

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 46 -

Chapter 46 Sell Vegetables

After Valerie woke up, her body was still a bit relaxed, and she didn't dare to move a muscle all of a sudden.

The body was warm, and there was a jacket on the blanket.

I woke up in the middle of the night last night and it was a bit cold. However, later on, I started feeling a bit warm and went back to sleep.

Was this warm source Tucker's embrace?

Tucker's sleep was light, and he felt Valerie wake up. He immediately opened his eyes.

I covered Valerie's blanket with my hand, preventing her from being invaded by the cold air.

"Covered up, it was a bit cold in the morning."

Tucker's voice was hoarse as he whispered to Valerie.

Valerie's body gradually relaxed, still a bit stiff.

The feeling of being taken care of early in the morning deeply touched Valerie.

She nestled in the blanket, feeling the lingering warmth.

Let your brain gradually recover and become clear-headed.

Voices gradually came from outside the mud hut.

The two of them finally got up leisurely.

Chapter to set PANTANIK

40 Vouchers

Tucker got out of bed first and wrapped Valerie up like a dumpling.

He went to the luggage area and took out the clothes they needed to wear today.

Hmm. I could see my brother taking care of the children so early in the morning

I came over from Trevin's, curious about what Tucker was like with the kids.

"Upstairs, tell me, what prompted you to come over here?"

When Trevin was braiding Ada's hair, he accidentally pulled out a strand of hair... and the braid turned out crooked and twisted.

Hahaha! Really? I will go and see it now!

As expected, the early bird catches the worm. It's so funny to see this happening early in the morning.

At five or six o'clock, some netizens had already woken up, but the number of people was not excessively high.

The two people on this side of the mud hut brushed their teeth and washed up harmoniously, just finished getting dressed.

A staff member arrived at their home.

Holding a mission card in hand.

"Good morning, this is your task for today. There will be additional rewards upon completion of the task."

Extra reward?

The two of them exchanged a glance and curiously took the task card.

140 Vouchers

"Go and find the old lady corresponding to the task card, and help her sell all the vegetables for the day."

Selling vegetables?

“Wow, selling vegetables, hahaha.”

“Hey, I wonder what they would be like selling vegetables.”

“I also wanted to see. It was quite far from here, with not many young people around, but everyone seemed to have a strong reaction to Soren.”

“Tsk. are you saying Soren, old man?”

Speaking of Soren, I just went to Soren’s livestream over there. Their morning task was to follow an old man for a day, herding and driving

COWS.

“This is suitable for Selina.”

Carlo and Hallie went to dig lotus roots...

Trevin went to the convenience store with Ada and became the boss for a day

.

In the live broadcast room, they revealed to each other what they were going to do, and everyone had an idea in their minds.

Tucker looked at the task with some difficulty. To be honest, after coming to this variety show, many things were done for the first time.

This time, buying groceries was once again something I had never done before.

Just as he was struggling, Valerie took hold of his hand.

Chapter 46 Sell Vegetables

40 Vouchers

“Let’s go, Daddy. Let’s cheer together today too.”

Ahhhh! Help! Give me a daughter like this!

How did the Horton Group educate their children?

“Similarly, when I see my own child, I would feel a bit disgusted.”

“Tsk tsk tsk, I knew it was for Tucker’s benefit. I have a feeling that Valerie is definitely responsible for today’s vegetable selling process.”

There was a reason, and the picture started to appear.

The netizens watched Valerie encouraging Tucker, and the two of them went out together to prepare to sell vegetables. It’s needless to say how warm their hearts were.

The number of people in the live broadcast room also increased. After everyone understood today’s task, they curiously stayed in each pair’s live broadcast room to see what they would do.

At 6:30 in the morning, the small market was already bustling with people selling vegetables, no less crowded than during the daytime.

The photographer behind Valerie and her group made the people here stop and watch.

The two of them were still earnestly searching for the old lady in the mission photo.

But it’s really hard to find elderly who sell vegetables in such a vast sea of people...

Valerie and Tucker were a bit perplexed...

“Daddy, let’s ask the elderly over here where the old lady in the photo is.”

40 Vouchers

“Well, that’s the only way.”

The two of them had a brief discussion and immediately rushed toward a stall to inquire about the specific location of the old lady in the photo.

