Rogue 71

Chapter 71

"Mr. Gallagher, don't worry. If we're exposed, we'll take all the blame and won't tell anyone about your someone said.

Edward shook his head and said, "Just tell the truth. Don't hide it for my sake. I'm not much different from them now. I'm not a good person, and I deserve to be punished."

They wanted to say something but stopped.

Finally, they didn't say anything and drove away.

Edward walked to the storehouse door, sat on the grass, lit a cigarette, and looked up at the night sky.

After smoking, he turned on his phone, clicked on the text message icon, and entered a number.

Then, he typed a text message and sent it.

[Evangeline, this is Edward. I've done you wrong a lot, but after thinking it through, I don't regret it. If I were given another chance, my choice would be the same as before. I've always valued profit more than family. Since I accidentally saw your confrontation with Grandpa, I felt that you were not a good person. You're even more cold-blooded than I am. It's enough to have one cold-blooded person in the family. Having more will cause chaos in the family. It's not that I can't tell Meghan had set you up on purpose. Sometimes, I even helped her. But at first, I just wanted to kick you out of the Gallagher family. If you stay in our family, we'll never have peace and will be doomed. Now, the outcome has proved that my guess was correct. Later on, I tried to kill you because I figured out that you wanted our family to go bankrupt and ruin us. To save the family's business, I thought of getting rid of you. Unfortunately, I failed. However, I don't feel any regret and am willing to admit defeat. I'm contacting you now to tell you that George and Meghan have gotten what they deserved. I don't mean anything else. After sending this message, I'll end myself and use my life to pay for the harm I've caused you. Only three people in the Gallagher family want to kill you. Mom, Jas, and Sam were just stupid and cold to you after being deceived. The retribution they have suffered now is enough to make up for your sufferings. I hope you won't mess with them in the future.]

He sent a video together with the text message.

The video was of George and Meghan losing their limbs.

After sending the message, Edward took out a gun from his pocket,

Just then, the phone he had just put down rang

It was a message notification tone.

[Where is Meghan's mother!]

Edward looked at the message seriously.

again

It was easy for Evangeline to find out where Meghan's mother was, but she asked him about it unnecessarily. She certainly wasn't seeking trouble without a valid reason.

He understood what she meant. Edward smiled and put the gun away.

"We are bound to go to hell anyway. It doesn't matter if one more person dies. I'll just think of it as a gift for her, he thought.

It was already ten o'clock at night.

Evangeline was still awake.

She repeatedly watched the video that Edward had sent, her expression remaining impassive.

Looking at George's and Meghan's miserable faces, she was rather unfazed.

As for the text, she didn't read it because it was too long.

She only remembered what had happened, not what others had said.

What one said may be against their will, but what one had done, even if unintentional, could cause actual harm

At about one o'clock at midnight, Evangeline received another text message.

She clicked on it and watched.

In the video, a mansion was burning.

A woman was locked inside, surrounded by flames.

After seeing that, Evangeline called the firefighters immediately.

"Hello, there's an arson, but I don't know the specific location. I have a video and can send it to you for investigation," she reported.

Evangeline added a fireman on WhatsApp and sent him the video.

The fire department contacted the police to locate the place.

It took them an hour to reach the scene after discovering the location.

Subsequently, it took the firemen two hours to extinguish the fire.

The people in the mansion were burned to death, and there was no chance of resurrecting them.

The police also found a body of an adult male outside the mansion

It was Edward, who was on the run.

He had shot himself in the head.

As it was Evangeline who called the police and provided the video of the fire, she was summoned to the station to cooperate with the investigation. Evangeline went to the police station the following day. When she arrived at the police station, Samson and Bethany were there.

Bethany almost fainted from crying.

Evangeline just glanced at them indifferently and followed the policeman into the interrogation room to record her statement.

After the policeman completed the basic identity check, he asked. "The fire department said that you reported the fire last night and provided them with a video of the scene. How did you get the video?" Evangeline answered truthfully, "Edward sent it to me."

The policeman said, 'Give me your phone.'

Evangeline took out her phone obediently and opened the text message. She was quite cooperative.

The policeman watched the video of the fire and then read the text message.

After seeing the video of George and Meghan, the policeman's face changed dramatically.

The policeman questioned Evangeline solemnly. "Edward also sent you another video of a murder, Why didn't you call the police?"

Evangeline said, "At first, I didn't watch that video. Then, he sent me another one, and I clicked on it. But because I thought the fire was more serious, I called the fire department first. After that, I forgot about the previous video"

The policeman's expression was grim.

Evangeline tilted her head and asked innocently, "Is it illegal not to call the police?"

The policeman twitched his lips and replied, "It's not a crime"

In such a case, he couldn't hold her accountable.

She wasn't at the scene, so she had no obligation to help.

At best, people would only condemn her conscience.

The policeman sent the video to his colleagues and asked them to investigate the location in the video.

Then, the policeman continued to ask Evangeline seriously, "Did you deliberately not call the police leading Edward to kill the housekeeper who swapped lives with you?"

Evangeline said, "All the conversation between me and Edward is in the text messages. Which part does it seem to you that I was trying to induce him?" The policeman was speechless.

Finally, Evangeline finished her statement and was dismissed

Evangeline walked out of the police station and was about to leave when Bethany's crying voice came from behind. "Evangeline"

Evangeline stopped and looked at Bethany Mrs Gallagher, what's the matter

Bethany's heart clenched and more tears poured down her cheeks

[What do you mean they are about to go bankrupt? They already are. I heard that Gallagher Group is restructuring now, and they will change their enterprise name soon.]

