Chapter 36 Hello, I Am Tucker

Valerie accepted Bruce's invitation.

Then she would only need to wait at home.

"This is perfect. When the show ends, I will make my own videos and publish them when the show is most popular."

Valerie came up with a big plan and fell asleep on the bed.

The next day, two vans slowly stopped in front of the Horton's house.

At 6:30 a.m., Valerie was still sleeping soundly.

She had no idea the show's crew reached her house.

Bruce and Jayvion were waiting at the gate.

David Arnold took his team into the villa. They had been excited to see it for days.

"This is the Horton family's villa!"

"I finally get to see it!"

"When I heard I could see this house, I decided not to take my leave! How can I miss this chance?"

They weren't sleepy this early in the morning.

David looked at his team angrily who were overly excited.

"Be quiet! Behave yourselves after we enter the house! Don't make Bruce think we are unprofessional! Understand?"

“Yes...”

The team members suddenly became quiet.

Bruce sponsored this show.

“Hi, Cutie Patooties” was run by one of his branch companies. He attached importance to it.

Bruce personally picked David’s team.

The villa’s door slowly opened, revealing Bruce and Jayvion.

“Thank you for being here. Then let’s begin.”

Bruce said to David politely and asked Jayvion to take them to Valerie’s room.

The live show was about to begin.

Before the show started, Bruce spent a lot of money advertising it. He promised his daughter would be on the show, so a lot of people were interested in it.

When the show just began, it had tens of thousands of viewers.

“I am here to see a Horton kid!”

“Geez, I am curious to see what the girl looks like.”

“The decoration... The pomp... So, they will show us the kid in the beginning?”

“The team knows what they are doing. They will show us who we want to see at first.”

The viewers stared at the live show with interest and were eager to see

Valerie.

Chapter 36 Hello, I Am Tucker

David saw what was going on in the live show and felt relieved.

“Be prepared to change the scene at any time. Tell the teams in other areas that after we take the Horton girl, we will show the other children to the viewers.”

As a middle-aged man, David was still fit and charming. He was reliable.

David was well groomed. Bruce approved of his talents and personality.

One could only be good at his work when he was good to himself.

The team members carried the cameras to Valerie’s room. They were nervous and entered the room quietly, Valerie’s small body was under the quilt, and only her small head was exposed. She was breathing quietly.

Jayvion went forward and squatted in front of her, pushing her carefully.

“Miss? Miss? Please wake up.”

“Look. They have a butler.”

“It’s the Horton family. They are all elites. How could the girl not have a butler?”

“Mr. Horton! Mr. Horton! Look at me! I want to have your children!”

“Hey, we all know what you are planning.”

Valerie slept lightly. After being pushed by Jayvion several times, she slowly opened her eyes and looked around in a daze.

“Good morning, Jayvion.”

“Good morning, Miss. Today you are going to the reality show.”

Only then did Valerie remember the show.

She looked behind and saw big cameras facing her.

She was suddenly wide awake.

“Good morning, everyone.”

Her cute voice instantly won the crew members’ hearts.

They greeted her softly.

“Good morning. We are recording a reality show.”

“The cameraman sounds like her father.”

“I will also use a soft tone to her. She is so small and adorable.”

“Perhaps she is pretending to be this way because she has been told to do so
.”

“Hey, watch your tongue. She is just a kid. Even if there is a screenplay, has she done anything wrong?”

“That’s right. Don’t be so mean.

Valerie got up and freshened up and ate breakfast as usual. She made herself look pretty and put her belongings in a small suitcase.

She skillfully packed up her toiletries, underwear, and clothes.

“She is so good at packing. She can even fold her clothes.”

“She is doing it methodically. Her suitcase is full now!”

“Perhaps she was taught to do this?”

“It shows her parents are good, and she is a quick learner.”

“What is her name?”

“They said the children would introduce themselves after they gathered.”

Bruce stood far away and watched Valerie doing this calmly in front of the cameras. She didn't need Jayvion's help and quickly got ready.

“I am ready.”

