Thomas was surprised. “Why?”

Eliana chuckled. “Just a guess timeline. Willow and Wallace were rumored to have a close relationship. Some netizens even joked that Willow was the brand ambassador for the Quanta Group. Any major endorsement she made was guaranteed.

Others claimed Wallace willingly played the role of Willow’s devoted

Given their rumored closeness, it was clear Hirir connection must have started during their school years.

Eliana suspected that Willow Waller skating one of the previous mantents. She was absolutely right.

After that tournament ended, Willow privately investigated Wallace's background. Learning that he was the sole heir to the Quandi Group, she began planning ways to approach and impress him.

This match was Willow's perfect chance to leave a lasting impression on him.

Before the match, she instructed her teammates that only she could take Waller down.

Wallace was a proud and formidable player. Being repeatedly taken down by Willow would leave an impression.

Willow's paid teammates were pushovers either.

They had studied Wallace's team's strategies and knew Willier was their strongest member.

If they could suppress him early, they wouldn't last into the late game. The strategy worked like a charm.

On the field, Wallace found himself relentlessly targeted and forced into skirmishes. Each time, Willow secured the kill.

Eliana glanced at the screen, noting Wallace's increasingly irritated expression.

She murmured. "Being killed so starily as a is a frustrating feeling, isn't it?"

Cameron subtly glanced at her upon hearing that remark,

Regardless, Eliana had to admire Willow's bold strategy to attract Wallace's attention.

But such tactics wouldn't win Wallace's favor. In fact, it might push him farther away.

How Willow planned to salvage her image in his eyes would be quite a challenge.

The first match lasted after 32 intense minutes.

Chapter 182

Unexpectedly, despite a favorable sun, Wendy's careless operation during a team fight at the dragon pit caused the dragon to be stolen.

What should have been a smooth victory was dragged into a late-game battle, stretching the match to over forty minutes.

In the end, Flames" won and successfully entered the final

However, Wendy stood on stage with sweat beading on her forehead. Losing would have been unbearable.

Meanwhile, the livestream chat was buzzing with comments.

[Seems like not everyone can control the game perfectly, Flames's team captain playing jungle this time wasn't nearly as effective as their previous jungler, who fortunately played top lane today and managed to save the game ]

[Why not just stick to playing mid-lane? They were doing fine before. That dragon pit play cracked me up!]

I hope they change their jungler before the finals, or else they're definitely losing...]

Willow and Wendy secured victories

Next up was the third team, Tigen," Eliana and her teammates stepped onto the stage. After a brief introduction, the intense march began.

As expected, Eliana played jungle again.

From the start, she maintained excellent control of the game's rhythm. The opposing team was weaker than she had anticipated, leading to a swift victory in just 29 minutes.

The chat erupted with praise.

Seri

[They shouldn't take on what they can't handle. I won't say who I'm referring to.]

[Ton just laughing and won't comment

In the lounge, Wendy was fuming with anger. She slammed her phone onto the table.

If not for that dragon pit blunder, she wouldn't be the target of such mockery.

She was infuriated.

Clearly, she still lacked practical experience.

She cursed inwardly, How on earth did Eliana manage such perfect control of the game's rhythm?

The six-group

semi-finals concluded perfectly,

The upcoming revival match would determine the final spot for the final, with the livestream running late into the night.

Back in the lounge. Eliana waited near the door for Ruby's team.

When Ruby and her teammates came out of the lounge, Eliana smiled and encouraged them, "Good luck!"

Ruby nodded confidently. "Got it"

After their previous loss, Ruby led her team through relentless tactical training, determined to win the revival match and defeat Wendy in the finals.

Thomas ordered takeout. There were burgers, fried chicken, and drinks

They enjoyed their dinner in the lounge while watching i g the livestream, indulging themselves.

The revival match adopted a knockout format, where teams keep battling until only one team remains victorious. It made it far more thrilling than the semi-final.

With the match happening at night, viewership surged past 300 thousand people.

“Flowers” was i is undoubtedly one of the strongest teams

They had been in the top three favorites since the semi-finals, though their ir loss to “Tierreto “Tigers” sparked online debates. Still, Eliana’s team won fair and Ruby was recognized as the second-best female jungler after Eliana. Since “Flowers” was an all-girls team, the chat was filled with supportive messages cheering them on.

Eliana genuinely hoped they’d win because Ruby’s goal was to defeat Wendy Elaina thought carefully. If four teams advanced to the finals and Ruby defeated Wendy, her team would only have Willow’s team left to face.

Willow’s skills were far below Wendy’s level.

The only reason she made it to the finals was due to her other four exceptionally skilled teammates and a bit of luck.

Eliana was ready to put an end to her lucky streak

As for Wallace’s team, they originally planned to participate in the revival match but were likely put off by Willow’s previous antics, so they directly forfeited.

Two hours later, at 9 pm, “Flowers” claimed a well-deserved victory, securing their place in the finals.

They won all the way and successfully made it out of the resurrection bracket.

The chat was filled with celebratory messages

Eliana smiled with satisfaction, put away her phone, and left the arena with her team.

She eagerly anticipated next weekend’s finals.

Lucy and Sebastian, who never watched livestreams before, were glued to their TV at home.

Although they couldn't understand the complex game visuals, they were thrilled to hear that Eliana had won. Their joyous laughter echoed throughout the living room.

However, when Lucy noticed some negative comments about her precious daughter in the chat, she immediately alerted her husband.

She said. "Honey, someone's insulting our daughter"

Sebastian glanced over and said, "See how we can report them."

The couple fumbled with their phones, determined to figure out how to report the comments.

After much effort, they submitted a report, only to receive a response from the platform saying the insults didn't qualify as harassment.

The two of them were furious. Despite their combined age nearing a hundred, they decided to type furious replies in the chat themselves.

They were childishly adorable.

At that moment, Owen returned home and saw his parents intensely focused on their phones, typing away on the sofa

Sincere reporting didn't work, they resorted to fighting back in the chat.

They were so absorbed they didn't even notice Owen coming in.

Owen asked, "Dad, Mom, what are you doing?"

Lucy responded without looking up, "We're busy! Someone insulted your sister. Grab your phone and help us reply!"

Owen frowned. "What"

Sebastian chimed in, "What? Don't you know your sister had a match today! As her big brother, you should care more about her!"