“Ma’am, do you know where this old lady sells vegetables?”

Valerie came forward with a photo in hand to a kind and gentle old lady.

The old lady squinted her small eyes and saw Valerie, a tiny child, approaching her and asking for help. Her eyebrows almost flew up.

Make yourself look more amiable.

Let me see... Oh, I know, you guys keep walking straight and when you see the biggest vegetable stall, that's hers. She's called Wilma Gill."

Tucker and Valerie's eyes lit up.

"Thank you, Ma'am! Thank you!"

Sincerely thanking the old lady, Tucker directly picked up Valerie and quickened his pace as he walked forward.

Sure enough, after a while, they saw the largest vegetable stall. An old lady was sitting there, arranging her vegetables.

"Wilma! Hello, we came today to help you sell vegetables together."

After Tucker arrived at his destination, he immediately greeted the old lady with grey hair in front of him.

Wilma, who was arranging the veggies, turned her head and looked at Tucker expressionlessly.

Chapter 46 Sell Vegetables

40 (fouchers

"Here you are, you're a bit late. I've already started setting up the stall, quickly go to the back and put on an apron."

Wilma scolded Tucker slightly with a hint of dialect accent, but she stopped saying much after she looked at Valerie in her arms.

Valerie was put down by Tucker, and she immediately went to the back to pick up an apron.

But the aprons here are only available in adult sizes.

The little girl could only clumsily fold it in half and stuff the excess into the collar.

Just as she was struggling to tie the knot behind her, her apron was suddenly pulled off.

The next second, a brand new, pink and tender little apron hung on her.

Turning her head, she saw Wilma bending over to tie a bow for her.

“Help your father well.”

Wilma had no excessive expression on her face, but she gently reminded Valerie.

“Wilma has a cold face but a warm heart.”

Was very good to the child.

This apron looks like it was just bought.

“It seems that Wilma is very kind.”

The netizens in the live broadcast room watched Wilma’s actions and immediately typed two words.

Sell Vegetables

40 Vosberg

Tsundere.

Valerie nodded her head and walked toward Tucker, who was learning how to weigh something.

“Daddy, I learned with you.”

Actually, Valerie had already used this in her previous life.

And she was also working at the fresh market for a period of time.

Seeing this familiar weighing machine now, her fingers itched a little.

She wanted to see if she still had what it takes.

4.2/5 - (4 votes)

Post Views: 42

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 47 -

Chapter 47 Bring Her Back

A big one and a small one stood together, listening to Wilma telling them about the usage of a weighing scale.

Tucker furrowed his brow, carefully watching Wilma's technique, silently reciting the steps in his mind

Finally, after the fourth round of teaching, I was able to grasp the specific operations.

Valerie was eager to try, and Wilma glanced at Valerie, giving up her own seat for her.

Valerie stepped forward and slowly lit the method that Wilma had just taught them, pretending that she already knew how to do it, and passed it smoothly in one go.

Tucker looked at Valerie with a complicated expression, then glanced at his own hand.

Hahaha, our brother at home started to doubt his life.

I laughed so hard at Valerie's performance yesterday, which laid the foundation for her taking care of Tucker afterwards.

"Tsk tsk, look at their techniques, Valerie's technique is clearly more skilled than Tucker's."

"Ah? Did Valerie do this too?"

It's not impossible either. Look at how skilled she is in cooking and buying groceries. She seems to have used his weighing scale before.

Chapter 47 Bring Her Back

40 You her

I thought so too.

When netizens saw Tucker's expression, they mercilessly started mocking him.

Wilma also looked up and involuntarily glanced at Tucker.

But she didn't say anything. She just gave Tucker a push.

"Okay, go over there and work."

Standing directly in front of the vegetable stall, Tucker instantly felt the gazes coming from all directions.

The crowd curiously sized up the handsome guy in front of them, as well as Valerie standing by his side.

The surroundings of this stall were filled with cameras, and no one dared to approach and make a purchase.

There were not many customers at the large vegetable stall, unlike other randomly placed stalls.

It was very quiet and desolate here.

Wilma was arranged to stand aside and watch them operate, without being able to say a word, only serving as an assistant.

Tucker and Valerie immediately found themselves in an awkward situation.

