Chapter 51 It Gets Out of Hand

“David! Look at the comments!”

The staff in the backstage quickly called David and asked him to take a look at the live screen, where the comments from netizens were displayed.

David leaned closer to his phone, watching the lively chat room in Tucker’s live stream.

The color on the face gradually turned black.

But it was only à moment, and he regained his composure.

“Let things ferment and see how the Horton family handles it. We closed him off too early, which makes it even more suspicious.”

David was right. If we turn it off now, it will confirm the fact that Valerie was beaten.

Tucker grabbed the hand of the blanket and started exerting force gradually.

But Valerie’s timid gaze made him release his hands...

“Okay, I got it, but the injury on your arm, can I apply some medicine for you?”

In the end, he approached Valerie and gently touched her head with caution.

The resentment in the eyes began to gradually accumulate...

Valerie glanced at the staff still outside, hesitated for a moment, and nodded.

Chapter 40 Novachers

Tucker immediately approached the crew to inquire about medication. The staff, without saying a word, slightly adjusted the camera.

They didn't let the people in the live broadcast see what they looked like when they took the medicine.

"Huh? Why didn't the doctor show us the medicine?"

What's the point of turning the camera when the medicine on the upper arm is not a problem anymore?

Isn't this just a case of "having no silver here, three hundred taels"?

So. Valerie was really beaten?

I don't know, but judging from the child's appearance, it is possible.

"Don't speak recklessly. If not, your words will be spread by someone with ill intentions, and you know the consequences yourselves."

After the netizens' excitement, their enthusiasm was dampened by this paragraph.

They all chose to remain silent.

Tucker took the ointment from the crew and approached Valerie, who was nestled in the blanket, obediently extending her arm.

Tucker didn't say a word, furrowing his brow as he applied it to her little by little.

This arm had more than just the wound he saw, there were also bruises of various sizes in other places.

Is he looking carefully now and still doesn't understand what caused this?

A low–pressure system swirled inside the mud hut.

Valerie felt a bit guilty as she watched Tucker carefully administer medicine to himself. She opened her mouth, but said nothing.

I found myself not knowing what to say.

This matter eventually became crazy

Bruce, who was still in a deep sleep, was abruptly awakened by the urgent and incessant ringing of the telephone.

Struggling to get up, there was a bundle of anger in his heart after being awakened by the noise.

“What happened?”

Frustrated, Bruce muttered these three words and wanted to lie back down again.

On the other end of the phone, regardless of Bruce’s mood, he nervously whispered to Bruce.

“Mr. Horton! Something terrible has happened. The news about Ms. Horton’s injury has gone viral on the internet! They are saying they want to find out if the wounds on Ms. Horton’s body were caused by being beaten, and they are even suggesting that the Horton family is abusing their children...”

Bruce is no longer tired.

The cold water on his mind instantly made him wide awake.

“What did you say? We, the Horton family, abused children???”

As clever as he was, he could also guess what was going on.

“Tsk! Why does this Valerie always go looking for trouble? Why is she so desperate for attention???”

Bruce was really angry.

If my own dad found out about this, the show would have been immediately ruined!

He put on his coat and went to the door of Kieran’s room.

“Brother! Brother! Are you awake? There’s an urgent matter I need to discuss with you!”

The door to Kieran’s room opened quickly.

Kieran, who was tying his tie, glanced at Bruce, who still had messy hair.

“What’s the matter? What made you come to see me so early in the morning?”

Kieran spoke casually, but Bruce was not like that. He quickly explained the cause of the matter.

Before he could finish speaking, Kieran’s face immediately turned ugly. He didn’t even want to continue fighting, let alone finish tying his tie.

He dropped down and sat on the chair, scrutinizing Bruce.

“Did you let her participate in the variety show knowing that she was injured?”

“Big brother...”

“I don’t want to hear your explanation right now. As far as I know, this program of yours was intended for Zoe, but you delayed it for a long time due to poor conditions. Since you were able to delay it for Zoe, is it so difficult for you to wait until Valerie recovers? Do you not realize that she is also your sister?!”

Kieran had been feeling down these past few days from watching livestreams, and now with this incident, he immediately exploded into a furious scolding of Bruce.

While speaking, she picked up the bedside file and threw it fiercely at Bruce.

He was excited, his chest rising and falling, as he recalled Valerie's attitude toward him and how he had faced Tucker.

