Some influencers immediately seized this opportunity and went to the restaurant where Evangeline was having dinner while doing live streaming. A male live streamer, who had a lot of followers, said to the camera, "Guys, I'm at the restaurant where Evangeline is having dinner now. I'll wait for her to come out. If you give me gifts, I'll scold her!"

"You can decide what you want me to say. As long as you give me enough gifts, I will scold her according to your requirements!"

Some people immediately bought him gifts and told the live streamer what to say.

Someone said: [Scolding her is not enough. You should take off her pants and then shoot her from every angle. Let her try what she has done!] Some people echoed at once.

The live streamer said, "No, no. That's illegal. I don't have such a strong background like hers. If I get caught, I will be put in prison."

Someone said: [If you take off her pants, you can add me on WhatsApp. I'll transfer 200 thousand dollars to you! I've just won 2 million dollars. I can't bear to see a bad guy get away!]

[I'm not that rich, but I can support you with a gift!]

[Me too!]

[If you can punish Evangeline, you will get a lot of gifts!]

That live streamer's eyes lit up when he saw so many people supporting him. with money and gifts. He immediately said, "Okay! Since you all want that, I will uphold justice today! "If I'll be put in prison, don't forget me when I get out!"

"Remember to follow me!"

Many live streamers arrived one after another, and they were also doing the same thing. They asked their followers to buy them gifts and they would scold Evangeline as mouthpieces. Someone even prepared rotten eggs and was about to throw as many eggs as the gifts at Evangeline.

Someone even stole a bottle of feces water from the feces cart and was about to do the same thing. When he got enough gifts, he would splash the feces water on Evangeline. They weren't doing it for justice. They were just using it to earn money. After about an hour, Evangeline finally walked out of the restaurant. Although she was wearing a mask, her clothes were exactly the same as those in the video. Besides, there were two tall and handsome men beside her. It was difficult not to recognize her.

Those live streamers rushed to Evangeline and pointed their cameras at her at once.

They shouted, "Evangeline, what kind of background do you have? You hurt someone for no reason and slandered him. How did you get released so soon while the one you hurt is still detained?" "Evangeline, you are so disgusting! You're a morally corrupt person. You're not qualified to be a celebrity! You should donate all the money you've earned as a celebrity, get out of showbiz and never appear in public!" "That's not enough. You are prone to violence. For the safety of ordinary people, you should kill yourself! You're like a time bomb that will bring harm to ordinary people!"

"I heard that many people died in this year's Xtreme Survival. Since you've won the first place, you must have killed many people. You are a murderer! You deserve to die!"

"Even if you didn't kill anyone, the cameras have recorded you hurting and killing protected animals. This is enough to make you sentenced to death. Unfortunately, your background is strong enough to let you get away with it!"

"Evangeline, you've done so many evil things. Don't you feel guilty?"

"If I were you, I would have killed myself!"

All kinds of accusations and curses surrounded Evangeline. Those contents were all required by the audience on the live streamings.

After that, those live streamers began to approach Evangeline and were about to smash the things they had prepared in advance at her.

The man who was going to take off Evangeline's pants also found a chance to approach her from her back. He planned to attack her from behind when others attracted her attention.

Evangeline looked at them with a sneer, "Who the hell are you? You're not qualified to judge me.

"You think you can talk nonsense on the moral high ground just because you're shooting? Okay, I'll also take out my phone to shoot. Say what you just said again, and I will keep it as evidence. "Especially the part of me getting released from the police station because of my strong background. Say that clearly."

As Evangeline spoke, Dexter took out his phone and started to shoot.

Those live streamers didn't expect Evangeline to dare to talk back and even be so arrogant.

Evangeline glanced at them calmly, and the crowd felt a threatening pressure at once. They were too scared to speak or move.

Evangeline sneered. "You don't wanna say anything? If so, keep your mouth shut from now on. Shut the hell up.

"What I did abroad conformed to the local law. No one can convict me. Who the hell do you think you are? How are you gonna convict me? With your brains that are full of shit?

"You should be glad that I'm not the kind of person you said. Otherwise, you would have been killed after provoking me with your tiny little strength." Everyone's face darkened and they all felt ashamed.

They thought, 'We're here to punish evil and uphold justice, but we were frightened by her glance. How embarrassing! Our followers are still watching.'

Meanwhile, their followers were commenting crazily. Although they were on different channels, what they were saying was almost the same.

[Damn it! How dare Evangeline be so arrogant after doing so many evil things?! She is absolutely lawless! Go teach her a lesson! Eliminate the evil and uphold the justice!]
[Slap her! Stop her from talking nonsense!]

[Strip her naked and make her parade on the street!]

[Beat her up and make her beg for mercy!]

[Do it! I'll pay you 3,000 dollars for each punch! I'm rich enough to avoid

it!]

[Do it! I'll buy you gifts if you do it!]

Those live streamers, who were scared and wanted to retreat, became courageous again when they saw the comments of netizens.

Those who were holding rotten eggs, vegetables, and feces water, immediately raised their hands and were about to smash them at Evangeline.

Evangeline quickly squatted down and picked up some small stones next to her. She slightly filliped, and then the stones flew out of her fingertips and hit their wrists. Their hands turned and all the things in their hands fell on them.

The man with a bottle of feces water was especially miserable. The feces water was poured directly on his face, and he even drank a large gulp of it since his mouth was open. The people around him were also affected. The feces water was also splashed on their bodies. The air was suddenly filled with a terrible smell. Those live streamers all roared and screamed.

The one who walked behind Evangeline was the only one who survived. He didn't give up the task given by his followers.

He would earn so much money once he took off Evangeline's pants. Anyone would be tempted and be willing to take a risk.

He set his phone, aimed its camera at Evangeline's back, and then rushed to her.

Before approaching Evangeline, he reached out his hands and was ready to pull her pants down.

However, just before he was about to approach Evangeline, Dexter standing beside her silently took out a folding knife from his pocket and spun it.

After the live streamer approached Evangeline, the knife that was spinning accidentally flew out of Dexter's hand and flew backward. Then it happened to cut that man's fingers.

Eight fingers were cut off, and only the shorter two thumbs survived.

"Ahhh!" Blood gushed out at once. The man fell to the ground in pain and wailed.

Dexter looked sideways at the man with a surprised look on his face. Then he grabbed Evangeline's arm and said innocently, "Evangeline, I didn't mean it. When I saw that they wanted to hurt you, I took out the knife to defend myself, but I failed to hold it steadily and the knife accidentally flew out. I didn't notice that man was behind us. He even sneaked over, hit the knife himself, and got his fingers cut off. I really did not mean it. Did he come here on purpose to extort money from me?"

Chapter 142

Evangeline looked back. Seeing the live streamer whose eight fingers were cut off, she was quite calm. Instead, she stroked Dexter's head with concern and said, "It's fine. We have to believe in the law. Since you didn't mean it, he can't extort you."

Dexter smiled and nodded. "You really know a lot."

Evangeline said, "Let's stay away from him. He may roll over and hurt you." Evangeline and Dexter walked away together to stay away from that man and also that pile of feces water.

