

Revenge Of The Rogue Heiress

Rogue 21

Chapter 21

"Ah! This is ours. You can't steal in Jolene exclaimed. She was frightened. She held on tightly to the wooden fork with the grilled fish on it and blocked Meghan's hand with her other hand to prevent the latter from snatching it.

Smack!

Meghan raised her hand angrily and slapped Jolene in the face. "You've all eaten, and the rest belongs to me and Sam Hand it over yourself, or don't blame me for being rude!" said Meghan. Amidst fury, she did not forget to call Samson. "Sam, come help me. They want to steal our food. We must defend our share and not let them take advantage of us!" Meghan said.

As Meghan was about to snatch the fish again, Travis grabbed her wrist before she could touch the wooden fork and kicked her unceremoniously.

"Argh!" exclaimed Meghan. She staggered two steps back with the kick and let out a scream.

"Y-You hit me? Aren't you afraid that I'll ask Eddie to ban you and make you lose your job in the entertainment industry?" Meghan said angrily.

Travis sneered, "It's not like I can only work in the local entertainment industry. If I can't survive here. I can go to Kepraria

After all. Travis originally made his debut in Repraria and returned to the country after he became famous.

Edward could not possibly meddle in Kepranza's entertainment industry, no matter how influential he was.

Besides, the entertainment industry did not belong to the Gallagher family. Edward might not be able to blacklist Travis.

For some celebrities with little commercial value, the major investors might do Edward a favor, but it might not be the case when it came to valuable celebrities.

"Travis, how can you hit her?" Samson questioned Travis unhappily as he walked quickly in Meghan and put his arms around her teetering body. Meghan threw herself into Samson's arms. Heartbrokenly, she cried. "Sam, you've got to help me. They're so bad. They didn't give us our food. They ate it and even beat me up! They're not human Travis laughed in exasperation. "What nonsense are you talking about? When did we steal your food?" he asked.

Meghan pointed at the fish in their hands and said, "Stop denying You're still holding it

"Do you mean these two fish?" Travis asked.

Meghan nodded and said, "That's right. You finally admit it!"

Travis said, "Are you out of your mind! When did I admit it? These two fish were given to us by Evangeline. When did they become yours?"

Meghan said, "I know these two fish are from Evangeline. She gave it to all of us, but you guys secretly ate it behind our backs and even tried to eat our share. You've gone too far! You're inhuman!"

Samson echoed, "What you did was unfair. Since it belongs to all of us, you should wait for everyone to gather and share it equally, but you secretly ate it without telling Meghan and me. This behavior is wrong in itself. What's worse, you even hit Meghan,"

Travis laughed and said sarcastically, "Haha! Who told you Evangeline gave it to all of us?"

Samson frowned and asked, "Isn't it?"

Travis said, "Of course not! This is the reward Evangeline gave us for performing a show. You don't get a share!" Samson's face siffened.

Meghan seemed to be slapped in the face in public, and her face turned ashen and red in embarrassment and anger. 'Evangeline is so selfish! So she didn't share the food with them she thought. Samson looked toward Evangeline not far away, besitated for a moment, and said, "Can Meghan and I also get the food if we perform a show for you?"

Evangeline raised her eyes indifferently, looked at him coldly, and sneered, "I don't want to see you perform. Just seeing you sickens me "You..." Samson untered. His face turned ashen and red with anger. Meghan said angrily. "Evangeline, why are you so cold-blooded? We are your family. You'd rather give outsiders a chance than help your own family. You are worse than an animal!"

1/3

With a faint smile, Evangeline said, "Okay, okay. I'm worse than an animal while you're the same as an animal, all right?"

"You..." Meghan uttered. She was furious,

She gritted her teeth and looked at Jolene and the others again. Then, she replaced her arrogant look with a weak expression and said pitifully, "Since Evangeline has given these fish to you, they belong to you. You have the right to divide them. Please give me some. If you share the food with me, I'll ask Eddie to provide you with resources after we leave here?"

They were unmoved.

They knew Evangeline's detestation for Meghan. They would offend her if they shared the food she kindly gave them with someone she hated.

Even if they were not afraid of offending Evangeline, they thought it would be cheap of them to do that as a person

Meghan bit her lips and said sadly, "Are you so cruel as to leave me to die! I haven't eaten for days. If I still don't get to eat anything. I may really starve to death... They still did not react.

"She won't starve to death. Aren't there wild vegetables everywhere in the forest' they thought

Seeing they were unmoved. Meghan was so angry. She cursed, "You're so selfish and cruel. You will go to hell! If I starve to death, you will be the murderer and will never be in peace!"

But no matter what she said. Travis and the others ignored her and continued eating the grilled fish in their hands

"Stop it, Meghan, Let's go," Samson said. He grabbed Meghan and dragged her away.

In the live stream, multiple people wrote: [Look, it's so funny! How could Meghan be so brazen to think Evangeline would share food with her?] She had the nerve to ask Evangeline for food after picking on her all this time. Shame on her!

[I'm embarrassed for her!]

Il enjoy watching bitch and dumbass make a fool of themselves!]

I have a question. When they couldn't find food themselves, the production team just let them be. Isn't the production team afraid they'd really starve to death?]

[Judging by how they could still curse e

each other and fight for food, they still have energy

[The production team should have backup plans and can't possibly let them starve to death]

After Meghan and Samson left, Jolene and the others continued eating. The three of them divided up the two fish.

After eating, Jolene stood up and said to Evangeline, "Evangeline, I have the energy now. I'll sing a few more songs for you!"

Evangeline nodded and said, "Okay"

Jolene cleared her throat and began to sing

Travis picked another leaf and played the music.

Evangeline leaned against a tree and watched them perform with great interest, "Well, it's quite pleasant she thought

In the distance, Meghan kept stamping her feet angrily as she heard those songs.

"Damn, we're all abandoned here. Why should they be so happy while Sam and I are resentful? It's all Sam's fault she thought.

On the fifth day, when Evangeline woke up, Jolene and the others were still sleeping.

In the past few days, they could not sleep all night because of hunger. Even if they managed to fall asleep, they slept uneasily.

Last night, they finally had enough food. They slept s soundly all night and did not get up until dawn.

Evangeline packed up and walked into the forest with her backpack. She would rather play with monkeys in the forest than stay with those people.

Meghan and Samson were too hungry to sleep last night. They got up earlier than Evangeline.

Seeing Evangeline walking into the forest, Meghan grabbed Samson and followed her quietly.

"Why are you following her? Are you still thinking of beating her? I suggest you give up the idea. We can't even beat her when we're full, let alone we've been starving for days now," Samson said, Meghan said slyly, "She can find food every day she goes out. Let's follow her to see where she finds the food and how she catches her prey.

In fact, she intended to steal the prey before Evangeline picked it up after killing it. As long as the prey is taken away before it reaches Evangeline's hands, she can't claim it to be hers she thought, Since Samson hail some sense of morality, she dared not tell him outright and could only be to him for fear that he would not follow her. She was starving and could not care less about morality. She just wanted to find food. She did not want to eat raw wild vegetables anymore They could survive there for five days because they had secretly eaten wild vegetables.

They did not know whether it was poisonous or not. Seeing that the leaves were thick and green and did not look poisonous, they had pulled them up and eaten them. Samson thought for a while and accepted Meghan's proposal. 'We can't just eat wild vegetables every day. It's time to learn how to hunt, he thought. So, he and Mr Meghan secretly followed Evangeline.

Evangeline immediately noticed they were following her but did not care.

Anyway, she reckoned they were not a threat to her, Besides, she was also curious about why they followed her. They aren't trying to provoke me again, are they? she wondered

In order for them to keep up with her, Evangeline deliberately walked at a regular speed without swinging vines.

Even so, they were still far behind.

Evangeline passed through the forest and came to the foot of the mountain.

A group of monkeys rested on the trees at the foot of the mountain. At the sight of Evangeline, they all started screaming Seeing them eating bananas, Evangeline bluntly asked them, "Where did you get the bananas? Give me two.

She had been here several times but did not find banana trees nearby.

The monkey king snatched the bananas from two little monkeys, jumped down from the tree, ran up to Evangeline, and handed her the bananas.

"Thanks," Evangeline said as she took it over, sat down somewhere, and began to taste it.

When Meghan and Samson finally got to the forest edge, they saw a monkey giving Evangeline bananas from a distance.

Meghan was so angry that she dug her nails into the tree bark. "Why do even monkeys want to please Evangeline and give her food! I'm more honorable than her. The monkeys should come to please me and bring me food! she thought.

0

Rogue 22

Chapter 22

The monkeys keenly sensed the presence of others, and the creatures turned their collective gaze toward Samson and Meghan.

Evangeline said, "Ignore them. They pose no threat.

The monkeyst

then looked away and encircled Evangeline.

The other monkeys had even offered Evangeline bananas, placing the bunch of fruit in front of her.

Evangeline directed, "You two go ahead. I'll just have two."

When she had finished eating, she stood up and was set for a stroll.

This time, Evangeline did not go up the hill. Instead, she walked along the foothill, thinking she would explore the other places.

The monkeys wanted to follow her, but Evangeline said. "Don't follow me. Go play on your own. I'll walk alone."

The next second, the monkey king signaled its troop of monkeys to return to the mountain.

Meghan and Samson quietly followed Evangeline from a distance.

After a brief walk. Evangeline stumbled upon another wild fruit,

It was myrtle berries.

There was a bounty of the wild fruit, all ripe. The myrtle berries were black and were all about the size of a thumb.

Memories flooded back to Evangeline's childhood, recalling their delightful taste but also the painful aftermath of overindulging in these berries. If consumed too much, these myrtle berries would only lead to a diarrhea

Back then, with little knowledge about the fruit, Evangeline vividly recalled the discomfort she faced after a berry binge. In the end, it was her good friend who came to the rescue, helping her clean her stinky pants because of the diarrhea.

Her friend said he had to hold his breath while doing the cleaning.

The experience left her friend so disgusted that he could not bring himself to eat for days.

Evangeline could not even look her friend in the eyes for days.

Evangeline ate the myrtle berries while picking them.

She was cautious not to eat more than 20 berries and continued walking, fearing the discomfort it might bring.

Before Meghan could venture far, she ran toward the myrtle plant. Eyes gleaming with excitement, she eagerly plucked the berries with both hands and gulped them down..

Since she acted too quickly, even the leaves found their way into her mouth.

Samson followed suit, equally eager to pick the berries.

The two devoured the berries in silence.

Their wild feast continued until satisfaction filled their stomachs and only stopped when the ingested myrtle berries were regurgitated with a medley of belches,

Meghan said, "Sam, wasn't my decision spot on? Look what it led us to. Food!"

"I'm full. I haven't been so full for a long time!" Samson said.

It was just wild fruit, but it served its purpose of satiating their hunger.

samsons f.

face lit up with a grin. "Well, you've always been the smartest since you were a kid. Thanks to you, Meghan, I wouldn't be stuck surviving on wild vegetables alone today. You're my lucky star, Meghan" Meghan smiled.

Meghan proposed, "Sam, let's keep exploring. We might find more to eat. If not, we can gather some to take with us.

Samson nodded in agreement.

As the terrain was rarely traveled in, each step taken would leave visible marks on the ground with each step. Following these traces for nearly half an hour, they finally spotted Evangeline. There was a cliff ahead.

As they peered over the edge, a breathtaking landscape of mountains and forests came into view. Evangeline was sitting on the cliff's edge as she watched the scenery.

Sitting at the very edge of the cliff, the slightest shift in accident would send her tumbling down the cliff Just then. Meghan's eyes betrayed a malevolent gleam, and a sinister thought took root in her mind.

If only Evangeline fell off the cliff and died in this remote mountain' she thought.

The thought of this dark idea consumed her as soon as it appeared in her mind. silently a yapproaching Evangeline and pushing her off seemed like an effortless way to rid themselves of her.

The idea repeated in Meghan's mind like a sinister chant. She whispered inwardly, I'm going to push Evangeline off the cliff! I'm going to push Evangeline off the cliff I'm going to push Evangeline off the cliff!! With a malicious glint in her eyes, Meghan advanced slowly toward Evangeline.