[It's quite sad...]

[This is the Gallagher family's karma. If you do something terrible, you should pay for it!]

[The Gallagher family has managed to convince me that what comes around goes around, which also gives me a little hope as a powerless and incompetent person from the bottom class of society. When one encounters unfairness, one can at least hope the other party gets what they deserve.]

[Congratulations to Evangeline! She finally got her revenge!]

[Please stop taking a break, Evangeline. Hurry up and join a show. Even if you don't, you can also do a livestream!]

[Ahhh! It's another day of missing Evangeline so badly again! I have watched the recorded Jungle Survival more than ten times, but I still can't get enough of it!

At first, the netizens were still talking about Edward.

However, they started asking Evangeline to join a show.

At this moment, someone posted a screenshot on Twitter, and it became trending instantly.

The hashtag wrote: [Evangeline is joining Xtreme Survival.

Another read: [Xtreme Survival has officially announced the list of contestants.]

[Damn it! Is this true? I can't be fake news, right? I can't believe Evangeline is going to participate in the new season of Xtreme Survival's livestream!

[I also suspect that this is fake. Is it because they think we don't know how to use VPN and purposely edited the screenshot to trick us?]

[You're right. It must be fake. How could Evangeline participate in that disgusting show!]

[Although Evangeline is competent, there is still a big gap between her and the contestants in Xtreme Survival. Those contestants are genuinely talented. Crawling and climbing trees in darkness doesn't mean she's better than them.]

[I just checked it on another foreign platform. The news is true. It's the official list published on Xtreme Survival's official page!!

[Ahhh! Why would Evangeline do such a thing? Evangeline, please don't participate, or you'll suffer badly!]

[Alas, I can already unagine how miserable Evangeline will end up.)

[Evangeline is really overestimating herself. I can't believe she is participating in Xtreme Survival. It's her problem if she has a death wish, but don't embarrass Clusia!]

If she joins the show, we'll be humiliated and mocked by other countries..

I didn't expect Evangeline to be so full of herself. Now I have a terrible impression of her!]

Chapter 72

Time passed quickly.

In the blink of an eye, Xtreme Survival was only a week away from the shooting day.

Before Evangeline left, she called Arthur and his friends out to treat them to a meal.

Finnegan did not join because he accepted a patient's request and went out of town for a consultation.

Only Arthur, Hugo, and Steven showed up.

In the hotel, Steven sighed when he saw Evangeline and said, "Evangeline, you are really doing something big secretly. I can't believe you signed up for Xtreme Survival! How could you hide it from us? You didn't even tell us. We only knew about it after seeing the news online!"

Evangeline tilted her head and said, "I wasn't hiding it. You all didn't even ask me. Besides, Arthur was with me the day I decided to join. Didn't he tell you about it?!"

Steven immediately pointed at Arthur and raised his fist to hit him. He exclaimed, "You jerk! You knew it all along. How could you not tell us?"

Arthur dodged to one side and kicked Steven. "Use your words. What's the need to get physical? Arthur responded.

Steven glared at him and said. "Why didn't you tell us that Evangeline agreed to participate in Xtreme Survival?"

Arthur replied calmly. "You didn't ask."

Steven growled "We're close friends, You can just say it even if we don't ask. Don't you have the urge to share secrets with others?"

"I just want to make money. I don't have any other worldly desires," said Arthur.

Steven's mouth twitched.

He thought, This guy has gone crazy for money. He's already so rich. Yet, he's still so money-grubbing

Hugo looked at Evangeline and frowned. "Evangeline, didn't you reject the offer! Why did you decide to participate in it again? We told you that the show is dangerous and particularly targets Clusians. They'll definitely target you. Now, the public opinion on the Internet is not in your favor. The show has not even started, yet people are already talking badly about you on the Internet. If you don't perform well on the show, you'll be criticized more badly. If you're humiliated, they'll think that you have disgraced Clusia, It'll be difficult for you to grow in the entertainment industry in the future," Hugo voiced

He was extremely worried about Evangeline.

Evangeline said calmly. "Then Til just have to win first place. If winning first place can not stop those people from talking, I will shoot them down."

Hugo was rendered speechless.

Steven pushed Arthur away and walked up to Evangeline with a worried look on his face. "We also hope you can win first place, but it's not that easy. I heard that a famous mercenary is also joining the competition. He has been fighting on the battlefield for ten years, and he always started a livestream on the battlefield. He is a very dangerous man. I don't know about the players from other countries, but none of them are easy," Steven uid Evangeline nodded calmly and responded, "Yes, I know. But I am better.

Steven was speechless.

Evangeline raised her hand, clenched her fist in front of him, and said with a smile, "Do you want me to punch you so that I can show you my strength

Steven was so frightened that he hurried to hide behind Arthur. He shook his head vigorously.

"If you hit me with a whip, I would be glad to let you do it, but not with your fists," he said,

Evangeline pinched her chin thoughtfully and said, "So you have this kind of desire. I couldn't have guessed."

Steven immediately denied it, saying, "Tin not a pervert. I'm a gentleman!"

Evangeline flashed a half-smile and had a "believe it or not look.

Unable to explain himself, Steven decided not to continue and dragged Arthur and Hugo into it.

He smirked and said, "Actually, I'm not the most perverted person. Arthur and Hugo are much more strange than me. I was originally a gentleman. It's them who made me like this!" Then, Arthur and Hugo teamed up and hit Steven

Steven was beaten up so badly that he ran to a corner in the hotel and shouted, "Evangeline, save me. They're furious because I expose them. You must be aware of these two perverts true colors! They're not only perverts but also violent! Unlike me. I'm just a simple pervert. Ouch. Please don't hit my face. Spank my bottom"

Evangeline could not help laughing

While the

they were bickering with each other, she ordered some food and wine.