Valerie pulled her suitcase and looked up at the crew members, wearing a warm jacket.

Geez! She was so cute!

The crew led her to the van outside.

Valerie said goodbye to Jayvion and walked to the van.

She ignored Bruce who was not far away.

She didn't want to talk to him.

Bruce's face darkened, but the van left.

“Sir, let's go in. It's cold outside.”

Jayvion looked at Bruce and opened the door. Bruce sighed and walked to his room.

He worked while having the live show on.

The reality show had five teams.

Each team was from a different city.

Valerie reached the airport and saw a crowded place. She knew what was going on.

The cameraman smiled.

“Let's go over there. Your intern dad is waiting for you.”

She nodded and walked into the center of the crowd.

Tucker was wearing a bucket hat and mask. Valerie was amazed by his perfect figure.

His fans were outside the rail, looking at the handsome Tucker.

Soon, a small person walked over with a suitcase of about the same height as her.

Tucker glanced at her and finally stood up, walking to her and kneeling on one knee to reach her eye level.

“Hello, I am Tucker.”

Valerie didn't expect Tucker to get so close to her.

She immediately stopped and answered carefully.

“Hello, Tucker, I am Valerie Horton.

She spoke slowly in a sweet voice. The people staring at Tucker were attracted by her.

“Holly molly, she is so cute!”

“So, Tucker will be her dad in the show?”

“She is so polite and adorable.”

“See. She carries her own suitcase and doesn't ask for help.”

Not only the fans in the scene, but the viewers in the live show channel went crazy about it.

“Wow, Tucker is so gentle!”

“Is her name Valerie? She is so sweet!”

“She is such an angel! And she is so small. Is she 7? Is she really already 7?”

“My nephew is only 5, but he looks bigger than her...”

“So, girls are smaller, so boys need to protect us!”

“Lady, you should say that when you shop online like possessed.”

Tucker stared at Valerie for a while.

They were staring at each other.

Suddenly, Tucker reached out and took her suitcase, carrying her in his arms.

The sudden movement and height startled her, and Valerie quickly hugged his neck.

“Well, Tucker, your body...”

“I am okay. I can take this.”

Tucker stared at Valerie.

He ignored the fans' screams and walked to the boarding gate.

Valerie looked at Tucker and felt confused.

Everyone knew he didn't like children.

In her last lifetime, he never went near her.

Even if he had to stay close to her for the missions in the show, he would cover his skin well with clothes in case it touched her.

That was why everyone knew he disliked children.

So, what was going on now?

This was the first time he had seen Valerie, so why was Tucker holding her in his arms?

She was even worried for a long time after touching his neck.

But instead of putting her down, he even held her more tightly.

Valerie opened her big eyes wide and felt excited.

Even if Tucker was putting on an act, his behavior at least indicated he didn't hate her.

With that thought, her hand holding him shook slightly, and she looked at his broad shoulders.

Valerie looked like she was possessed. She carefully rested her head on his shoulder.

"Jeez, it's cute for her to do that."

"She even asked him carefully if he could do this. Does she think he is weak?"

"I think she is attached to him already."

"I can't believe it. A child is actually attached to him."

"Am I the only one wondering if Tucker really dislikes children? Why is he so nice to Valerie?"

"Is it because she is a Horton?"

"Friend, you are mean again."

The viewers started to yell at each other.

But Tucker didn't care about that.

He thought the show would make him suffer for a long time.

After all, he didn't like children or want to touch them.

He thought they were too fragile.

They were even more fragile than him.

Besides, they were stubborn.

Moreover, he had to deal with a Horton kid.

He was upset about it for days.

While waiting at the airport today, he thought about how to get along with the kid today in front of the viewers.

But when the small Valerie came to him holding a suitcase, Tucker's eyes lit up.

He found her familiar.

He didn't know why.

But he knew she was as pitiful as him...

"Hello, Tucker..."

Valerie's cute voice sounded.

He liked the girl!

He was reserved, but he would show his affection when he saw anything or anyone he liked.

That was why he had so many fans.

Kieran, who was working in the company's large office, watched the live show on his phone while dealing with documents.