2/3

Chapter 182

Finally processing the situation, Owen asked, “Oh, I know. Eliana told me about it. What happened? Who insulted her?”

He walked over and saw the livestream still running, with the chat scrolling rapidly. Somehow, his parents managed to spot a few mean comments about Eliana amidst the flood of messages.

With a resigned sigh, Owen suggested, “Why bother with a few random haters? Just report them.”

Lucy huffed. “We did! But the platform said it didn’t count as harassment

Owen paused, then casually proposed, “Well, why not just buy the company? Then we can mute anyone we want.”

Lucy slapped her thigh, exclaiming. “You’re right! We were so mad we didn’t even think of that Honey!”

Without hesitation, Sebastian called his secretary, instructing them to investigate Polar Bear TV. While acquiring the company might take some time, buying a controlling stake was feasible.

As major shareholders, managing haters would be a breeze.

By the time Eliana returned home, everything had already been taken care of. The Davis Group had acquired a significant stake in Polar Bear TV, becoming its largest shareholder.

Every hater’s account was swiftly banned.

Afterward, Eliana came home. She greeted, “Mom, Dad, I’m back! Owen, you’re here too! We won the match!”

Lucy put down her phone and rushed over with a beaming smile. “Eliana, you’re home! Your dad and I watched the livestream tonight. You were amazing, our precious star!”

Chapter 183

Sebastian said. “Yeah Eliana. I watched the competition too! So cool?”

This all felt like a routine for Eliana, but being surrounded by her family’s praises embarrassed her

She still only made it to the finals, and haven’t won yet. Don’t praise me too much”

Lucy said, "Of course, you can win! Who could be better than my daughter!"

Eliana replied. "Thanks, Mom"

Lucy hugged Eliana's shoulders. "Oh, and don't take those nasty comments online seriously. Don't let them affect you. You're the best."

Nasty comment? After all she went through, Eliana couldn't care less about online haters. She wasn't bothered at all.

But unexpectedly, her family cared a lot.

Eliana smiled and said, "Mom, I won't be affected by them at all. Don't worry

Sebastian said, "That's good. That even if you are affected, it doesn't matter. I have already invested in Polar Bear TV. In the future, those who talk nonsense will have their accounts banned"

Eliana was stunned, "What? Bought shares

Owen said. "Yeah. When I came back. I saw Mom and Dad arguing with the internet haters on the couch. Later, they just bought shares and banned all their accounts. Problem solved."

Eliana was stunned, thinking "Wow, that's quite a power move."

Eliana hesitated and asked. "But isn't investing like that a bit impulsive? What if it results

Lucy patted Eliana's shoulder and comforted her, "Honey, you don't need to worry about that. Our family has money, and Polar Bear TV has promising prospects. Trust your dad. Leave professional matters to the professionals"

With Davis Group's investment, Polar Bear TV would only get better.

Hearing this. Eliana nodded and smiled. "Okay."

Everyone laughed. Then, Sebastian suddenly remembered something and asked, "By the way, Eliana, about your cafe. Would you like to turn it into a franchise?"

"A franchise?" Eliana had never considered that

She originally bought the cafe to help Lily and her husband. Later, as business improved, it not only broke even but also turned a profit.

Although the profit was nothing compared to Davis Group's massive wealth, it was enough to make Eliana financially independent without relying on her family.

Now, Sebastian was asking if she wanted to become seriously wealthy Owen said, "Eliana, small businesses are worth a try. It won't take much of your time anyway!

Sebastian added, "Exactly! I will help you."

After some thought, Eliana decisively nodded. "Sure! Thank you, Dad!"

Sebastian laughed heartily. "No need to thank me. As long as my precious daughter is happy, that's all that matters."

Little did Eliana know that her decision would eventually make Sunset Cafe a leading brand in the coffee industry.

The finals lineup was already published on Crossdoom's official website,

The four teams were prominently featured on the homepage banner.

During the school week, Eliana continued her usual routine, attending classes, eating, and training.

Meanwhile, Willow and Wendy thoroughly enjoyed being admired on campus

"Why didn't Hana go on stage? Show the seal wa?"

It meant she's busy preparing for the championships, outlining for Hasboc speeches

"Elana isn't just a top-tier student. Last semester, she was also the best speaker in the school's shop activities

Meanwhile, at the same time

After finishing her speech, Eliana wiped the light sweat from her forehead with a towel.

Stella grabbed a water bottle nearby and tossed it toward and back. "Hinabwie"

Eliana said, "HunksTM"

Stella replied, "Your work on"

Stella walked over and said. "There's a speech going out at the main auditorium when"

Eliana took a sip of water, sat on the bench, and strolled up her path a bit slower. Her valves were familiar, with even the ta viuble

Eliana said, "It's their time to shine, let them have it"

Stella remarked, "I'll be sure to get the company invitation, they wouldn't have fouled the shaman"

Diana replied, "That's not how it works. The way you think if they invited one, these two monks would have found a way"

If Eliana had gone alone, Willow and Wendy wouldn't have let it slide. They're likely to stir up trouble again.

Letting them go was fine. Eliana never wanted to be on stage in the first place.

Stella thought about an incident. "True, they can't stand seeing you doing well, but focus on training belongs to the club"

and win that fight

"Okay" Eliana took off her jacket, revealing an elegant cleavage and her waist

Stella immediately noticed it. It was SE

It was so beautiful she couldn't look away

She exclaimed, "Eliana, your bracelet is gorgeous"

Eliana glanced at her wrist and smiled. "Yeah, my mom bought it for me when they went to Poblana"

Stella said, "It's stunning! Can I take a look"

ake a closer look!”

Eliana took it off and handed it to her. Siella carefully received it Even as someone unfamiliar with emeralds, Melli could tell this piece was valuable. She held it cautiously, afraid of damaging it.

The emerald was of top quality, flawless to the naked eye, with different hors of green pattern decorating it. It almost looked unreal.

Stella asked, “It’s emerald, right?”

Bluna replied, “Yes, how did you know? –

Mella returned the bracelet and, knowing Eliana well, blurted out, “Well, obviously! You wouldn’t wear glass jewelry”

“If I had something this precious, I wouldn’t even dare wear it out Eliana said, “It’s just decoration. Whether it’s glass or emerald, it’s meant to adorn people:

Stella replied, “Trir. Maybe I’ll get a crystal bracelet from a boutique someday. I heard rose quartz attracts romance!”