The food was served.

The four of them ate and drank.

With swollen eyes, Steven poured a glass of wine and walked up to Evangeline. He said thoughtfully. "Evangeline, since you have made up your mind. I won't persuade you anymore. I wish you all the best!" Evangeline clinked glasses with him and said, "Thank you"

Hugo proposed a toast to her and said, "Evangeline, you look very confident. Since that's the case, I'll choose to believe in you. When the competition starts, I'll bet everything on you winning first place this year Evangeline smiled and clinked her glasses with him. "You're destined to make a lot of money, Evangeline said.

Arthur said. "I'll wait for your return."

Evangeline was silent for a while.

The Gallagher family had been punished, so she might not return to Hofcaster.

At first, she thought it would take a year or two to deal with the whole family-

Unexpectedly, it only took less than two months for the Gallagher family to be ruined completely.

She had to admit that Jungle Survival had helped a lot.

If it weren't for Dallas, who set Meghan and Samson up to tarnish the Gallagher family's reputation in Jungle Survival and consequently affected the family's image, Gallagher Group, and Superb Entertainment negatively, no matter how stupid the Gallagher family was, they would not be destroyed so soon.

Although Edward was somewhat capable, no one could make up for the trouble Meghan and Samson had caused.

If it was her, she could not think of a way to turn the tables.

It was luck that helped her successfully take her revenge.

Evangeline drank with them until late at night.

She only knew Arthur was not a good drinker but did not expect Steven and Hugo to be the same.

She was not yet drunk, while the three of them had already started to fumble around.

After getting drunk, Arthur ran outside and put all the pebbles from the pots in his pocket. No one could stop him.

Evangeline tried to stop him. He looked at her warily and asked, "Do you want to stop me from making a fortune, or are you trying to take my gold?" Evangeline reminded him, "These are not gold"

Arthur sneered and said, "You scheming woman. You're purposely lying to me and saying they're not gold to chase me away and keep the gold for yourself, right? Humph. I won't fall for it! I'm smart!"

Evangeline was rendered speechless.

Evangeline could only contact Arthur's assistant Gerald to come over and look after him and pay the hotel for the damage.

Steven and Hugo were no better.

After getting drunk, they had a strange desire to win in a weird competition

They went to the bathroom hand in hand and competed to see who could pee further.

The hotel staff looked terrified and did not dare to approach them.

As they swayed their bodies, their pee spilled everywhere.

Evangeline was silent.

It makes sense now why they are so close to each other, she thought.

In comparison, Arthur looked much more normal and was not as embarrassed as them.

Evangeline asked Gerald to contact Steven's and Hugo's assistants to pick them up, and she left the hotel alone.

When Arthur woke up the next day with a pile of pebbles in his arms, he called Evangeline, who had left Hofcaster and went to Lumonburg. Evangeline went to a mansion on the outskirts of Lumonburg.

After walking into the mansion, she bypassed several corridors and went through a door. Then, there was a staircase leading to the underground.

She walked down the stairs.

There was a bed in the middle. A thin girl lay on it with many feeding tubes connected to her body.

Evangeline walked to the bed and stared at the girl for a long time.

The girl's skin was so pale, and her body was so thin that it could break when touched.

"Naomi, I'm going to avenge you. Dexter and I have been preparing for this day for a long time. We'll make those who hurt you pay the price. When we return, please wake up, okay? If you don't say anything. I'll take it as a yes, uttered Evangeline.

Evangeline's gaze looked a little darkened. She touched Naomi's cheek reluctantly and then turned around to leave.

Instead of lingering any longer, she went straight to the airport and boarded a plane bound for Nardor.

Seven days later, the shooting of Season 18 of Xtreme Survival officially started.

Chapter 73

Early in the morning, Evangeline got into the car sent by the production team and arrived at the training ground.

The hundred-plus production team staff had already arrived and set up the shooting equipment.

Competitors from all over the world had arrived one after another.

By the time Evangeline arrived, more than sixty contestants were already on location.

When they saw Evangeline arriving, they all looked at her in unison.

After all, she had become quite popular these days.

Even though it had been a while since Jungle Survival ended, her famous scenes were re still popular on ilar on various media platforms at home and

Anyone who surfed the Internet could see her crawling on the ground and bickering with monkeys daily.

However, almost everyone who had joined "Xtreme Survival" looked down on Evangeline.

In their eyes, Clusia's "Jungle is "Jungle Survival" was a program for those wanting to play around and couldn't be compared with the "Xtreme Survival" show. Even though Evangeline performed amazingly in the 'Jungle Survival' show, everyone expected her to behave like a meek newbie in front of so many talented and genuine bigwigs from the "Xtreme Survival" show!

After about half an hour, all the contestants had showed up.

Out of the 198 sovereign countries in the world, only 100 had contestants participating in the show,

The production team staff started by giving all the contestants headphones to aid in simultaneous translation.

The headphones could translate different languages, so the contestants wouldn't have difficulty communicating with each other.

At the same time, an online live stream was launched.

Netizens from all over the world who had been waiting for a long time quickly poured into the live room opened by cooperating platforms from various countries.