This contrast made Kieran's mood even worse.

Bruce knew he was in the wrong, so he didn't dodge when Kieran threw the documents at him.

"Now things have escalated, everyone on the internet is talking about whether the injuries on Valerie were caused by us, the Horton family. Fortunately, Dad is still unaware, so we still have time to resolve this matter."

Seeing his younger brother not saying a word, but only bowing his head in a remorseful manner, Kieran eventually softened his heart.

With a heavy sigh, I finally chose to help Bruce solve this matter.

Bruce looked at Kieran, who was willing to help him, and felt slightly relieved in his heart.

"Well... Big brother, I'll go and have my people over there control public opinion first."

Without waiting for Kieran's response, he immediately fled from his study.

Kieran gave a disdainful look at his younger brother and immediately took out his phone to call his own secretary.

"Find out who bullied the girl at school in the past, and send over the complete background information of those individuals' families."

The secretary, in a daze, was assigned a task by her own boss early in the morning, but she still foolishly took on the job.

He didn't realize the seriousness of the situation until he saw the event gaining high popularity online.

Speeding up the search in hand, it is necessary to provide the boss with a satisfactory outcome.

At the same time, Abbigail was also awakened.

She was sleeping soundly, but she was directly disturbed by the phone charging at the bedside, and couldn't fall asleep.

"What are you doing!! Can't you talk about it at school?!"

"It's not, it's not... I didn't mean to wake you up... Things got out of hand."

Abbigail calmed down her emotions, she only heard the last sentence.

"Did the situation escalate? What does that mean?"

The biggest thing among this group of sisters now was that they fought with Valerie.

Does "making a big fuss" mean being discovered?

Abbigail's limbs instantly turned cold...

She lay motionless on the bed.

My mind was still in a mess, and for a moment, I didn't know what to say.

It seems like we need to determine the authenticity of this matter.

It also stayed motionless for a few seconds

Abbigail jumped off the bed and walked around the room.

“So, you guys buy a few anonymous accounts, then find a place far from the school to release the video of her holding a knife before, and then post some negative texts about her, saying that she threatened us first. Do you understand?”

“Do you really want to do it...”

The girl on the phone had already started choking, she was really scared.

Abbigail heard the sobbing sound and instantly became furious.

“Why are you crying? Do you think you can escape just by crying? Hurry up and do as I say! Otherwise, we’re all doomed!”

After being shouted at by Abbigail, the little girl on the other end of the phone burst into tears but still nodded in agreement.

Abbigail, who had just hung up the phone, rubbed her cold hands and quickly started making phone calls to her little followers one by one.

On an ordinary morning, a massive storm swept through the entire internet.

The truth eventually came out, regardless of whether Valerie was a child of the Horton family or not.

A 7-year-old child had bruises on his body from being beaten.

Chapter 52 So Who Bullied Who?

This matter itself is worth paying attention to.

This is the injury.

Yeah, isn't it obvious? Why hasn't he come out to clarify yet?

The problem now is unclear who did this to her.

Anyway, be cautious in your words, we'll just wait for someone from the Horton family to come out and explain.

What's there to be afraid of? With so many people talking about this matter, are they just idle, warning one by one?

People on the internet were discussing this matter like crazy.

Just as everyone was waiting for an explanation of this matter, suddenly a post from an anonymous person once again escalated the intensity of this matter to an immeasurable height.

"Anonymous: I am a student from the same school as Valerie. This video was accidentally recorded by me. Here's what happened: Last week, after school, Valerie provoked a group of senior girls by claiming to be the daughter of the Horton family. The senior girls did not resist because Valerie was the daughter of the Horton family.

But later on, she became even more ruthless, even taking out a knife to threaten those senior girls.

Here is the video.

As for the injury on her arm, everyone had to forcefully hold her and grab her arm to prevent her from grabbing a knife.

After all, who could remain calm when faced with an army knife?

As soon as this post came out, things became interesting.

Chapter 52 So Who Bullied Who?

“The video is real, without any editing.”

Who dares to use fake ones to distribute? Are you not afraid of death?

So, is this true? Did Valerie threaten others with an army knife?

“Tsk, I thought she was well-behaved, turns out she’s just another spoiled miss who relies on her family.”

Did she refresh her values, so her performance in variety shows was all an act?