She took slow, light steps as she approached Evangeline, afraid of alerting the latter.

Samson frowned and tried to follow, but Meghan caught his shoulder and shook her head, holding him back.

Quietly, Meghan whispered in his ear, "Don't come over. I'll apologize to her. Maybe we can make peace before leaving the forest

Samson thought for a moment and nodded.

Evangeline, skilled in wilderness survival, could be an invaluable ally.

Samson looked at Meghan from behind, a relieved smile gracing his face.

He always saw Meghan as a sensible person. Even with the many grievances Meghan had suffered, she had always repeatedly apologized to Evangeline to keep the peace between them, a trait he found superior to Evangeline's behavior.

Meghan s

soon stopped behind Evangeline,

Evangeline was still on the edge of the cliff, motionless, oblivious that someone w was approaching her

The sinister glint in Meghan's eyes intensified.

Suddenly, she bent down, and with forceful determination, she pushed Evangeline off the cliff.

Evangeline was thrown off the cliff and plunged downward.

Meghan was so excited that her entire body trembled. She quickly took a few steps back, fearing she would fall off. Her plot had succeeded.

Finally rid of that wretched Evangeline? she silently cheered.

"Meghan, what have you done! Samson exclaimed in horror.

He quickly rushed to the edge of the cliff, and it was at that moment a loud noise echoed from below.

Samson's face paled, his feet going cold as he lay at the cliff's edge, anxiously peering below,

However, his view was obstructed by a thick cluster of trees along the wall of the cliff, leaving him in agonizing uncertainty about what lay beneath the cliff.

"Evangeline! Can you hear me? Evangeline, are you still alive? Samson shouted down the cliff with his voice trembling.

Yet, there was no response, only the echo of the howling wind.

Meghan's triumphant voice came from behind. Stop shouting. It took her so long to fall. Look at the height of the cliff. Her bones must be broken. There's no way she survived."

Samson trembled violently.

He stood up from the ground and glared at Meghan with bloodshot eyes from anger. "Why did you push Evangeline off the cliff? Do you realize she could die from this?" he asked furiously. Unapologetic. Meghan declared, "I wanted her dead!"

Samson looked at her as if he was looking at a stranger. "You did it intentionally? She's my sister! How could you kill her? Even if she's not my biological sister, she's still a human being. How could you take a life?"

Meghan's face gleamed sinisterly as she justified her actions, saying. "You've seen what she did to us these days! She was always hitting us. She did nothing when you had a fever. She even took you to the water and hit you! She left you to die in the water!"

She continued. "She is one vicious woman. She's better off dead! Why are you so upset? I killed her to avenge you!"

"It's fine if you don't thank me, but you scolded me because of her. You took my kindness for granted! I have always known. No matter how good I am to you, I can never be better than your sister in your eyes!" Meghan bellowed. "If you think pushing her off the cliff was wrong, why don't you push me off too! Since you're so fond of her, go ahead and push me off!"

Conflicted emotions flickered across Samson's face, his fists forcefully clenching in turmoil

Meghan lowered her voice, her words catching in her throat as she untered, "Sam, you know how much she despises us and our family. She's aiming to harm you now. And when we return home, there is no doubt she will hurt our parents and brothers. If I don't get rid of her, our family will die at her hand!"

"I'm standing up against this wretched because I wanted to protect our family!" she continued with fervor "Sam, have you forgotten? Evangeline betrayed us by selling the Gallagher family company shares at a meager price to a rival company. She sold our parents out for so much money!" "She's been scheming against our family for a long time. If we don't put an end to her, we're only waiting to die at her hands! Meghan asserted. Samson found himself swayed by her words,

Meghan was right. Evangeline had long severed ties with the Gallagher family and even regarded them as enemies rather than kin

Before joining the show, Evangeline had already set her sights on the Gallagher family, and if left unchecked, she would pose a serious threat to their survival.

Even after everything Evangeline had put him through, the idea of her meeting a tragic end saddened Samson.

Taking a life was a thought he had never entertained, even with his deepest disappointment at Evangeline's lack of sympathy when he was seriously

Samson had only hoped things could be different. He thought maybe he could get his parents involved when they returned and try to set Evangeline on a better path.

If that plan fell through, he could keep an eye on her to stop her from hurting the family further without going to extremes.

Killing off Evangeline had never crossed his mind.

Yet, what had unfolded could not be undone. Samson could not deny Evangeline's wrongdoings, and perhaps fate had caught up with her. Meghan had only acted to protect her family, even when she was ruthless in her methods.

Samson, always reluctant to resort to extremes, had failed to stop the harm Evangeline had done to the Gallagher family. That was a responsibility Meghan had taken on herself, and he could not blame her for that..

Regaining his composure, Samson spoke firmly. "It's good that you're looking out for us, but let's not resort to this again. Killing is against the law. Even if Evangeline was plotting against us, we could've found another way."

Meghan replied softly, "Okay, I'll listen to you. Can you keep this between us? Don't tell anyone, not even our parents or Eddie and Jasper, okay?" Even with all that had happened, Evangeline was the biological daughter of their parents. Meghan knew that if they ever found out she played a role in Evangeline's death, it would undoubtedly create a serious issue for her.

The rest of the Gallagher family were not as gullible and easily fooled as Samson.

Samson hesitated briefly before nodding. "Okay, I promise. You were only doing this for me and to protect the family, I will not let anyone know about this, and I won't let you take all the blame."

3/4

pter

Meghan wanted to avenge him and protect their family. She was the one who had saved his life.

Even if he knew Meghan had done something wrong, he could not bring himself to blame her.

Meghan smiled and threw herself into Samson's arms. You're always so good to me. I love you the most. Sam.

Samson smiled gently and said, "You saved my life. Who else should I stand by if not you?"

"Evangeline had done nothing when I was dying in front of her. For someone with no empathy like her, perhaps a fresh start in her next life is the best she can hope for, added Samson.

LEND GIFT

Rogue 23

Chapter 23

Samson cast one final gaze at the bottom of the cliff, his eyes growing grim.

Eventually, he let out a silent sigh and turned away. He then took Meghan's hand as they walked back.

Everything that transpired was written in Evangeline's fate.

Despite Evangeline's sharp instincts and formidable combat skills, she was pushed off the cliff by Meghan. Fate, it seemed, had its own script. sealing Evangeline's destiny to meet her demise in this tragic moment.

About 12 feet beneath the cliff, a cave carved into the rock awaited.

Sitting at the entrance of the cave, Evangeline listened as the sound of their footsteps diminished. A cold chuckle escaped her lips as she mused, "Wanted me dead? Too bad for them, I guess. Death was never in my cards. I don't just go out that easily!"

Evangeline was not oblivious to Meghan's approaching menace. She had anticipated what Meghan was about to do.

She knew she would be pushed off the cliff, and giving Meghan the chance to throw her off was a deliberate move on Evangeline's part. At the same time, it was a strategic plan for an escape. Seated at the cliff's edge long before their arrival, Evangeline meticulously assessed the surroundings below, Even without the cave, the dense foliage of trees promised to break her fall.

The sounds reaching Samson and Meghan were the echoes of the stones she had tossed down.

Giving Meghan the chance to push her off the cliff was a calculated plan to expose Meghan's true nature to the foolish Samson.

To Evangeline's surprise, Samson proved to be so pathetically naive and easily swayed

Evangeline had severed ties with the Gallagher family, grateful not to have such a gullible brother. Otherwise, she would have been embarrassed to be associated with such foolishness. Regaining her composure, Evangeline ventured into the cave.

Finding herself bored and with time on her hands, Evangeline saw this as an adventure.

Night settled over the forest.

Jolene, Kendrick, and Travis waited anxiously, but Evangeline showed no sign of returning Jolene kept her eyes fixed on the deep forest. "Evangeline is never this late. Why hasn't she returned yet? She always comes back right after sunset. It's almost dark now. Could something have happened to her?" she asked worriedly.

Travis said, "She's good at fighting. Even the monkeys recognize her as their leader. She'll be fine."

Kendrick added, "Maybe she found an interesting spot and lost track of time. Let's just give her a bit more time."

Meanwhile, Meghan and Samson sat nearby. Hearing their conversation, Meghan could not hold back a contemptuous smile.

"They can wait all they want, but Evangeline's never coming back!" she sneered within herself

Meghan took out the myrtle berries they had collected and shared them with Samson.

Looking at Jolene and the others, she declared with a smirk, "Without Evangeline, you all must be starving. I've got plenty here. Apologize for last night, and maybe I'll share some with you." Jolene and the others cast her a glance, then turned their attention away, showing no intention of apologizing.

Meghan snored coldly. "Humph. We'll see how long you can keep up the attitude

With E

Evangeline out of the picture now, Meglun figured it was only a matter of time before they came begging for her help.

She was in no hurry, after all.

Meanwhile, discussions erupted about Evangeline's absence,

1/4

Chapter 23

A commenter wrote: [Where is Evangeline? Where'd she go? She wasn't seen since she walked out of the shooting area in the morning. Where did she go?]

A netizen added: [Samson and Meghan moved with Evangeline earlier. The two of them came back, but not Evangeline. What's going on!]

Another speculated: Could Meghan and Samson have killed Evangeline?)

A netizen quickly dismissed that idea. That's impossible. Meghan and Samson are no formidable opponents for Evangeline. There's no way they can beat her. Even with ten or more people, it's no threat to Evangeline!]

Another asked: [What exactly happened to Evangeline! Did she encounter wild animals? Was she eaten by them!]

The production team did not expect anyone to delve so deep into the forest. There were no hidden cameras installed that far out, so no one knew where Evangeline had gone or saw Meghan pushing the former off a cliff.

Dallas had been initially impressed by the capabilities of this group of pampered celebrities venturing into half of the forest. As an extra precaution, cameras were strategically placed near the mountains behind the forest

However, Evangeline surpassed all expectations.

Had Dallas known she could roam so far, they would have installed cameras in more distant locations.

With Evangeline going beyond the filming location, today's livestream saw a significant drop in viewership, from tens of millions to just hundreds of thousands of views.

Jolene and the others, who stood rooted to the ground, offered nothing interesting to watch.

The remaining viewers kept asking about Evangeline's return to the filming locations

All those people were eagerly waiting for Evangeline to reappear.

Impatient viewers took to Twitter, creating trending topics that gained considerable traction. These posts urged those stationed at the filming locations to notify Dallas immediately if Evangeline appeared. At this moment, Dallas, seeing Meghan and Samion returning without Evangeline, immediately contacted the crew members stationed in the forest

"You guys, go and find Evangeline. It's been almost ten hours since she was last seen on camera. Find out where she went," Dallas instructed. He was careful not to ask about what might have happened to Evangeline, not wanting his words to be some kind of jinx for her vanishing act "Huh?" Dallas suddenly muttered when he spotted a familiar figure on one of the camera feeds.

Evangeline, missing for almost ten hours, seemed to have returned unharmed.

Excitement trembled in Dallas' voice as he urgently exclaimed, "Stop the search. Evangeline has appeared! She's back!"

I told you so! With her skills, even monkeys would be no match. Even a tiger would become a kitten around her someone exclaimed.

"You guys continue to patrol and protect the guests secretly. Don't reveal yourselves unless it's absolutely necessary!" Dallas instructed again.

With that, Dallas switched the large screen in the livestream to the scene where Evangeline appeared,

At this time, Evangeline was retracing the same path she had taken earlier in the day, eventually coming to a halt at the base of the mountain where the monkeys had claimed their territory.

It was too late to navigate through the forest, so instead of heading back to the filming locations, she chose to spend the night there.

The base of the mountain was blanketed with expansive turf. The scenery was also remarkable with its unobstructed view.

At the foot of the mountain, the air was refreshingly cool.

Setting her backpack down, Evangeline called out to the mountains, "Kingka, are you there?"

With a rustling noise, the monkey king's roar echoed from the mountain. Howl!"

Soon, the monkeys went down the mountain and surrounded her.