He saw Valerie leaning on Tucker's shoulder with a relaxed face.

She was different when she was with Kieran.

Kieran's hands shook slightly, and he could barely hold his phone...

He felt unconvinced and uncomfortable while watching the show.

He also felt pain.

His face was gloomy,

His secretary and subordinates didn't even dare to enter his office to report work.

"What is wrong with him?"

"I don't know. He has been staring at his phone the whole morning. It seems something in it upsets him."

"Really? He never looked away? But he still got his work done."

The employees at the office door didn't dare to walk forward.

Finally, they played Rock-Paper-Scissors to decide who should enter the office.

Well, it was the poor secretary again.

He took everyone's charts and documents helplessly, glaring at them.

"You need to buy me dinner after this!"

"Rest assured! We will!"

The other employees were cheerful and watched as he entered the battlefield.

"Well, Mr. Horton, these are the documents and information you need to approve today."

Kieran didn't even look up and kept staring at his phone.

The secretary was curious and leaned to Kieran, peeking at his phone while putting down the files.

He wanted to know what kept Kieran's attention for so long.

The secretary looked over and found the phone screen black.

He slowly turned his head to look at Kieran and saw him staring at himself gloomily.

The secretary's heart skipped a beat...

"Well, sir, these are the reports and documents you need to approve..."

The secretary quickly straightened his back and handed the files to Kieran respectfully.

Kieran took them and spoke while reading them...

"Felipe, the project I told you about needs a director now. Do you want to give it a try?"

Felipe Wood shook all over.

"Sir, I think I need to keep learning from you! If the project succeeds, the company can get billions of dollars. Are you sure you want to entrust it to me?"

Felipe's voice trailed off...

After all, Felipe had been in charge of a bigger project, so he shouldn't be afraid to take the new one.

Valerie had a sound sleep on the plane.

Tucker was reading the script while observing Valerie. He occasionally put the script aside to cover Valerie with a blanket.

He turned his head to Valerie from time to time to look at her round cheeks. Sometimes, he couldn't help but poke at her cheek.

The photographer watched this and recorded these lovely moments with his phone.

When the live stream came to an end, these moments would be added to the variety show when the videos were edited.

The photographer was in his forties. Not as elegant as David, he seemed to experience a lot.

He couldn't help smiling when he watched this.

Tucker could feel that the photographer was recording this, but he didn't care.

He felt the numbness in his shoulder.

Valerie leaned against his shoulder carefully.

This made Tucker have mixed feelings.

He felt that Valerie was different from the boys in his family.

He now could understand why his family desired a baby girl.

However...

Chapter 36 Start Recording

Tucker stared at Valerie confusedly.

He wondered what she had experienced so that such a little girl had so many worries.

Thinking too much gave Tucker a little headache. He gave up reading the script and closed his eyes to sleep.

The location was chosen in a small town surrounded by water, three hours away from Capstead by plane.

The scenery there was quite wonderful.

As a tourist spot, the town was definitely a place of history.

The environment here was more natural.

The crew must make up their mind to bring everyone here.

How could those spoiled children survive in such a place?

When the surroundings were shown in the live stream, all netizens were surprised.

“My wife used to live in such a mud hut.”

“Those houses are the same as my grandma’s. I’m from the countryside. Thus, I’m used to this. I can’t imagine that those kids could survive here.”

“Is there anyone curious about Valerie’s reaction to this? I’m dying for her response.”

“Me too.”

The audience was expecting what would happen.

The recorded site had been built well.

This house was comparably a nice one in the small town.

The equipment inside was modern, which was good enough for ordinary people.

People of the crew had set up the studio and arranged the task scenes well, waiting for those five teams to come.

It was 1 p.m.

Someone arrived at the house.

She wore a white place dress and pulled a vintage suitcase.

Her long, blonde hair cascaded down like a waterfall.

Her hair seemed to be shining.

People who looked at her would feel that their eyes were purified.

She gave others a refreshing sense.

“Our Hallie is here!”

“She is so pretty!”

“Her appearance removed all my worries.”