“No way, no way. So our brother likes her so much just because she is Ms. Horton?”

“Didn’t we have a heart-to-heart conversation before? We talked about letting Valerie relax, but it was obvious that it was all an act.”

So who bullied who in the end...

Internet users’ language has been getting increasingly vulgar, including some paid commentators who spread rumors with a certain rhythm.

The reputations of Valerie and Tucker were in jeopardy.

“Sword?!”

Kieran was dealing with this matter, and of course, he saw the video.

He immediately called Jayvion over with a stern face.

“Mr. Kieran?”

Jayvion didn’t look at his phone, so he still didn’t know what had happened.

Kieran handed over the phone.

“You look first, and tell me after you finish, is this knife the one you gave her?”

Jayvion looked confused, although he didn't understand what Kieran was saying, he still took it and looked at it seriously.

Even

the calm Jayvion, after reading these two messages, got so angry that he immediately burst out with foul language.

"This is all nonsense! The lady was beaten by them! She had no choice but to take out a knife! She didn't initiate the fight with those ill-mannered children!"

Kieran saw Jayvion so angry for the first time, and it was also surprising to hear swear words coming out of Jayvion's mouth.

Rarely, Kieran widened his eyes and slowed down his speech...

"So, was this knife the one Miss asked you for?"

"Yes, sir, before Miss went to school, she suddenly found me and said she needed a knife for her art class to cut something, so I gave it to her."

Jayvion nodded, indicating that it was him who gave it, and Kieran also understood the truth of the matter.

That night, Valerie was picked up by himself, so he could tell who was bullying whom.

"I got it, I will handle this matter, Jayvion, you can go and busy yourself."

Jayvion didn't go out immediately. He frowned and looked at Kieran with worry.

"Mr. Kieran... You must help the young lady, otherwise she will suffer such humiliation, it's really pitiful."

Kieran lowered his head just now, and then raised it again.

Jayvion's slightly red eyes and nose made Kieran's words of inquiry choke in his throat ...

Jayvion had been with the Horton family for a long time, and he never used to say anything extra.

But today, his words seemed as if the Horton family wouldn't help Valerie.

What could have made such an old person feel this way to say such words?

So, did they really treat Valerie so badly that even outsiders were concerned?

Kieran had a deep question about this issue for the first time...

"I got it, I am dealing with this matter right now, you can go and do your thing."

Jayvion breathed a sigh of relief as he heard Kieran dealing with the matter firsthand.

He bowed deeply to Kieran and then went out to work.

Kieran's work was neither active nor inactive.

There seemed to be a tangled mess of black threads in my mind.

It made his head and mood become confused.

Knock knock.

"Please come in."

F

The door of the study opened, and Reese's subtle expression appeared in front of Kieran.

He stood in front of Kieran.

Kieran, who was still sitting on the chair, suddenly stood up.

"Dad..."

“Tell me about Valerie’s incident this morning. On our phones, it was all about us, the Horton family, abusing children. And then, in no time, they said Valerie was taking advantage of our family’s authority. How are you going to resolve this matter?”

Reese did not shout and scream like before, expressing his anger.

But it was Reese who made Kieran’s heart pound.

Cold sweat slowly trickled down Kieran’s back.

“Dad... Valerie is definitely not that kind of person. The night I went to pick her up, I knew it, she was being bullied...”

Reese waved his hand, signaling Kieran to be quiet. He had an indifferent expression on his face, with his eyes filled with intense pressure.

“So, did she actually have it or not, causing trouble with the Horton family’s reputation? I don’t care anymore if she was bullied or not, I just want to know why Valerie would threaten others with a knife!!!”

Kieran’s Heart.

With a thud, it sank into the abyss.

“Dad?”

Kieran looked at Reese in disbelief.

Is it the time to be entangled about this point now?

His heart trembled intensely.

The words I wanted to say to Valerie were about to explode in my mind.

But still, it was forcibly suppressed.

Reese's gaze was really terrifying...

"Dad, Valerie was being beaten like this by someone. If she didn't do this, these people would keep on beating her."

Kieran lacked confidence in what he said...

Reese snorted coldly.

"You and Bruce, both of you, are really something. You actually tried to hide this embarrassing incident from me, completely disregarding me! Is this household really just under the control of you, Kieran?"

What?!

"Dad? I never thought that way! Why would you say that!"