Valerie looked around, everyone was buying and watching at the same time.

The person from this place, she was aware that she wouldn't be the first one to step forward when others were not aware.

She jumped off her little stool and began searching for someone to start with.

Tucker wanted to stop her, but as Valerie left, he became alone!

He was a little embarrassed!

49 Norlan

The little child, wearing a pink apron, walked with small steps through the crowd.

Valerie's PD quickly followed her forward.

She kept looking at the person who was easy to talk to and was about to buy groceries.

The bright gaze swept through the crowd and finally settled on a middle-aged woman who was dressed appropriately and full of energy. "Valerie!"

"Ma'am, good morning."

The woman who was stopped by Valerie was immediately attracted. She slightly bent over, with a kind smile, softened her tone, and had stars in her eyes.

"Hey, good morning, kids. Is there something you need?"

The woman naturally noticed the camera next to Valerie and adjusted her expression and posture.

An opportunity!

She hurriedly went forward and grabbed the hand of the woman, not letting go.

"Ma'am, were you planning to buy groceries? Could you come to

40 Vouchers

Wilma's place to buy them?"

The woman raised her eyebrows, this little girl didn't let go of her hand, determined to pull herself over.

The camera was still recording here, and early in the morning there were such adorable children. The woman also followed Valerie with a smiling face.

Sure enough, after walking a few steps, she saw that the largest vegetable stall, as usual, was already crowded with recording personnel, and there were many people watching around.

Valerie huffed and puffed as she dragged the person who had come so far to the stall.

"Ma'am, this is homegrown. Please have a look and see if there is anything you are looking for."

The woman became more graceful in her movements under the gaze of the crowd.

She smiled and selected the dishes she wanted under Valerie's guidance.

At this moment, Valerie shouted again to the outside.

"Everyone! The vegetables in our house were all fresh! You are welcome to come!"

There was one person who took the lead, and then another one came up, one after another.

The people at the stall started to become crowded.

I said it! We still have to rely on Valerie!

Chapter 47 Bring Her Back

40 Vouchers

This child indeed came over to benefit Tucker.

She also knew how to attract customers, hahaha.

This sweet voice really works wonders, and it even holds your hand and walks with you. If it were me, I wouldn't be able to refuse.

The stalls suddenly became busy, and everyone was jostling to choose the dishes they wanted.

Tucker was a bit flustered and made several mistakes along the way.

Wilma stood by and helped with the food packaging, while out of the corner of her eye, she watched Tucker clumsily fumbling. She immediately turned her head and looked at Valerie, who was handing paper bags to the customers.

“Miss, you go and calculate, ask your father to come forward.”

“Okay, Wilma,” he said.

Valerie returned to the state she was in when she worked in her previous life, so she felt very natural.

I didn't fully realize what Wilma had just said.

Even those who went out to buy groceries started to become a little curious.

“Hey! Could this little girl do it?”

“Interesting! What if we made a mistake?”

The crowd continued to grow, time was running out, and Valerie also jumped right in.

The skilled and steady technique made their eyes widen.

40 Vouchers

After everyone finished buying groceries, those who had free time didn't leave and just stood by, watching.

At half past seven in the morning, Wilma's vegetable stall was the place that caught everyone's attention.

There were more and more people, and the vegetables on the stalls became fewer and fewer

Tucker glanced at Valerie, who was skillfully counting money for everyone. He had a lot to say in his mind, but he still kept his mouth shut.

Ask again after it's over.

At the same time, Reese, who had already gotten up early, and Bruce, both coincidentally started watching the live stream.

When Reese saw Valerie going out to find someone to beg for groceries.

He directly pushed Bruce.

“Hurry up and bring it back!! Look at yourself, how disgraceful!”

“Dad...”

Before Bruce finished speaking, Reese's tone was even more aggressive than the previous sentence.

“If it were up to you to sell vegetables! Take a look at yourself and see if you are willing!”

The meaning of Reese's words was clearly a threat to Bruce.

If Valerie was not brought back home, then he would be the next vegetable seller.

Chapter 47 Bring Her Back

40 Novchata.

But Bruce, who has always lived a privileged life, has never done such a thing

.

He could only furrow his brow and explain to Reese.