They chatted and laughed as they rested before leaving the tennis court together.

As they left, they carried their jackets

Earlier, Eliana had worn the bracelet, but her long-sleeved jacket had covered it, keeping it hidden.

Now that she’d taken off her jacket, the emerald’s shimmering brilliance was impossible to miss.

As the weather warmed up in Dratora City over the next few days. Eliana didn’t wear her jacket. Many members of the tennis club spotted the bracelet on her wrist

Unlike Stella, most didn't know Ellana's bracelet was emerald and assumed it was fancy glass jewelry.

Seeing how stunning it looked on her, some boys thought they had bought it from a nearby boutique and rushed there to get similar bracelets for their girlfriends.

By sheer coincidence, this caused a sales boom for the local boutiques' flashy glass bracelets.

Chapter 184

Bracelets suddenly became popular at school, and Willow noticed. The class also started discussing glass bracelets.

This Friday, Willow came to class wearing her emerald bracelet. The jade glimmered radiantly, unlike ordinary glass beads. As soon as she came into the classroom with her emerald bracelet, she deliberately held her sleeve up, hoping the person next to her would notice. The classmates in the back row saw it and whispered to each other.

"Willow's bracelet is so beautiful and sparkly! I wonder where she got it"

"Her bracelet is really stunning! It's prettier than mine. Look at the luster and shine"

"Why don't we ask her where she bought it after class?"

"Will she tell us?"

"Willow is easy-going. I think she will."

"Okay"

Class dismissed. Those girls gathered around Willow's seat.

"Willow, your bracelet is so beautiful! Can I ask where you bought it?"

On the side, Wendy touched up her makeup with an air cushion puff and glanced at Willow's wrist with a sneer. She knew Willow would flaunt the bracelet, and there it was. What's so special about it anyway? she thought Willow's goal was achieved. She pretended to be surprised. "Ah! You mean this bracelet?"

"Yes."

“Bracelets are popular now. Yours is the best—looking one. Where did you buy it? Can you tell us? We want to buy the same one

Willow covered her mouth and smiled. “I bought this in Bobhana.”

Feeling suddenly superior, Sharryl and Cluarlene, who were seated nearby, remarked, “Willow bought that braceles on her summer trip to Bobhana. Just give up. You wouldn’t be able to get one “Yes, bracelets have only recently become popular, but Willow bought hers a long time ago.

They kept flattering her. “It seems that Willow is at the forefront of fashion!”

Willow was very happy to be flattered by them and said a linte embarrassedly, “Oh, it’s not as exaggerat ed as you say. Bracelets have always been classic. But I did buy this one in Bobhana. If you want to buy it, it’s a little hard.”

The female classmates looked at each other and thought to themselves. “It’s just a glass bracelet. Even if it was bought in Bobhana, what’s the big deal? Willow looked down on them too much.

Among the girls who came to ask, there was one whose family was well—off, Hearing Willow’s words, she was a little unhappy. “Willow, you can tell us where you bought it. We can just find a purchasing agent to buy it. It’s just a matter of spending more money”

Willow chuckled, teasing. “Trust me, you won’t be able to buy it. Even with a purchasing agent, it’s impossible”

The girl was speechless.

“Is it a limited edition?”

Willow waved her hand in front of them. “It’s one of a kind,” she said. “There’s literally only one in the entire world.”

Willow laughed and looked at the person with a hint of disdain in her eyes. “This is not glass! This is emerald. You’ve obviously never seen emerald

Sharryl and Charlene, who were beside her, burst into shrill laughter.

Eliana and Stella, packing their textbooks and computers in the back row, turned their attention to the shrill laughter coming from the front.

Chapter 184

“Eliana, what’s so funny? Are they alright? They seem really worked up,” whispered Stella.

Eliana happened to see the bracelet on Willow’s wrist, “She’s showing off her bracelet. It has nothing to do with us. game today, and tomorrow is the final”

Stella said, “Hey, I got the ticket to the gym. I’ll go to the scene to cheer you on in the finals.”

Let’s go to training. It’s the last

Eliana was shocked that Stella got a ticket to the final. The tickets must be really hard to come by! The fact that Stella went to get one herself just shows how much elfon she put in.

Eliana and Stella left the classroom. Willow and the others continued to show off in the classroom.

“What? This is emerald? Not glass_”

“Of course not,” Willow scoffed. “How could something as ordinary as glass compare to this? This is a genuine emerald! Of quite good quality. Class could never replicate this natural beauty. Honestly, nothing artificial can compare, even crystals have flaws!”

Wendy touched up her makeup next to Willow. She couldn’t stand Willow’s showing off any longer, so she got up and left the classroom. Willow didn’t react much when she saw Wendy leave.

Sharryl said. “Yes, and this bracelet was a gift from Willow’s parents”

Charlene said, “Willow, how much did you pay for this bracelet? It must be very expensive!”

Willow chuckled. “I wasn’t that expensive just close close to three million dollars.”

“Wow!

The two lackeys exclaimed in surprise.

A few girls who came over to ask about the price were immediately put off, and the atmosphere became very awkward.

Willow held her wrist out and said, “Look, it’s not that I don’t want to tell you, but even if I did, emerald is a finite resource. You can’t compare it to something like artificial glass or crystal” She continued to show off “Actually, my parents wanted to buy me a violet jade Bracelet before, but I didn’t like it, so I didn’t take it the girls fell silent since they couldn’t bear to see her continue showing off. They couldn’t take it anymore and prepared to leave.

All

Shacryl said. “Willow, bracelets are so popular these days, but yours is the best-looking! It can beat all the bracelets in the school?”

Charlene said, “Of course! Willow’s bracelet has an emerald on it. How can it be compared with glass!”

The girls who were about to leave couldn’t help but turn around and say, “It’s not as exaggerated as you said! Actually, bracelets become popular because of the tennis club. Eliana wore a beautiful one. Then my boyfriend bought me one. Whoever saw her bracelet thought it was beautiful. I think that’s the best-looking one.”

“Yes, it’s a pity that Eliana usually wears a coat in the classroom, so I can’t see the bracelet. I went to the tennis club the day before yesterday and saw that Eliana’s bracelet was shining gorgeously. The color is perfect. It looks better than yours.”