Smith held the loudspeaker and began to speak. "Over the past 17 years. "Xtreme Survival" has been a show deeply loved and supported by viewers all over the world, and our staff would like to express our great gratitude. Our show has come so far, thanks to everyone's support. Now, let me announce the official airing of season 18th of "Xtreme Survival"! There are contestants from 100 countries participating in this season. Among them, I'd like to introduce several celebrity contestants. Please welcome Jeffrey Bauer from Atharia. He is 30 years old now. He was in our show ten years ago and won the championship that year! He's been fighting on the Kluq Battlefield since then as a mercenary. He has also synced his livestreaming regularly and is very famous on Twitter. I don't think there is anyone here that doesn't know him! Jeffrey, is there anything you want

The staff immediately held out a microphone for him.

Jeffrey had the classic blonde hair, blue eyes, and tanned skin. But his skin looked rough from sun and wind exposure. He was at least six feet three inches five tall. He had a strong body covered in muscles. He has a head of curls, with even his chest hair curling and peeking out from all comen his vest. From this, it could be seen lie had quite a lot of liody hair.

He looked very much like a savage.

Jeffery took the microphone and said confidently, "I'll be the champion this year, too!"

There was a round of compliments from those on the scene.

Evangeline looked at Jeffrey with gloomy eyes.

Jeffrey was one of those who had hurt Naomi that yo year.

Next, Smith introduced the contestants from several other countries.

There was Norben Stuffer from Japrium, Kent Montoya from Kepranta, and so on.

Like Jeffrey, they both had joined the season ten years ago.

They hadn't won first place at that time but had joined other seasons and were champions, respectively. They were formidable opponents.

When they spoke, they took the opportunity to show off their closeness to Jeffrey and complimented him without hesitation.

Smith continued, "Next, with all due respect. I'd like to introduce a contestant, Evangeline from Clusia. It has been ten years since we last had a contestant from Clusia, right? This season, we have finally attracted another contestant from Clusia. It's indeed a rare occurrence! I'm sure everyone has heard of Evangeline. She is a celebrity in Clusia and has participated in the show "Jungle Survival", which was very popular recently around the world. She is also one of the favorite candidates to win the championship this season!"

When Smith introduced the others, it was in a casual tone, but when he talked about Evangeline, it was clear his tone was mocking and disrespectful.

As Smith said those words, there was a burst of laughter at the scene. The contestants looked at Evangeline disdainfully.

There were also people laughing at her without any reservations.

Just because she had participated in the kindergarten version of "Jungle Survival, she seems to think of herself as amazing. How dare she participate in Xtreme Survival! I bet she won't survive past an hour." "People from Clusia are still not self-conscious enough. How dare they come me to participate in the competition? Aren't there enough people with disabilities in their country? Do they need us to add on one more for them?

"Habaha

What they said was translated via the headphones and heard by Evangeline.

Simultaneous translation apps had also been installed in the live rooms of each country.

What they said took only a few seconds to be translated into their respective languages and repeated in the live room via an AI voice.

Clusia attracted a lot of attention because Evangeline was participating in the competition. Capitalists saw great business opportunities and bought the copyright of the synchronous live streaming. Therefore, countless netizens from Clusia were watching the livestream.

They were furious when they heard the mockery

of those people.

[Why are those foreigners behaving so uncivilized? Even if the contestants from other countries are weak, they shouldn't look down on them. Don't they know how to respect their opponents! They are not showing good sportsmanship!]

[I'm so pissed off! I really want to tear their mouths apart!]

50000 much!]

[It's all Evangeline's fault. If she didn't participate, then Clusia would not be ridiculed. She has humiliated us, Clusians. She should die in return for an apology!]

Evangeline must have deliberately signed up to become more well-known. She wants to increase her popularity and trend more on social media.

To garner more attention, she has embarrassed Clusian citizens. Her shamelessness seems to have no end to it.

Come on, guys! You are taking this too far. Evangeline deserves praise if she is courageous enough to participate in it. You don't even dare to participate in the show, so do you really think you are qualified to laugh at her!]

(Evangeline's fault that those people insulted our country. It's their lack of manners. How can anyone blame her?)

That's right or too self-abased. We should treat words from people like that like we would the barking of dogs. Their words are not imperial edicts. Why do we need to think our country has been imulted!] [Thats rida. They are embarrassing firmselves and their countries with their lack of manners. If people in their country think that they are

"Thanks to the invitation from the production team, I have finally seen what brainless people look like. Thank you, mocked Evangeline.

When people who disdained Evangeline the most heard her saying that, they immediately became furious.

Evangeline looked at those people and continued, "Don't be angry. I'm not personally against you guys, but I'm just saying that all the people present are a bunch of idiots. I look down on all of you equally.* Everyone was stunned.

How could she be so arrogant and mock everyone like thath

Those people who commented the loudest felt as if Evangeline was targeting them, and they were instantly pissed off.

How could they endure being insulted by a cowardly nation!

They rushed toward Evangeline in anger.

Bitch, who did you say was an idiot?"

"How dare a coward be so arrogant? I'll show you how powerful we are "Originally, I wanted to teach you a lesson after the competition, but since you seek death, let me fulfill your wish now! We are not to be trifled with!"

The three of them rushed toward Evangeline aggressively and swung their fists at her.

Evangeline replied innocently. "When they attacked me, you didn't stop them. I thought fighting was allowed before the start of the game

A glint flashed through Smith's gaze as he gritted angrily. "I didn't have time to react. I immediately tried to stop it after I reacted?"

Evangeline shrugged and said, "Well, I didn't react in time, too!

Smith shouted angrily. "You're splitting hairs!