“Dad, now the majority of netizens are saying that Valerie is very good, they say she is very sensible in handling things. If you were to bring her back at this time, what would others think? Would they say that we, the Horton family, are playing tricks?”

Indeed, the online community has unanimously praised Valerie, and the evaluation of the Horton family has also been on the rise.

Reese closed his mouth angrily as he watched everyone praising Valerie, and in the end, he still kept his mouth shut.

“After this episode is over! Bring her back immediately!!!! If there is another situation like this next time, if you let her go again, don’t come back!”

The Horton family’s reputation could not be associated with any of these!

Bruce’s eyebrows furrowed tightly all of a sudden.

I clenched the phone in my hand but still didn’t say anything.

5/5 - (2 votes)

Post Views: 39

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 48 -

Chapter 48 His Gentleness

If Valerie knew about Reese’s idea, she would have definitely rolled her eyes.

When Zoe caught the loach on TV, they praised Zoe for becoming skillful and sensible.

They said she was brave!

What about now?

I was just selling vegetables and yet I was scolded and criticized like this.

The difference in treatment should not be too severe.

The vegetables on the vegetable stall were almost sold out around noon.

“Congratulations! You completed today’s task!”

After the staff members confirmed with Wilma, they looked at the two exhausted and sweaty individuals with smiles on their faces.

Tucker and Valerie relaxed for a moment and took a long breath.

The two people looked at each other and smiled, then they high-fived each other.

Wilma also rarely smiled. She took out the money she earned from selling vegetables today and handed two bills to the two of them.

“This is the result of your labor today.”

40 Bouches

The two of them happily took the two banknotes.

Looking at the staff with confusion, I asked if these two can be taken.

The staff hadn't said anything yet, but Wilma directly stuffed it into Tucker's pocket.

“Take it! Who works without getting paid! Buy some good food for the little girl! Look at how thin she is!”

The proud

Wilma spoke so much for the first time, and she felt a little embarrassed. After stuffing the money, she went to tidy up her things.

The two of them completed their tasks, so they returned first and had a good rest.

Tucker took off his apron and scooped up Valerie in his arms, striding out with big steps.

Not having completed the task, Tucker's face looked a bit serious.

Valerie

was quite sensitive and she noticed something off about Tucker, which made her feel a bit uneasy.

Approach Tucker cautiously.

The two of them returned to the mud hut in silence.

What happened? Why does it feel a little off?

I also felt it, Valerie was scared.

What happened to Tucker? Did he discover something?

Hmm... I think it's better to tell the child a little bit and reveal some information, otherwise it's easy to be misunderstood.

Yeah, I found it strange too, let alone children.

Chapter 48 His Gentleness

40 Vouchers

And Valerie is not as confident as we thought. Look at her now, she doesn't even dare to move.

The people in the live broadcast room also sensed something amiss between the two of them, and they were discussing it below.

Tucker held Valerie tightly, and he could naturally feel the stiffness in the little girl's body in his arms.

But he still didn't speak...

Back in the cabin, the staff members were too afraid to say anything as they watched Tucker sit on the edge of the bed, holding Valerie and placing her on his lap.

"Valerie, I had something to tell you."

"Umm... Okay, Daddy."

Valerie's heart thumped loudly.

After she finished work, she calmed down and then realized that she had done many things that were not suitable for a seven-year-old child while selling vegetables.

I didn't know what I was panicking about.

She reflexively remembered the members of the Horton family, who only wore such serious expressions when criticizing and reprimanding themselves.

Tucker had become milder, but Valerie still felt a little scared deep down.

She was too nervous, and the timidity and gradually darkening light in her eyes made Tucker even more uneasy.

Chapter 48 His Gentleness

40 Nouchers

He reached out and grabbed Valerie's icy cold hands.

A tremor ran through my heart.

"Valerie, you did exceptionally well today. You helped me find someone, and our weighing machine worked even better than mine. In my eyes, and in every one else's eyes, you truly are an impressive child."

Valerie's nervousness ceased.

Is this praising someone?

Why does the atmosphere of praising people have to be so serious?

She blinked her eyes in confusion, looking at Tucker.

Tucker's serious face looked at her innocent eyes, resembling a deer, and he chuckled softly.

His fair and slender fingers tapped her nose.