Kieran felt really hurt when Reese criticized him like that for the first time.

But now, his own father was furious, so he chose to keep his mouth shut.

After being scolded by Reese, Kieran was slightly less panicked.

He took a deep breath and began to speak slowly.

"Dad, Valerie was bullied like this at school. Do you have to wait until Valerie gets severely beaten before you say something?"

Speaking of this, Kieran's tone was a bit firm, as if he was expressing his dissatisfaction with Reese's statement.

Kieran made a valid point, and Reese naturally understood.

So Reese, who was once full of momentum, has now become dejected.

There was a moment of awkwardness between the two of them.

“Now that the situation has escalated, how do you plan to resolve it? Do you think our shares outside will still receive dividends after this incident, or will they decrease?”

Reese continued to ask Kieran in a low voice, with only the face of his family in his mind to sustain him.

Kieran helplessly pinched his forehead with his fingers.

Here we go again.

When Reese came in, he also removed the company’s pests, just like I did before.

They said that all these people had been with him for a long time and asked him to show mercy to his subordinates.

But everyone had betrayed him, should he still foolishly say it doesn’t matter?

This matter was also a long-standing dispute between Kieran and Reese in private.

In the end, for the development of the company, he decisively removed these old worms.

It was this incident that caused an immeasurable rift between him and Reese.

Although both of them seemed fine on the surface, there would always be sparks once this matter was brought up.

Now, due to Valerie’s incident, the relationship between the two has become extremely tense.

Kieran let out a long sigh.

“Dad, Valerie was the victim. At a time like this, you are still concerned about the family’s reputation, without considering who actually bullied Valerie?”

Reese’s face turned as red as a pig’s liver due to anger.

He extended his index finger and pointed at Kieran.

“If you don’t solve this matter to my satisfaction, you will be just like Valerie, don’t come back!”

He angrily left Kieran’s study after speaking.

The heavy sound of the door closing echoed in the hallway as Kieran exhaled a cold breath from his mouth.

Feeling so depressed.

The entire study room felt sticky and heavy.

He held his forehead with both hands for a moment and immediately

“Valerie! What are you doing? This is for Zoe!”

“How old are you? Is it difficult for you to give it to your younger sister?”

“Move faster, what are you doing dawdling?”

Kieran tightly bit his lower lip.

Shaking my head desperately, I tried to forget the images of reproaching Valerie in my mind.

Not only his, but also everyone else’s in this family...

“V-Valerie...”

Kieran’s nose was still red.

His fingers curled as he typed on the keyboard.

Was that how it used to feel?

Kieran rarely felt any emotions for Valerie.

But it quickly vanished.

He adjusted himself and began to look at the secretary's message that had been sent to him, which contained the family backgrounds of those girls Valerie had called that day.

Who sent out this video in the first place...

Valerie's situation spread throughout the school, causing Sophie in the office to stand up in excitement.

Not happy, but afraid.

On the first day of class, when I brought Valerie in, my attitude and the words I said to her were completely unlike that of a good teacher!

Will she get into trouble when she comes back?

Sophie nervously bit her bright red lips.

Her heart was so nervous that it felt cold and swollen, to the point where she felt like vomiting.

"What's wrong? Why do you look so pale?"

Wilson arrived at the office early in the morning to distribute the lecture notes for the senior class, only to see his little fox spirit with a frightened expression.

Taking advantage of others' inattention, I approached Sophie.

As soon as Sophie saw Wilson, she felt like she had found a lifeline and quickly grabbed onto the sleeve of this middle-aged man with a big belly

With tears in her eyes, my pitiful appearance made Wilson's heart race.

At noon during the lunch break, he said, "Same place as before."

He muttered this sentence under his breath and then left the office.

With someone to rely on, Sophie's complexion improved slightly.

Even if things got out of hand, she could still blame Wilson.

With this thought in mind, Sophie felt a little relieved and started her work at hand.

In the classroom, Mica bit the skin of his lower lip and watched the news and videos shown to him by his classmates.

He suddenly understood why Valerie didn't come to school and the reason for her injuries.

The one who hit her must be the girl Grey liked.

They saw Valerie getting close to themselves, so they went after Valerie

It was all my fault...

Mica's breathing gradually became heavier as he tightly pressed his hand against his chest, trying to alleviate the pain of his aching heart.