Willow thought, ‘Better than mine? How is that possible? There was no bracelet of better quality than mine on the auction in Bobhana!

Willow insisted, “Fake Mine is good enough. Such a shiny one must be made of glass”

Willow stated firmly. “The last time I attended an auction in Bobhana. It’s widely considered the world’s premier jewelry event. I didn’t see a single piece of emerald with such quality. It must be glass. You must be mistaken?”

One girl said, “Are you saying it doesn’t exist just because you haven’t seen it?”

“Yes, I’ve heard about top-quality emeralds with gorgeous color but it’s in demand. I don’t think Eliana can have one. If it’s real, it may be extremely expensive.”

Even an ordinary emerald was rare enough: Eliana’s bracelet must be valuable. Willie gritted her teeth, “I don’t believe it” the girls clicked their tongues, “As long as it’s an emerald, it’s expensive. Even one with culinary quality is worth their great shine. It’s hard to tell how much it costs...” They glanced at Willow with some disdain.

Then

They couldn’t afford any emeralds but they just disdained Willow, so they took the chance to mock her. Those girls packed their things and left classroom

Willow sat in her seat, Taming. Seeing Willow’s expression, Sheryl Charlene hurried to confront her, “Willow, don’t think too much about it. How could Eliana possibly afford such an expensive emerald? Besides, you bought this bracelet at an auction. Even if there is an emerald of that quality, Eliana can’t find a place to buy one

Sheryl nodded. “I heard that the owners of auction houses usually keep really good stuff for themselves. Those things can’t even be auctioned, so Eliana’s bracelet must be made of glass” Willow didn’t feel better after hearing their words

If, as Sheryl said, all the good things were kept by the auction house owners, wouldn’t that mean that the bracelet Willow wore was good enough either?

On the tennis court,

Elara, who was playing tennis, sneezed twice in a row.

Elsie saw Eliana sneezing as she walked by. “What’s wrong, Eliana?” she asked. “Did you catch a cold with the temperature change?”

Elana rubbed the tip of her nose. “Probably not.”

At this moment, Landon and Cameron circled the tennis court from outside.

“Elana” Eliana turned her head. They called Ellana. “Let’s go to the internet cafe Eliana replied, “Okay””

Thomas and Adam were waiting for them at the east gate. Thinks stood aside smoking, while Ailam was looking or his phone,

Suddenly. Thomas felt someone come up beside hiele umed his head and saw it was Natalia, Natalia to in font of him with her hands her pockets. Thomas asked, “What’s up?”

Natalia lowered her eyelashes and said in a cold voice, “It’s my birthday nest werk, Tell Landon”

Thomas asked. “What do you mean? Why don’t you tell him yourself?”

Natalia turned to leave. “You tell him. It’s up to him whether he wants to come or poi...”

Thomas was speechless

Adam noticed Natalia leaving out of the comer of his eye

e and turned to ask Thomas, “What’s wrong?”

Thomas shook his cigarette. “Who knows? She said it’s her birthday next week and ask ed me to tell Landon. It’s up to him if he wants to come.” I seemed that Natalia still hadn’ t given up on Landon.

It was estimated that after Landon clarified the rumors about him and Elians ou the foru m, Natalia realized that she had misunderstood Landon and wanted to reconcile with hi m.

Soon, Landon, Cameron, and Eliana arrived at the east gate together.

As they got in the car, Thomas mentioned Natalia’s arrival. He then teased Lalon, “Hey, do you remember what day it is next week?”

Landon was stunned. “What? You’re giving birth?”

Thomas said. “Screw you! Think about it carefully?”

Landon thought about it for a while but couldn’t remember. “Hurry up and tell ine. I’m not in the mood to guess”

Thomas grinned slyly. “It’s your ex’s birthday,”

112 PM

Chapter 185

"I have so many exes. How do I know whose |

"It's Natalia's birthday"

"None of my business."

"She came here specifically to ask me to tell you about it and said it's up to you to go or not."

Tandon was silent for a moment. It's been so long since we broke up. Why should I go to her birthday party! What's the point of going there? Giving her a gift!

Eliana fastened her seat belt in the back seat and listened to their conversation without saying a word.

They arrived at the internet cafe soon after. They went in to play games until almost nine o'clock in the evening. They sent Eliana home together and then went home separately.

The following day, the final began. Willow, feeling hurt after classmates made fun of her bracelet and compared it unfavorably to Eliana's, went online to search for something

To her surprise, she did see one with the same quality as Eliana's. However, Willow still didn't believe that Eliana's bracelet was a real one. It must be

Before the finals, Willow had prepared two strategies, one targeting Eliana and the other aimed at Wendy. She was very confident that she would win.

After the live broadcast started, the four captains went on stage to draw lots. When it was Willow's turn to draw, she pretended to be polite and said to Eliana, "Eliana, you go first. Eliana didn't hesitate and drew a number ball.

The viewers began to discuss this.

She let Eliana draw first. That's too hypocritical."

"What is the relationship between Willow and Eliana? They seem to play

"Can't they just be close in private? Is it a crime to be p polite nowadays

The ball Eliana drew was number 1. Ruby was number three, and Wendy was number four. Therefore, Willow was the last one, which means she was number two. Then number one VS number two and number three VS number four

The host said, "Okay, the final matchup list is our Tigers VS Nice. Flowers VS Flames, Let's give them some time to get prepared

When Eliana left the stage, she gave Willow a meaningful look. Willow was happy in her heart.

"Do you think you will win?"

Eliana, I'm not the one who will be losing

Then let's wait and see

On the other side, Ruby and Wendy left the stage together. Ruby looked at Wendy with hostility in her eyes.

Wendy whispered. "A good-for-nothing is still a good for nothing even if they crawl out of the trash heap. You don't really think that you will really be noble since then?"

Ruby's eyes narrowed. She sneered and said, "It's not a terrible thing even though I'm not noble. But if a good-for-nothing regarded herself noble, that's terrible." She paused, and said slowly, word by word, "Wendy, do you think you're worthy?"

"You!"

Ruby turned and walked off the stage.

The Gewer

wers then began to discuss this

"What's going on? Looks like Wendy and Ruby are quarreling.