"What's the tension for? Do you think your Daddy would scold you?"

Valerie was completely confused.

Neither of us had ever seen Tucker smile so gently in both of our lifetimes.

Her head now was like a paste, confused and hazy.

Ahhhhhh!!! So gentle! So gentle!!!

Why do I feel like among these few people, Tucker feels the most like a dad?

He has never treated other children like this before!

Chapter 48 His Gentleness

40 Vouchers

Boohoo, I envy Valerie so much, but I also feel a little sorry for her. Just now, her face was pale and she didn't dare to speak.

Valerie seemed to have a story...

I also think that even if she is a wealthy young lady, she is too mature, which is a bit abnormal.

This is also a point that Tucker cared about.

He caressed Valerie's hands, hoping to warm her up.

"You did a great job, but I still hope you can relax a bit and do what you enjoy. Look at how nice the environment is here, just play around. Even though Daddy doesn't know anything, I can learn. It's my responsibility after all, since I am your intern dad now."

Tucker's words caused Valerie's heart to wrench open instantly.

It swelled and felt sour like a sponge.

She was so sore that her jaw started to ache.

Not allowing oneself to make any sound...

But her eyes gradually became bloodshot, and she looked at Tucker with tear y eyes.

Tears just wouldn't fall.

She tried hard to hold her breath, and then secretly took a breath...

Quickly adjusting oneself.

Tucker frowned with concern and embraced Valerie, patting her shoulder.

In his mind, scenes from his childhood emerged, where he was

Chapter 48 Hts Gentleness

1 40 Vouchers

comforted by his father's embrace.

Imitating diligently, making Valerie feel at ease.

"It's okay, it's okay, dear. You're just a child, don't think too much... Relax, Daddy can see that you're really tired. How about we find some time to go out and play together?"

Feeling the cool drops on his shoulder, Tucker stood up in a slightly panicked state, comforting Valerie nestled against his neck.

Valerie clenched Tucker's clothes, bravely wiped her own eyes, and the light gradually returned to her eyes.

She did not cry recklessly, her restrained expression made netizens feel even more heartbroken.

I told you, being too sensible is a disadvantage!

"It turns out she has gone through a lot of hardships... Seeing her like that early in the morning, I felt tired."

I cried when I saw it. Now I am worried that my child would be like this.

Oh dear, I can't stand this kind of thing as I'm getting older.

The doll was so well-behaved! It was so well-behaved that it made my heart ache!

In the live broadcast, Valerie's careful nestling in Tucker's arms made everyone's hearts feel a touch of sourness...

They all cheered for Valerie one after another.

Among these people who were cheering, Bruce and Kieran were not present.

Chapter 48 His Gentleness

140 Nouchers

In the company, Kieran saw Valerie with red eyes, wrapped in tears.

But it just didn't all fall down.

She was not like other children, with vivid and exaggerated expressions, but rather like other adults.

Hide one's vulnerability.

Suddenly, Kieran reached out to his chest, trying to suppress his agitated and painful heart.

Breathing became heavier, easing the strange feeling in the heart.

Turn off your phone immediately.

I didn't look at Valerie anymore.

5/5 - (2 votes)

Post Views: 43

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 49 -

Chapter 49 Heartwarming Reward

Tucker was a little nearsighted.

He didn't bring his contact lenses today, and it was pitch black inside the room as the light bulb hadn't been turned on yet.

Tucker walked around the room with Valerie in his arms.

"Are you feeling better?"

"Um... I was much better."

Valerie slightly adjusted her mood and felt a bit embarrassed.

Nervously, facing the camera, she still buried her face in Tucker's shoulder.

Tucker squinted his eyes as he looked at the road, feeling the softness of a cheek against his shoulder. He laughed out loud.

"Okay, we could go buy some groceries and then go to Soren's house to cook."

Speaking of business, Valerie was not hesitant either. She climbed down from Tucker's arms and took his hand, ready to walk out.

"Hey, wait a moment, guys."

The staff inside the house called out to the two people who were about to leave.

I took the full black plastic bag from the nearby staff.

"This is the reward for completing your mission today."

40 Vouchers

Tucker took it over, and the heavy weight almost made him unable to catch it at once.

"Whoa! So heavy?"