“Hallie must be gentle to kids.”

“I think so! Hallie is such a gentle goddess!”

All her fans were generously giving their compliments when Hallie showed up.

Her name was Hallie Sutton.

She was 24.

Chapter 38 Start Recording

After playing the role of a lady in a history drama, she became popular with looks-obsessed ones because she was both aloof and pretty.

By virtue of this popularity, her agent signed a contract for a variety show.

Hallie was okay with this. She just followed the arrangement.

Babysit kids?

If the kids were naughty, she would go cold. Anyway, they were not her kids.

Kids should learn their lessons when it was necessary.

With this attitude, Hallie stepped into the recorded site of “Hi, Cutie Patooties“.

“Hello. Hallie. You’re the first one to arrive here. Now we need to check your suitcase.”

The staff at the door immediately stepped forward intending to take her suitcase.

“Oh... Okay. But don’t take away my snacks.”

The staff didn’t know what to say.

“Ha ha, Hallie is so cute!”

“Since you told them that snacks are in your suitcase, they would definitely be taken away!”

“How could this be so funny?”

“Hallie looks quite smart in the drama. Why is she a little silly in reality?”

Chapter 38 Start Recording

“Hallie, keep your cool image! Don’t label yourself a silly girl!”

Her fans in the livestream panicked.

There seemed to be something wrong.

The staff stared at her eyes, confused.

Then they opened her suitcase and found lots of stuff that were forbidden.

“Sorry, I can’t help laughing.”

“It’s over, my Hallie.”

“Those snacks are reasonable. Why is there a shovel? Does she think that she will go dig for wild vegetables?”

“There is also a water gun!”

“Hallie, you are not here for vacation...”

Hallie was watching when all her stuff was unmercifully taken out...

At last, a crack appeared in her frozen expression.

“Well, the water gun... and that shovel...”

Hallie pouted.

She squatted. When one item was taken out, she secretly picked one up and hid it in her pockets.

What she didn’t know was that the cameras captured all of these.

When Hallie’s movements amused everyone, there was some noise from the door.

Then all attention was paid to the door. Netizens were expecting the next one.

“Is this the place?”

A baby’s bright voice came into everyone’s cars.

A kid arrived here.

It was a boy's voice. He, pulling his beetle suitcase, was politely asking the photographer behind him.

With the photographer's guide, he finally arrived at the house.

Carlo Warner was 4 years old. His cheeks were red. His forehead was covered with sweat.

Gasping for air, he trudged into the courtyard.

The staff who were checking Hallie's suitcase immediately took back the items she had hidden.

Then those items were thrown into a plastic box.

Hallie lost in the battle with the staff.

"Welcome, boy! Are you tired? Would you like some water?"

After dealing with Hallie's suitcase, the staff smiled to welcome Carlo.

Carlo, who was still gasping for air, looked up at the staff.

"Thank you. I have my own bottle. My mom gave it to me!"

The chubby Carlo immediately took off his bag to take out his little bottle.

He began to drink.

As he drank, his belly gradually bulged out.

"His curly hair, his belly, and his chubby cheeks are all adorable."

"I like him! If possible, I really want to touch his cheek."

"I do know that Hallie would make a move!"

“She is different from her original image.”

When netizens were expressing their love for Carlo, Hallie, who was staring at Carlo, suddenly reached out her hand to poke his cheek.

“It feels so soft.”

Carlo, who was drinking water, felt the familiar touch. He turned to look at Hallie.

“I’m drinking water. I can’t drink when you poke my face.”

“I’m sorry.”

Hallie put down her hand. She was still squatting aside to watch Carlo drinking water.

Gradually, all the members arrived.

They were sort of reserved at the first meeting. Tucker and Valerie were the last ones to arrive.

All were here.

“Well, when all the suitcases are checked, I’ll introduce this place to you.”

Seeing that everyone was here, David showed up. He started explaining everything and issuing assignments.

“Do you know which kid will be your teammate before coming here?”

Everyone had found their partner. Now, they stood together.

There were supposed to be five groups. Now there were only four.