The rest of the live streamers were so frightened that they immediately ran away, not daring to get too close.

Evangeline took out her phone from Dexter's pocket and called the police and the ambulance.

Although Dexter didn't do it deliberately, he still hurt that person. He had to call the police to deal with it. If he directly left, it would become his fault and he would be in bigger trouble. The police and the ambulance arrived at about the same time.

The live streamer was carried into the ambulance while crying to the police, "Sir, that man cut off my fingers! Arrest him! Don't let him escape! I want him to pay for it and go to jail!"

The policeman asked Dexter, "What happened? Is he telling the truth?" Dexter shook his head. "That's not true. I was spinning the knife, but I wasn't good at it, so the knife accidentally flew out. But I didn't know that he sneaked behind me and reached out his fingers. The knife I threw out accidentally cut off his fingers.

"I suspect that he deliberately did that to extort money from me. You must investigate it seriously."

The live streamer growled angrily, "Bullshit! I've never thought about that!" Dexter said confusedly, "Then that's strange. Why did you sneak behind me and even reach out your fingers to let them be cut off? "I really don't understand why you raised your hand behind me and stretched out your fingers to let them be cut off.

"Even if you were just accidentally passing by behind me, your posture. shouldn't have been like that."

The live streamer's expression was really sullen. "That's not the point! Anyway, you did it on purpose. If not, how could the knife accidentally thrown out be so strong to cut off eight of my fingers?" Dexter said, "Maybe because that knife is really sharp."

The live streamer said, "You are quibbling. Anyway, you have no evidence to prove that you didn't do it on purpose. You have to compensate me for my medical expenses and mental damages, and you will go jail!"

Was

At that moment, Arthur stepped forward and handed a phone to the policeman. He said, "He was doing live streaming just now, and the camera aiming at the crime scene. The live-stream recording has recorded the whole process. You can take a look at it. It may be helpful for judging who is right."

After the live streamer's fingers were cut off, Arthur noticed the phone behind them. He silently went to get that phone, turned off the live streaming, and found the recording.

He had checked the recording and made sure that there was nothing bad for Dexter and Evangeline.

The policeman took away the phone. The live streamer was a little flustered and wanted to take his phone back, but the doctor had already taken him away. He didn't dare to waste too much time for fear of delaying the time to sew his fingers back on.

Evangeline, Dexter, and Arthur followed the police to the police station.

The police got their statements in turn and watched the live-streaming recording.

In the video, Dexter kept looking ahead and didn't look back. When the live streamer approached them, his reaction was normal. It could not be seen that he noticed someone approaching them.

The scene of him spinning the knife and accidentally throwing it out also seemed to be an accident.

The police also heard the live streamer's illegal remarks when they watched the recording.

The live streamer kept asking his followers to buy him gifts and even said that he would scold Evangeline and take off her pants as required if he got enough gifts.

14:51 1

He got hurt by the knife thrown by Dexter because he was going to carry out an illegal act.

Evangeline and Dexter also watched the video. Evangeline was expressionless, and Dexter quietly memorized those accounts that scolded Evangeline badly, as well as those who bought gifts to ask for punishment for Evangeline.

After watching it, Evangeline asked, "Can I sue that live streamer?"

The policeman nodded and said, "Yes. He was ready to hurt you. Although he was interrupted, we can still sue him.

"His behavior is very bad. Even if you don't sue him, our police will still sue him for causing trouble.

"This kind of behavior must be severely punished. Otherwise, more live streamers will do illegal things in the name of upholding justice for their own benefit!"

As an ordinary citizen, that live streamer had no right to enforce the law. But he wanted to punish Evangeline in the name of "punishing evil and upholding justice", which not only hurt Evangeline, but also provoked the authority of the police and questioned their impartiality. It was impossible for him not to be held accountable.

The policeman said to Dexter, "You didn't deliberately hurt him, and he was injured when he was about to commit illegal acts, so you won't be investigated for criminal responsibility. You can leave now. "But you may have to come here again after the live streamer recovers. Although you didn't hurt him on purpose, you may have to make humanitarian compensation. It depends."

According to the scenes in that video, it was impossible to convict Dexter at all. To others, Dexter might be a really unlucky person.

Because in the video, the knife flew out a little earlier than the live streamer raised his hand. It seemed that the live streamer deliberately raised his hand and approached the knife when he saw the knife flying out.

"How's the investigation going on about the incident last night?" Evangeline asked.

Although these policemen were not in charge of the case last night, they also knew something about it. They said, "There are many victims in that case, and their statements haven't been finished yet. Many victims collapsed after seeing their videos, so it might take a long time. Before the investigation is completed, we can't issue an announcement in advance, so you may have to bear with it first." Evangeline nodded understandingly. During the dinner, Dexter had already told her about the contents of the evidence he submitted.

Jackson not only took upskirt photos for sale, but also took sexual videos for sale. More than 30 people were involved, and many of those girls were unconscious in the videos.

Jackson's girlfriend suffered the greatest loss. There were dozens of videos about her, and she was unconscious in each of them. Those men in the videos didn't expose their faces, but judging from their exposed parts, it could be told that they were not the same person.

Jackson earned millions of dollars in three years mostly from these videos, and the profits of those upskirt photos were only a small part.

Moreover, he didn't take upskirt photos randomly.

He would choose some people to take photos of their faces and bodies and post them on shady websites. Then his customers would select their favorites and pay.

After that, some of his customers would ask for a few photos as samples. If they were satisfied, they would pay Jackson to hook up with the selected person. Then Jackson would look for opportunities to shoot videos. Jackson could earn dozens of thousands of dollars after a whole process. Jackson was the top student in the college entrance examination and a prestigious university student. He knew how to spend money on dressing himself up, and he also had a disguised gentlemanly demeanor, so it was easy for him to hit on someone.

But it didn't mean that his target would be willing to date or have a further relationship with him. Some people just wanted more friends and connections. Jackson didn't care about that. He only needed to know them and have a chance to have dinner with them. Then he would drug them during the meals.

The policeman said, "I hope you can keep it a secret. In order to reduce the harm to the victims, don't make this public. After the investigation is completed, we will issue an announcement and clear your name.

"After the investigation is over, we will arrest those suspects who have committed crimes in the videos and the mastermind behind the website. We shouldn't alert them."

Evangeline nodded. "I see. But you'd better hurry up. Don't release the announcement after several months."

The policeman said, "Don't worry. It won't take so long."

Then Evangeline and the others left through the back door of the police station.

Because when they were brought to the police station, many reporters and live streamers came here after hearing the news and were waiting at the gate of the police station. If they left through the front gate, they would be blocked again.

Evangeline sent Arthur home first and then went back to the Johnson residence with Dexter.

It was around five o'clock in the afternoon when they got home.

Normally, their parents were still at work at this time. But when Evangeline and Dexter returned home, they found that their parents were both at home.

They were sitting on the sofa with their phones in their hands. They were typing quickly on the screens of their phones, and their eyes were red, looking a little scary.

"Mom, Dad," Evangeline greeted them politely.