Both

of their eyes lit up, and they quickly opened the plastic bag, wanting to see what was inside clearly.

“Wait a moment, after you arrived at Soren’s house later, open it together with everyone.”

Oh? Is this reward still shared with everyone?

This kind of weight, either it’s delicious.

Valerie thought to herself as she tightly held Tucker’s hand, it was now evening and the light had already become a bit dim.

Tucker was a little nearsighted. He didn’t have time to wear contact lenses today, so even when he went to buy groceries early in the morning, he didn’t wear glasses.

During the day, he was fine, but at night he might not be able to see clearly.

So Valerie grabbed his hand in order to prevent him from being tripped by something.

The two of them walked toward Soren’s house like this.

Soren and Selina, who had just finished herding the cows, were covered in irregular mud from head to toe.

Selina sat obediently on the sofa, while Soren gently wiped her little cheeks.

“Soren, why haven’t Valerie arrived yet?”

Battery

power 15% Charge your tablet or tap here to turn on Power saving mode.

40 Vouchers

Soren had not spoken yet when the sound of knocking came from their front door.

“Selina’s little mouth is quite powerful. Just after she finished speaking, Valerie arrived.”

Soren held the muddy boots in his fingers and arrived at the door to open it for them.

“Here I am! We haven’t bought today’s groceries yet. Let’s wait until we finish tidying up and go together.”

Tucker looked at the two people covered in mud and felt a slight curiosity in his heart.

“What was your task today?”

“Ah? Today we went to plow the field with the oxen, right Selina? What did we do today?”

“Drive the cattle!”

Selina sat on the sofa, raising her hand earnestly to answer.

Hahaha, Gan Niu, do you have to grab onto someone else’s tail when you are herding cows?

With lingering fear, if it weren’t for Soren watching, this bull would have been startled if its tail was caught, kicking Selina away. The consequences would have been unimaginable.

“You said it well, at that time I was so nervous that my palms were sweating.”

“Selina looked at the little one... so brave?”

As the netizens reminisced about the morning, they recalled how

1.40 Vouchers

Selina, upon stepping onto the ground, excitedly stood next to the bull and immediately reached out to grab its tail.

Seeing that the bull’s hooves were about to strike, Soren quickly noticed and carried it away.

Selina didn’t know what kind of injury she would suffer next.

Selina’s biological parents were also terrified when they saw this.

Cold sweat streamed down.

Valerie saw two dirty-looking people and asked Tucker to put the black bag at the door.

“Daddy, let’s see what’s in the bag.”

Valerie had a hunch that this big bag was definitely food!

Tucker nodded and both of them crouched down, curiously opening it to see what was inside.

The actions of the two people also attracted the curiosity of the two little babies over there, and they quietly approached the side.

“What is this?”

“This is what the production team said, our reward for completing the task.”

Soren looked up and instantly glanced at his staff.

“We have also finished; shouldn’t we be given a gift as well?”

The staff responsible for Soren’s side shook their heads.

“Sorry Soren, but since you didn’t complete it within the given time, there won’t be any reward.”

Chapter 49 Heartwarming Reward

40 Vouche

Soren turned his head to look at Tucker, who was still untying the knot.

“What did you guys do today?”

“Ah? It was just helping an old lady sell vegetables.”

Soren’s eyes lit up!

Wasn’t this the easiest task to complete? I was plowing the field with oxen today, and there was a crowd of people watching

After all, I was the oldest one...

Everyone has watched the TV show.

Wasn't selling vegetables just a matter of minutes?

But the matter had already ended, it was their own business if they had any rewards, and they even brought them over to share with him.

The black bag finally revealed its true face under the gaze of the crowd.

It was a big bag of minced meat! And there was a ball of already fermented dough!

Valerie stood up excitedly.

"Tonight we ate bread!!!"

Seeing this material, everyone thought of bread or dumplings.

Valerie happily came to the kitchen, carrying a large bag. The green onions she bought yesterday were still there, and so was the ginger.

There was no need to go grocery shopping at all!

Chapter 49 Heartwarming Reward

40 Your Fr

Tucker looked confused.

He looked at the staff on his side and approached to ask.

"Is this a reward??"

The staff saw Valerie enter, and he stopped pretending and got closer to Tucker.