Evangeline noticed a few missing from the troop, with some carrying injuries. The monkey king's left elbow and its left forelimb hung at an odd angle, its hand clearly dislocated and distorted Chapter 23

"What happened? Why are you all in this state? Evangeline frowned, slightly upset by the sight of the monkey's injury.

The monkeys chattered for a while, seemingly eager to tell her what had happened. Fury shone on their faces, though Evangeline struggled to grasp their communication fully.

"Were you attacked by other animals?" Evangeline wondered aloud, contemplating the wilderness as the only plausible explanation

Samson's people could not have been the culprits.

His people were no match for the monkeys.

The monkey king nodded vigorously, confirming her speculation.

Evangeline then said, "It's too late to deal with that today. Take me to them tomorrow. Come here. Let me see if I can treat your injuries."

The monkey king's eyes lit up for a second at that prospect.

As Evangeline sat on the ground, the monkey king obediently approached her.

She turned on a flashlight, and a nearby monkey held it for her, illuminating the injured hand of the monkey king.

She reached out and probed the monkey king's left hand, causing it to cry out in pain repeatedly

After examining it for a moment, Evangeline made a swift motion

Crack!

With a sharp snap, the monkey king's voice cut off sharply with a snap, and a puzzled expression appeared on his face. Glancing down at its left forelimb, it realized the hand had returned to normal shape. The monkey king tried to move its forelimb, and while it hurt a line, it was functioning again, Ecstatic, the monkey king howled joyously, circling Evangeline as if to express gratitude.

The other monkeys joined in the celebration, their eyes filled with admiration as if witnessing miracle.

"Just a dislocation. I've reset it for you, Evangeline explained. "But take it easy for a while. No swinging from tree to tree, okay? Be cautious not to dislocate it again. Once it fully recovers, you can go back to doing whatever you want.

Whether or not it understood, the monkey king continued to howl in delight

Evangeline turned to the others. "Line up, injured ones. Let me take a look and lend a hand."

The monkey king summoned the injured monkeys, and the monkeys, in an orderly fashion, lined up for Evangeline to check.

There were ten injured monkeys, each with varying degrees of injury.

Some of the monkeys had their cheeks slightly bitten, which would likely heal on their own.

Others, however, carried severe injuries across their bodies. One with a piece of skin bitten off, another missing half of its tail, and the others with deep bite wounds.

These larger wounds were slow to heal and prone to infection. The monkeys might succumb to their injuries if they were not carefully treated. One monkey was particularly worrisome, with its internal organs exposed from abdominal injury. Without urgent care, its fate seemed sealed. Evangeline's expression turned serious as she commanded, "Injured ones, stay put. Kingka, bring some of them to me" She stood up, and armed with a flashlight, she combed the mountain base, searching for herbs.

Not long after that, she picked some herbs. Evangeline handed them to the monkey king and said, "Find more of this for me! The monkey king sniffed and tasted the herb. The other monkeys did the same and then scattered to begin their search. The other monkeys then followed suit.

After about ten minutes, Evangeline and the monkeys returned with the herbs.

The monkeys laid the herbs before Evangeline. She examined them carefully and found that the herbs were all picked correctly. She gave the the monkeys a thumbs up, complimenting, "You're quite the clever bunch, huh! It didn't take you much time to learn!"

11:45 AM

Chapter 93

"Remember, if you get injured in the future, you can find these herbs. Just crush and apply them to your wound. It prevents infection. Even if infected, it can still work if not too severe, Evangeline instructed. As she explained, Evangeline took down the pot which had been hanging on her bag pack. She then put the herbs in a pot and crushed them into a paste with a stone she had picked up from the ground, After mashing the herbs, she applied them to the injured monkeys except for the one with an injured abdomen.

From her backpack, she pulled out a medical kit and a suturing needle.

When Evangeline walked over to the monkey with a wound on its abdomen, the little monkey shivered with fear. Evangeline looked at the monkey king and said. "Find two strong monkeys to hold it down. Don't let it move."

"Make it four. One on each limb," she added.

The monkey king swiftly assigned monkeys to restrain the injured one.

Evangeline disinfected its wound with iodine. Then, she took a needle and thread and began to stitch the wound.

Being in poor condition, Evangeline could only proceed with stitching the wound without anesthesia.

The monkey howled in piercing pain, but to prevent it from running away, the other monkeys forcefully pinned it down.

Evangeline's hand acted quickly as she stitched over 20 sutures on the wound in a flash.

Then, she sterilized the wound and applied some medicine to it.

"Don't move until the wound heals, or it will tear open again, she cautioned

As Evangeline packed up, she told the monkey king. "Send some to pick some fruits and fetch them to me. I don't feel like making dinner tonight."

Rogue 24

Chapter 24

Evangeline's seamless communication with the monkeys triggered astonished reactions from the livestream viewers. A person commented: [My goodness, what did I just witness? Evangeline effortlessly communicating with monkeys?]

Another voice chimed in with wonder: Unbelievable, it's way beyond belief]

Appreciative comments flowed in, praising the remarkably smooth interaction [The communication is so smooth as if she was talking to humans!]

Someone made a point [You know, sometimes it's harder to talk to humans. Some just lack common sense!]

A keen viewer pointed out: (Check out those monkeys! The admiration in their eyes for Evangeline is like worship. Look at how they're viewing her as some God!]

Concern surfaced when a netizen noticed the injuries on the monkeys. A person wrote: [Man, these monkeys are so clever and adorable! What could have hurt them so bad!]

A fan proclaimed: [You're incredible, Evangeline. You will always be my idol!]

Another asked with curiosity: I'm curious about today, during the daytime, when Evangeline disappeared from the camera. Where did she go? What happened?]

A viewer speculated (Judging by Meghan and Samson's expressions. I think something must have happened between the three of them. It really makes you wonder!]

Since Evangeline returned to the livestream the viewer count did not just rise. It exploded, going from millions to tens of millions, hitting one hundred million, eventually reaching an astounding two hundred million views worldwide.

Audiences from all over the world flooded into the live room.

Even overseas audiences who could not understand Chistan were astounded to see Evangeline communicating with the monkeys.

The hashtag [#EvangelineCommunicatingWithAnimals] sparked intense discussions globally, with teams specializing in animal language hoping to establish contact with her.

This day marked the sixth day of the survival program

Evangeline woke up to find a spread of fruits neatly placed before her like gifts.

Evangeline got up and began her morning routine. She did a set of exercises and chewed a few leaves to clean her mouth before savoring the sweetness of bananas, persimmons, grapes, and an assortment of other fruits she could not name

Each bite, saccharine and tart, was delectable

Feeling full from the fruits, Evangeline went to check on the wounded monkeys,

She instructed the monkey king to gather herbs. When they returned, Evangeline guided them in crushing the herbs and applying them to their wounds.

Refraining from joining in to help, Evangeline only observed as the monkeys prepared their own medicines, making sure the correct herbs were used.

Once the monkeys had completed the task, she did not hold back from praising them. "You guys are so smart. You learn rather quickly. Remember this. I won't always be here, and you will have to rely on yourself in the future!"

Evangeline had made up her mind. After the seventh day of filming, she would embark alone to find her way out.

She had signed a seven-day recording agreement and was committed to seeing through the entire seven-day recording deal, even when the production team had lost touch with her. The contract clearly outlined a seven-day duration, and Evangeline was determined to stick to it. This way, if the production team tried to blame her for disappearing, she could confidently state that she had followed the agreement. It was their responsibility since they lost track of her during the shoot.

On the sixth day, she contemplated extending her stay by one more day and leaving the day after tomorrow.

Gathering her thoughts, Evangeline turned her attention to the monkey king. "Kingka, who were those that attacked you yesterday! Take me to them

The monkeys responded with chattering.

Evangeline said, "Stop talking. Just lead the way."

Understanding them seemed futile. Spending time attempting to decipher their words would only be a waste of time.

"Leave the injured ones behind and get the other monkeys to stay and protect the injured monkeys. Take the ones skilled in combat with us so that we can fight any creatures attacking us. The rest, follow me," Evangeline instructed.

After Evangeline finished speaking, the monkey king quickly marshaled the troop. Promptly, the monkeys separated into two groups.

Some monkeys were not able to join Evangeline. They insisted on following but were quickly dismissed by the monkey king-

With that, Evangeline set out with a group of over ten monkeys.

One comment pleaded: [Evangeline, don't come back. Stay as the Monkey Queen! It seems that they've centered their world around you. What would become of them if you leave!] Another cheered: (Haha. I support Evangeline becoming the monkey king. Watching her and the monkeys is way more fun than seeing her with Meghan and the rest.)

A netizen grumbled: [Stop bringing up Meghan and the others. Just thinking about them raises my blood pressure.]

Observations arose about the monkeys intelligence, too. Someone remarked: [Those wild monkeys are so smart Evangeline taught them once, and they remembered the herbs, even applying them correctly. Give them some time, and they'd probably evolve into humans!] Concern crept in amidst the chatter. One lamented: (I worry people might poach these clever monkeys for performances if this show airs) Another declared: [The authorities need to strengthen protection over these creatures. These little monkeys should never fall into bad hands!] One excited fan speculated: [Ooh, is Evangeline going to get revenge for the injured monkeys! I can't wait!]

However, a dissenting voice argued: [Humans shouldn't interfere in natural animal competition, even if they've bonded with some. Evangeline disrupts ecological balance by disciplining predators just because she befriended the monkeys.]

Someone retorted: [Humans have long affected wild animals lives. Their habitats are completely our demarcated domains now. It's too late for non-interference talk.]

Evangeline remained oblivious to the ongoing online discussions about her, including the netizens' speculations regarding her potential quest for revenge on behalf of the monkey king.

These discussions extended beyond the live room, spreading to other platforms.

The hashtag #ShouldHumanHelpWildAnimals became a trending topic on Twitter

The topic sparked polarizing opinions. Some argued for human intervention in wildlife matters, while others advocated for leaving wild animals undisturbed

In the midst of this, Evangeline continued her journey, completely ignorant of the ongoing discussions.

Even if she were to stumble upon these discussions later, it would not sway her. She was determined to do what she desired only.

As they walked for about half an hour, the monkeys eventually came to a stop at the edge of the forest, approximately two miles away from their usual habitat. The environment here, however, was far inferior to the monkeys' domain.

Stopping to observe for a while, Evangeline noticed an animal emerging from the tree hollow, peering in their direction.

Upon closer inspection, Evangeline recognized the animal, an unmistakable yellow-throated marten.

Monkeys were part of the yellow-throated martens' diet

Despite being smaller in size than adult monkeys, weighing about four to six pounds, yellow-throated martens were swift, powerful, and adept climbers. Hunting, to these creatures, was an easy task. Besides hunting monkeys, these yellow-throated martens could even kill young wild boars.

Yellow-throated martens, known for their communal nature, would unite in a collective attack if an individual found itself unable to handle a situation alone.

Despite the monkeys sharing a similar social trait, they were outmatched by the yellow-throated marten's strength.

The monkey king bared its teeth and snarled fiercely at the marten while the other monkeys echoed its boldness. However, for all their front, they were all fearfully cowering behind Evangeline.

2/4

In this intense moment, more yellow-throated martens emerged from the other tree hollows where they had been resting

The creatures eyed Evangeline's group warily.

Despite their potential danger, Evangeline found them rather adorable. In terms of appearance, the yellow-throated martens seemed superior to the monkeys, who appeared comparatively feeble against the strength of the martens.

Evangeline, regaining her composure, glared at the yellow-throated martens with a cold gaze

Undaunted, the martens, standing arrogantly, refused to flee. Instead, they shifted their tactics. Before Evangeline and the monkeys could comprehend, they found themselves encircled by the martens. It was a group tactic that the yellow-throated martens commonly used

If one marten in the pack could not take on its enemy on its own, the rest of the group would jump in collectively.

Their confidence was bolstered by yesterday's triumph when they attacked the monkeys, claiming some for a feast.

Despite the presence of a peculiar upright monkey among the primates today, the martens harbored no fear and had no intention of fleeing. On the contrary, their plan was to encircle them and launch an attack at the first opportunity.

The monkeys, feeling threatened, intensified their calls, attempting to use sound waves to scare away the yellow-throated martens.