Dexter frowned and said, "Dad, Mom, why did you get off work so early today? There are so many affairs to deal with in the company. Don't be lazy." The two of them came back to their senses. They finished typing and then put down their phones.

Laura glared at Dexter and said, "If you care about the company, join it and start to learn things as soon as possible. Don't make trouble outside all the time. Then we don't have to worry so much."

Bradley asked, "What happened to you two? Why did you cause such a big trouble again?"

They didn't pay much attention to the showbiz but still heard the news, because it had already been on the law channel. Some people questioned whether Evangeline and Dexter's background was so strong that they could commit crimes without going to jail. They were released after one night while the victim was still kept by the police.

People who knew that Evangeline and Dexter were from the Johnson family even called them to ask what happened. Laura and Bradley also wanted to know what had happened.

When the news first spread online last night, they got the message immediately and tried to contact Dexter to ask him what happened.

Dexter only replied to them: [Don't worry. Evangeline won't do anything wrong or bad. If she targets that person, it means that there is something that wrong with him, and he deserves that. I will find evidence to prove Evangeline is right.]

After that, no matter how many times they called and texted Dexter, he just ignored them. He even felt too annoyed and blacklisted them because they called him too often.

The two of them were so angry that they stayed up all night. Last night, they kept reading the public opinions on the Internet and bought a few accounts to convince those netizens who were scolding Evangeline.

Today, they were worried that Evangeline's matter could not be solved and Dexter might make bigger trouble, so they were not in the mood to go to the company at all. They stayed at home all day, paying attention to the news online while waiting for Dexter and Evangeline to come home.

At noon, when they saw Dexter being taken away by the police because of hurting someone, they were so anxious.

Evangeline's problem hadn't been solved yet, and Dexter was also in trouble. They wanted to go to the police station to check on the situation, but they never received a call from the police. According to their experience, if the police didn't inform their family to deal with it, they would generally be fine, so they continued to wait at home

Dexter said unhappily, "We didn't make trouble. It was someone else. Evangeline did a good thing last night, and I got extorted today." Then Dexter gave a brief account of what had happened last night, including today's incident and what Jackson had done.

Dexter said, "The police have to arrest the criminals, so we can't make a statement now to alert them, in case they hear the news and run away in advance. After the police arrest them and make an announcement, the public opinion on the Internet will naturally become normal."

Hearing this, both his parents breathed a sigh of relief.

Bradley said, "Then you two have to stay at home during this period of time and don't go out. Although you are innocent, the netizens do not know that. I am afraid that if you go out and encounter emotional netizens, you will be hurt."

Laura said, "If you encounter anything in the future, you must tell us. We are a family. We should solve problems together. Don't always solve them without telling us. You even blacklisted us when we contacted you." Evangeline and Dexter nodded perfunctorily. Evangeline said, "Dad, Mom, I'm going upstairs to take a rest. I didn't sleep all night last night. I'm a little tired."

Laura said with concern, "I'll let the kitchen prepare dinner now. Eat something before you go to bed."

Evangeline said, "I'm not hungry. I don't want to eat anything."

Laura said, "No, you do." Then she stood up and pulled Evangeline to sit beside her.

She knew Dexter very well. If Evangeline didn't eat anything, he would also do the same.

She had realized that if she wanted to control Dexter, she had to start with Evangeline.

Evangeline was dragged by Laura, so she could only wait for dinner.

Dexter also sat beside her obediently.

After dinner, Evangeline could finally go upstairs to take a rest.

She slept well. When she woke up the next day, she finally had time to read news and comments online. People were all cursing them.

[I'm so disappointed. Evangeline's incident has become such a hot issue, but the police haven't given us any explanation. They just released Evangeline and let the innocent victim suffer in jail. Do we still have law?!] [Please run a thorough investigation of the police in Lyrendia. They must have been bribed by Evangeline or pressured by her backer. We can't just let it go!]

[Alas, I can't love our country anymore. I couldn't be more disappointed.] [If they don't punish Evangeline, I won't defend Clusia anymore! Go to hell!] In addition to the angry curses, there were some rational neutral voices. [Since the police dared to release

Evangeline aboveboard, they must have checked that there was nothing wrong with her. I believe that there are some shady things in our country, but no one will be so stupid and lawless as to ignore public opinion and break the law when so many people are paying attention to this matter. This matter is so heated and it happened in Lyrendia. It'll soon be reported to the superiors. If they really have broken laws, they'll be put in prison as soon as the superiors send people to look into it. Would anyone be so stupid?]

[I agree. Since the police dared to release Evangeline and let them show up outside openly without being afraid of being photographed, it can be proved that the problem is not Evangeline but Jackson who is still in detention.]

[We have to trust the police. Let's wait for their announcement.] However, there were few rational opinions. Even if someone spoke rationally and neutrally, saying that they should wait for the police's announcement, they still got scolded by angry netizens and even labeled as foolish fans.

[Humph. Evangeline has so many foolish fans. We already have such obvious evidence, but there are still people defending her. Are you guys so filial to your parents?]

[Evangeline and her silly fans should be shot together!]

[I hope the platform can expose the IP of those who defend Evangeline. Their views are so inappropriate. We should find out who they are and let their relatives and friends know what kind of people they are and stay away from them!]

[I agree. If they are students, their schools should persuade them to quit. If they're working, their companies should expel them. We can't let those who have wrong views affect others!]

[Let's crowdfund to hire hackers. If the platform refuses to expose their IPs, we can do it ourselves!]

Seeing that, those neutral speakers were so frightened that they deleted their comments at once, for fear that their information would really be exposed and they and their families would be affected. As a result, there were only curses on the Internet.

Things got worse. There were more and more abuses on the Internet, and some people even organized parades to protest. Every police station in Lyrendia was surrounded by people who were cursing them, but the police still hadn't posted any announcement. Seven days later, the police in Lyrendia finally posted an official announcement.

[Police Notification At about 22:00 on Sep. 1, 2023, Ms. Castillo (female, 20 years old) clashed with Jackson Hassan (male, 22 years old) at the night market in the north district of Lyrendia. Ms. Castillo accused Jackson Hassan of taking upskirt photos, so the police brought both parties back to the police station for investigation.]

[According to the investigation, Jackson's phone contains a large number of upskirt photos and videos. After that, the police received some evidence from enthusiasts and found that Jackson Hassan had sold a large number of obscene videos and photos on an illegal website and earned millions of dollars illegally.]

[There are many people on the website who have committed crimes. In order to arrest them, the police worked overtime for seven days in a row, united many local policemen to act together, and then finally arrested all suspects. At present, the case is under further investigation. Please pay attention to the police's notification for follow-up information.]

Numerous official media retweeted the police's announcement.

The police soon tweeted another one: [Thanks to Ms. Evangeline Castillo's cooperation with the police. She didn't leak anything about the case to the public, so that our police could arrest all suspects smoothly.]

Soon, the official Twitter account of Lyrendia University also announced: [Jackson Hassan has seriously violated school rules and has been expelled from the university.]

