proceed with the matter.

The corridor instantly fell silent.

Valerie followed Phil inside to see how Sarah was doing.

“Are you okay?”

Sarah still felt guilty in her heart and now she was very embarrassed to face them.

I could only nod and watch them.

“I was fine, where was the police?”

Sarah breathed a long sigh of relief.

“Sorry for causing you trouble.”

Beatrice suddenly approached and grabbed Sarah’s hand, rubbing it back and forth.

“Leo, cold... Is it cold?”

Sarah was feeling a bit weak, so her hands were a little cold. Beatrice approached and grabbed Sarah’s hand.

There, I caressed back and forth, giving her warmth.

Sarah felt the softness and warmth in her hands.

A wave of emotion surged through my heart.

She truly felt the warmth from her mother.

But this was not her own mother, her own mother had just been taken away by the police.

She actually breathed a sigh of relief.

Her guilt and unease slowly recovered under the warmth of his hands.

“Valerie, the police just asked me why I was at your place... I didn’t answer, but they will definitely come to you with questions next.”

Valerie nodded her head, this was something she wasn’t worried about.

“Sorry... I caused you trouble.”

Sarah’s voice grew weaker and her guilt resurfaced once again.

“It’s okay, take good care of yourself. I will bring you into the house, and I am also prepared. You don’t need to think too much.”

It was always etched in her mind, unable to be erased.

“What happened?”

Seeing Sarah staring at her so intently, Valerie raised an eyebrow and asked.

“No, nothing...”

Sarah, who was discovered, immediately shrank back.

Phil smiled, and a gentle laughter escaped his lips.

“It was almost noon, and I went to buy food for you.”

“Ah, it’s alright Phil. I have some things to do next, so I won’t disturb you guys.”

“V–Valerie!”

“What were you doing?”

“Well, um, thank you. We, we are now considered friends...”

Sarah’s face started turning red.

Nervously.

She really wanted to be friends with Valerie.

But Valerie did not respond to Sarah's words immediately.

It was extremely awkward for a moment.

then he walked out of the room.

Sarah's eager anticipation turned into nervousness and uncertainty during Valerie's prolonged silence.

"Sarah, I took you in simply because your situation reminded me of mine, and we are both the same age. If I don't help you, no one else will."

I remember what you have done to me in the past, and I am not holding grudges. However, I can't help but feel that even if I forgive you, I may still have some concerns about you.

Even if you were a good person, in the future, we could become good partners, but may be not good friends.

That's all we have to say, and we will each go our own way.

Valerie finished speaking and left the ward.

Sarah and Beatrice stayed in the ward. Sarah listened to Valerie's speech, and bitterness spread throughout her heart.

The uncomfortable feeling made Sarah's mouth tremble, and the sound of her crying had already reached her throat.

But she still held back, Beatrice saw tears welling up in her eyes, already sobbing, but she managed not to cry out.

Nervously, he got up and checked Sarah's whole body, thinking that she was feeling unwell.

"Leo, don't cry, don't cry. Was it very painful?"

"No, no, Beatrice, I wasn't in pain."

Just a little bit of heartache.

If only I had known today, why did I have to do it back then?

Although at that time, it was not the method I had in mind, but they did it only with my tacit approval.

This was all caused by myself.

So Valerie didn't want to be good friends with herself, and she could understand that.

It just made her a little sad.

Valerie explained the situation to Sarah and they walked to the entrance of the hospital. They saw Ramona standing in the lobby, waiting for them.

Valerie widened her eyes and quickened her pace to reach Ramona's room.

"Auntie Ramona!"

Ramona heard Valerie's voice and quickly turned around. She saw Valerie running toward her, and felt relieved.

“Valerie! Are you okay?

I saw the news that someone was trying to kidnap you at the place you live. And your classmate also suffered. Is that true?”

Ramona knew it, it seemed like everyone at home already knew.

Valerie approached and gently took hold of Ramona’s arm, shaking it a few times.

Ramona was the least resistant to Valerie’s coquetry.

She had a serious face, but it disappeared without a trace due to Valerie’s little tantrum.

“Hey, I couldn’t persuade you, be careful and listen, okay?”

“Got it.”

Valerie smiled gently and followed Ramona back to the car, where there was a beautifully wrapped bag on the passenger seat.

“Are you hungry? Since there wasn’t enough time for lunch, I bought you a cake, your favorite. Quickly take a few bites, those bunch of old men later won’t pay such close attention.”

After Ramona got into the car, she didn’t drive away directly. Instead, she opened the bag and let Valerie eat a little to fill her stomach.

“Come, have a warm drink to warm up your stomach.”

“Hmm!”

Valerie happily took the fruit juice from Ramona’s hand.

Satisfied, he took a sip and felt content.

Ramona’s phone started vibrating.

In the past, Calvin was asking.

“Auntie Ramona! Have you seen Valerie? Has she arrived?”