Evangeline roughly counted the herd of yellow-throated marten and realized that there were over 60 of them.

The sheer number surprised her. While she had always known yellow-throated martens to be social animals, she didn't expect there to be so many of them

Nevertheless, Evangeline paid little heed to the size of their group.

The yellow-throated marten was ready to initiate its attack.

Though fearful, the monkeys were ready to confront them.

Just as the yellow-throated marten who led the attack rushed out, Evangeline quickly trotted forward.

Though renowned for their agility, the yellow-throated marten was no match for Evangeline's speed.

In one swift motion, Evangeline grabbed the back of its neck, then quickly pulled off a vine and tied it up, incapacitating the marten

While the yellow-throated marten wrangled forcefully, Evangeline left it in a daze with her forceful slap. As it regained its composure, the yellow-throated marten discovered itself bound, helpless, and seething with fury.

The entire sequence unfolded in a matter of seconds, barely reaching the count of ten.

Right after, Evangeline quickly moved on to catch the other yellow throated martens, defeating each of them with a single slap.

She skillfully knocked out three or four martens at a time and tied them together with a vine

In a span of ten minutes, Evangeline managed to capture the entire pack and tie them up.

The first capture was remarkably swift, causing the other martens to scatter in fear. It took ten minutes for Evangeline to round them up.

As the monkeys watched the yellow-throated martens, now bound on the ground, memories of the ruthless attack they had faced flashed before them. While fearful of the scene before them, a profound admiration for Evangeline took root among the primates.

The monkeys marveled at her fighting skills, believing that having Evangeline as their leader was the best decision they could have made.

Standing before the yellow-throated martens, Evangeline eyed them coldly as she delivered a stern warning "Listen up, these monkeys are under my protection now. Consider this your only warning. If you dare hunt them again, I'll break your necks. Understand?"

The yellow-throated martens collectively shuddered in response to her warning.

Evangeline continued, "And you know what? I've got an idea for you. You should move, Head east as you walk. Along the foot of this mountain. About six miles away, there's this cliff, and underneath it, there's a sweet forest. The shore area is bigger, lots of food there. There are so many of you. It's way better to live in a bigger space

This jungle was too cramped for this many predators.

The animals in the jungle were scarce, and if the predators kept hunting them, it would not be long before they were all wiped out.

Chapter 21

Evangeline did not concern herself with whether the yellow throated martens comprehended her words. After cautioning them, she untied and releases them one by one, each liberation accompanied by a firm slap.

Once freed, the yellow-throated martens fled into the forest and vanished from their sight.

Seeing that, the monkeys kept calling out to Evangeline, seemingly reluctant for her to release the yellow-throated martens.

Undeterred. Evangeline said in a low voice. This is your conflict to resolve. My interference has already crossed a line. If I were to kill them. I'd end up in jail"

While no one would know about this as long as she did not reveal anything, she did not want to intervene in the dynamics among wild animals.

Seeing her stern expression, the monkeys ceased their protests, though it was uncertain if they fully grasped her words.

Online, a viewer cheered: Incredible! She caught a yellow-throated marten in seconds and tied it up. Her speed is unreal! I couldn't move that fast when tying up a dead animal.] Another marveled: Someone tell me what Evangeline went through to gain such skills.]

Aviewer speculated: Was she some special agent? Her combat abilities are admirable yet frightening. I got goosebumps watching her fight.]

One exclaimed: [She's too cool. I'm shocked speechless!]

A challenger declared: [Evangeline's amazing, all right. I bet she could make me cry seven times in three minutes.]

A retort followed: [You overestimate yourself. Evangeline could make you bawl seventy times in three minutes.]

One asked worriedly: [She just warned those yellow-throated martens with words. Are they actually scared? What if they hold grudges and go after the monkeys later?]

Another scoffed skeptically: Hilarious, reasoning with wild animals and warning them? Only a fool would think the animals understood her words! Monkeys are primates, so they happened to understand, but does she think she has some supernatural ability to communicate across species?]

Despite mockery and doubts over Evangeline's communication, the narrative continued onward.

COMMENT

Rogue 25

Chapter 25

Three hours later, Dallas suddenly switched the screen in the live room

From Evangeline to the yellow-throated martens.

At this time, the family of yellow-throated martens was running in a certain direction in a long line.

That direction was exactly the route that Evangeline had told them and Everyone was shocked.

proposed for their relocation.

A person typed: [What the hell What am I seeing? Is the yellow-throated marten family really moving!]

Someone commented: They are moving in the same direction Evangeline pointed out yesterday. Are they really going to move!

[Did they understand what Evangeline said!]

Oh my goodness! I didn't think the yellow-throated manens could understand human language I

I wonder if these monkeys and the yellow-throated marten are intelligent enough to understand human speech, or do they only understand Evangeline? [What magic does Evangeline possess?]

[Calm down. Maybe it's just a daily activity, not because they underwood Evangeline and moved. It could be that they used to go there often. After all, it's not very far from their nest]

[It's hardly a daily activity if the whole group moves together. Although yellow-throated martens live in groups, they move in pairs for their daily activities. In my opinion, they are relocating!]

At this time, Evangeline was sitting on the hillside and saw a group of yellow-throated marten heading east at the foot of the mountain,

She specially told the monkey king to call the monkeys up so as not to disturb the relocation of the yellow-throated martens.

Evangeline also deliberately trailed the martens secretly. Seeing that they really migrated down the cliff along the trees on the edge of the cliff, she finally returned at ease.

The monkeys admired her even more,

Evangeline sent them to get fruits for lunch.

Since there was no no water source here, it was hard to clean up meat, so fruits were her only option.

She would return to the riverbank tonight. Otherwise, she would stink if she skipped showering again after not taking one last night

Meanwhile, at the riverbank, Jolene was very anxious as Evangeline did not return all night.

She looked at Travis and Kendrick and said, "Evangeline hasn't returned yet. Did something happen to her? Let's go and find her!" Travis and Kendrick exchanged somewhat hesitant looks.

Not far away, Meghan said sarcastically, "Are you still waiting for Evangeline to come and give you food? Stop dreaming. She won't return!"

Kendrick looked at Meghan and asked expressionlessly. "Why are you so sure? Did you do something to Evangeline?"

Meghan shouted angrily, "What are you talking about? Evangeline asked for it by running around. Maybe she fell to my death! What does that have to do with me! If you dare to slander me again, I'll sue you and let you rot in prison!"

Kendrick withdrew his gaze and said nothing.

However, Meghan was relentless and continued, "You barely received a little favor from Evangeline and now, you've degraded yourselves and are acting like her loyal dogs. How spineless!"

Travis interjected impatiently, "Kendrick merely asked casually. Why are you so agitated like you were exposed?"

"You... Don't talk nonsense! If you flap your guns, I will also sue your" Meghan said angrily, and panic flashed in her eyes.

However, the panic only lasted for a moment, and she recovered quickly.

1/4

Evangeline was dead, and only she and Samson knew what happened.

Besides, Samson was on her side, so he would not tell anyone about it,

Meghan had nothing to worry about.

Travis said indifferently. "Go ahead and sue me. Kendrick and I were only talking. You'd be amazing if we we ihat"

Meghan gritted her teeth angrily and looked fierce.

Although she could not put them in jail for talking, s

she could have the Gallagher family avenge her were sentenced to life imprisonment for

Once she went home, she would complain to George, Edward, and Jasper.

She wanted these three bastards to lose their jobs in the entertainment industry.

Ever since Jolene and others disobeyed her, Meghan had already held grudges in her heart.

Even if they listened to her now, she would still retaliate against them.

She kept giving them chances because she wanted some lackeys to serve her in the forest.

However, she did not expect these people to be so despicable and would rather flatter Evangeline than please her.

However, it did not matter. Evangeline was dead, and Meghan had food

Once these people went hungry, they w would humbly beg her for food.

The wild fruit they found yesterday was still abundant and could last them for a few days.

"Stop it, Meghan." Samson rugged Meghan's arm, signaling her to stop a arguing.

He could not understand why Meghan, who used to be so kind and gentle, had changed so much.

Her change from a few days ago could be reasoned with starvation.

However, now that she was filled, she remained mean and kept provoking others.

Meghan bit her lips and said, "Sam, they teamed up against me. It's fine if you won't help me, but how could you tell me to let things go?" She was very dissatisfied and thought. Samson is so useless. First, he can't beat Evangeline.

Now, he can't even win against three nobodies.

'How can he call himself a man'

Samson said, "It's no use winning the quarrel. Save y your energy, and let's talk about it after we go home"

Meghan could only stop reluctantly.

She suddenly y felt a sensation of swelling in her bowel, which was the prelude to taking a shit.

She immediately took tissues from her bag and said to Samson, "Sam, I need to go to the toilet. Can you accompany me into the forest! I'm a of going alone... You can come and stay with me at a distance,"

Samson nodded

He also took a pack of tissue and put it in his pocket. Then he went into the forest with Meghan.

They went deeper fo for quite a distance and found a place with lush grass, Meghan stopped.

afraid

Samson walked a little further and hesitated. The grass was flourishing, and only their upper bodies were not hidden when standing. Once they squatted down, they would be hidden from view. Both of them squatted down and did their own business.

However, after a long time. Meghan could not excrete. She could feel it, but it was stuck in her rectum like a stone.

Chapter 25

She could not make it go back either even if she tried.

The pain made her face pale, and she was sweating all over. She even let out a scream of pain from her mouth.

Even when her legs became numb from squatting for too long, she was still constipated Meghan was so angry that she even cried.

"Sam, I can't let it out. It hurts so much," she called Samson loudly. Her tone was very aggrieved, and she cried directly. Samson's voice was also very painful. He replied, "Me too"

Meghan broke down. "It hurts... so much. I feel like there's a stone stuck in my rectum, and now I can't even hold it back."

Samson said. "Me too."

Meghan was furious,

She wanted a solution, not his empathy.

Meghan was so angry and aggrieved. Her breath became ragged from crying, and her body was in so much pain. She almost collapsed. However, she was constipated, and her legs were numb. She could not keep squatting for fear that her legs would become limp.

She and Samson could only suck it up and return to the riverbank with painful faces

They sat down side by side, listless and pained,

Although they could not take a dump successfully, it was even more uncomfortable to have the need and still fail.

They did not even have an appetite to eat.

The duo made bathroom runs countless times from morning to night but failed. It was getting more painful over time. Meghan was so weak that she lost all her energy.

It was getting dark, so Meghan ran into the forest, ready to try again.

Maybe she went there too many times. She no longer asked Samson to accompany her.

She tried hard for half an hour this time, but she was still constipated. When she used a little strength, her rectum hurt badly.

Meghan pulled up her pants and stood up. She was so angry that she burst into tears, punching and kicking the plants beside her.

"Why are you torturing me like this? I had nothing to eat a few days ago, and now I can't shit. What on earth did I do wrong to deserve this?" Meghan cursed angrily.

Suddenly, there was a rustling sound behind her as if something was approaching her,

Meghan instantly looked back and saw a ghostly face.

She could recognize that face even after death.

It was a delicate face that exuded a cold and gorgeous temperament.

At this time, a beam of light shone from the bottom to the top, making that beautiful face look ghostly and terrifying-

"Ghost!" Meghan cried out in horror. Her face turned pale with fear, and her whole body trembled violently as she thought, Evangeline! She's back! How could she be alive after falling from that high cliff? "This must be her spirit

Meghan was so scared that she collapsed on the ground and moved backward little by little on her butt. She did not even dare to look at Evangeline's face.

It was so terrifying that she was afraid of being scared to death.

She screamed, "Don't come over! I didn't hurt you. You were careless and fell yourself!"

Evangeline did not answer but walked slowly toward Meghan

"Ahh! Don't come! Don't kill me! Megh

3/4

Meghan suddenly had a burst of energy, stood up, and ran out of the forest at the fastest speed in her life. As she Soon, Meghan ran out of the forest.

Simson

saw Meghan screaming and running out of the forest. He immediately stood up and walked toward her. "Meghan, what happened?"

Meghan threw herself into Samson's arms and cried her heart out.