Everyone was shocked by the announcements of the police and Lyrendia University. The netizens were all stunned. They thought this was just an ordinary dispute, but they didn't expect it to be a criminal case. They thought, Jackson has earned dozens of thousands of dollars? There are a large number of victims? He's gonna spend the rest of her life in prison. [So Evangeline really did something righteous instead of hurting someone else on purpose?]

[If the police hadn't found everything clearly, they wouldn't have disclosed Jackson's full name. They would hide a part of his name just like Evangeline's. But the police directly disclosed Jackson's name. It proves that his charge must be certain.]

[I said before that if Evangeline was really guilty, the police wouldn't have released her. Many people scolded me at that time. Now it finally proves that I was right. Where are those people who scolded Evangeline now?] [It's so shocking that a top student actually did such illegal things. No wonder people didn't believe in Evangeline before. Jackson's identity was so good. Everyone thought that he was excellent in both character and learning. No one had expected him to do such things.]

[Jackson is such an idiot. He has such good grades and is from a famous college. His future is promising, and he can make more money on his own in the future. Why did he commit crimes?] [Although he is from a famous university, it's not easy for him to earn 2 million dollars.]

[I don't think he could earn so much only by selling upskirt photos and videos. I think he must have done something else illegal.]

[I'm a student of Lyrendia University. During this week, several girls have been summoned to the police station to record their statements. They were all in bad condition after they came back. And also Jackson's girlfriend. She hasn't come to school since Jackson was in trouble. I heard that she had been admitted to the psychiatric department of the hospital. She must have suffered a great shock so that she got mental disorders.]

[Oh my. So Jackson's girlfriend is also a victim? She even defended Jackson on the Internet so firmly before. She loved him so much, but she didn't expect that she was also a victim.]

[I heard from a friend that the website involved was full of upskirt videos. and those about drugging and violating someone. Many people did that to their own wives, and some of them even drugged their own wives and called outsiders to violate them and shoot videos. Some did that to their own. daughters. That kind of video always gets a lot of gifts. Many people with creepy hobbies will pay them to shoot videos. The videos about drugging someone and those about violating someone when she's awake earn differently. The amounts of the gifts also vary with the girl's appearance. If the girl is underage, that video will earn more. If the girl is a beautiful underage virgin who's related to the video maker by blood, the first reward amount will be high enough to buy a house in a small city. In short, it is very profitable.] [Have you done that before? I suggest the police look into him.]

[I'm so shocked that there should be such a dark thing. Who the hell are they? How could they be so inhuman?]

[We really have to thank Evangeline for taking down a dirty website and preventing more people from being harmed.]

Evangeline's reputation instantly changed. Those who had scolded Evangeline before might have shut up or started to praise her. In short, there were no more curses.

Evangeline's Twitter followers increased again. It had only been about two months since she participated in Jungle Survival, but the number of her followers had increased from more than 100,000 to over 100 million. The growth rate was definitely the fastest.

Unfortunately, Evangeline had never posted anything on Twitter. Except for the first one that was automatically sent by the system when she got her own account, she had only posted a video that exposed George and Meghan's affair, and her account even got banned for a period of time for that.

+5 vouchers

After her several incidents, there were already tens of millions of mixed comments on her first tweet.

Meanwhile, Evangeline had also seen the news and public opinions online at home. She couldn't help frowning.

The police intended to protect the girls who were hurt, but some insiders popped up from time to time in the comment area and exposed almost the whole story. But Evangeline just took a look and didn't pay much attention.

Meanwhile, in a hospital. Jackson's mother Helen was looking at the public opinion on the Internet and the comments that scolded her son. With tears gushing out, she was so angry that her whole body was trembling.

She shouted, "No, my son is not that kind of person! My son is a top student. He is excellent in character and learning. He'll never do such a thing. It was Evangeline who set him up!" She collapsed to the ground and burst into tears.

She had seen the evidence of her son's crime at the police station and heard his confession of remorse. She was so shocked that she passed out at the police station and was sent to the hospital.

She knew that her son was not wronged and had really done bad things, but she couldn't accept the fact. Before today, her son had always been a good student in the eyes of others. She was admired and complimented by countless people, and her son had always been her pride. But now, her son had completely been ruined, and she would also become a joke in the eyes of others.

Helen said, "It's all Evangeline's fault. She destroyed my son! She ruined the work I've worked so hard on for years! Damn it! I won't let off her. I must- avenge my son!"

Helen suddenly got up from the ground and ran out of the ward quickly. When she ran out of the ward, she accidentally bumped into someone. She pushed that person away without looking at him and continued to run outside.

The person said, "Wait! What did you mean by that? You won't let off whom? Who are you going to take revenge on?"

Helen was thinking about revenge, so she didn't hear the voice behind her. Samson gritted his teeth and immediately ran after her.

He was here with Jasper to measure the data and prepare the customized prosthesis, but he overheard that someone wanted to hurt Evangeline. Although Evangeline still minded the past and refused to forgive them, he was Evangeline's brother, anyway. He couldn't just ignore it.

Helen ran very fast, and Samson couldn't catch up with her. When he arrived at the hospital gate, Helen had already gotten in the car and left. Samson could only take a taxi.

In the car, he took out his phone and tried to contact Evangeline to tell her to be on guard.

But Evangeline had blacklisted all his contact information, so he couldn't get in touch with her at all.

Suddenly, Samson received a piece of news on his phone. He clicked it and found that someone had photographed a person suspected of Evangeline in a club.

Although the woman in the video was wearing a green wig and exaggerated makeup and didn't look like Evangeline at all, the details of her walking habits, figure and height were very similar to Evangeline's. The most important thing was that the two 6-foot-tall men beside her were too obvious.

It was really rare for a man to be so tall and in such great proportion.

It was even rarer for them to be around a woman at the same time.

Therefore, even though Evangeline's disguise in the video was very good, she was still recognized by netizens.

Some netizens also recognized the address of the club in the video and posted it in the comments.

"Midnight Club... Sir, I'm going to the Midnight Club!" Samson immediately said to the taxi driver.

Whether Evangeline was in that club or not, he had to take a look.

It would be good if he could find Evangeline and remind her to pay attention. If he couldn't find her, he would try again.

Perhaps it was because Evangeline's location was exposed that too many people were rushing to that place and there were traffic jams all the way.

The car moved so slowly.

Samson couldn't stand it anymore, so he got out of the car in advance and ran away with his navigation system.

He found that there were many people running like him. Some of them were on live streaming and said while running, "Don't worry, guys. I'm heading to the Midnight Club. Remember to follow me. There are only 3 miles left. We will see Evangeline at the Midnight Club!"

Samson quickened his pace. He arrived in less than half an hour.

He rushed into the club and found it full of people.

The deafening music drowned out all the noise.

"There are so many people here. How am I gonna find Evangeline?" Samson muttered in a low voice.

He was not familiar with this place. If it was a place he was familiar with, he could tell the specific location through the decoration in the video. But now he could only take time to search for her.

"Ah!" "Ahhh! Help!" "Here's a lunatic!" Suddenly, a harsh scream sounded behind Samson. He even heard it under the deafening music.