Evangeline smiled faintly and said. "How can it be called splitting hairs! It took 30 seconds for them to rush toward me and attack, but you did not react. It was only more than ten seconds from when you asked me to stop until I stopped. You need thirty seconds to react and say something, so isn't it reasonable that I need more than ten seconds to react and stop my actions?"

At the scene, Smith was rendered speechless by Evangeline. He had to ask someone to carry those three people away and warn the other contestants that they were forbidden to fight without permission before the competition started

He continued speaking with a loudspeaker in his hand. "Anyone who has watched the past seasons should know that there are matches for gaining weapons before the competition starts. Not everyone will get weapons. The production team will provide a total of ten weapons. If you want any weapon you can sign up for the matches. All those who signed up will have to contest, and the winner will get the weapon"

With one hundred people and only i ten weapons available, it showed that the production team wanted the contestants to form cliques.

The weapons were soon brought up.

There was a sword, a Japriumian sword, a boomerang, a whip, a hammer, an axe, a long-handled double-bladed axe, darts, smoke bombs, and a set of bows and arrows.

After the weapons were displayed, the contestants began to sign up for the ones they wanted.

Evangeline looked around and finally signed up for the bow and arrow.

After all the contestants had signed up, Smith drew lots to decide which group would have their matches first.

"The bow and arrow team will compete in the first round! Can those who signed up for the bow and arrow please step forward? Your match will be archery. The winner will be the one with the lughest accuracy!" announced Smith.

Evangeline stepped forward.

Jeffrey also took two steps forward. He glanced at Evangeline and smiled contemptuously.

Evangeline gave him the middle finger

Jeffrey was instantly furious and wanted to get even with Evangeline.

Smith shouted angrily, "No fighting Evangeline, don't provoke the other participants!"

Evangeline said innocently, "I didn't even say anything. When did I provoke him?"

Smith gritted his teeth, and said, "You gave him the middle finger." Evangeline replied, "Tim flexing my fingers. You guys are being too sensitive? With that, she put down her middle finger and began to flex the other fingers

Everyone was speechless.

Smith took a deep breath and continued, "Let's start the matches!"

Twenty-five people had signed up for the bow and arrow.

Bows and arrows, a long-distance weapon, were ideal to be used in forests. Many people wanted to get them.

The staff directly adjusted the target distance to 300 feet.

It was 100 feet further than what was usual in professional archery competitions,

The difficulty level was high.

A lot of people hadn't trained specifically for this, so it would be a miracle if they could even hit the target. Many couldn't even hit the target. Moreover, the target was not a conventional straw target or laminated paper but a wooden board!

This added to the difficulty,

Nearly more than half of the twenty-three players who went first missed the target. Some of them hit the board, but the arrows didn't through because the board was too hard, and their results were disqualified.

Only three people hit the target, but their arrows also barely managed to pierce through. It was not a good result, as they only hit the sixth outer

"Next, let's welcome Jeffrey from Atharia?"

Jeffrey picked up the bow and arrow and shot it confidently.

His shot hit right in the bullseye!

The arrow was firmly lodged in the target.

There was a burst of cheers at the scene, and countless people began to compliment him.

"A performance worthy of a hero who has fought on the battlefield for ten years. His accuracy and strength are amazing!"

"Jeffrey i

y will surely be the champion this year. There is no

no doubt about that!"

"Jeffrey's forte is not bows and arrows, yet he has shown formidable performance. His real strength must be even more terrifying!"

"No one can win against Jeffrey. Not even the professionals could do better than him!"

Jeffrey is invincible!"

Jeffrey, please be my shield?"

In Athara's live room, another round of comments was starting up.

[Jeffery is

Wow, the nice ones have arrived. I'm not used to it. How could Evangeline scold people indiscriminately in the future!]

[Hala, don't be ridiculous!]

After flying for more than an hour, the helicopter finally arrived at a dense old-growth forest,

Instead of landing, the pilot lowered a rope ladder for the contestants to climb down.

As soon as the contestants were on the forest grounds, the helicopter flew away

At the same time, several drones Blew around them.

Evangeline also noticed a few tiny robot bees flying around the forest.

A red light was blinking in the center of each bee.

She thought. They must also be part of the production team's filming equipment

All of the contestants did not land in the same place. Thus, when Evangeline and her teammates landed, nobody else was around

Marian suggested, "The production team will dispatch some supplies, and they won't be too far from us. Let's look for them first. It's difficult to explore the forest without tools." Leigh said, "Yes, I hope we can find a lighter, or we have to eat raw meat. I don't want to try it unless I have to."

Evangeline had no objections and continued. Sliding with them.

At the same time, at the ridge of the forest, the production team quietly transported a dozen iron cages covered with black cloth using a massive helicopter.

The black cloth was removed only after the cages had been lifted. Out of the helicopter.

The cages were filled with ferocious beasts such as black bears, tigers, and wolves.

One of the cages was extraordinarily huge.

There was a white tiger inside, which several times larger than a regular tiger.

Its ferocity could send chills down one's spine.

Unfortunately, it did not have testicles.

Rogue 77

Chapter 77

Those staff gathered around the big cage and kept surveying the white tiger inside.

"This white tiger is huge and majestic. Now it's less energetic after getting a shot. Even so, it's still intimidating. I don't dare to imagine how scary it is when it regains its strength."

"The person who has fostered it is a talent. Many organizations are researching the crossbreeding of various wild animals and attempting to generate new species, but few of them succeed." "All players will be finished if we release it from the cage."

"Well, Xtreme Survival is about to become an extreme escape show. Interesting!"

"Are the bosses not afraid of getting into trouble if too many players get killed in the show?"