"Ghost... It's haunted. Evangeline, she's turned into a ghost and came back to take revenge on me! Sam, save me. You must save me. I don't want to die. I haven't lived long enough. Ahhh!" she explained while trembling and screaming.

Samson's expression changed, and his body trembled slightly. "What did you say? Evangeline's back? How is that possible? Ghosts don't exist. Did you see wrongly Meghan shook her head with tears on her face. I didn't see it wrong. Evangeline is back to kill me.

As Meghan was having a private moment, Dallas directly turned off the camera in the forest,

Therefore, the audience in the live room did not know what happened in the forest.

At this time, they were stunned to see Meghan reappear in the camera and be this terrified.

Someone asked: [What's going on? Why is Meghan so scared!]

A person replied: [She said there's a ghost and that Evangeline's back to take her life. What does that mean:]

Another commentator said. [Did she see Evangeline and think she's a ghost?]

[No, why does she think Evangeline is dead? Although Evangeline had not returned all night, there is no evidence to prove that she's dead. Even if Meghan saw Evangeline, she shouldn't think Evangeline is a ghost]

[Did Meghan do something to Evangeline, and that's why she is so guilty and thinks Evangeline's a ghost upon sighting her?]

[She said Evangeline returned for revenge. If she hadn't hurt Evangeline, why would she say that?]

[Holy crap! Is Meghan that vicious to want Evangeline's death? Del Evangeline get trapped somewhere when she disappeared from the camera yesterday because of Meghan?]

18

0

HIND GIFT

COMMENT

Rogue 26

Chapter 26

At this moment, a familiar figure slowly walked out of the forest

"Ah! Evangeline's here; the ghost is here. Help me, Sam!" Meghan shouted. She threw herself into Samson's arms and trembled violently.

She buried her face in Samson's chest, not daring to look, but she also could not help herself from peeking at Evangeline to see if her spirit had approached her.

Seeing Evangeline, Samson's face had also turned pale. His body was tense and trembled slightly beyond his control.

"Evangeline, is that you? Are you a human or a ghost?" Samson asked with a trembling voice.

Even if Evangeline survived falling from such a high cliff, she could not be unscathed

However, there was no bloodstain on Evangeline, which was absolutely impossible.

Therefore, she could not be a human.

"What do you think?" Evangeline asked with a half-smile.

Her flashlight shone from below her face. She smiled and showed her white teeth, which made her even more terrifying.

"Evangeline, please spare me. I didn't mean to push you. Let me go just this once for the sake of our family! I swear to make offerings once I go back, and you'll be well in the afterlife. I'll also be filial to our parents and brothers on behalf of you. Please spare me! Meghan knelt directly in front of Evangeline and bowed while crying and repeating.

Seeing as her apologies were useless, Meghan began to shift the blame and said, "I really didn't mean it. I just wanted to pat your back, but I didn't expect you to lose your balance and fall off the cliff. This has nothing to do with me! You can't take revenge on me, or you can't go to heaven. If you want to blame me, then you were also at fault for sinning on the edge of a cliff and dangling your feet outside. Even if I don't push you, you will fall anyway. Since you fell and died, then this is your fate. You can't blame me"

Samson supplemented in a trembling voice, "Evangeline, you should go to heaven if you're dead. Don't commit a killing sin because if you did, you would become an evil spirit and be punished for your sins in hell. If you're unwilling to ascend to heaven because of grievances, I will get someone to read holy scriptures for you when I get back. Then, I will accumulate merits for you so that you will find a good family in your next life."

Evangeline did not say anything. She kept a half-smile on her face, and her eyes were full of mockery.

Samson gritted his teeth and continued, "It was an accident. Meghan didn't mean to hurt you, so don't hurt her."

At this time, the audience in the live room was shocked

If they had suspicions earlier, then through Meghan and Samson's 'confession, they could be sure that Meghan tried to kill Evangeline and even took action.

A viewer typed: [Holy crap, I thought Meghan was just a little pretentious I didn't expect her to be so vicious to even try to kill someone!]

Another wrote. [She pushed Evangeline off the cliff? This is too cruel. No matter how much you hate someone, most people wouldn't take action. How could she]

[That's right. Although I often fantasize about the death of the person I hate, if it comes to actually killing someone, few people dared to do it. Meghan is too heartless!]

[I'm so annoyed. How dare she? First, she stole Evangeline's identity as the Gallagher family's daughter and enjoyed the life that should've been Evangeline's. Now, she even attempted to kill Evangeline! How could such a vicious woman exist in the world?]

[Is there anyone who studied law in the live room! Can Meghan be sentenced to death for this!]

(It's hard to sentence her to death and not even a severe punishment as the camera hadn't filmed her evildoing process. Her current confession might not be effective as evidence either. Moreover, Evangeline is unharmed. In this case, it's difficult to give Meghan a harsh punishment. If she denied it afterward by saying her confession was nonsense from fear, and no one else testified, Meghan would walk free. Even in the best-case scenario, she would be sentenced to three years at most.

[This is so infuriating Such an evil woman is a walking trouble!]

[Instead of Meghan pushing Evangeline off the cliff, I'm more shocked that Samson connived at Meghan and even pleaded for her. Evangeline is his real sister!]

1/5

10:28 AM

Chapter 26

I was also shocked by Samson's reaction. I could tell from his words that he knew Meghan pushed Evangeline off the cliff, but he defended and pleaded for Meghan. How could he do that?] [Maybe Samson helped push Evangeline off the cliff

[I feel sorry for Evangeline. She saved a back-stabbing ingrate[]

[Samson is inhumane!]

[Damn this scum and bitch! They should die. I feel disgusted from seeing them!]

On the site, Meghan was still kneeling on the ground and begging for mercy, "Evangeline, please forgive me. I really didn't mean it. I only wanted to say hello but used too much strength and shoved you off instead. I know I was wrong. Don't kill me. I can only make offerings if I'm alive. My death won't do you any good!"

Evangeline suddenly stopped and frowned. Then, she quickly retreated and pinched her nose in disgust.

"What's that terrible smell?" Evangeline asked disdainfully.

n froze

Both Meghan and Samson

The next moment, Samson also smelled a foul stench.

It stank so bad he retched.

Meghan also smelled it.

At the same time, she also felt that her underwear was bulging with weight.

She was terrified until she shitted her pants.

Meghan's face turned red and pale; she was both scared and embarrassed.

She wished for the constipation to be gone but not in such a humiliating way that she was thoroughly embarrassed.

Meghan bit her

lip and cried even more because of shame.

Just then, Jolene ran to Evangeline and looked at her in surprise and joy. Jolene asked excitedly. "Evangeline, you're finally back! Where have you been? You disappeared for so long. We've been worried about you!"

Evangeline's gaze shifted to Jolene while holding up the flashlight the same way, making her face look gloomy. She asked instead of answering. "They call me a ghost. Aren't you afraid of me?" Jolene pointed to her shadow on the ground and said, "Evangeline! How could you be a ghost? You have a shadow under your feet. It's said on television that ghosts don't have a shadow!" Evangeline smiled and shone her flashlight elsewhere. It seems that you are smarter than them"

"Thank you for the compliment, Evangeline, Jolene said with a smile.

Evangeline tossed two wild hares and her dagger to Jolene. "Clean them up, and don't lose them, or there will be no dinner tonight.

Jolene hurriedly caught them and asked, "Can I call Travis and Kendrick along?"

Evangeline nodded.

"Okay, we'll deal with it right now!" Jolene cheerfully brought two plump hares to Kendrick and Travis and passed them over to the two.

At this time, Samson and Meghan were both dumbfounded.

They looked at Evangeline in disbelief and thought, Evangeline isn't a ghost?

Samson immediately asked, "Evangeline, you're alive. How did you survive the fall from such a high cliff?"

There was a hint of joy in his eyes that he did not even notice.

Although he was shocked, he felt glad that Evangeline was still alive.

1028 AM

Chapter 26

Since Meghan pushed Evangeline off the cliff, although he promised to keep it a secret and convinced himself that it was Evangeline's fate, he still could not help feeling guilty and sad. He had been uneasy all this time.

Now that he knew Evangeline was still alive, his uneasy heart finally found peace.

Meghan screamed, "How is that possible? You fell off the cliff. We heard you hit the bottom. How could you still be alive after falling from such a high altitude? You must be a ghost! You have to be a ghost!" y time to die.

Evangeline mocked, "I know you want me to die. Unfortunately, the heavens don't want me. It's not yet my Meghan shook her head vigorously. Her eyes were full of resentment and hatred as she went on. "It's impossible. You should've fallen to your death. Why are you still alive! Evangeline did not want to argue with a lunatic

She said with a half-smile, "Even if you're in denial, the fact is that you didn't kill me. However, you can also be convicted of attempted murder. Just wait and see. I will not let this slide. There was fear in Meghan's eyes, and her body trembled even more violently.

Evangeline looked down and glanced between Meghan's legs with disgust and sneered, "Before that, you'd better clean up your shit. It stinks like a biochemical weapon

Evangeline pinched her nose and walked upstream.

She was heading upstream to find a spot to wash top.

"Ah! Evangeline, you'll die a miserable death! If you're not dead, why did you try to scare me?" Meghan screamed and cursed. Evangeline made her shit in public, colu

Although only a few people were present. Meglan was still ashamed and angry. She wanted to bury herself or silence all others. Samson took two steps to the side, keeping a distance from her.

He struggled to resist the urge to pinch his nose and chose to sacrifice his sense of smell to preserve her last dignity.

Samson said, "Meghan, stop talking now. Go clean yourself up and change your clothes.

Meghan looked at Samson with red eyes and asked angrily, "Sam, why are you so far away from me? Do you find me repulsive!" Samson struggled for a few seconds and then shook his head. "No."

Meghan bit her

lips and said, "Then, why are you so far away from me?"

While holding his breath, Samson walked to her, grabbed her arm, and pulled her up from the ground

As there was too much dirt, her underpants could not contain them all.

When Meghan stood up, the dirt spilled to the ground.

There was blood mixed in them.

Although she was so frightened that she did not feel any pain earlier, her anus was torn and was bleeding a lot.

"Ah! Meghan was embarrassed and annoyed. While she screamed, she stomped her feet and shoved Samson away.

As she stomped her feet, more dirt spilled on the ground.

Samson felt a little nauseous and hurriedly said, "I'll get your clothes. You go to the river first to wash up."

He could take this opportunity to stay away from her instead of tolerating the nasty stench,

Meghan bit her lip and en dured the humiliation. She quickly ran to the river and jumped into it directly.

Jolene and others had planned to prepare the hares at the riverbank. When they saw Meghan jumping into the river, they stopped.

Ex

10:28 AM

Chapter 26

Kendrick said. "Let's pick up some wood first and prepare the hares upstream later!"

They all nodded in agreement.

The trio bypassed the filth left by Meghan with their things and walked upstream.

They did not stop until they could no longer see Meghan.

A viewer wrote: [Look, this is so funny. Meghan was scared to shit]

Someone else commented: [Taking a shit in public is so embarrassing that moving away from the earth overnight is the only option left!]

[She must've felt guilty!]

[Samson has true love for Meghan. When others don't dare to get close to Meghan, he stays with her. Let's bind them together!]

[Meghan the bitch deserves it! This is just a small punishment for trying to harm Evangeline. Evangeline, don't spare her after the show is over!] Meanwhile, upstream. Evangeline met Jolene and others who had moved here while walking back after taking a shower.

Jolene explained, then Evangeline nodded in approval and told them to deal with the hare without paying heed to the two people downstream.

After handling the hare, Evangeline began to past them.

Once the food was prepared, Jolene and others began to perform for Evangeline

Meghan and Samson, listening to the happy aurosphere upstream, had mixed feelings.

Meghan was especially angry and scared.

She leaned into Samson's arms and cried. "Sam, what if Evangeline goes to sue me after we get out of here? Sam, you can't be Evangeline's witness. If Evangeline sues me, say that it's a false accusation. Don't say that I pushed her, okay? Only us three were present at the scene. If we deny it, it could be said that she was framing me!"