It was followed by panicked pushes.

The people behind were rushing forward frantically, and the people in the front were also pushed forward. Some people had no time to react and were pushed to the ground. It was dim in the club, so the people behind did not notice the fallen people and directly stepped on them.

Samson managed to stabilize his body. He looked back and saw a middle-aged woman holding a dagger in her hand. She was waving it crazily and stabbing all the people around her.

"Get out of my way! Where's Evangeline that bitch? She ruined my son. I'm gonna kill her!" The middle-aged woman's eyes were red and she roared angrily. It was Helen.

She also saw the news of Evangeline appearing in this club on the Internet, so she bought a dagger and rushed here.

All she wanted now was to kill Evangeline and avenge her son.

If anyone dared to stop her, she would kill them all!

Her son was ruined, anyway. Her expectations were all gone, and her wealthy life would also be gone. So she'd rather kill the one who caused her loss.

The group of people behind Helen had just arrived. They didn't know where Evangeline was at all.

Looking at the dagger in Helen's hand, everyone was so frightened that they rushed out of the club. The club got empty at once.

Helen walked in with a dagger. She grabbed a waiter, put the dagger against his waist, and asked harshly, "Where is Evangeline? Tell me, or I'll kill you!"

The waiter was so frightened that his face turned pale. He trembled and pointed to a booth.

Helen glanced over there and then stabbed the waiter in his waist. After pulling out the dagger, she strode to the booth.

In the booth, Evangeline took a sip of wine.

There were two muscular men sitting on each side of hers. In the crowded club, only the space they were in looked spacious.

"Evangeline, run!" Samson rushed over in a hurry and shouted as he ran. But Evangeline didn't seem to hear his voice. She didn't even look at him. Meanwhile, Helen had already rushed to the side of Evangeline's seat. She rushed over with a dagger with malice in her eyes.

Seeing that Evangeline hadn't moved or looked at Helen, Samson was so anxious that he directly rushed over to stand in front of Evangeline.

The dagger in Helen's hand stabbed into Samson's body.

The sharp pain spread all over his body. His face distorted and his body shook violently in pain.

"Ahhh! You bastard! I

At that time, Samson had already been stabbed a dozen times. He couldn't stand still anymore and fell to the ground weakly. But he used his last strength to grab Evangeline's ankle and struggle to look up at her. He opened his mouth and spat out a mouthful of blood.

He coughed out the blood and smiled weakly. "Evangeline... I finally... protected you once. Great... you're fine..."

He had been hurting Evangeline since she returned to the Gallagher family. Then he wanted to make up for it, but Evangeline didn't give him any chance.

Now, he finally fulfilled his duty as a brother and protected his sister. Evangeline lowered her eyes and looked at Samson indifferently. She shook Samson's hand off, glanced at the blood on her ankle, and said in disgust, "Disgusting."

Samson widened his eyes and looked at Evangeline in disbelief. He once saved her life. But she didn't appreciate him and even thought he was dirty. She was cold-blooded. With his shortness of breath and serious injuries, Samson finally fainted.

Dexter kicked Samson with a gloomy face, then picked up the dagger that fell to the ground and raised it to stab Samson's hand.

Evangeline quickly grabbed his wrist and frowned. "What are you doing?" Dexter said aggrievedly, "His hand touched you. I'm going to cut it off." Evangeline said gently, "Don't mess around. There are so many people watching, and there are surveillance cameras all around. We can't hurt people like that."

Dexter pursed his lips and glanced at Samson coldly. Finally, he threw the dagger away.

He squatted down in front of Evangeline, took out a tissue from his pocket, and wiped the blood on her ankle bit by bit.

Evangeline breathed a sigh of relief, took out her phone, and called the police. As for the ambulance, someone would call it she believed.

She would leave the call line alone if anyone else couldn't get through. Someone should have called the police in advance. It wasn't long before the police arrived.

As the one involved, Evangeline was taken to the police station without exception.

The news soon hit the Internet with the following hashtags: "Helen took revenge on Evangeline with a knife", "Samson saved Evangeline's life", "Samson was stabbed 18 times", and "Evangeline was cold-blooded". Netizens also had a heated discussion. [My God, Jackson's mother has gone mad. In the online video, Helen said that Evangeline had ruined her son. Wasn't it because her son did something bad and deserved that?]

[Yeah, her son had destroyed a lot of people. Why didn't she think of killing her son for those innocent people?]

Alas, Evangeline was so indifferent when Samson saved her life. I feel sorry or him...]

Yeah, Samson knows his mistakes and is trying to make up for them. Evangeline showed no difference. She is too cold-blooded.]

I used to like Evangeline, but after seeing her attitude towards Samson, I felt a little disgusted with her. No matter what happened in the past, now Samson has saved her life. Is this how she treats him? She is a heartless woman.]

Is Evangeline heartless?]

Please don't be so silly. Evangeline doesn't need his help at all. Have you forgotten how good she is? Helen is no match for Evangeline. Samson insisted on rushing over and being stabbed. Evangeline didn't ask him to step forward, and neither did she need his protection. So she did not owe him anything.]

[That's right. Evangeline didn't need his protection at all. Don't force her to thank him.]

Evangeline had already made her statement at the police station while the public opinion on the Internet went wild. Because there were surveillance cameras, she only needed to answer some questions routinely, and it didn't take long.

As soon as Evangeline left the police station, she received a call from an unknown number.

After the phone was answered, a strange man's voice came from the other end of the line. "Excuse me, is that Evangeline?"

"Yes, I am. Who are you?" Evangeline asked.

The man said, "I'm the policeman who is responsible for escorting Samson to the hospital. Samson was seriously injured, and the doctors tried their best to save him, but there was nothing they could do now. Samson has little time left. He wants to see you. Can you come here as soon as possible? I'm afraid you won't see him if it's too late."

Evangeline frowned with a look of boredom.

She thought, 'Wasn't my attitude in the bar clear enough? Samson still wants to see me?'

The policeman lowered his voice and said, "I suggest you come. I've seen the news. The comments are a little unfavorable to you. Although Samson didn't help at all, he still stepped up when the knife came to you. If you don't even see him for the last time, the netizens will hate you."

Evangeline said, "Thank you for your kindness. Please tell me the address of the hospital. I'm going there now."

The policeman said the name of a hospital. After Evangeline hung up, she took Dexter and Arthur to the hospital.

The gate of the hospital was surrounded by reporters and influencers. The police called SWAT officers to stop those people and maintain order in the hospital.

Seeing Evangeline coming, the reporters took a lot of pictures of her.

Evangeline ignored the reporters' questions and walked into the hospital quickly.

A police officer met her at the door of the hospital. After seeing her, he took her directly to the emergency room.

In the emergency room, the medical staff had already gone. Samson was dying.

Bethany lay on her stomach by the bed, crying out of breath.

Bethany shouted, "Sam..... My poor Sam... Why did you save her? She is heartless. We apologized to her, but she didn't accept us at all. Even if you saved her, she wouldn't appreciate it. Why do you have to sacrifice yourself? It's not worth it."