Sitting in the back row, Derek naturally noticed Mica's strangeness. He touched his own chin and suddenly stood up, walking over to Mica and grabbing his arm.

He wanted to take Mica outside.

"What were you doing?"

Still immersed in self-blame, Mica felt the rough force of Derek.

He also shouted forcefully, asking him to let go of himself.

"Shut up! Come with me! What's a man doing acting all timid and hesitant?!"

Derek furrowed his brow, imitating the way his cousin Calvin used to speak to the soldiers when he was in the army.

Mica fiercely bit down on her back molar.

Under the gaze of so many people, the two of them disappeared from the classroom, and no one knew where they went.

It took more than ten minutes before class time, and they gradually

Visibly, Mica's expression was much better than when she had just left the classroom. She was no longer confused and instead had a hint of determination.

Chapter 54 I Have Proof

Valerie's popularity did not diminish.

Now, the public chat room with Tucker can be said to be chaotic.

There are all kinds of words.

Watching the people in the live broadcast saying they were going to the scene.

The director couldn't sit still anymore.

From 6 o'clock in the morning until now, Bruce has not made a single sound.

Does this mean you don't care anymore?

In the end, before the two of them set off, David stepped forward and blocked their way.

"Um, Mr. Fisher, Valerie, there's something I need to tell you."

David signaled for the camera behind to stop recording, so as not to let those who really wanted to come over know the whereabouts of the two of them.

After all, he believed in his own intuition, Valerie was definitely not as described online.

He was such an annoying child.

He didn't talk much, but took out his phone and knelt in front of Valerie.

"Valerie, you first look at these two new..."

David hadn't finished speaking yet when Tucker snatched his phone and stood up at a height Valerie couldn't see, scrolling through videos and news on the phone.

"What is all this?!"

Tucker looked for a while, and his mindset exploded instantly.

Angry for a moment, I immediately looked at Valerie, who still looked confused.

Worried eyes scanned up and down.

He didn't think that the injuries on Valerie were only on her arm.

In the video, Valerie, who held a knife and faced death fearlessly, was a smart person, and everyone knew that she must have been bullied to make such a move.

What threatened with a knife, what took advantage of the Horton family to behave outrageously?!

This is clearly the work of internet trolls trying to manipulate the situation!

Tucker was angry, and his chest started to ache.

He quickly rubbed his sore chest and put down the phone in his hand.

Valerie immediately glanced at the content on her phone.

She approached Tucker and quickly patted his back to make him feel more comfortable.

But the corner of the eye still glanced at the news on the phone.

“Oh! So that’s what it was!”

Valerie read the message on her phone clearly and understood it in her heart.

It seems that the injury on my arm in the morning has been spread online.

Valerie, who had been mentally prepared for a long time, still felt very nervous when she saw the news spread online.

But thinking about the things she had prepared before; she breathed a sigh of relief.

“Valerie...”

After Tucker relaxed for a moment, he realized that Valerie had still seen it.

I closed the phone interface a little embarrassed.

“Valerie, don’t pay too much attention to what people say online. Only foolish people would believe such messages.”

These were the only comforting words Tucker could think of.

Valerie shook her head and her slightly cool hand grabbed Tucker's hand.

"David, do you have a laptop here? I want to livestream for clarification."

"Valerie, what did you say?"

David's mind couldn't keep up.

"I want to clarify that I had something to refute this. This matter was very serious, otherwise David wouldn't be telling us about it now."

As Valerie finished speaking, there was a commotion in the room.

Tucker and David's eyes widened, and their pupils contracted sharply.

The two individuals locked eyes and both saw the astonishment in each other that was no less than their own.

Tucker quickly returned.

He crouched down and looked Valerie straight in the eyes.

"Valerie, you turned on the live stream, their words weren't very pleasant, are you really okay? Daddy still hopes that you don't pay attention to this matter and let your family help you resolve it."

Wasn't it easy for the Horton family to solve this matter?

But Tucker didn't know that the Horton family was the least trusted by Valerie.

She could even guess what the situation of the people at home was like now

So after Tucker finished speaking, she immediately shook her head.

"It's okay, I want to explain it myself first."

She insisted...

A storm unfolded in Tucker's mind as he looked at Valerie earnestly.

"Valerie, are you sure you had strong evidence to explain and refute these things?"

Valerie nodded solemnly.

Tucker looked at David, the meaning in his eyes was clear...