Upon returning to the lounge, Willow immediately messaged Six Noir, She urged the sa cker to immediately expose Eliana's scandal, hyping i Trending toques, and spreading it to the live broadcast

Eliana received Willow's message and naturally did not refuse. Okay, just wait for the go od news.]

Okay, just wait for the good news]

In the lounge, Eliana opened her laptop and began working. Sive showed Stella all the i nformation they had gathered and asked her to get a recording of Lara's voice before sh e reported to the organizers

The hyping on Twitter worked, and Eliana's hard work all took effect. She spent all the i llegal money from the black market entirely on boosting her Internet byping and it instan tly hit the top.

At the same time, the assistant saw the trending topic on Twitter and happened to recei ve Stella's anonymous recording. He was so scared and lost.

If there was no evidence, the organizer might have pretended not to know, but now the evidence was ri ght there.

Willow was

was happily applying her makeup in the lounge, anticipating her moment in the spotligh t to address Eliana's scandal and the flashing cameras. But she had no idea the situatio n estside had already shifted

The assistant swiftly grabbed the phone, maneuvered through the photographers statio ned under the stage, and hurried to locate the director "There is a big trouble!"

The director asked. "What's going on?" He smiled as the number of viewers in the lives tream soared, which he believed was a good sign.

The assistant hurriedly explained, "There is a scandal about the leader of one final team, and people are rushing in for this

The director was taken aback. "What" Then he noticed the comments, which were all ab out school bullying and a deaf girl. The competition had reached the finals and they coul dn't afford any incidents "What's going on?"

The competition had reached the finals and they couldn't afford any incidents.

“Hurry up, block those words. This is terrible!”

The staff next to him quickly added the banned words.

The viewers instantly decreased by half, but it backfired on Twitter.

Then the director began to ask what was going on.

The assistant handed him the phone and played Lara’s voice recording.

The director frowned and then went to Twitter in check the current situation. Things are urgent. Willow is really causing me trouble! But why now!”

“Things are urgent, Willow is really causing me trouble! But why now““

The assistant asked. “What should we do now?”

The director took a deep breath. “How long until the final starts!”

“Less than fifteen minutes”

The director immediately stood up from his stool. ‘Let’s go! Find her. If this matter is not resolved before I get back, let Team Two take her team’s place!”

The director led a bunch of people and rushed to Willow’s lounge.

At this time, no one inside was surfing the internet so Willow had no idea what had hap pened, Bang! A loud knock echoed from the door, prompting Willow to signal a teammate to op en it.

Bursting into the lounge, the director and assistant were shocked to find Willow still appl ying makeup, “Willow,” the director exclaimed. “There’s been an incident with your team , and you’re still caring about your makeup?”

Chapter 186

Willow paused. “What do you mean?”

The assistant added. “Hurry up and check your phonet Someone is exposing your past bullying online. It’s a top trending topic now, and people are rushing into our live broadc ast for this.”

Willow was stunned. How was this possible? I have solved it with money. How It must be that bitch Stellat

Willow quickly checked Twitter on her phone and saw that s school bullying was the top trending topic. Clicking on it, she saw that an ac posted a lot of evidence. And judging from the views, it must be manipulated hyping

But the more she examined the materials, the more convinced she was that they didn't match what Stella had shown her earlier. This time it was evens more comprehensive. That bitch! I knew it! You didn't give it all out"

Willow's eyes narrowed, a fierce expression on her face. "Director, I really slon't know w hat's going on. What should I do now?" Her eyes were

reteary

with lear

Her eyes were teary with fear.

The director was agitated "Willow, who on earth have you offended? This person is targ eting you at the crucial moment of the finals. They must have a grudge against you"

"Also, someone has anonymously provided us with a recording of the girl that you bullie d. She also said that if we don't make a statement, she will release the recording online.

The assistant added. "The live broadcast is already under immense pressure and things are escalating quickly. We've temporarily banned certain words to control the situation, but it won't be effective for long. We need to find another solution."

Willow's voice trembled. "What should we do?"

She was confused. "How could this happen! Shouldn't it be Eland's scandal that is bein g exposed now! Why mine? Is there something wrong with this hacker!

Willow immediately took out her phone and senta message to Six Noir, but as soon as s he sent it, she found she had been blacklisted.

Willow was furious and her body trembled. No maner how stupid she could be, now she must have realized she had been tricked. She was shooting herself in the fact

The director said. I strongly suggest you issue a public apology online right now. Ignoring this will only make things worse, and it could even affect the performance tomorrow, We don't want to be bombarded with negative comments online"

The collective power of the people was immense, not to mention how severe this scandal was.

Willow's assault on a girl from a single-parent family was so severe that resulted in sensorineural deafness. That girl had already been facing upship in an impoverished family. Her mother worked tirelessly as a garbage collector to support her education.

Imagining that it was his own cluck being bullied like this at school, the director could not wait to tear Willow apart.

Chapter 187

"Apologize!" Willow's eyes widened. "Why should I apologize? I'm not

The director frowned, surprised by Willow's lack of remorse even right before the crisis. "If you don't apologize.

Willow turned her eyes away in disgust.

The director huffed. "Well, no matter how you solve this matter, your team won't be able to play anymore!"

how can

we resolve this issue?"

Willow was shocked. "What? Why? We're about to reach the finals. And now you're saying I can't just because you said so?"

We can't let one bad

The director glared at her. "Then what? Now that this has happened, do you know what people would do if I let you show up! We apple ruin the whole event!"

The director didn't bother to talk nonsense with Willow and left the lounge with his people.

The team members sitting next to Willow felt a little regretful because they were all big fans of this game, but now they were stopped in the final

But they were not at a loss. After all, they were hired, so even if they couldn't participate in the competition, it was just a tiny pity, but not a real loss. This was Willow's personal problem, not a breach of contract on their part, so their profits wouldn't be affected.

In contrast, Willow suffered from a huge loss this time. She had spent a lot of money searching for Six Noir on the black market, recruiting players from the club bribing members of Wendy's team, and dealing with the incident involving Stella.

But now, she ended up with money lost and game disqualification

She closed her eyes and grew furious as she thought about these messy things. All of a sudden, she waved her arm and swept all the cosmetics on the table to the ground.

After leaving the lounge, the director said to the assistant behind him, "Test an announcement immediately that we are disqualifying Team Nice and banning them from participating in any future competitions."