Samson frowned

Meghan wrapped her arms around Samson's neck and forced him to look into her teary eyes. She was about to cry and said. "Sam, I don't want to go to jail. The prison is full of heinous bad guys. If I go there, I will die. Would you want me to die in prison?"

Samson immediately said, "Don't cry. I won't help others to hurt you. You saved my life, so I will help you unconditionally. I won't let you go to jail. You did nothing wrong. No one can send you to jail." Meghan smiled through tears and leaned on his chest excitedly. "Thank you, Sam, I love you the most

A viewer reacted with a thumbs-up and wrote: [So pushing people off a cliff equals doing nothing wrong. Mr. Gallagher's view of right and wrong is breathtaking.]

Another viewer typed: How disgusting! You two jerks without moral values!]

[We must send Meghan the bitch to jail!].

Samson should also be convicted as an accomplice!]

On the seventh day, Evangeline was still the first to get up

When she went to the riverside to wash up, she inadvertently caught a glimpse of something in the river in the distance.

Since the distance was too far, she could only see a small, unclear spot.

Evangeline waited by the river for a while, and the spot became bigger.

Then, she also saw clearly what it was.

That was a cruise ship. The one that sent them there.

It seemed the production team had finished dealing with their problem and remembered the abandoned guests in the forest, so they sent someone -to pick them up.

4/5

Rogue 27

Chapter 27

Evangeline observed for a while and concluded that it would take at least thirty minutes before the cruise ship could dock from that distance.

She went to Jolene and the others and gently nudged them with her foot

Jolene rubbed her eyes and asked with a tired face, "Evangeline What's wrong?"

Evangeline pointed at the river. Look at what's over there."

Jolene had just woken up, so her sight was blurry.

She reached out and rubbed her eyes. When she looked again, her eyes suddenly lit up, and she stood up abruptly,

"The cruise ship is coming! Is it the cruise ship of the production team? This is great! The production team finally remembers us and comes to pick us up!" Jolene was so excited that she kept hopping on the spot

Kendrick and Travis were equally excited to see the cruise ship.

They ran quickly to the riverbank and waved in the direction of the cruise ship.

At such a long distance, the people on the cruise ship might not be able to see them, but they still waved their hands excitedly.

Instead of joining them, Evangeline turned and went into the forest

She was hungry, so she wanted to get something to eat

Even if the production team came, it would not stop her from looking for food.

Moreover, the monkeys had not recovered yet. She wanted to check on them and see if the yellow-throated marten were really gone instead of returning secretly.

After Evangeline left, Meghan and Samson also saw the cruise ship in the distance.

They were equally happy and excited.

Soon, a trace of panic appeared on Meghan's face.

She grabbed Samson's hand tightly and said with a pale face, "Samson, the production team is here. What should I do? A few days ago, I lost control of my emotions from stress, so my personality changed, and I fell out with Jolene and the others. If they said bad things about me in front of the camera and exposed my behavior, wouldn't it tarnish my reputation! If Evangeline said that, I could deny it and call it slander because her reputation is already bad since before, and before the production team left, she had been mean to me. However, Kendrick and Travis are different. They have many fans and a good reputation. If they also claim me problematic, the audience will definitely listen to them. This would affect my reputation Sam, I don't want to be scolded and have my reputation tarnished Samson patted her on the shoulder and comforted. "Don't worry. Let's talk to them and tell them not to talk nonsense

Meghan bit her lips. "What if they disagree? They have received benefits from Evangeline, so they would certainly take her side!"

Samson frowned, seemingly in deep thought,

Meghan's eyes darkened. She lowered her voice and said, "Sam, I have an idea"

"What is it?" Samson asked.

Meghan said, "We can say that Evangeline, Jolene, Kendrick, and Travis had sex with each other while the production team was away, so they defended Evangeline because they slept with her! You are Evangeline's biological brother, so the audience will believe you. It would be useless even if they deny it!"

Samson's expression changed, and he shook his head hurriedly. "No way, Evangeline will get cyberbullied"

Meghan bit her lips and said sadly, "If you don't say so, I will be the one targeted instead! Do you think Evangeline's reputation is more important than mine! Would you rather watch me get cyberbullied instead of Evangeline? Did you lie about loving me?"

"No," Samson denied quickly.

2

10:29 AM

Chapter 27

However, Meghan seemed unwilling to listen to his explanation and cried sadly, "I don't want to listen to your denial. I knew it. We are not blood-related, so you won't treat me like your real sister, whatever good I do. You care about Evangeline more, regardless of her cruelty. If only I knew earlier, I wouldn't have saved you that night and should've let you die of illness in front of Evangeline" You adore her, so you won't have regrets if you die of illness before her!"

Samson was upset at Evangeline again once Meghan brought up his illness.

He could not forget how Evangeline had not helped him. She ignored and was indifferent to him.

Samson gritted his teeth and said fiercely, "Evangeline doesn't treat me as her brother and doesn't care about my life, so I can ignore hers, too! Meghan, I accept your proposal and will do as you say. If they dare to help Evangeline speak ill of you, I will claim that they have an affair!"

In his mind, this was not his fault. It was Evangeline's for being indifferent and mean to Meghan

If Evangeline had offered Meghan food and been friendly to them from the beginning Meghan would not have changed from stress.

At least Meghan remained kind, but Evangeline lost all conscience.

There was nothing wrong with him choosing to protect Meghan,

Thank you, Sam. You're so good. I love you the most Meghan smiled through tears and was moved to hug Samson.

Samson also hugged Meghan and patted her back while smiling faintly

Meghan was so innocent and expressed herself when angry or smiled when she felt happy. She was not pretentious at all

Evangeline could never be compared to Meghan

An audience typed: [Damn, I'm so pissed off. Why can't Meghan say something nice? She even incited Samson to slander Evangeline!]

Someone replied. If this wasn't a hidden camera show, I would have been fooled. After all, Evangeline had a bad reputation. If her relatives exposed her scandal, most people would think that her family did that because she went too far and they could not bear it anymore. Who would have thought it was because her relatives were stupid and evil?]

[Alas, how many had been victims of online rumors?]

[Many. There was one rumored to have an affair from just going to pick up a parcel. Their explanation was overturned, lost their jobs, and their lives became a mess. They even got sick) There are also many driven to death by rumors]

[Meghan is too vicious, and Samson isn't a good guy either. How could he agree to help spread such vicious rumors?]

[I can't imagine what they would have done to Evangeline if it weren't for the hidden camer

[I'm worried for Evangeline.

I hope these two bastards will know about the hidden camera and surf the internet soon. I want to be one of the thousands of snowflakes that overwhelm them like avalanches!]
[They should suffer the consequences of their actions!]

On-site, Meghan and Samson walked to Jolene, Kendrick, and Travis after their talk.

Meghan's voice was no longer as domineering and arrogant as before but became gentle as it used to be. She said softly, "Jolene, Travis, Kendrick, I have a favor to ask. When the production team arrives, don't tell them what happened here, okay? Just say that the five of us have been getting along very well. Nothing special has happened, except only Evangeline didn't get along with us."

Travis said coldly, "Stop it. We are not the type to backstab others. Evangeline helped us. We won't defame her with you"

Meghan's face darkened a little. "Have you forgotten that you also bullied Evangeline?"

The trio's expression froze, and they all looked guilty.

Meghan said, "Either keep your mouth shut or take my side. If you dare to tarnish my reputation, I'll expose what you have done. You guys were rude to Evangeline before the shout began anyway. The audience will believe me more. You will get nothing in the end and also ruin your reputation. Even if you don't care about your reputation, think of your company's

10

10:20 AM

Chapter 27

The trio's faces looked even more gloomy.

Jolene, especially, began to show hesitance and fear in her eyes.

There was a clause in the contract she signed that she needed to compensate for all the losses of the company if she had been the reason why the company was affected or suffered loss. Although Kendrick and Travis were not in the same o company as her, they probably had the same clause in their contract.

Evangeline's reputation was too bad, so even if they spoke up for her, it was impossible to change her reputation. In addition, they would also be affected

Meghan snorted and gave another warning before she stopped talking and waited for the cruise ship to dock with expectation.

Samson looked at Jolene and the others and said sincerely. "Evangeline's small favor is not worth sacrificing your career in the entertainment industry. If you really feel bad, you can pay her for the food she gave you. Then you can call it even. You don't need to help her beyond that. As long as you keep your mouth shut and don't talk nonsense, I promise that once we return, I will Eddie to give you resources.

He added, "Travis, aren't you in the musical field? The Gallagher family can get Hi-One Band from Atharia to create a song for you. Kendrick, you have won almost all the domestic awards. The Gallagher family can recommend you to film international blockbusters. With the help of a famous director and celebrity, you can aim for international awards Jolene... I can ask Eddie to invest in a high-budget film and let you be a female lead."

Jolene, Travis, and Kendrick fell silent.

Samson's offer was too tempting, and it was everything they wanted.

Even if they helped Evangeline, the audience might not believe her. Besides, they would also get involved and affect them and their company's reputation.

Meanwhile, they did not have to take risks to help Meghan. They could also receive huge benefits.

Even a fool would know which option to pick.

Besides, their relationship with Evangeline was not that good.

Evangeline did not help them out of kindness. Instead, she made them perform before giving them some food.

To put it bluntly, they were paid with food for their performances. As such, their debts were settled.

They did not owe Evangeline anything,

Even if they helped Meghan, they would not be labeled as ungrateful

Rogue 28

Chapter 28

Seeing the others' unresponsiveness, Samson knew they had accepted his offer.

There was no way they wouldn't accept such a harmless and beneficial deal by the slightest

Even though Evangeline gave them food before, she also beat them. Their friendship was not strong and could be easily shattered by interference.

Samson smiled and said, "It's a deal then"

He added. "As long as you're willing to help, we're friends. Other than the benefits I promised you, I'll also take care of you well in the future. I've always been very good to my friends."

The others didn't respond, and Samson assumed the silence was acquiescence to his words

Jolene thought, 'Every time Evangeline gives the food, I'll perform a show for her, even doing it more than once. What we're doing is an equal exchange, and I don't owe her anything, so it's not considered a betrayal

Travis thought, 'Evangeline's small favor to me is not worthy of sacrificing my career in the entertainment industry and offending the Callagher family. Besides. Evangeline's help is not a big deal, not some big favor. I've already repaid her, and I can just give her some money at the worst after returning to the city.

Kendrick thought, Evangeline hit and beat me up so badly. We're not on good terms, and she gave me food just because she couldn't finish it herself, not because she wanted to help us. Besides, she treated us like clowns, wanting us to perform in exchange for food. She looked down on us ever since the beginning, so we don't need to flatter ourselves to think about her good treatment of us and offend the Gallagher family for her. Even if Samson doesn't give me any favors, I won't put in a good word for Evangeline.

Even if they had some conscience, there was not much to be said.

In the face of conscience and interests, they chose the latter in the end.

The audience in the live room started commenting. [Holy crap, why do they keep quiet! Are they tempted by Samson's offer? Wake up. guys! The netizens have forgiven you for your previous mistakes because of your talent. If you help the Gallagher siblings backstab Evangeline, you'll be screwed!]

Another person wrote: [Travis, wake up! The Gallagher siblings are doomed. You won't get any benefit from helping them. You'll only get in trouble. I like your voice very much. I don't want to lose the chance of hearing you sing again!]

Another commenter added: [Kendrick, you've already won so many awards at such a young age. You can spread your popularity across the world by yourself in the future. There's no need to be eager for quick success by betraying your conscience for empty promises!]

A person lamented: [W

[What a pity. They could still have a way out, but their desires led them down the path of doom.]

A viewer revealed their frustration: [Such ingrates should be banned.]

Another viewer chimed in: [Poor Evangeline for helping these ingrates.]

The five waited quietly for half an hour before the cruise ship finally docked.

Their faces were full of excitement. After the staff got off the ship, they couldn't wait to rush over..

After getting off the cruise ship with the staff, Dallas set up the camera to shoot the guests. Being p professional celebrities, the five immediately straightened themselves and stood straight as soon as they saw th "Mr. Fowler, why did it take y you so long to come to us? We nearly died here..." Meghan said. Her voice sounded soft with a hint of bitterness and grievance. At the same time, she looked very tenacious and tough, like an unyielding delicate flower, appearing endearing to others' eyes.

the

camera

If there were no hidden cameras for everyone to witness her true face, they c they could have been fooled by her.