A long string of text, along with emojis.

Ramona furrowed her brow slightly.

“What’s the rush! It’s not like they didn’t come.”

Okay.

I reminded myself, but I was still criticized, so it seems that I was seen.

Calvin sighed slightly as he glanced at Randal sitting behind him.

“Uncle Randal, I am certain that the man we caught today, reportedly, had also abducted many children and hid them in a place.”

Time is pressing, we need to act as soon as possible. This man has been captured, and his accomplices behind him are surely starting to become a little cautious. In the coming period of time, they will definitely not make any significant moves.

But at this time, they would take a moment to look for more children.

Randal frowned.

“So, you planned to look for Valerie?”

Randal spoke seriously, making Calvin gulp.

“Yes, originally this time we intended to make the man notice Valerie, but because of Sarah, the plan was advanced.”

Calvin spoke with a serious tone, but Randal’s expression made him increasingly unsure as he continued speaking.

“Uncle Randal... Valerie also knew about this matter in the past, and it was her own strong request to help us.”

Randal sighed helplessly when he heard Calvin say that.

So I continued the investigation while I was at it, but I didn’t expect Valerie to also be targeted by someone.

And at that critical moment, her classmate suddenly moved into Valerie's room, so we couldn't take any action either.

Randal's serious gaze was fixed on Calvin.

This was a dangerous thing. The ones on the surface could be captured, but if you went deeper...

The consequences were unimaginable.

It was very likely to die at that time.

What you will face and bear next is your own mission, as well as the lives and future of that group of children.

Valerie's nervous heart became even more tense after Randal's words.

She clenched her teeth and stared at Randal.

"Valerie..."

Calvin looked at Valerie, who had suddenly fallen silent, and suddenly his mind cleared.

How old was she?

They were not even of legal age!

Although I trained her a lot myself, it was only to let her have a name on the team, so I didn't treat her as strictly as I did with training others.

But being more capable than an ordinary person is a fact.

After so many years of watching, I have become accustomed to seeing Valerie as a soldier in training.

She had no idea that she was so small.

“And Uncle Randal and Calvin have taken care of me for so long, been so good to me, I also want to do something to repay you.”

Valerie became increasingly excited as she spoke, and her breathing started to become rapid. Due to nervousness, her voice even trembled slightly.

The two men of the Fisher family, upon hearing the words, felt a myriad of emotions in their hearts.

"Cough, cough..."

Zoe nodded, but as soon as she finished nodding, a strong itchiness surged in her throat.

Couldn't help but cough out loud.

"Zoe! Come, have some water!"

Reyna quickly picked up the water cup and handed it to Zoe, looking worried.

Watching her beloved daughter's health deteriorate, her heart felt as if it was being tightly squeezed, causing immense pain.

She had already lost one, and she didn't want to lose another.

"Mom, I'm fine, go ahead and order."

Zoe comforted the nervous Reyna, urging her easily agitated mother to calm down.

Then I sat there, listening to Reyna ramble on.

"Your three brothers, none of them planned to get married, it really worries me."

Zoe's eyes were dull, and the dark circles under her eyes had started to darken.

Reyna had been hearing these words for several years.

Every day, every day.

Whenever she had free time, Reyna would start complaining, and if Bruce or Tristan were at home, they would also argue.

She was tired and didn't want to go out. She really wanted to lock herself in the room and not come out.

Why did this family become like this?

She also wanted to run out just like her sister.

The dull Zoe stared at the empty desk, occasionally nodding symbolically in response to Reyna's words.

"Calvin, did I come here when I was little?"

Suddenly, a familiar voice broke into Zoe's ears, and she incredulously lifted her head.

Valerie suddenly spotted Calvin in her line of sight.

Somehow, reflexively, Zoe quickly lowered her head, avoiding making eye contact with Valerie.

While Zoe occasionally observed Valerie, the dishes ordered by the mother and daughter duo had already been served.

So many delicious dishes, but in Zoe's mouth, they tasted like chewing wax.

After taking a few bites, she could no longer eat.

Reyna, seeing the situation, couldn't eat anymore.

"Zoe, couldn't you eat anything outside either?"

She always thought that the nutritious meals were not tasty, so she ate very little. But now it seems that it's not the problem with the nutritious meals.

There was a problem with the body.

Reyna's heart thumped instantly.

A chill spread through her limbs.

"Zoe, after we finish this meal, let's go to the hospital and have a look."

As soon as she heard the word "hospital," the events of that day in the garden came rushing back into Zoe's mind.

She shook her head vigorously.

"No, don't go..."

"Zoe, you had to listen, you couldn't eat anything now, if you continued like this, you would suffer from malnutrition, and your illness wouldn't get better!"

Reyna's tone suddenly became serious.

It sounded like a command.

Zoe shrank her body.

But still, he didn't nod his head and expressed his unwillingness to go to the hospital in a silent way.