"But with the competition format disrupted, there are only three teams left. How to finish the rest?" the assistant asked worriedly.

The director was also troubled, Changing the rules during a live broadcast would disrupt more than just this competition and affect sponsors' advertisement scheduling

The director paused for a moment and then said. "So let the three teams play. The first two teams will compete, and the winner will then face the third one"

This would be equivalent to a round-robin competition. The first round determined the winner, and then the remaining two teams would compete, and the team that won would be the runner-up.

"That's the only way now," the assistant said.

The director urged, "Hurry up and inform the other three teams to get ready. We don't have as much time as before. Let them be prepared!"

"Okay" The assistant hurried back to inform the other three teams in their respective rooms.

Eliana had been closely monitoring the online comments and trending topics after exposing Willow's scandal. Let's see how you're going to get out of it. Willow, this is your karma

This incident was too severe and might be very likely to ruin Willow's reputation.

The assistant knocked on the door and entered, saying hurriedly. "Are you ready?"

Eliana put away her phone "Yeah, got in

The assistant, after informing one team, rushed off to the next bustling about until everyone was notified.

Ruby's team was originally the second, and they weren't expecting their turn to come so soon, still unaware of what was happening. "Nice's qualification has been canceled? So suddenly. Why?"

They looked at each other. "Nice is out, so wouldn't it be us and Tigers again!"

This was the second time Flowers VS Tigers.

2/2

Chapter 187

Ruby's whole team fell into silence. After all when they they played against Tigers last time, they had seen how capable Eliana's team was.

Fortunately, as the captain. Ruby calmed down. "Well, that's it. There's nothing we can do now. We're about to have a tough battle. Don't be afraid. Come on!"

Within a few minutes, the official website of Crossdoom issued an urgent announcement of the cancellation of Nice's eligibility

Willow was

was in the lounge, holding her phone and staring at the immense negative comments while biting her nails anxiously. "Damn it"

People praised Crossdoom for their wise decision and some also expressed sympathy for the other members of Nice who were negatively implicated by Willow's fault. Though netizens saw their strength after watching several games, it was still a pity that they didn't make it to the finals.

Now that their qualification had been canceled, there was no point for the other four team members to stay here. "Ms. Garcia, we'll go out first. If you have anything else, please contact our boss"

After saying that, the four of them left the lounge one after another. Now that everyone was gone, only Willow was left alone in the room

She silently thought of all the possible solutions in her mind.

A while later, Wendy swept past the lounge with her teammates. Her chin held high as she cast a disdainful glance at Willow, who was sitting inside dejectedly.

Just now, Wendy also received the news that Willow was disqualified from the competition due to school bullying. She sneered in her heart, and at the same time, she estimated that someone must be plotting against Willow behind her back. "You guys go ahead. I'll be there in a minute"

"Okay." Her teammates went away to the competition venue.

Wendy gently kicked open the ajar door of the lounge with her toes, then walked in with her arms crossed. Her tone was indifferent and her eyes were contemptuous "Willow, you seem to be in big trouble this time!

Hearing her voice, Willow turned her head, her eyes met Wendy's and she said angrily. "It's set up! It must be Eliana and Stella, those two bitches!"

She believed that Stella had deliberately used the information to lure her before under Eliana's instruction. At that time, she was so surprised to see that Stella had the information that she was afraid that it would be exposed, so she lost her mind.

But she couldn't figure out why the hacker betrayed her. Bribed by Eliana? How could that bitch be so capable!

Wendy asked. "What about that girl called Larat? Have you dealt with her?"

Willow answered, "I already looked for her before. That bitch has already left Dratora City. I can't find her, but if she dares to come back, I will kill her!"

Wendy leaned back on the edge of the sofa, "Let me give you a hand"

Willow's expression changed subtly. "What?"

Chapter 188

Wendy didn't want to see Willow get crushed so soon.

At school, they kept up their act as good friends, but outside of that, Wendy suspected Eliana was somehow involved. She still needed Willow to keep Eliana in check

What can

How asked with worry.

Wendy gave a slight frown. "It's not that big of a deal. People are talking about it just because of hype..."

She circled the sofa, grabbed a tissue, tore it in half, placed it on the table, and then removed the diamond hairpin from her hair. "Tell me, which one is more eye-catching, a piece of tissue or my hairpin?"

was suddenly enlightened. Wendy was implying that using another thing to draw away public attention from her bully scandal,

Her eyelashes fluttered. "I understand"

Wendy patted Willow's shoulder. "I've told you the method you go and do it yourself. I'm going. Good luck. After saying that, she walked out of the lounge

Hannah had been in the entertainment industry for so many years and Wendy had learned a lot of ways to manipulate public opinion. People were blind, stupid, and easy to fool.

Willow looked at Wendy's departing back, her eyes dark. She was not a fool and was sure that Wendy must have other motives for helping her.

Willow had previously bribed to force Wendy's team to lose in the finals, though she had originally planned to use this to her own advantage. Even if her team had been disqualified, she couldn't let the money she spent go to waste. Since she couldn't win, she had to block Wendy from winning Willow took out her phone and called the club. The entertainment department had just heard about Willow's disqualification and asked, "Ms. Garda, about your earlier instruction

Willow said coldly. "As usual. Make her lose."

Understood."

The call ended.

Wendy thought she was the one who sat back and enjoyed the rewards of others labor. But who would have the last bugh was not certain yet.

But who would I have the last laugh was not certain yet

To cover up Willow's scandal with another one was not a hand job for her.

Back then, she had paid close attention to Eliana, so she also learned a lot about the entertainment industry and celebrity scandal. She always closely followed entertainment news and easily recalled several major scandals that had caused earthquakes on the Internet, which appeared more attractive than bers.

Willow smiled, quickly recalling scandals from that period. She then found the number for an entertainment magazine online and called to share

The news

At the competition venue, Eliana's team took the stage and met Ruby's. Eliana was glad they had advanced out of the loser's bracket in their second patch but she was determined to win the championship,

After smiling at each other, both sides took seats

The camera zoomed in. As the match began. Crossdoom's official website also issued a n announcement, so the comments slowly returned to normal

I like both teams]

Eliana, come on! Tigers, you will win!

The two most outstanding female captains in this year's competition met again, which marked a historical moment.

Wendy sar calmly underneath

Thas time, Ruby was very cautious and did not dare to slack off, not even for a second. But Eliana was very relaxed and played with ease.