“Welcome to ‘Hi, Cutie Patooties’! I’m the director David Arnold. Just call me David.”

“Hello. David.”

Four kids greeted him.

Seeing that the kids were all polite, their partners felt proud.

It took a moment for Valerie to react. Then she followed the other kids and greeted David. She kept observing the other kids to follow them.

After all, she was a 7-year-old girl now.

Tucker felt her unease. He rubbed her hair and bent down.

“It’s fine. Do whatever you want.”

Valerie gratefully looked at Tucker. She felt relaxed when she found that there was someone for her to rely on.

David replied with a smile and then continued.

“Before the task begins, let’s all introduce ourselves. One kid felt unwell. Thus, we changed from five pairs to four. Now, who is the first one to make a self-introduction?”

They looked at each other. Then Soren Cheney who was slightly older than others said with a smile.

“Well, let’s go from the pair with the oldest child.”

They all looked at Ada, who looked the most mature.

With bunches, she confidently made a self-introduction.

“Hello, everyone. I’m Ada Olson, 8 years old. I’m a second-year primary school student...”

Since Ada made a good start, others felt relaxed and began to introduce themselves.

Tucker was a 25-year-old actor, whose partner was Valerie, 7 years old.

Hallie was a 24-year-old actress, whose partner was Carlo, 4 years old.

Soren was a 31-year-old actor and singer, whose partner was Selina Hyde, 3 years old.

Trevin Stanton was a 22-year-old trainee of a boy band, whose partner was Ada, 8 years old.

“Trevin? How could you babysit a child? You are still like a child!”

“He is just fine. At least, he is with Ada. Look at Soren. He is with a 3-year-old child who is possibly not weaned!”

“Is it because he is the oldest?”

“I’m curious about what will happen to Hallie and Carlo. There must be lots of interesting things.”

“Well, my goddess will lose her reserved image...”

After everyone finished the self-introduction, David asked the staff to take one box.

Chapter 38 Start Recording

All attention was attracted, especially Carlo and Selina.

Their faces showed their strong desire to open the box.

David took out four pictures from the red box.

They were pictures of different houses.

Some were well-decorated, clean, and comfortable.

Some were the shabbiest mud huts.

Those in show business were all smart.

How could they not know what David wanted to do?

They would choose the places to live.

All looked at the shabby house and prayed not to get this one.

And Valerie was the calmest.

This house was not a burden to her. At least, there were tables and beds.

In her shelter, even the bed was made piece by piece.

It leaked on rainy days. And the wind blew inside in winter.

Comparably, the mud hut was good enough.

Tucker, who stood behind Valerie, felt somewhat embarrassed.

Tucker still remained composed on the surface.

Yet, his insides contracted with a sudden excitement.

Valerie looked quite gentle, pretty, and innocent.

She had been well-raised these days, so her face got a little fat and looked more fair-skinned.

And the clothes she was wearing were also bought by Bruce for her to do the show.

They weren't really designer clothes. After all, Valerie had to come to the countryside. It would be a pity if the clothes got stained.

Both Valerie and Tucker had a small microphone clipped to their collars.

Their whispers were all recorded.

"Oh my! Valerie is so sweet!"

"Ha-ha-ha! She is so impressive! I like her!"

"Holy smoke! If I have such a daughter or sister, I'll burst with joy."

"I love daughters. I decided to have another child with my wife!"

"The one who wants to have another child, be careful!"

The netizens' hearts all melted due to Valerie's words.

Tucker, who liked Valerie a lot, of course, was touched too.

Hearing her words, he felt a bit relieved.

Valerie was a bit amused by Tucker's question.

It looked like Tucker also knew that he had somewhat bad luck.

Valerie went forward and held his hand, signaling him not to feel stressed.

Her soft hand just flipped Tucker's heart.

He gently held Valerie's hand.

"OK, as you can see, this photo is of the house you're gonna stay in. It looks quite clean, and it's the best of all houses. Look at the back of the photo. It's number two."

David showed the number behind the photo of the modern house. The kids also understood they were supposed to draw a number and pick the house they would stay in.