When Evangeline entered the emergency room, she heard Bethany's words and burst into laughter.

Bethany stopped abruptly and turned to look behind her. When she saw Evangeline, her face became very strange.

Evangeline said with a faint smile, "It seems that you are not a complete idiot. Now you've figured it out. No matter what you do, I won't forgive you. Please keep it in your mind, and stay away from me." Bethany was so angry that her whole body trembled. "Evangeline, are you heartless? Sam is your biological brother. He was hurt so badly for you. Is that how you treat him?"

Evangeline sneered. "I don't care.

"Are you really stupid or are you playing dumb? Do you think I need your help?

"If you hadn't rushed up, I wouldn't even have to be stained by a drop of blood.

"You soiled my feet and disgusted me, and you want me to be grateful to you. What are you talking about?"

Samson looked at Evangeline in disbelief, and his face turned pale. "You... How can you be so indifferent? Do you have no heart?"

Evangeline sneered. "Of course I do. But you don't deserve my sincerity. "I gave you a chance, but when I was sincere to you, you treated me like I was an idiot. So I gave up.

"From the moment Meghan pushed me off the platform, and your family stepped on my scarred body to care about her, you completely broke our relationship.

"Don't say that you were deceived by Meghan. You are an adult, so you should have the ability to judge right and wrong. Even if you think I am against Meghan, you shouldn't let me go. But the truth is you care about frightened Meghan and step over me.

"Even if I was uninjured, you shouldn't have stepped over me. I may die, you know.

"Oh, I see. Did you want me to die at that time?"

"I can't find another reason to explain your behavior except this one." They couldn't have missed her when she fell to the ground.

They saw her falling to the ground and vomiting blood in the mouth, but they did not hesitate to step on her.

They hated her so much that they must have wanted to kill her in the accident.

If it hadn't been for her special constitution, any ordinary person would have died.

She couldn't possibly forgive a bunch of people who wanted to kill her. Even if she had made a deal with Edward and agreed not to hurt Samson, it didn't mean that she forgave them. She still hoped they would end up badly, but she couldn't do it herself.

After all, it was a law-based society, and she was a good citizen who obeyed the law.

But she liked watching them come to their death.

Samson became more and more painful. He didn't dare to look directly at Evangeline.

He didn't want Evangeline to die at that time, but he deliberately stepped on her. He just wanted her to learn a lesson and stop bullying Meghan in the future.

He had never thought that it might kill Evangeline.

Evangeline continued. "And during the shooting of Jungle Survival, Meghan pushed me off a cliff. She just said a few words, and you decided to help her hide the truth. In your heart, my life is not as good as her coquettish behavior. How dare you beg me to forgive you?"

Evangeline sneered. "Do you think I will be moved by you and write off what you have done?"

"Don't kidnap me with your self-righteous kindness.

"I didn't need your help at that time. You knew it. Even if I did, you rushed out to shield the knife for me, I wouldn't thank you. You owe me.

"If you know that you are wrong, then take your guilt and sins to die. You'll never be at peace."

Samson's face turned red, and his chest heaved violently. He breathed more than he could breathe.

Evangeline glanced at him coldly and walked out of the emergency room. The paramedics heard the sirens of the machines and rushed in to give him routine resuscitation. But it didn't take long before a nurse came out and announced the death of Samson.

"Ah... Sam!" Bethany sat on the ground and cried. She reached out and grabbed Evangeline's trousers, looking up at her with tears on her face. "You know medical skills. Why didn't you save Sam? That's your brother. How me...

"It's all my fault..."

Evangeline, who was about to leave, waved decisively after hearing her words and asked the policeman in the distance to come over.

She said, "Police officer, just now she said that her eldest son took the blame for her. I suspect that she committed a crime. You'd better arrest her and investigate. We can't let go of any criminal."

Then she shook off Bethany's hand and asked Dexter and Arthur to leave through the back door of the hospital.

After returning home, Dexter used alcohol to detoxify her feet several times until Evangeline couldn't stand it.

Early the next morning, Evangeline received a call from the police telling her that Bethany had confessed.

Bethany said that she had kidnapped George and Meghan and cut off their genitals. When she was about to kill them, Edward stopped her and then took them away.

The policeman said, "Bethany says she doesn't know where Edward has taken George and Meghan. When we find them, we will let you know." Evangeline thanked him and hung up the phone. Edward sent her a video of George and Meghan being limless. The Hofcaster police also saw the video, but the two of them hadn't been found yet. She didn't know if they were alive or dead now. The public opinion on the Internet was varied, and Evangeline didn't want to control them on purpose. It was meaningless, so she ignored it.

She still took Arthur around as before.

Dexter also found the follower in the first place. At first, he wanted to find him out, but Evangeline refused.

It was meaningless to hand them over to the police and detain them for half a month at most.

After thinking for a while, Evangeline put forward her idea, "I'm going to give him a chance to attack me. If he wants to hurt me, I'll take the opportunity to get rid of him."

Dexter and Arthur objected in unison, "No, it's too dangerous."

Dexter and Arthur failed to convince Evangeline after all.

For the next few days, they went out every day and could still feel someone following them. They pretended not to notice.

One day, Evangeline and her friends arrive at a remote park.

Not long after entering the park, Dexter went to the bathroom with Arthur.

Evangeline found a bench and sat down, holding a bottle of water by her side.

Just then, a man in his thirties came over and asked, "Hello, do you know where the restroom is?"

"Over there." Evangeline pointed in a direction, and her head also looked in the direction of the finger.

Just a few seconds after she turned around, the man took out an identical bottle of water from his pocket and exchanged it with the water on the bench.

"Okay, thank you," The man thanked her and ran in that direction as if he was very anxious. But when he turned a corner, he hid quietly and watched Evangeline secretly. Evangeline pretended not to know it. She picked up the water bottle beside her, unscrewed the cap, and drank a sip of water.

After a few seconds, she suddenly frowned and shook her head. Her body swayed a few times, looking dizzy and uncomfortable. Then she fell directly on the bench.

The man who was hiding in the dark immediately ran out and took her away. The man put Evangeline in a car, tied her hands and feet, and started driving.

Two hours later, the car left the city and stopped in front of an abandoned factory in the suburb. The man carried Evangeline into the warehouse and put her on the ground. Then she heard the man say, "I've already kidnapped her. Please pay me the rest of the money as soon as possible. I need to hide abroad first. Evangeline is so famous, and her identity doesn't seem simple. If someone finds out that she was kidnapped and finds out about me, I will be arrested and sent to jail. A young man's voice came, "I have already paid you. You can go now." Evangeline instantly recognized whose voice it was. It was Jasper. It turned out that he had found someone to follow and kidnap her. 'What does this guy want? To avenge Samson and Bethany?' she thought.

Evangeline continued to pretend to be unconscious. Jasper didn't move. It was not until the man left the warehouse and there came the sound of the car leaving that Jasper walked slowly to Evangeline with his cane.

At that moment, Evangeline opened her eyes.