Chapter 188

Finally, almost 25 minutes into the match, Eliana's team knocked out Flowers archer, ate judgment and effective assault

Ruby's team had been extremely careful. She couldn't believe that Eliana could make such an accurate,

With the archer killed, a full-blown battle was.

is imminent. Flowers couldn't withstand the attack and wanted to retreat, but it was too late. Soon, they were wiped out.

Sometimes a match could be decided by a single move.

Ruby sighed

That teammate who played the archer was very guilty. I'm sorry."

Ruby smiled at her, "It

"It doesn't matter. We st matter. We still have the second place.

Their original goal was to beat Wendy. Although they were a bit disheartened by their loss to Eliana, there was no shame in losing to the best.

"The game is over. The first round winner. Tigers!"

Under the new rules, the initial winner was temporarily safe. The champion would be determined after the second and third teams competition. In other words, if Ruby and her teammates won the game with Wendy's team, then she would be second and Wendy third

If Wendy lost, then Eliana, who previously beat Ruby, would be the undoubted champion. If Wendy won, her team had to compete with Eliana to determine the final winner. So the second match with Wendy's team was of great significance.

Tigers won again. As they left the stage, Eliana hugged Ruby.

Ruby smiled. "Congratulations, you won again."

Eliana encouraged her. "Good luck in the next round-

After they left the stage, the archer on Ruby's team who had been killed by Eliana was awed by her performance and asked, "Eliana, can you tell me why you knew I would go that way?"

Eliana

turned around and said to her in a calm tone, "I have read your information and also watched your previous competitions. You are very good at playing the archer, but you have also developed some habitual strategies that you may not be aware of. I found it and that's what happened.

"Habit is your biggest weakness" Eliana had seriously studied everyone's videos, and she did not underestimate any one of them, And this was why it would never be a shame to be defeated by her

That girl understood and sighed. "Well I got it"

Eliana nodded, "I hope you will defeat Flames,"

Defeating Wendy was the goal of Flowers, so they would naturally go all out. However, they were destined to win because there was a big troublemaker Willow.

In other words, Flowers had already been the runner-up without any suspense

Chapter 189

After the first round, there was a ten-minute break.

Eliana returned to the longue and took out her phone. In the past twenty minutes during the game, Willow had already contacted the media to do public relations

The top trending search on Twitter was replaced by scandals about a famous band consisting of three A- list male singers, who got involved in homosexual affairs and impotency.

This band had been popular for years. Thus, it caused a massive online earthquake, instantly becoming a top trending topic and captivating people's attention.

In addition, Crossdoom did not want to be implicated by Willow, so they were also deliberately trying to suppress her scandal. Then the trending chart was occupied by the band while Willow's name gradually disappeared.

This was completely within Eliana's prediction. She never thought that she could bring down Willow by relying on this matter

Her goal was to use this incident to ensure that if Willow ever became famous, anyone searching for her online would find information about her dirty past and immoral behavior. This would be a permanent stain on her record

Now that she had achieved her goal, Eliana was satisfied.

A message popped up from Stella (Eliana, Willow is so embarrassing on Twitter. That feels so good! We won a complete victory!)

Eliana replied: [Are you still there! Let's get together for dinner tonight.]

[Okay!] Stella readily agreed.

The second round soon began.

After a typical start, Wendy's team encountered several setbacks due to Willow's secretive sabotage.

Wendy had a headache and was on the verge of fury, but she endured it in front of the cameras. She hadn't forgotten that this was live broadcasting now. Once she lost her temper on the spot, she would shoot to fame just like Willow.

Despite their best efforts, the players on her team couldn't maintain a convincing performance, ultimately leading to their defeat in 30 minutes.

Frustration bubbled over, and Wendy glared at her teammates.

The host asked both sides to shake hands and hug each other

Ruby repeated to Wendy exactly what she had said to her before

Wendy, clenching her jaw in anger, stormed off the stage before the host could even finish speaking

The comments were all mocking that Wendy was just a narrow-minded loser who had no courage to face failure. After all, Flowers lost before, but Ruby behaved generously, completely unlike Wendy's grumpy attitude.

Wendy initially believed that defeating Flowers would allow her to openly defeat Eliana on stage once more and she would be the well-deserved champion. But to her shock, she didn't even get second place.

She had an intuition that the problem might be with her team, so when she returned to the lounge, she immediately took out her phone to call the club, demanding a full refund

The club passed the buck and declined to issue a refund.

Thus, the competition came to a successful end.

In the evening, the stadium celebrated the winner with a fireworks display and a rendition of the theme song

Eliana stood on stage, basking in the applause and admiration of the crowd while Willow watched her shining on the stage from a dark corner under the stage, clenching her fists in anger.

As Eliana raised her hand, her loose sleeve fell back, revealing the emerald bracelet on her wrist.

Willow's eyes widened. She saw the bracelet on Eliana's wrist and then looked back at the one on hers. Judging from its luster, Eliana's bracelet was genuine emerald.

Chapter 189

"How is it possible? That bruch? Willow turised around angrily and left the gym in a but t

The next day, Elianas bracelet was trending on Twitter.

Some people even wanted to buy the same one. When they searched with the picture, it was found that her bracelet was not made up of agate of glass, but real emeral

Not to mentions hisling the same one, even if they could, it would be impossible to get it without a budget of 10 million dollars. Acquiring this bracelet was far from easy, at high —qualay pieces rarely appeared even at auctions,

The screenshot of the consultant's appraisal had gone viral online.

Thana didn't even do anything but successfully shattered the minor that her bracelet was made up of glass. The girls Willow had ridiculed had been showing off the screenshot for says, secretly mocking her terrible recognition and taste.

Willow's face was burning with shame and hatred grew deeper in her mind.

Willow couldn't forget how Thiana and Stella used Lara to ruin her reputation. As for the hacker who betrayed her, she planned to go to the black market to find another hacker for help, but she just found that Six Noir had been wanted for a long time.

The

When the second Willow saw the wanted notice, she was dumbfounded. She couldn't believe that she had picked up a criminal,

But she didn't realize that Six Noir became a wanted criminal purely because of her, but since Six Noir was already wanted and the black market was still collecting bounties, she could get a reward for providing any information.