"This, actually, was given to me by Wilma. She said you helped her sell it, and it was very hard and not easy. She made the noodles and minced the meat early in the morning."

"Sassy Wilma!! So impressive!!"

"Wilma's face is cold but her heart is warm."

“I was so moved! So this is not a gift from the production team, but a gift that Wilma personally made to welcome and thank them!”

The live room exploded in an instant! Valerie was already making bread in the kitchen!

Can bread be made too?

Why can't you do it when you have all the materials?

She had the ingredients, but she didn't season the meat, and could she wrap it?

I felt that she would...

The way this flour is sprinkled on the table, it is obvious that the person is experienced...

Alright, she was a perfect elementary school student with excellent life skills.

Chapter 49 Heartwarming Reward

Tucker looked at Valerie, who was filled with excitement. He pondered for a moment and decided to tell her.

“Valerie, I also came to help you.”

40 Vouchers

Yesterday Tucker had already become addicted to cooking, and today he was craving for a hands-on activity again, making bread. His hands had already started itching.

“Okay, Daddy, I divided the dough, let's wrap together.”

Valerie had already prepared the other ingredients for the filling, only the dough was missing.

Tucker watched Valerie dividing the dough. He washed his hands and approached her closely.

“Valerie, do you know why the production team gave us this reward?”

“Ah? Wasn’t it because we completed the mission?” .

Valerie was puzzled, and her hand stopped moving. Could it be some kind of variety show trick?

Were you just too excited?

Tucker smiled and, imitating her just now, divided a dough to make her feel at ease.

5/5 - (2 votes)

Post Views: 39

The Revived Me Surrounded by Adoration as a Supporting Role by Dedaul Chapter 50 -

Chapter 50 Where Did Your Wound Come From?

“Well, this is from the old lady from the morning vegetable stall. She entrusted it to the production team to give it to us.”

Valerie’s bright eyes widened even more!

“Was it given to us by Wilma?”

Tucker nodded.

She said it!

How could the program team possibly give them something so down- to-earth!

The action of pulling the noodles in her hand became much gentler. Valerie carefully and attentively started wrapping the first bread.

“Daddy, there are so many breads. Let’s finish wrapping them and then share and eat together with everyone.”

Tucker smiled and nodded, and began to wrap the bread.

After finishing their morning routine. Soren, feeling a bit sleepy, brought Selina to the kitchen.

Both of them suddenly became as energetic as if they had taken chicken blood.

“Valerie, I also wanted to wrap the bread!”

“Okay! Selina made a small bread for us to eat, alright?”

“Good!”

40 Neuchers

Selina’s eyelids were drooping, and she stared straight at Valerie as she pulled out a small ball of dough and placed it in front of herself.

Then I taught her carefully how to wrap with Soren.

The kitchen suddenly became crowded.

From time to time, Soren and Selina’s laughter could be heard.

Everyone was talking about who was wearing an ugly outfit.

Tucker also softened his expression and clumsily wrapped a present, then approached Valerie to take credit.

Valerie’s mouth suddenly loosened at the corners, and the atmosphere in the kitchen at that moment was truly harmonious.

Can I really have such a warm atmosphere?

She was happy in her heart, and her hands were faster, packing more and more bread.

After the last dough was wrapped, the scene of these dozens of bread was quite spectacular.

Seeing them wrapping bread like this, I missed my mother a little.

“I also... I was feeling a bit homesick.”

Did you guys see Valerie? Did she just laugh?

It seems like there was a little bit, although I laughed before, but it was all so unnatural. Today's smile is the most relaxed one I have ever seen!

As long as we were happy, with the atmosphere tonight, we were already legendary.

Never mind Valerie's laughter being unusual, our brother is so

Chapter 50 Where Did Your Wound Come From?

40 Vouchers

personable and talkative that I feel like I'm dreaming.

"Let's start toasting bread! I also want to eat bread!"

The netizens also reached mealtime, eating while watching the live broadcast.

Looking at this, it feels like the food in my mouth was delicious.

One oven couldn't fit all these breads.

Some bread was specially made big by Soren and Tucker.

It would be very big when it was roasted.

The staff outside diligently recorded them.

When the smell of bread wafted out, someone's stomach had already started growling.