Reyna bent her back wearily.

One or two, why don't they listen!

Just as Zoe remained silent, out of the corner of her eye, she suddenly caught a glimpse of some movement over by Valerie.

She slightly lifted her head and looked back.

Valerie stood up and walked toward the bathroom.

Thud!

Zoe was a little excited.

She watched Valerie's straight back, her gaze intense.

"Zoe? What were you looking at?"

Reyna looked at her daughter's suddenly excited face and curiously followed her gaze.

"Mom, Mom! I'm going to the bathroom!"

In the moment Reyna turned her head, Zoe called out to her.

Sister cannot be found here by Mom.

Zoe stood up with a bit of excitement, accompanied by her increasingly strong heartbeat, and walked toward the bathroom.

She began to feel a little regretful.

Why bother following when Valerie didn't want to talk to her anymore?

Even if she had struck up a conversation with Valerie, what could she possibly have said?

What was the use of getting all worked up by herself there?

Valerie didn't like her.

The footsteps came to a sudden halt at the entrance of the bathroom.

Zoe lowered her head in dejection, stood still for a moment, and silently turned around, intending to walk back.

“Why did you follow me?”

Valerie’s voice suddenly came from behind Zoe.

She had been waiting for Zoe to come up, and she never went to the bathroom.

Since I entered the restaurant, I saw her sitting there having a meal with Reyna.

After all, this city is so small, and Calvin brought his own restaurant under Lamar.

It was specifically designed for these wealthy individuals to come back and dine.

So it was not strange for Valerie to meet him.

Did she bend her head and body down, thinking that she wouldn’t be able to see herself anymore?

“Calvin, let’s sit outside today!”

“Ah? That’s also fine.”

Originally, Calvin, who was supposed to call the waiter to tidy up the private room, heard Valerie’s words.

I said a word to the waiter, and then followed Valerie to an empty table.

“Why do you want to eat in the lobby today? I thought you didn’t like noisy places.”

“Well, then I also have to get used to it. The next task is very likely to be in a noisy place , right? And I also have to observe the surroundings.”

So that’s the reason!

Calvin blinked his eyes.

“Silly girl! Just focus on eating, don’t overthink about the task! We are here, don’t ignore us.

With a helpless smile, Calvin tapped Valerie’s forehead and took the menu to start ordering.

And Valerie also truly felt the gaze from Zoe.

How could I ignore such a hot gaze!

Find a suitable time to talk to her and make things clear.

So I waited for Zoe to come up by herself.

Valerie looked at Zoe seriously.

Her brows furrowed.

Why does it feel a little different from the last time we met?

From the beginning until now, I could only see the top of her hair, I haven’t seen her face.

Valerie sighed as she observed the person, who was keeping their head down and not daring to speak.

“No, it wasn’t me following you. My mom brought me here today to eat, she said the food here is delicious and asked me to eat a little more...”

Valerie looked Zoe up and down,

How did you become so thin?

“Raise your head and look at me.”

Zoe’s body trembled for a while. She lifted her head and locked eyes with Valerie.

But after a second of eye contact, the gaze became uncertain.

She didn’t dare to make eye contact with Valerie at all.

Pale face, dark circles under the eyes, sunken cheeks due to thinness and prominent cheekbones, with slightly protruding eyeballs.

There was hardly any good meat on his whole body.

The pocket was bulging, it should have been her lifesaving medicine.

Has the Horton family already suppressed her to this extent?

Recalling the scene at the Horton family, Valerie felt very likely. search the website to access chapters of novels early and in the highest quality.

“Ms. Horton, as an outsider, if I may interject, I don’t know how you feel about your own home, but even if you didn’t like it anymore.”

You couldn’t make fun of your own body either.

Do you want to continue living sickly like this in the Horton family for the rest of your life, or do you plan to use the Horton family's resources to cure your body and then leave the house as an adult to obtain what you want?

These two, I shouldn't have to say, you yourself also know which one is better, right?

Perhaps it was that one dream, after severing ties with the Horton family.

Facing Zoe like this, Valerie couldn't muster any sympathy or emotions.

I could only give her some advice like this.

After all, setting aside the identity of Ms. Horton.

This is at least a human life.

Zoe opened her eyes wide and listened to the words Valerie was saying to her.

My heart was in turmoil.

It was not the content she said that was overwhelming, but Valerie was willing to talk to her! She even gave her advice!

"I, I got it, thank you... Ms. Bowman!"

Zoe's heart warmed as her restless hands fidgeted with each other's fingers.

Her face became a little flushed due to excitement.

I saw enough, and Valerie also washed her hands and left.

Before leaving, she turned her head and looked at Zoe beside her. She saw Zoe so thin that her ribs were visible, and she frowned.

“Remember to have a good meal when you go back.”

After saying it, he left without hesitation, without any pause.

But standing in place, Zoe felt warm bubbles of color swirling around her.