Even though she didn't need the reward money, she was happy to get revenge on Six Noir. So she contacted the people on the black market directly and provided Six Noir's WhatsApp ID.

The black market had been struggling to find the whereabouts of Six Noir. They had sent out quite a lot of top hackers worldwide to investigate, but not a single one was found even though the wanted notice had been issued for so long, which was a real humiliation to their reputation.

Therefore, Willow solved their urgent need. They immediately sent people for investigation and located the IP address in Drators City, Monoesil.

Two days later, it was widely spread that Natalia invited everyone in the dance club to her birthday party, of course, including Willow and Wendy.

Natalia really wanted Lasten to go, but but she had a feeling he wouldn't, which made her extremely frustrated.

After their game competition, the company signed a contract with Elana for the subsequent filming of game posters and MVs and sincerely waited for Elana to finish this semester before they started filming during the winter vacation.

However, Willow's reputation was still severely affected by this scandal, and her reputation in school was not as perfect as before.

Elana not only gained popularity online but also stabilized her image as an excellent e-sports girl. In addition, she became a partner with the game company, which was enviable to all.

Chapter 190

Natalia's birthday party was also i o known as Isonstead University's socialite gathering.

Attending her party was a fantastic opportunity for all kinds of connections and benefits, regardless of whether the guests were considered real socialites because the guest list included a mix of individuals from affluent backgrounds

Anyway, it was an honor to go to Natalia's birthday party, and those who had the opportunity to celebrate together would surely enjoy a special

So Willow and Wendy, who were able to attend it, started showing off in class early that day.

Churlene asked, "Wendy, what are you doing?"

y answered. Ticking out the clothes

Wendy

Sharryl found it quite unusual. "Wendy, you have so many clothes and almost never repeat your clothes as yesterday. What happened now!"

Wendy turned her head. "I'm going to Natalia's birthday party

Charlene was surprised. "Wow! Really! I heard from the seniors that you could meet a lot of people at her birthday party, and it seems that the champagne there will cost tens of thousands of dollars a bottle. If only I could go and broaden my horizons!"

Sharryl sighed. "Well, I should have joined the dance club before,"

This time, all the dance club members were invited to Natalia's birthday party no matter who they were. Not everyone in the dance club was from a wealthy family and even ordinary people could also go and grab a sight of the rich life this time.

Wendy was

was also picking out clothes during class, and she ended up buying a lot

Sharryl teased. "Wendy, how do you make your choice?"

Wendy said casually, "Just buy everything until I'm tired."

News of Willow and Wendy attending Natalia's birthday party spread like wildfire, sparking envy among the whole class

The only ones in the school who received invitations were the dance club's members and those whose families had influence in Dratora City. However, in their class, only Willow and Wendy were invited, so they were quite smug-

"Actually, I was going home that day, but Natalia gave me a really warm invitation, so I had no choice but to go to her birthday party. The present is really a headache. I don't know what to give her

"I feel like our school can establish a hall of Eune"

"So everyone who gets invited could be in it?"

"Yes, but not including some people who weren't invited at all. No need to say the name"

"Not short of money, but why not invited? That's hilarious! I still remember how pompous she looked when wearing Enchance before"

They kept mocking from the front row, and from time to time, sharp laughter burst out

Stella covered her ears. "It's so noisy. Eliana, let's go to the library, Nobody cares about that stupid birthday party"

"OK" Eliana had been working on her laptop, completely unaware of what the people in front of her were talking about. Then she left the classroom with Stella to the library.

After the competition, Eliana was trying to figure out how to get rid of the black marker's arrest warrant. It wasn't a big problem, but would always pose a potential threat

She is sure that Willow would definitely expose her alternate WhatsApp account, and with this clue, the people on the black market would be able to find her location. Although it would take some time to find the exact IP address, she had to solve it as soon as possible, or it might lead to other unnecessary complications.

At the dance club, Yulila noticed that Natalia

she had been unhappy recently as if she had something on her mind.

She asked, "How are you? You look unhappy these days."

Natalia nodded. "I don't know whether Landon will come to my birthday party-

3:12 PM d

Chapter 190

Yubla said, "He should come, right?"

Natalia shook her head. "I don't know. I'm not sure if he will be there."

Yulila could tell that Natalia still had feelings for Landon. After all, he was her first love, and Landon was indeed enough to be a heartbreaker.

Valila advised. "If you invite Landon alone, he may refuse. So why not invite his good friends together."

Natalia glanced at Yulila, thinking she was too naive

Among the four of them, Thomas liked to attend parties the most, followed by Landon, and then Adam, while Cameron was the most difficult nor to deal with. Now she even couldn't make Landon say yes, not to mention the other three

Valila thought for a moment. "Actually, if you want to, there is one person who might be able to bring them all together"

Who Natalia tilted her head.

Thana."

Although Natalia didn't like Eliana and even hated her, to be honest, Eliana did have the ability to influence Landon and his bro

They had always thought that Eliana got along well with the four of them because she was Landon's girlfriend. But later, after Landon clarified their relationship, they realized that their affinity with Eliana might be a natural feeling

So, no matter how reluctant they were to admit it, Eliana was indeed the first and only girl to be absorbed into their group all these years. Whether it was in the same club, or in the game competition that just ended a few days ago, the four boys were always by Eliana's side. Eliana was the only exception in years, and might also be the key.

"If you want to convince Landon, maybe you can only invite Eliana. Once she agrees the four of them will probably go together. Yulla said.

Natalia pursed her lips. She didn't like Eliana, perhaps because their teachers were rivals with each other or because Eliana was the unique girl who could get along with the group of those four boys.

Anyway, it might be just out of her jealousy, so she couldn't be friends with Eliana and had no choice but to be enemies. But she would never admit her jealousy. It was a humiliation for her to invite Eliana to her birthday party.

She thought about it over and over again, but couldn't come up with an idea. "Is there really no other way?"

Yulila said, "So Cameron?"

Natalia dismissed this idea in her mind. Cameron was too cold and she tried to avoid him. Once she offended him, even her family would blame her.

"Let me think about it"

Eliana worked all afternoon and finally made progress. She found an IP address, a bar called Neon Night.

There was no time to waste. Eliana let out a sigh of relief as if she had solved a big problem. However, as soon as she closed her laptop, she saw a man sitting opposite her, which made her almost spit out her drink.