Dallas replied with a chuckle, "Sorry. It was the negligence of our production team this time. We were all passed out When we woke up

after two days, the boat drifted to somewhere unknown by itself

He added, "After findin finding a way back and getting treatment, we came back here immediately."

Samson frowned and asked, "Wasn't it just a few of you who got poisoned? Why do you all fall unconscious instead?"

on the way back to the city.

10:29 AM

Chapter 28

Dallas explained. "Well, a dumbass among the staff accidentally mixed the blood of the poisoned staff into the drinking water source. Those who were not poisoned also became poisoned after drinking the water, so everyone passed out together. Fortunately, the poison seemed strong but not fatal. That's why we're still alive."

Meghan breathed a sigh of relief and said with a soft smile, "I'm glad that you all are fine. Although we have suffered helplessly here for six days, as long as you all are safe and sound, our suffering is nothing. We won't blame you."

Dallas sized them up and asked deliberately in surprise, "Why are you all injured and looking so miserable? Meghan, you lost a tooth? What happened?"

Meghan immediately covered her face and sobbed sadly. Her body trembled slightly as if she recalled a very horrible experience.

Samson immediately wrapped his arm around Meghan's shoulder and gently patted her to comfort her.

"Oh, have you suffered quite a lot? Why are you crying so hard? Tell me, what happened? Dallas asked, pretending to be ignorant and concerned.

After crying for a while, Meghan finally stopped her sobs.

She wiped her tears, and her delicate voice sounded more pitiful as she said. "I'm sure you know Evangeline has always been against me. Before you left, she kept scolding and even kicked me."

She added, "After you left, there was no camera to shoot us, so she became even worse and kept humiliating me. The wounds on my body were all caused by Evangeline, and she knocked off my tooth. She also beat Sam and others. Sam almost died at her hands..."

As if Meghan thought of terrible memories, her body began to tremble with fear again, and there was a look of terror in her eyes.

Dallas looked surprised and asked, "How could Evangeline do such a thing?"

Meghan bit her lips with reddened eyes and replied, "I have no intention to expose Evangeline, but she went too far for thinking maniacally of killing Sam. I couldn't bear it anymore, so I had to tell everyone what she had done!"

She continued, "I can still forgive her if she only hurt me, but I can't stand the fact that she hurt Sam and tried to kill him.

With that, Meghan threw herself into Samson's arms and said between sobs, "Sam, I'm still feeling scared when I think of you almost dying at Evangeline's hands."

She then exclaimed, "I wanted to get along well with Evangeline and become a family again, but I didn't expect her to be so vicious and cruel. I don't want to be sisters with her anymore"

Samson patted Meghan on the back and said softly, "Don't cry. Look, I'm fine, okay?"

On the other hand, Dallas and the staff had mixed feelings.

After watching Meghan crying hard, Dallas looked at Jolene, Travis, and Kendrick.

He asked, "Were all your wounds from Evangeline, too?"

The three replied with a nod, "Yes"

They didn't lie, as the injuries on their bodies were indeed from Evangeline.

Dallas asked again, "Was what M

The three fell silent.

Meghan said true? Evangeline tried to harm Samson and almost got him killed?"

Although Samson did face life-threatening situations because of Evangeline, Samson did the provoking first, resulting in Evangeline acting in self-defense later on.

Evangeline was just defending herself and reluctant to save Samson, so it couldn't be considered that she attempted to hurt Samson.

It was Samson who brought it upon himself.

Yet, the three didn't want to tell the truth when they thought of Meghan and Samson's warning and empty promises to them.

Dallas was unwilling to let them off and asked one of them, "Jolene, is Meghan telling the truth?"

Jolene bit the bullet and answered with a nod, "Yes"

10

10:29 AM

Chapter 28

Dallas then looked at Travis and asked, "Travis?"

Travis nodded with a gloomy face as he replied, "Yes, Meghan is telling the truth."

Without leaving Kendrick out, Dallas asked him, "Kendrick, did you see Evangeline attempt to murder Samson!"

Seeing that the others responded, Kendrick could only nod and replied the same thing, "Yes. Everyone saw it

Dallas' eyes flashed with a touch of pity as he thought, These three are doomed.

He quickly dispersed the strange look in his eyes and asked, "What exactly had happened that time? Can you tell me and the audience behind the camera more about it?"

Jolene and the others looked at each other, hoping that someone could speak up first.

Seeing them unwilling to explain, Dallas directly called a name and said, "Jolene, go ahead."

Jolene had no choice but to answer, "Evangeline was by the river at that time. Samson went to borrow something from her, but Evangeline refused and kicked Samson into the river. Samson was hurt by the kick, so he couldn't swim in the river and almost drowned."

Dallas asked, "Why would Evangeline kick Samson into the river? Did Samson do something else? I don't think someone can be so malignant to another for no reason..."

Jolene secretly glanced at Meghan, and the latter gave her a warning look

Jolene immediately averted her gaze from Meghan and shook her head. She said, "No, he didn't. Samson has always been very friendly to Evangeline and wants to make peace with her, but Evangeline treats everyone badly as if we owe her money. She would beat us up if we tried to talk to her."

Meghan was very satisfied with the answer and smiled quietly.

Dallas looked at Travis and asked, "Travis, is that the truth!"

Travis replied with a frown, "Didn't Jolene answer you? Why're you still asking me?"

Dallas said seriously. The situation is related to the law after all. As a director, I have an obligation to find out what happened and seek justice for the injured party!"

He spoke with righteous and reasonable words, and no one doubted his intentions.

Travis nodded and said, "Yes, What Jolene said was true."

Dallas looked at Kendrick and asked seriously, "Kendrick, do you have anything to add?"

Kendrick replied, "Jolene has made it very clear what happened that time. What she said was true. All of us were there and saw with our own eyes"

0

Rogue 29

0

Chapter 29

Dallas nodded and said, "Okay, I get it now. If Samson wants to call the police, the production team will cooperate and provide the recorded videos to the police.

The others felt relieved, thanking Dallas inwardly for not asking further.

If he kept asking, their conscience couldn't stand the guilt.

Dallas ended the topic but began to ask other questions.

He asked, "How have you all been these days?"

Meghan's eyes reddened immediately, and she said aggrievedly, "Evangeline bullied us the entire time. She snatched the food we found and forced us to watch her eat. We had lived miserably for the past six days. We did not have a good time at all."

Everyone else nodded.

Dallas shook his head and exclaimed in shock, "I can't believe Evangeline is like this. She's so bad!"

Meghan bit her lips and said, "Evangeline grew up in the slums since childhood and had been exposed to less privileged individuals, learning to behave like them. Even if we patiently educated her after taking her home and trying to bring her back on track, she still couldn't change her nature."

She added, "She was a little more restrained before the camera. But as soon as you left, she completely exposed her true nature and beat us up violently, wanting us all to die here."

Meghan sighed and said with a bitter smile. "I used to be naive and wanted to change her, but I've given up completely now. Her hatred toward me is too strong. I didn't do anything wrong and have always tolerated the hurt she inflicted on me, but she has no remorse and even hurt me more severely."

She continued, "I'm afraid if I continue to approach her, I will end up dead at her hands before I can change her. So I've given up and hope she can figure it out herself and stop walking down the wrong path..." Dallas sighed and said, "You sure are kind. She has done so many bad things to you, yet you wish for her wellbeing"

Meghan replied with a smile, "Maybe it's my nature to care for others. I can't bear to see others suffer since young. Even if Evangeline hurt me, I won't blame her as long as it's not too serious, I just hope she can change herself."

Dallas said, "It's really rare to see a kind person like you nowadays."

Meghan smiled shyly.

Samson smiled and said proudly, "Meghan has been kind since childhood. Unlike certain ones who are cold-blooded and vicious."

He didn't specify the name, but everyone knew who he meant

Dallas stopped the topic and looked around. He asked, "Where's Evangeline? Why isn't she here?"

Meghan sighed and answered, "Evangeline has always been out of tune with us. She had gone into the forest early in the morning. I don't know what she did there. She didn't tell us anything" Samson said in annoyance, "Don't mention that downer anymore. Mr. Fowler, when are we going back!"

He didn't want to stay here anymore.

His body was covered with wounds and many mosquito bites.

He had never been in such a mess in 23 years of his life.

Besides, he still hadn't gotten to poop and felt very uncomfortable now.

Samson was a little envious of Meghan for getting to poop after getting scared by Evangeline. At least Meghan felt better after that.

Although it was embarrassing, with Samson and Meghan's identities, the other three wouldn't dare to spread their embarrassing moment. Chapter 29

As for Evangeline, nobody would believe her words.

Dallas said, "The contract you signed with the production team requires you to stay here for seven days

He added, "In the last six days, we couldn't follow you to shoot due to our production team's problem, and we'll bear the consequences. So we don't need you to make up for it. You only need to stay here for the last day. We'll then go back tomorrow. Is that okay with you?".

Since everyone was before the camera, they could only agree to it.

Holding a high notion of duty, Meghan replied, "Okay. Let's listen to Mr. Fowler. But will you have enough material for the editing with just only a day of content? If you need more, I can continue shooting for a few days free, but we need to change the environment. We've been getting a lot of Trauma staying here"

Hearing her words, the others also agreed.

They thought they had already suffered so much. Their efforts would be in vain if the variety show couldn't be broadcast due to insufficient materials and unsuccessful editing.

To maximize their profits, they were willing to sacrifice their time and exchange for a better place to continue the shooting.

Dallas smiled and said, "You guys are so nice. I will ask for it when I need it"

He added, "However, you have suffered for long and are not in good shape. After today's shooting, go back and have a rest. If we need any further shooting. I will contact you" Everyone nodded and was satisfied with the negotiation.

Dallas said, "Okay, you can continue shooting! Since you have been having a hard time, we won't ask you to search for food. The production team will provide the ingredients. You only need to do the cooking"

Everyone immediately became ecstatic, thinking that they finally didn't have to search for food in the forest anymore.

Dallas felt helpless, as all the poultry they released was hunted by monkeys and other wild animals. Therefore, even if the guests were to look for food, they couldn't find any either.

He thought he would let them have a better meal today so they could have better stamina to face the truth when returning to the city tomorrow. Dallas said, "The food is on the cruise ship. Go get them and start preparing!"

Judging their ability, the guests would take a whole day to prepare and cook the ingredients.

Under the staff's guidance, Meghan and the others boarded the cruise ship to get food.

Meghan behaved gently and generously, showing kindness to everyone.

Although she didn't do much, she made herself look busy, telling everyone to be careful when taking the food.

Meanwhile, the audience in the live room was quarreling

A person commented: [Fuck! Meghan is sure good at pretending. Not even feeling shameful by saying those)

Another person added: [Being kind in nature? Bulkhit! She took the lead in bullying Evangeline. Wouldn't she feel guilty when robbing Evangeline's things!]

Another wrote: What a vicious bitch. I feel like vomiting just looking at her and thinking of her behavior in the past six days!]

A person lamented: [Travis, Kendrick, and Jolene are so disappointing. In the end, they chose to defame Evangeline for benefits.]

A viewer pointed out their observation: [I thought they were not that bad, but it looks like they're willing to betray their conscience as long as they receive sufficient benefits.]
Another viewer chimed in: [They could clear their name but chose the wrong path instead.]

Another added: [Samson and Meghan surprise me again and again. Where even are their moral values? How can they confidently distort the truth without hesitation?]

Someone jeered: Meghan's every move seems fake to me now. What a hypocritical woman!]

C

10.29 AM C

Chapter 29

Evangeline stayed with the monkeys on the mountain for a day and checked on their wounds.

Before she left in the evening, she bid farewell to them and said, "Today's my last day here. Ill leave tomorrow. If nothing goes wrong, we won't see each other again. You all have to rely on yourself from now on"

She would leave this place tomorrow even if the production team wouldn't come.

With her ability, it wouldn't be a problem to get out of here by herself.