"As long as the players signed the contract, no one will give a damn even if they die."

"You're overthinking. Nardor is lawless. As I

"No wonder they chose to film Xtreme Survival in Nardor, the most chaotic country in the world. The government could care less about it. Their online environment is terrifying as well. My jaw dropped when I watched a medical examiner do an autopsy via livestream. There are many other creepy live streams online.

The personnel unloaded all the iron cages from the truck, but they did not immediately release the wild animals inside until they received orders from their superiors

Now that the survival show had just started. They needed to let the players have a moment to orient themselves,

At that time, a dozen billionaires from all over the world were sitting in a large conference room and watching the live broadcast of Xtreme Survival

There were three screens in their conference room, broadcasting three different pictures at the same time.

The first one was the broadcast that could be viewed by the public.

The second one was an internal live broadcast that only the investors could view.

The third one displayed global broadcast data, as well as changes in the amount of betting capital.

At the moment, the internal live broadcast showed the crew unloading the cages with wild animals inside from the truck.

On the long conference table, there were various kinds of fruits and delicate snacks. Each investor had a glass of red wine in front of them. They watched the live broadcast while drinking wine and tasting delicious food.

Kenji Mockasin, a billionaire with a handlebar moustache from Japrium exclaimed, "Mr. Wade, where did you find such a huge white tiger? It's so majestic that it will scare the shit out of those players! But once it is freed from the cage, it'll kill all the players in a few days. How can the show go on! Our revenue will decrease significantly

John Wade, a billionaire from Atharia, took a sip of red wine elegantly and smiled. "I bought this white tiger for 10 million dollars. Don't worry. It won't kill all the players Jeffrey will protect any player that seeks refuge with him."

"Although Jeffrey is very powerful, this white tiger is unusual. He can't defeat it, right?" Kenji asked.

John raised a finger and waved it. "No. Before the show started, I had someone train the white tiger and Jeffrey. Jeffrey has something to frighten this white tiger, making it afraid of getting close to him. I also asked someone to give Jeffrey some secret weapons. Jeffrey is invincible in the forest!"

Kenji was shocked. "Mr. Wade, why did you do that!"

The rest of the billionaires also looked at John.

"Do you know why Jeffrey joined the show this season!" John suddenly asked. After a pause, he continued, "It's the requirement for Evangeline Castillo from Clusia to attend the show. I didn't know why in the first place. Only when she forced the director to cut his tongue in half did I recall what had happened 10 years before. The names on the list are of players who joined the show ten years ago. Evangeline must have known that girl back then. She must desire to avenge the girl's humiliation by joining the show and inviting those players to come."

Everyone was stunned.

Some of them had been involved in that matter, and those who hadn't were also aware of it

Ten years had passed. They had already forgotten about it and had not remembered it until John mentioned it

"Evangeline is overconfident. How dare she try to revenge the dead girl alone! She'll become our plaything just like the dead girl!" Kenji said contemptuously.

"First, let Jeffrey abuse her on the show and it would help us gain exposure. We can bring her over after the show and have her experience what her sister went through 10 years ago. Then she will learn her lesson that ants can't kill an elephant," John chuckled.

Kenji rubbed his palms and smiled excitedly. "You're so thoughtful, Mr. Wade, We can make money as well as get a new plaything! Although Clusians are losers, the females are awesome! I still remember that girl ten years ago! It was an unforgettable experience!"

The billionaire from Kepraria glanced at Evangeline on the screen with contempt and snorted, "Humph! What an arrogant Clusian woman! I can't wait to see her cry when she is abused?"

The rest of the billionaires from other countries also looked at Evangeline on the screen like she was their prey and plaything

"Evangeline is cooler than the girl from ten years ago. She has a better figure and a hotter temper. Taming this type of woman is more fulfilling!"

"I can't wait to see her kneel in front of us!"

"Does anyone still keep the video from ten years ago! I suddenly want to watch it again."

"I still have that video on my phone. Display it on the screen. Let's review it again!"

"When Evangeline comes here, let her view it a laugh was heard

After Evangeline and her companions walked in the forest for a while, they saw a supply drop-off point

However, another group of people arrived earlier than them.

A total of twelve of them were already fighting over supplies,

Those people didn't form a team, so they fought one another.

Marian was the first to rush forward, followed by Leigh and Riley

The three of them joined forces and soon beat off several of their opponents.

Evangeline stepped forward and stole their supplies.

One of them tried to resist, but Evangeline slapped him so hard in the face that one of his teeth flew out, leaving him dazed.

The rest of the eight people exchanged glances and began to attack Evangeline jointly.

One of them took out a smoke grenade and smashed it to the ground.

In an instant, the white smoke spread rapidly and blocked their view.

Those who obtained smoke grenades were also given goggles.

Wearing goggles could protect their eyes from smoke gas damage and provide a 10-foot vision range in the smoke.

When everyone else couldn't see, he could see things within 1 foot. It was a huge advantage.

The man took the opportunity to sneak up on others.

Both Leigh and Riley were raided since they couldn't see anything and couldn't fight back.

Just when the man thought he was invincible, he vaguely saw a strange thing creeping quickly in the smoke, knocking everyone away and indiscriminately hitting anyone it bumped into. Chapter 77

"Ah..."

Bang!

"Help!"

The air was filled with wails.

When the smoke cleared thirty seconds later, those people were all over the ground with their hands folded behind their backs.

One man got knocked out and ended up hanging upside down from a tree branch, shivering.

Only Evangeline was unharmed.

When the smoke cleared, she was still crawling on all fours.