"Don't mention it, the filling that Ms. Horton prepared was really fragrant... I'm starting to feel a bit hungry."

"Me too, you said she was really Ms. Horton?"

"Shh! Be careful with your words! Didn't we go to the Horton family and personally wake her up?"

The staff hiding at the back were whispering to each other.

The person who asked Valerie was directly slapped on the back by a colleague next to them.

Just after the conversation ended, Valerie held a plate and handed them the extra bread.

“Sir, eat bread.”

Where Did Your Wound Come From?

40 ochro

“Okay, okay, thank you!”

Just now, we were discussing these two little brothers of Valerie, feeling guilty to the point of being a hundred thousand miles away.

Watching Valerie’s retreating figure, he slapped himself directly on the face.

No matter whether she is or not! Even if she is not, they will still treat her well!

Dakou took a big bite of bread.

Mmm! It’s really delicious!

Dozens of breads disappeared completely under the efforts of everyone.

Selina lay directly on the sofa, touching her round belly and not wanting to move at all.

“Alright, we’ll go back first.”

After tidying up the kitchen, Tucker and Valerie also went back to the mud hut.

At night, with the streetlights, the road became bright.

Valerie’s footsteps were even lighter than when she arrived.

You seemed to be in a good mood.

Tucker looked at Valerie like this, and he felt a slight relief in his heart.

Today was really an excessive day of activities. As soon as the two of them finished washing up, they fell asleep instantly the moment they touched the bed.

Chapter 50 Where Did Your Wound Come From?

40 Ne

The staff gently closed the camera and returned to their campsite to rest.

Tonight, everyone went to sleep with a good mood.

The next day, it was around five o'clock.

The two people who were still sleeping were awakened by a loud knocking at the door.

Tucker reflexively got up, covered Valerie with a blanket, and went to open the door wearing his coat.

“Good morning.”

David stood energetically in front of Tucker, who was already confused and now even more clueless about what was going on.

“Today we were going to the mountains to dig wild vegetables. Wake up and get ready, we can leave first.

Tucker nodded blankly, and David, seeing that Tucker was still confused, patted his shoulder.

“You had to make good use of time and see what skills to teach Valerie.”

David's words instantly jolted Tucker awake.

He struggled to keep his eyes open, trying to stay awake.

“I got it, I'll go wake Valerie up first.

Tucker said goodbye to David and returned to the room. Valerie had already woken up and obediently wrapped herself in the blanket.

“Good morning, Daddy.

Chapter 50 Where Did Your Wound Come From

The voice of the exclusive child was still unclear, both sweet and endearing.

Tucker approached and rubbed her head.

“We woke up and our task for today was to go up the mountain to dig wild vegetables.”

Valerie nodded her little head, indicating that she understood. She grabbed the clothes next to her and prepared to get dressed.

Tucker glanced at a smooth arm that was exposed, then turned his head...

Suddenly, he turned back and his button stopped twisting. He came to Valerie's side and grabbed the hand she had just reached out.

“Did you get injured yesterday? Where did you bump into?”

Valerie's coldness disappeared instantly, and her heart was pounding,

“I don't know either...”

This is the last time Abbigail was beaten, and some places were hit very hard. They still haven't healed until now...

The bruise on Tucker's arm made him a little worried.

“Stand up and let me see where you are still injured.”

Now it was Valerie's turn to stay still.

If Tucker were to see whether she had any injuries, it would be unclear and uncertain for those wounds that haven't healed yet.

“I.....I...just this one place.”

This was the first time Valerie didn't go along with Tucker's words,

Chapter 50 Where Did Your Wound Come From?

40 your hers

The strange reaction and the resistance to the examination made Tucker furrow his brow even more tightly.

What happened?

Why did the atmosphere here become so serious early in the morning?

Valerie had bruises on her arm, and Tucker was worried that she might have other injuries that needed to be checked. For the first time, Valerie didn't listen

.

What injury?

“(Picture) This bruise, it seems like there are some on the arm.”

It felt a bit strange.

I also think that the bruise seems a bit extensive and the shape is very strange...

“I am a medical student. This was not caused by a fall, but by physical assault. I guarantee this with my reputation at Capstead University of Medicine. This is the result of being physically assaulted.”

What?!

5/5 - (2 votes)

Post Views: 37