The monkeys seemed to understand her words and circled her anxiously, chirping constantly, but Evangeline couldn't understand them.

Evangeline then said softly, "I have no idea what you're saying, but I can probably guess it."

She added, "Separation is normal, so you don't have to feel sad. Don't ever think about coming with me. I can't take you all. If I'm followed by a group of nationally endangered animals in the city, I will be arrested and sent to jail"

"We've only met for a short time. We even fought. We don't have a deep relationship, so don't act like you're losing your loved one," added Evangeline.

The monkeys were still chirping, but their calls were getting quieter.

Then, they placed something into her hands.

Some gave her fruits and fully bloomed wildflowers, while some gave her hunted prey as well as beautiful animal feathers,

Evangeline was stunned and said, "You're monkeys. How did you catch the humans' bad habits? Even learned to give gifts?"

She shook her head but took all the gifts and put them in her bag.

The audience commented: [Damn it I'm so touched that I feel like crying I can't bear to see Evangeline part with the monkeys!] Another commenter wrote: (I'm so sad that the couple I've been rooting for couldn't get together.)

Someone retorted: [Holy crap! Who would be out of their mind to ship Evangeline with monkeys?]

Another person chimed in: [Stop shipping anything with everything! You're making yourself suffer:]

The commenter from earlier replied: (I'll feel happy by shipping everything and anything!]

Someone wrote: I can't stop laughing. I felt sad at first but instantly laughed out when I saw someone shipping Evangeline with monkeys.]

Another commenter added: [Even monkeys are more humane than Meghan and those jerks!]

A viewer pointed out: [I hope without Evangeline's protection, the monkeys can live well and away from threat.]

Someone asked: (Isn't Evangeline the biggest threat to them!]

The comments kept flooding in.

Evangeline put all the gifts into her backpack and carried it on her back.

Staring at the monkeys, which were looking back at her reluctantly, Evangeline crossed her arms and wiggled her fingers.

She clicked her knuckles and said, "Since you all have given me gifts, let me give you a parting gift, too!"

The monkeys cocked their heads, seemingly curious about Evangeline's parting gift.

Evangeline smiled.

Without speaking, she abruptly grabbed the monkey king's neck.

She shouted, "Kingka, let's start with you!"

With that, she slapped the monkey king in the face, echoing a slapping sound.

10:20 AM

Chapter 29

The monkey king was dumbfounded by the slap.

The other monkeys were also shocked from getting frightened

Evangeline didn't waste any time as she quickly slapped the monkey king a few times, threw it into the sky, and then jumped up, kicking and sending it flying.

The monkey king flew more than 30 feet away before falling to the ground.

Evangeline smiled and looked at the other monkeys.

They became so frightened that they scattered in all directions with screams. Evangeline suddenly landed on all fours and crawled eerily on the ground. With a twisted smile on her face, she quickly chased after the escaped monkeys.

She shouted, "Hey! Don't try to escape! Each of you will get a share. Haha!"

Rogue 30

Chapter 30

Evangeline landed on all fours and crawled fast.

She climbed straight and sometimes horizontally.

She shook her tongue wildly and made a strange laugh characteristic of a villain

The monkeys were scared out of their wits, and none managed to escape Evangeline's chase.

All of them were captured and beaten so hard they couldn't even stand up, feeling dizzy in the head.

Dozens of monkeys collapsed to the ground in a mess, and the scene looked very spectacular.

Evangeline stood up straight, with her face looking indifferent again.

She said, "Remember, this is the consequence of trusting humans casily!"

The monkeys turned speechless and groaned pitifully, thinking that this "upright monkey" was so scary for turning hostile immediately.

Evangeline ignored their resentful eyes and walked away, leaving them to look at her cool-looking figure.

The audience commented lively: [This is so funny. Evangeline lets the monkeys witness the humans cruelty so that they'll not dare to approach them in the future, preventing themselves from getting harmed by people who harbored sinister intentions.]

Another pointed out: I can understand Evangeline's intentions. But her method is too cruel...

Someone said: [I'm even scared looking across the screen, not to mention the monkeys I

A person commented [The way Evangeline crawled looks like a monster.]

Another added: [She smiled like a maniac too.]

Someone pointed out: [I'm worried about Evangeline's mental state.]

When Evangeline returned to the river, she saw the production team's cruise ship had docked.

The staff also set up cameras to follow Meghan and the others, with the latter grilling some food on barbecue grills.

A burnt smell filled the air.

Evangeline walked over and saw a thick layer of charred food on the grills

Meghan and the others didn't clean up the charred food, putting new ingredients on the grills and continuing to grill instead.

Due to the residue on the grills, the new ingredients would get attached to it after being put on.

The food looked terrible.

When Meghan saw Evangeline, she smiled gently and greeted her in a friendly manner, showing no consideration for the past grievances as she said, "Evangeline, you're finally back. The production team has brought ingredients. Let's have a barbecue tonight. You didn't participate in the food preparation, so you're responsible for the grilling. We should divide the labor fairly. We won't accuse you of slacking off earlier."

She thought, 'Evangeline bullied me badly. Now that I greet her friendly, the audience in the live room must be praising me for my generosity and repaying grievances with kindness, feeling pity for me. With that, my popularity will surely increase

Slapt

Evangeline slapped Meghan in the face without a word,

"Ah! Meghan screamed and looked at Evangeline angrily with sadness as she said, "Evangeline, I kindly invited you. Why did you hit me? Even if you wouldn't accept my kindness, you can't just do that!" Samson approached them immediately and pulled Meghan behind him. He glared at Evangeline fiercely and warned furiously, "Evangeline, if you bully Meghan again, don't blame me for punishing your"

0

10:29 AM

Chapter 30

Slap!

Evangeline slapped Samson, too.

She then said slowly, "I had warned you before that we're no longer siblings. Don't mention our relationship in the public. You're making me sick

f

"Your" Samson shouted, his face flushing with anger. "How dare you! Since you don't want us to be siblings. I won't hesitate anymore!"

He added. "You had gone against Meghan and hit her repeatedly before the camera. We've got the evidence, and I'll sue you when we return! I had Intended to listen to Meghan's advice and give you a chance to turn over a new leaf, but you stayed stubborn. I won't give you any more chances Evangeline replied. "You two have mosquitoes on your faces. I'm just killing them.

She spread out her palm with two dead mosquitoes on it.

However, those mosquitoes were not were not smacked from their faces.

When Evangeline slapped the siblings, she smacked the mosquitoes in the air onto their faces.

Samson turned madder and said angrily. "Even if there are, why can't you just shoo them away! Do you even have to slap us?"

Evangeline answered, "I like slapping sounds."

Samson and Meghan turned speechless.

Both turned extremely furious.

In their eyes, Evangeline did it on purpose.

Biting her lips, Meghan said, "Evangeline, although you always hit and scold me, I don't blame you. If you apologize to me, I will forgive you and even persuade Sam to do so." Evangeline replied with a faint smile, "Oh my. You're so kind"

Meghan continued. "I've been taught to be kind since you were young. Our parents and brothers taught me well. Evangeline, if you listen to them more, you'll also become like me"

Samson said contemptuously, "People are born as what they are. Meghan, you're a kind person. Evangeline's evilness is inherent. She can't change her nature!"

Meghan bit her lips and said disappointedly. "That's too bad. I want to make Evangeline a better person so that she won't act aggressive." Evangeline didn't feel like acting with them anymore, so she kicked them away and said, "Don't get in the w way."

Meghan and Samson were kicked to the ground.

Then, Evangeline stepped over them without hesitation, even deliberately stepping on Meghan more

Edward forced Evangeline to sign a contract, requiring her to bully Meghan within seven days of the shooting. The production team was not around for the first six days, and since it was the last day now, Evangeline wanted to make up for all the bullying, never letting Meghan miss getting them.

She thought, "Look how dedicated I am Performing my role as a vicious woman perfectly!"

Aside from bullying Meghan, Evangeline also did it to Samson, who was not included in the contract, considering it a gift to the siblings.

She hoped sarcastically that they wouldn't feel too touched by her generosity,

"My hand is going to break! Evangeline, get off me! Meghan screamed in pain, with her face twisted in agony.

Evangeline stepped over Meghan slowly and said, "I told you not to get in the way. You still insisted on doing that, so I could only walk over you. Why are you blaming me?"

Samson shouted, "Don't you know how to walk aside?"

"I don't like to, Evangeline replied.

0

10:29 AM

Chapter 30

Samson felt like throwing a fit.

Since they were before the camera, he couldn't say anything harsh and could only glare at Evangeline fiercely.

Meghan endured the pain and said in a trembling voice, Sam, Im sorry. Evangeline hates me for seeing you protecting me. That's why she also targeted you. I'm sorry."

Samson gritted his teeth and said. "You're not to blame. If it weren't for her vicious heart, she wouldn't have done such awful things!"

Meghan bit her lips aggrievedly.

Her body hurt, but her mind was full of joy.

The more Evangeline targeted Meghan, the more attention the production team would receive from the audience and the more popularity Meghan would get. Many people would sympathize with her and become her fans.

She had a bunch that she would be promoted to become an A-list celebrity after this variety show broadcast.

As for Evangeline, her acting career would be doomed.

Thinking that the variety show would be the last chance for Evangeline to appear in public, Meghan let her struggle for a few more days.

The audience commented. [Meghan is so disgusting. She pretended to be arrogant and domineering again when she saw the camera shooting!] Another added: [Meghan the bitch sure is pretentious. If she can use her acting skills the right way, she won't receive complaints about her terrible acting in every movie.] Another person chimed in: Let Meghan and Samson die already. These siblings' moral values are so disgusting!]

A commenter jeered: [I think Evangeline is being soft. She should break their mouths, I feel sick when hearing them talk!]

A person pointed out: Just let them continue their acting. Let's see what they can do when they return to the city tomorrow!] Someone wrote: [It's the last day. Let's hang in there!]

Another person added: [I'm looking forward to their reaction when they find out the truth!]

Another commented: (Mr. Fowler must let us see their reactions!]

Back at the shooting scene, Evangeline had already moved aside and set up some wood to make a fire.

She wasn't going to eat what the production team had brought.

The food had been ruined by the others, and Evangeline lost her appetite upon seeing the awfully-cooked food.

Moreover, the monkeys had given her a lot of prey. If she didn't finish them tonight, they would not tomorrow and couldn't be eaten anymore. She couldn't waste the food.

When the fire started, Evangeline set some wood on it to produce charcoal. She then took out two wild hares and went to the riverside to butcher them.

After the hare meats were prepared, a good amount of charcoal had been produced by the fire, ready for roasting

As time went by, the hare meats were roasted with oil sizzled out, and the fragrance wafted through the air.

Smelling the fragrance, everyone couldn't help gulping

Evangeline couldn't finish the food, so she shared some with the cameraman assigned to follow her.

The cameraman was flattered and took the hare meat. He said, "Thank you, Evangeline!"

Evangeline glanced at him, feeling the latter was looking at her strangely.

All the other staff were also behaving the same way.

She fel

feli everyone was constantly perking at her.

10:29 AM

Chapter 30

She couldn't figure out why, as too many people were doing that.

However, she didn't care and ate her meat leisurely.

Ever since Evangeline's return, Jolene, Travis, and Kendrick hadn't dared to approach or look at her.

Evangeline could guess that they were probably colluding with Meghan and Samson.

It didn't matter since she didn't have any bond with them, so she did not feel disappointed.

She gave them food before solely because she had an excessive amount. Besides, she did it as a reward for their performance, so they didn't owe each other anything

However, she would treat them as enemies in the future.

After the meal, Evangeline found a place far away and lay down to look at the starry sky

She was leaving tomorrow, and it would be difficult to see such a beautiful night sky again, so she wanted to take a closer look tonight.

Perhaps it was the last day of the shooting that the audience was reluctant to part with Evangeline.

The number of people online that night didn't drop below 100 million.

Even if everyone on the show was asleep at dawn, the audience was still reluctant to leave because they didn't know the departure time of the team the next day and the time of revealing the truth from Dallas, so they were afraid of missing it, causing them reluctant to sleep.

Some, on the other hand, were too excited to sleep.

0