"Then, you should know the best house is the number two. We won't show the numbers of other houses. After you each pick a number, we'll announce the result then."

David put the lucky draw box in front of all.

The four teams looked at each other. None of them dared to go forward and draw a number first.

Soren noticed the awkward situation and then smiled gently.

He went forward and held Selina in his arms, who was still a bit shy.

"Just now, when we did the self-introduction, we introduced ourselves from the oldest to the youngest. Now, let's draw the numbers from the youngest to the oldest. I'll take Selina to draw a number first. OK?"

Chapter 39 Red La

"Of course!"

Trevin immediately replied and then stepped back with Ada.

David nodded and then shook the box before letting Soren take Selina forward.

Selina didn't understand what had happened, but she knew that she was going to draw a lottery.

She became excited all at once.

Leaning forward. Selina intended to reach into the hole and draw a number.

Soren held her carefully so that she could get closer to the lottery draw box.

She rummaged through the box and finally got a ball.

"OK. Selina picked this one."

Soren held Selina's hand and slowly walked back to their seats.

"Has Soren not taken care of a child before?"

"What kind of question is that? You should ask like this. Does Soren really have no child?"

"I want to know the answer too. He's doing even better than me, and I've already got a child!"

"Well, I'm showing this to my husband. And I just hit him."

Not only the netizens thought this way, but also the people present all had the same feeling.

After Carlo picked a number, it was finally Valerie's turn. She held

Seeing that Valerie took out a ball, Tucker swallowed.

The last ball went to Ada.

The balls were all wrapped with red paper so that the numbers wouldn't be seen directly.

"Alright. Everyone has got a ball. Now, you may tear off the paper and see what number you've got!"

"I'm a bit nervous."

"Me too."

Valerie shrugged resignedly and tore off the red paper under everyone's expectant gaze.

The number one came to everyone's vision.

Valerie and Tucker had a bad feeling.

David still looked calm. No one could tell whether the number signified good or bad. So, they were still quite nervous, afraid that they would get the mud hut.

"Ha-ha, everyone just looked at Tucker. That was so hilarious."

"I've recorded that scene and made it an emoji."

"Got it. It's the sense of embarrassment when everyone just looks at you."

"So, Tucker has just been confirmed as the king of bad luck?"

When everyone tore off the paper, David finally announced the result with a smile.

"OK. Now, only two houses are left. Let's see which one is the mud hut..."

Everyone held their breath and waited for David to reverse the situation.

Congratulations to Tucker! He got the number one, the mud hut!"

That was quite a shock!

"Oh my, Tucker really got it!"

"I wanna laugh, but I just can't..."

"I've got to say Tucker's bad luck is too strong..."

"I'm sorry for Valerie. She has to suffer with Tucker now."

"Well, it's really hard to tell what will happen then..."

Tucker thought his having bad luck was merely a personal setting to draw the audience's attention, but it turned out to be so aligned with reality...

He looked at Valerie with an apologetic expression and then saw Valerie's gentle smile.

In the Fisher’s house, Galen, who was watching the variety show, fixed his eyes on Valerie without a blink, following every move of Valerie.

When Tucker hugged Valerie, patting her on the shoulder, Galen stood

1. up.

“Is this girl from the Horton family?”

Galen asked the butler beside him, with his eyes twinkling.

“Yes, Mr. Fisher. This is the eldest daughter of the Horton family. Her name is Valerie. She participated in the variety show with Mr. Tucker this time.”

The butler respectfully stood aside, informing Galen seriously about it.

After getting the answer, Galen sat back again.

Watching his grandson hug Valerie, he felt his fingers itch.

“Send Tucker a message, asking him if he can bring the girl back with him when this variety show is over and he has time to go home.”

The butler raised his eyebrow slightly.

He thought. “It seems that Mr. Fisher likes this girl.”

The Fisher family had no girl, but all boys.

Maybe the Fisher family was a little tired of seeing boys every day.

So, they gradually came up with the idea of having a girl.

This idea was even more intense on Galen.