"Ah, alright then, Valerie, what do you need?"

"Thank you, David! I needed a laptop and a mobile phone for live streaming."

David stood up and immediately went to the back of the crew to ask for a computer.

"The live stream was still ongoing here, and I will give you a phone later. You can see the comments inside..."

The staff members were preparing for the live broadcast.

Tucker stood by Valerie's side, accompanying her.

"I will be with you later, by your side, um, it's okay."

Tucker pinched Valerie's cheek, appearing nonchalant on the surface, but his lackluster tone revealed that his mood was not so wonderful.

This side was quickly set up, and Valerie also turned on the computer, ready for everything.

She took a deep breath and heard the rapid beating of her heart in her ears.

Tucker grabbed Valerie's shoulders and gave them a comforting pat.

“It’s okay, it’s okay. If someone scolds you later, Daddy will help you respond, okay?”

Tucker was earnestly coaxing Valerie, just like coaxing a child.

Valerie said that not being moved was all fake.

grateful to Tucker.

But at this moment, her body already housed a mature soul in her twenties.

Faced with online violence, she really didn’t have any ripples at all now.

Perhaps she had personally experienced the process of bidding farewell to the world.

She was not alone and sad there now because of those hurtful words.

The more mundane it was, the more Tucker felt out of sync with the people around him.

Shouldn’t the Horton family have taken action earlier when faced with such a situation?

How long has it been since this happened?

And this program was also invested by Boss Bruce, so he couldn’t possibly be unaware.

Even if you are currently searching for evidence, you can still issue a notice!

How could they be so indifferent when their own daughter was cyberbullied?

“Valerie, we were about to start the live broadcast, are you ready?”

“I was ready.”

David nodded his head and said, "Let's begin!"

The live stream started.

It seems that he/she knew about these online comments.

So, is this the way to clarify things now?

"Who clarified? Did Valerie clarify?"

Tsk, what can a child explain? She can't even express herself clearly.

Not necessarily, if you watch her previous live broadcasts, she doesn't seem to be unsure of what she is saying.

"Isn't it also possible that it was just an act?"

"Are you pretending? Are you pretending that you knew how to cook and make bread?"

Valerie glanced at the screen and took a deep breath to adjust herself.

Chapter 55 Go-Pro

Valerie finished the first paragraph with a slight tremble, forcing herself not to look at the public screen.

“Before I start explaining to everyone, let me introduce this black small camera in my hand.”

Valerie picked up the small portable camera that had been sitting in front of the table and clipped it onto her chest.

At that time, short videos had not yet developed, so no one would pay attention to what this small black thing in front of them was.

If Valerie hadn't said it, they really wouldn't have known that this was still a camera.

Some clever ones have already begun to guess vaguely what the content inside is.

Valerie did not look at the screen. She sat quietly in front of the camera and slowly, word by word, explained the whole story to everyone.

“I am currently studying in Grade 1 at an International Noble Primary School. It is my first time being in such a big environment, so I am very excited. I have deliberately not told anyone that I am a child of the Horton family.”

But just a few days after I started school, some third-year students would come to our class every day and bully one of our classmates who was very good-looking.

The reason is that this senior student, whom the girl that the senior student likes, also likes my classmate. Therefore, he vented his anger on my classmate.

Speaking of which, Valerie suddenly took out another phone from the other side of the table.

Why does it feel a bit surreal?

“Could it be that it was made up on the spot?”

If even temporary lines can be spoken so clearly, then Valerie's thoughts cannot be underestimated.

Yes, it is a terrifying thing to have such deep scheming at such a young age.

Tucker sat on the side, watching these messy comments, his face turned dark.

"The matter was not yet concluded, Valerie has not presented any evidence yet, and you are all speculating and talking nonsense here. If the situation turns around later, can you take responsibility for what you are saying now? Show some decency."

Tucker's mouth was faster than his brain.

Standing in the circle of staff, Tucker's manager was about to speak up to stop him, but Tucker had already spoken loudly.

"Ah."

Helplessly, the agent could only let him freely play there.

After all, Tucker is in the entertainment industry, known for being sharp-tongued and speaking the truth.

Sure enough, after Tucker spoke, these people didn't say a word.

Valerie gratefully glanced at Tucker and immediately unlocked her phone, opened the photo album, and then turned the screen toward the camera.