She didn't stand up and clap her hands until she saw everyone else fall to the ground.

The man who set off the smoke grenade was beaten so hard that his hands and feet were out of shape. He glared angrily at Evangeline.

"Evangeline, what's fucking wrong with you? Why did you hit your teammates? You have no morals!"

He never expected her to attack everyone else, including her teammates, like a mad dog when she lost her vision, rather than standing still in a panic.

Marian and the others were also silent.

They were hurt badly, too.

They had never imagined that Evangeline, whom they wanted to protect, was the one who knocked them away, beat them, and trampled on them. repeatedly.

Evangeline walked up to the man and kicked him in the face. "How dare you yell at me! Watch your language. Hundreds of millions of people are watching the live broadcast! Don't fucking swear in front of them!"

'You're no better than me, the badly injured man retorted in his heart.

Furthermore, Evangeline had so infuriated him that he passed out.

Evangeline searched him and took all of his remaining smoke grenades. She then stripped off his clothes and turned them into a simple bag.

Then she went through the supplies.

After that, Evangeline walked to Marian and asked with concern, "Are you okay?"

"You beat us. What do you think?" Marian asked back, looking at her.

Evangeline pinched her chin and said, "Why don't you guys quit the competition!"

Marian sat up from the ground and spat a mouthful of blood. "I think I can hold on,"

"I only lost one tooth and it's harmless," Leigh replied.

"Fortunately, I was smart enough to curl up into a ball and hold my head with my hands. I simply rolled around on the ground after getting kicked by you. I didn't hurt my limbs except for a few bruises," Riley said.

Evangeline scratched her head awkwardly

She felt guilty after hearing what they said

[Holy cow! I was stunned by Evangeline again!]

[I thought Evangeline would be screwell when the smoke grenade was set off. Unexpectedly, she made an indiscriminate attack and turned a disadvantage into an advantage. It wowed me!] [Evangeline is worthy of her name! She's unpredictable]

"It's okay if you want to go with me. Just to be clear, I will protect myself first when we're in danger. I will consider helping you guys if it doesn't affect me. If I can't distinguish you from the enemy again, I will attack indiscriminately, I may kill you," Evangeline said, looking at them.

"Never mind. Just protect yourself. I'll feel sorry if I'm a drag on you," Leigh replied without hesitation.

Marian and Riley nodded in agreement.

Evangeline led the way without saying anything more.

Fortunately, the three of them had minor injuries, which didn't affect walking.

This forest was more primitive than the one where Evangeline filmed Jungle Survival.

The forest was muggy and humid with lush grasses and trees. The ground was covered with fallen leaves. If they stepped on them, their feet sank the leaves around their ankles.

The dead leaves gave off an unpleasant odor of decay.

All of the insects that lived there immediately fled, some panicked and crawled to their feet.

Fortunately, all the contestants were wearing professional windbreakers, cargos, boots, and gloves.

When Evangeline trod on the leaves, a few centipedes emerged. She smashed them directly with her feet.

In addition to centipedes, there were millipedes and scorpions

Evangeline stamped on them directly.

If she let them survive, those venomous creatures would hurt them instead.

To prevent accidental poisonings, she decided to crush them equally

[Oh my! This is the real old-growth forest. More than a dozen venomous insects emerge as they tread on the fallen leaves, giving me shivers.]

[By contrast, Jungle Survival is nothing. There are no venomous insects or snakes in the jungle. It seems that the production team has wiped them out beforehand. Otherwise, no player would have survived except for Evangeline.]

[It's horrible. It sent chills down my spine as I watched it. But Evangeline didn't even frown at them! She's awesome!]

[Evangeline is so heartless. How could she kill them! These insects reside in the forest. Humans suddenly broke in. They not only destroyed their nests but also killed them. It's so cruel]

[A cold-blooded woman like Evangeline should be shut out by all media. She is not a caring person at all!]

[Fuck off! You should blame the production team. This show has been going on for more than a decade. Which season did animals and insects not die? You know what show it is, but you still decide to watch it.

I don't think you're a good person. Stop pretending to be kind!]

[Why don't you give me an address since you love animals so much! Let me deliver you some cockroaches.]

Evangeline suddenly found something wrong with the ground when walked a distance in the forest.

She reacted quickly and wanted to step back.

At that moment, something moved beneath the thick layers of fallen leaves and a noose tightened quickly.

Although Evangeline acted fast, the noose tightened very rapidly.

One of Evangeline's feet was bound.

Then a tremendous force began to pull her body upward.

In an instant, she was hanging upside down from the tree.

Behind her came the screams of Marian and others.

They also fell into traps, hanging upside down.

"Hahaha, you're not as powerful as I thought. They lost to you because they overestimated you and allowed you to take advantage, a voice sounded. "Haha, you're unlucky to have fallen into our hands. You looked down on all of us from the start, and now you're captured by us. Are you ashamed"" "Should we go ask Jeffrey to see what he's going to do with her?"

"Let's teach her we teach her a lesson before going ask Jeffrey!"

They also saw the rewarding tasks.

As long as they completed them, they would get a high bonus.

They could get 1 million dollars if they could remove one piece of Evangeline's clothing.

Another rewarding task was to tame her, the a rope around her neck, and walk her through the forest like a dog. She had to crawl on all fours.

The basic bounty was as 2 million dollars.

The big shots behind the scenes would tip them if it made them happy.

"How despicable and insidious you are!" Marian yelled. "We're contestants. We came here to compete, not fight. How can you set us up? Let go of us now!" "Don't pretend to be ignorant. The rules of the game allow us to do this to reduce the number of competitors, someone replied sarcastically.