Her hands and feet were tied up, but it didn't affect her. She bounced up in a kip-up. When she got up, she slammed her head into Jasper's chest.

"Ah... Bang!" Jasper was knocked away by her head and fell to the ground awkwardly, with his walking stick thrown out.

He covered his chest in pain and found that the place hit by Evangeline was sunken, with several broken ribs.

Jasper coughed painfully and spat out a mouthful of blood.

After a while, he recovered and looked at Evangeline with trembling eyes. Evangeline was already standing about 17 feet away from him.

She spat a blade out of her mouth, gritted it with her teeth, raised both hands to her lips, and cut the rope around them.

Jasper's pupils shrank, and he looked at Evangeline in shock.

He then said, "Why aren't you in a coma? Did you get kidnapped on purpose?"

She had a razor blade in her mouth. She was preparing for it in advance. If she didn't mean it, how could she have prepared in advance?

Evangeline didn't answer immediately. She bit the blade in her mouth and couldn't speak.

After cutting the rope on her hand, she took off the blade with her hands and said with a half-smile, "If I didn't mean to be hit, how can I find out who is behind this?" Jasper clenched his fists and looked terrible.

Evangeline squatted down and began to cut the rope on her feet.

Jasper pursed his lips and looked at Evangeline with a mad look.

He suddenly crawled towards Evangeline, grabbed her hand, and looked at her with bloody eyes. "Ever since I knew you were the Queen Jade, I have been very painful and regretted what I did to you. "Evangeline, I was wrong. Can you forgive me? Can you give me a chance? "You are my spiritual pillar, don't hate me... I know I was wrong..." Evangeline frowned and wanted to withdraw her hand, but she didn't expect that Jasper had used all his strength.

Jasper became more and more excited. His eyes were full of red blood, and his body kept trembling because he was injured, and he was extremely excited. Blood spilled from his mouth all the time, but he just looked at Evangeline madly as if he couldn't feel it.

He said, "Queen Jade, come with me. Shall we live together? I can't live without you! I promise I will treat you well in the future and won't let you get hurt. I love you. Please save me and don't hate me..."

Evangeline looked at him in shock. It took her a few seconds to come to her senses. "Are you crazy? Although I don't admit that we are a family, have a blood relationship physically. You fucking said you loved me? Are you out of your mind?"

"Queen Jade is the motivation that keeps me alive. I'm crazy to chase her. How can I let go of her? What if we are related by blood? I don't care, I just want you. I just want to be with Queen Jade who saved me. What's wrong with me?"

Before he could do it, Evangeline quickly lifted her other foot and kicked Jasper hard.

"Bang!" Jasper was kicked dozens of feet away this time. He fell to the ground and kept vomiting blood. "Evangeline, are you okay?" A hurried voice suddenly came from behind. It was Arthur. Evangeline turned around and saw Arthur walking in with Dexter.

Arthur looked worried and anxious, while Dexter's face was gloomy with a murderous aura.

Dexter kept looking at Jasper instead of Evangeline. His eyes seemed to be looking at a dead man. Dexter strode up to Jasper.

Before Jasper could recover from the dizziness and pain of being kicked, he felt indescribable pain again. "Ah..." Jasper cried out in pain. Just as he opened his mouth, Dexter grabbed his tongue and pulled it out. Jasper's face was twisted with pain, and he trembled all over to struggle. But his body was seriously injured, so he couldn't move at all. He could only raise his hand weakly to stop it, but it didn't work. "Dexter, don't mess around. Just hand him over to the police, Evangeline roared. She had no time to care about Arthur and walked quickly towards Dexter. But she was one step behind. By the time she walked over, Jasper's mouth was already full of blood.

Dexter held a bloody tongue in his hand, and a lot of blood was spattered on his body. Dropping his tongue, Dexter took a dagger from his pocket and raised it to stab Jasper. Evangeline grabbed his wrist quickly.

She then said, "Dexter, that's enough. He hasn't attacked us. You can't kill him."

Dexter had no intention of stopping. His gloomy eyes were full of scarlet blood, staring at Jasper.

He tried to break free from Evangeline's hand and to execute Jasper.

"Are you not listening to me?" Evangeline said angrily. If you don't listen to me this time, I won't care about you anymore."

Dexter's hand instantly lost its strength. He slowly put down his raised hand, and the dagger in his hand also fell to the ground.

He lowered his eyes, looking aggrieved and pitiful. "He just hurt you. I'm angry. I want to chop him into meat paste.

Evangeline rubbed his head and said softly, "He didn't lick me. I kicked him away before he touched me." Dexter was still angry. "He scratched your foot."

Evangeline laughed and said, "It's just a scratch. When fight with someone, I am always touched by others."

Dexter snorted angrily.

Evangeline took his hand and dragged him away forcibly.

She was afraid of staying here, and Dexter had the urge to kill.

She dragged Dexter out of the warehouse, and Arthur followed.

At the door of the warehouse, Evangeline took out her phone and called the police.

In the warehouse, Jasper lay on the ground and watched Evangeline leave painfully. Watching her walk he trembled and raised his hand to grab her. But all he got was a handful of air.

badly that his mouth kept bleeding a lot, which made his strength and consciousness dissipate rapidly. After two steps, he couldn't move anymore. He could only look at Evangeline's back in pain and wailed. Until Evangeline completely disappeared, the light in his eyes also dissipated and became dark.

He was forsaken by Queen Jade. The only light in his life went out. Crying and laughing, he trembled to pick up the dagger on the ground and cut off the main artery in his neck. The blood spread quickly on the ground.

He stubbornly opened his eyes and looked in the direction of the warehouse gate, hoping to see Evangeline turn around and hear her say that she would forgive him before he died.

But until the last moment of his life, he didn't wait for Evangeline to turn back.

She was so resolute that she would not forgive him till death.

By the time the police arrived, Jasper was dead. His eyes were still open, and he looked in the direction of the warehouse door.

The police contacted the forensic doctor and took photos of Jasper's body, which was taken away by a hearse.

Evangeline and the others were taken back to the police station together. Evangeline was kidnapped. It was easy to find out. She made a statement, and then they let her go. But Dexter was in custody. Although it was easy to find out that Jasper's fatal wound was a cut in the aorta, his tongue had been pulled off alive. It could not have been done by Jasper himself.

Dexter didn't hide it and admitted that he did it.

No matter what the explanation was, it couldn't be treated as self-defense, so they had to lock him up. first.

Evangeline explained to the police that it was because Jasper tried to stick out his tongue to molest her, to protect her.

and Dexter pulled Jasper's tongue off on impul

But the police apparently couldn't accept her explanation.

Even if the reason she said was true, he shouldn't pull off someone's tongue.

When Evangeline became anxious, Dexter's parents came to the police station.

They brought along Dexter and Evangeline's mental disorder diagnosis and bailed him out.

When Naomi had mental problems, Evangeline and Dexter felt bad. They went to the psychiatric hospital to accompany Naomi to go through the procedures.

Evangeline felt that she was in a good state of mind and didn't think there was anything wrong with her. When she passed the examination and was admitted to a mental hospital, she thought it was because Dexter's parents helped her.