He even promised to give the daughters-in-law of the Fisher family a big gift if any of them gave birth to a girl.

The daughters-in-law were so excited about it that they worked very hard with their husband for a baby girl every day...

As a result, Derek was born...

So Galen was about to give up.

But today, when Galen saw Valerie, his rock-solid-like heart was immediately shaken, trembling.

What attracted him was not only Valerie's lovable and sensible character.

More importantly, it was the look in her eyes.

It was exactly the same as what Calvin had mentioned before...

The kid of the Horton family didn't look simple at all.

This made Galen more curious.

After the butler said yes, he immediately turned to text Tucker a phone message as told by Galen and asked Tucker to reply when he finished this episode livestream.

"Sir, I've informed Mr. Tucker as you told. Just wait for Mr. Tucker to receive and reply to it."

Galen nodded. He continued to watch the variety show while having tea, and occasionally, like the netizens in the livestreaming room, Galen gave a "like" by tapping the interface with his index finger.

When he felt tired, he would call the butler to continue to do it.

In the town, the four partners had all got their room keys. David began to assign them tasks.

"For the sake of your first time to come here, our production crew have to show kindness to you. So, today's task is to spend this week well with the initial capital of 30 dollars given by the crew, and at the end of the week, make sure to have the children learn a skill. We will arrange a drama show for the children according to the skills you have taught them."

Was the crew about making things difficult for them?

Was this what David said “show kindness for the sake of their first coming here”?

Thirty dollars a week was not a problem for common people to live for a week.

However, the children needed supplemental nutrition and daily living expenses, as well as medical expenses in case they were injured or caught a cold.

Thirty dollars?

It was far beyond enough.

And with these limited resources, they would have to teach the children a skill. How?

A drama show?

Did it mean that the children were going straight to musical theatre?

Sure enough, after David said that, the four adults' expressions all changed with a little confusion.

However, the top priority was to take the kids to their rooms respectively to rest well and do clean-up.

Then, everyone began to go to their homes according to the indicated addresses.

Tucker took the car arranged by the crew with Valerie, heading for the mud hut, followed by a car that Soren and Selina took.

The cars drove farther and farther, even away from the downtown, and began to gather on the edge of the district.

Valerie looked out of the window. Looking at the green plants outside, there was a trace of calmness in her heart inexplicably.

She opened the window and propped her elbows on the edge, just watching like that.

Tucker turned to look at Valerie and pulled her back.

Then he shut the car window up a little.

“It’s getting cold. You’ll catch a cold if you blow on like this.”

“Oh, gosh! he is so gentle.”

“Tucker finally begins to understand.”

“Tsk, tsk, I can see such a gentle Tucker in my lifetime!

“I will die without regret...”

“Well, I’m a little envious of Valerie. I wish to turn into Valerie right now.”

“Hey, be clear-minded.”

Female fans kept stomping their feet with excitement when they saw the new image of Tucker which they had never seen before.

Their faces were flushed with excitement.

The car was slowly moving forward. Soon, it arrived at the destination, an old district in a town.

It was very close to the edge of the countryside.

Soren got out of the car earlier with Selina and came to a slightly better residential area.

But the situation was not so good for Tucker and Valerie.

This mud hut looked even more shabby than that in the picture.

It looked a little skewed outside.

The facilities inside were the oldest ones.

And there was only a wooden bed, with the quilts neatly stacked on it

However, there were necessities in the house, and it had been cleaned

1. up.

The owner of this house welcomed the guests in his or her own way.

It must be an old man or old woman who lived in a house like this.

The interior structure of the house also looked okay.

It was so much better than the shed Valerie lived in.

Valerie's eyes lit up.

But Tucker's eyes were dull.

Tucker thought, "How can we live here?"

It doesn't matter to me, for I can put up with it.

But I don't know how to cook or do laundry...

What to do?"

For the first time, Tucker felt confused and stressed.

He did not think of facing so many problems previously, and now these realistic problems were coming, which made Tucker feel a certain pressure.

For a moment, he had no idea where to put the luggage in his hands.