"Sir, could you please zoom in the camera a bit? I want to show everyone a video."

The person in charge of the live camera nodded quickly, adjusted the focus, and aimed at the phone screen. To their astonishment, they saw a video that had been secretly filmed in a hidden corner by the phone.

In the video, there were a group of people including Grey, pushing and shoving Mica.

“Damn, this was leaving a trick up one’s sleeve!”

How can you be so calm?

But what does this matter have to do with the video in that post?

The post mentioned that Valerie threatened the senior sister in the school. She had just started school a few days ago, and she could have a relationship with the senior sister? It should be the girl that this senior brother likes causing trouble for her. I’m just guessing, we need to see Valerie’s video to know for sure.

I felt a bit cold, and goosebumps appeared on my skin.

Netizens were all puzzled and amazed.

If these videos were all secretly recorded by Valerie, knowing that this would happen.

What kind of environment was she in that would make her develop such a cautious personality?

And they proceeded cautiously, taking every step with care.

None of the staff present spoke either.

Everyone silently swallowed a mouthful of saliva and looked at the little girl in front of them who was preparing to play a video.

Tucker looked at Valerie with a complex expression, but quickly returned to his usual demeanor and helped her support her phone.

The Fisher family, Galen got up early in the morning and, as usual, picked up his phone, habitually opening Valerie's live stream.

What were they explaining in the live broadcast room?

Galen hesitated for a second and immediately clicked on Twitter.

Sure enough, it was filled with discussions about Valerie's injuries, and the video from that post was being crazily shared.

Galen stood up.

The pressure emanating from him made the other servants in the house too intimidated to come out.

"Grandpa? What's wrong? Why are you so angry early in the morning?"

Calvin scratched his messy hair and lazily approached Galen.

"Um... um? Grandpa! It's this girl! The little girl I saw at the hospital that day!!!"

Calvin amazedly pointed at Galen's screen with his finger.

Galen, who was still angry, suddenly relaxed his frown.

Many things became clear in the mind while listening.

I have gotten old and my eyesight has become a bit blurry, so I can't see Valerie's eyes clearly on the live broadcast.

If she was the girl that her grandson mentioned, then it was the girl I met at the hospital that day.

Then all her strange actions had an explanation.

Calvin's finger looks a bit annoying now.

"Tsk, go away!"

With great force, Calvin pushed Galen aside, and Galen slowly sat back on the sofa.

He wanted to see how this little girl, who had a secret, would solve this matter.

In the live broadcast, Valerie clicked on the video.

Suddenly, the sound of Grey and his henchman's mocking laughter echoed in the quiet mud hut.

Everyone's brows began to furrow.

Things seemed to be going more and more wrong. Valerie's arguments were so well-founded, and her calm demeanor added to the unease.

This video was just the beginning!

In a moment, Valerie stood in front of Mica in the video.

Watching her frail figure, she stood against these boys who were two heads taller than her.

They were all very worried if Valerie would be seriously injured.

"What were you doing?"

Just then, Derek came in and the matter was finally resolved.

"!!! It was Derek!!!"

Galen, who was on the sofa, jumped up directly this time!

We used to be classmates!

It was also a thought.

The two of them were of similar age, so the Horton family would definitely arrange for her to be in the VIP class, and she would definitely be in the same class as Derek!

Fate, oh fate!

Calvin, who was sent to the corner to eat breakfast, squinted his eyes and glanced at his excited grandfather.

Pouted with a sense of grievance.

Picking up the phone secretly, I turned off the volume and started watching the live stream.

After Tucker saw Derek appear in the video, his astonishment overflowed from the depths of his eyes.

He quickly suppressed himself, not wanting to appear too obvious.

But the people in the live broadcast room didn't understand.

Who was this little boy?

"We were classmates too, but why were these older students so afraid of him?"

"They said it, it's a prestigious school, so surely this little boy's family is better off than these older students!"

Ah... I had already started worrying about what my child's life would be like at school in the future...

What worries about the child, let's focus on making money first. Otherwise, if the child is bullied and we parents are not strong, the child will be even more miserable.

Oh, the way things were in this world...

Valerie glanced at the live stream.

Her gaze lingered on these nostalgic IDs.

Suddenly, a soft voice floated out.

“I knew that strength and background were important, but I also knew that a silver tongue without a backbone could directly destroy a person’s heart.”