Dexter,

But she knew that Dexter had been mentally abnormal since childhood. Ever since she picked up she had found it. At the age of three, he dared to stuff live frogs, mice, snakes, and other things into his mouth. He would eat whatever he caught.

She could understand that he was wandering around and had nothing to eat, so he would eat whatever he caught.

But when he ate it, there was no expression of fear on his face, which caused a great shock to her at that time.

At that time, she could only eat some grass and the worms on vegetable leaves when she was extremely hungry. She wasn't as ferocious as him.

Dexter, who was so tough at the age of three, didn't know why he became weaker as he grew up.

Evangeline calmed down and looked at the two psychiatric papers brought by Bradley and Laura. She was a little confused that only Dexter was detained alone, so why did they bring hers too?

His father asked her with concern, "You were kidnapped. Are you hurt?"

Evangeline was a little surprised. After being stunned for a second, she shook her head and said, "I'm fine."

Bradley said, "It's good that there is nothing wrong. When you go out, take the bodyguards so they can protect you."

"You're famous, and the public is quite controversial about you. In addition, your participation in foreign shows has embarrassed many countries. Some countries may secretly send people to deal with You should be cautious."

Evangeline nodded obediently. "Okay. I'll be careful. Thank you for your concern."

you.

After just a few quick exchanges, Bradley and Laura noticed that Dexter was not in a good mood. They decided to keep quiet and let Dexter and Evangeline head upstairs.

Dexter grabbed Evangeline's clothes and kept silent with a dark face.

Evangeline went upstairs and turned to look at him. "Why do you always look unhappy? Who pissed you off again?"

"Jasper, Dexter gritted his teeth and said. "You didn't let me chop him up. I can't let it go."

Evangeline twitched the corners of her mouth and said, "You almost went to jail for tearing off his tongue. Do you still want to chop him into pieces?"

Dexter snorted. He was not afraid of going to jail. He just wanted Jasper to die a miserable death. Unfortunately, Evangeline wouldn't let him do it.

She comforted him, "Well, forget about him. He is dead, and his body has been taken away by the police. It's useless to think about it. If you are still angry, we will pay someone to curse him later." Dexter looked down at her and said, "Hey, you are so superstitious. If you say that in front of your parents, they will teach you a lesson."

Evangeline was speechless. She was trying to comfort him.

Looking at Evangeline's embarrassed look, Dexter suddenly felt better.

After returning to her room, Dexter took a shower for two hours before coming out of the bathroom. He went to Evangeline's room with a disinfectant wipe and wiped her ankles several times. Evangeline said helplessly, "Enough. I've already taken a shower."

Dexter said, "You must not have washed it clean. Let me disinfect it, and don't let the smell of that dead person stay on you."

Evangeline's mouth twitched. She ignored him and continued to play games with her phone.

Anyway, she wasn't the one who did it. He could do whatever he wanted.

Dexter wiped her feet a dozen times before he finally stopped. Then he applied a layer of body lotion to her and walked back to his room silently.

The next day, Evangeline was having breakfast when she received a call from the police.

Evangeline was a little confused. She had taken care of what happened yesterday. It was supposed that the police shouldn't call her. Although she was puzzled, she picked up the phone.

The phone was picked up, and the voice of the policeman who was on duty yesterday came through.

"Evangeline, I have unfortunate news for you. Your biological mother Bethany committed suicide in the bathroom at midnight after she learned that Jasper had died. After the prison guards found her, they took her to the hospital in time, but she was seriously injured and lost her vital signs before arriving at the hospital.

"Her body is now in the morgue of the hospital. You should deal with it as soon as possible.

"And Jasper's body. The forensic doctor examined it and confirmed that the direct cause of his death was a ruptured carotid artery, which means he died by suicide. You can also come to take his body." Evangeline was calm and even stuffed a piece of beef into her mouth.

She then said slowly, "Although they are related to me by blood, we're not a family. Theoretically, I have no obligation to deal with their bodies. You can treat them as unclaimed."

The policeman was silent for a while. "Are you sure not to deal with them? If you don't deal with the rest of the things, I'm afraid you won't be able to inherit their property. Evangeline paused and immediately said, "I'll deal with it later."

Although the Gallagher Group went bankrupt, before that, Edward had made a lot of cash, and they still had a lot of money.

When she moved back to the Gallagher residence, she had undergone a paternity test. With that test result, she could inherit their heritage. Thinking of this, Evangeline was in a good mood. She hung up phone and continued to eat breakfast.

After breakfast, she went out with Dexter.

Dexter's parents should have talked to Wesley and the other three assistants. Before she went out, Wesley and Chester silently drove behind them.

Evangeline called two funeral cars and took the bodies of Bethany and Jasper. The bodies would be cremated.

It took her a long time to settle those things.

When it was done, the staff enthusiastically recommended the boxes to store the ashes.

The staff recognized Evangeline from the beginning, and they also knew that the two bodies were her mother and brother. Of course, they knew that there was a grudge between them.

But he thought, "Even if there is a conflict between them, now that they are dead, Evangeline has to respect the dead. She will deal with their funeral properly."

After all, it was her family. And she was so rich that she would choose better boxes, so he kept recommending the most expensive ones.

Evangeline was not interested in his recommendation

When the staff finally stopped, Evangeline asked, "Do you have any extra plastic bags?"

"Huh? What did you just say?" The staff asked confusedly.

Evangeline said with a smile, "They have always been thrifty and don't like extravagance and waste. I should pay attention to their preferences and try my best to take care of their funeral affairs at the lowest cost. They said they were garbage before death and hoped that they could be treated as garbage." The staff didn't know what to do.

Dexter glanced at Evangeline silently and thought, 'Nonsense.

However, the Gallagher family had thought about killing Evangeline. They deserved the worst.

She was too kind and wanted to take care of their dead bodies instead of abandoning them in the wild. Seeing that the staff was still there, Evangeline sighed helplessly and said, "Forget it. You're busy with your work. Don't bother to help me. I'll take the one in the trash can. By the way, put a new one back on when you are free."

Before the staff could say anything, she had already gone to the corner and taken out the garbage bag from the trash can.

She put two piles of ashes into one bag and left with the bag.

"Evangeline, let me take it for you. You must be tired. Dexter took the garbage bag from Evangeline. Evangeline nodded and handed the bag to him.

They walked to the roadside outside the crematorium and waited for Wesley and Chester to drive over.

Just then, an electric pickup loaded with wood drove past the roadside. The upturned branch accidentally scraped the garbage bag in Dexter's hand.

The garbage bag suddenly broke, and all the ashes inside were spilled out.

The owner of the pickup didn't notice it at all and drove away.

Evangeline and Dexter looked down and found a sewage sewer below, which was only blocked by that kind of hollow iron frame.

The ashes spilled out of the garbage bag were all scattered into the sewer.

Evangeline and Dexter were silent. They stared at the sewage outlet for a few seconds before Dexter withdrew his eyes and turned to Evangeline. "Hey, I didn't mean it. Do you believe me?" Send gift