"You're welcome to deal with us if you are capable enough!"

"You losers from a fragile state. Even though you work together, you're still losers. Hahaha!"

Marian and the others were furious.

However, Evangeline remained calm all the time.

She glanced at them. The flags of each contestant's country were sewn onto their clothing. She could tell they were from Freedonia, Andgre, Avalon, and Eastasia

These countries were all Atharia's lackeys

[They're over the line. According to the game rules, they must trek through the forest. Why did they target others?]

[They played the same old trick again. Every time Clusians join the show, the contestants of the other countries will target them jointly. They can't afford to lose, so they pull dirty tricks!] [We, Clusians, shouldn't attend this damn show in the future!]

[Alas, Evangeline is screwed this time]

[Haha, I warned Evangeline's fans not to count your chickens before they hatch. Now, they embarrass themselves!]

[This is Evangeline's first day on the show, and she will be eliminated. A loser is a loser. Evangeline's fans, please don't assist Evangeline in developing her public persona. She doesn't deserve it. She is just a piece of trash!!]

[Clusians are physically smaller and weaker than people from other countries. We know nothing but arguing with others. Why don't we continue to fool ourselves? We shouldn't go abroad to make a fool of ourselves.]

[Damn it. Are

e you all spies? How could you undermine your fellow citizens! Shouldn't we stand up against discrimination at this time?]

Advise the cyber police to check those people's IP addresses.]

Evangeline had already crawled away from the crime scene and walked in Marian, expressionless, as if she had not hit those four men behind her.

Jeffrey, who was peering through a telescope in the dustaner, looked

"I didn't expect that Clusian woman could defeat four men in such a short time. It appears that she is not only lucky but also quite capable. I previously underestimated her, he said. -This Clusian woman so hateful that she beat Jeffrey Bailly

He swore he would make her kneel in front of him and bark like a dog!

Evangeline flipped him the bird and spat.

Under Jeffrey's angry gaze, she turned around and walked to Marian

"I'm afraid I can't go with you anymore. I fell when they loosened the rope just now I lost control of my body and fractured my hand, Marian said, smiling bitterly.

Even though there were thick leaves on the ground, Leigh still hit his head when he fell

Riley was the only person that didn't get hurt..

Marian nodded and replied, I'm sorry I'm too weak. I wanted to protect you in the first place, but ended up being a drag upon you"

"Why do I do that! I'll fight anyone, I really don't care. I got nothing to lose. They will still cause me trouble even if I keep a low profile, even if they are less angry." Evangeline replied with a smile Marian stopped talking.

She knew a thing or two about the bounty.

Evangeline was right. Even if she kept a low profile, those people would cause Iser trouble.

Evangeline seized Marian's broken hand, moved it twice, and yanked it hard all of a sudden

Her dislocated and was put in place instantly with a crack.

Marian grunted but didn't cry in pain.

"Stay here and wait for the production team's helicopter to come pick you guys up. I'm leaving now," Evangeline said.

Marian nodded, "Okay, Good luck with your game!"

"I'm not hurt. I'll go with you!" Riley said.

"Have you thought it through? If you continue to follow me, you will face more sneak attacks and even death, Evangeline said, looking at him.

"Men from Gregan are not afraid of death" Riley grinned.

Evangeline shrugged and didn't persuade him anymore.

Chapter 80

To prevent the fierce beasts from fighting among themselves, the staff had relocated the dozen or so wild animals to different areas for release. They injected all of them with sedatives before opening the cages to keep the workers safe from potential attacks.

The giant white tiger, however, was not released immediately. Its fighting power was too strong-the game would be over as soon as it was set loose.

In the VIP viewing area, Kenji exclaimed in anger, "Why don't we just let the white tiger out right now, Mr. Wade? Evangeline is too infuriating; she needs to learn a lesson about how Clusians will always come up short against Atharians."

Presley Norton, a wealthy magnate from Kepraria, chimed in, "Evangeline has gone too far. She's been taunting Jeffrey constantly. Her disrespect for him is a slap in the face to all of Atharians. She must be taught a lesson."

Riley from Freedonia slammed his fist on the table, his face flushed with fury. "Damn it, Evangeline! She made our Freedonian contestant look like a chump. The game just started, and we were already knocked out. It's humiliating. We need to let Jeffrey punish her!"

He had placed a bet on his country's contestant, hoping he would last at least half a month. But less than half a day into the contest, and his guy was already out. Not only did he lose money, but he also lost face.

The wealthy man from Andgre also scowled. "The Clusians are so sneaky. They stole our smoke bombs, and then they used them to mess with our contestant's direction. That's not how a fair fight is supposed to be. We in Andgre should be able to take down a kangaroo-there's no way we should lose to those Clusian weaklings!"

The people from other countries were seething with anger. None of them had bet on Evangeline to win, but before the show started, several wealthy Clusians had promised a lot of money on her.

Since everyone looked down on Evangeline, thinking she stood no chance, her odds were sky-high. If she managed to win, those who had bet against her would lose big time.

And the more skilled Evangeline was, the harder it would be for the wealthy backers from the other nations to fulfill the bounties they'd placed. That meant less money in their pockets.

"Listen up, everyone," John said, raising his glass. "Let's hold off on panicking. With Atharian talent like Jeffrey in the mix, we can't lose this challenge. The white tiger is just too strong to set loose now; it would ruin everything. We should let these other beasts out first, and let them toy with the contestants for a bit. It'll be a good way to bring down Evangeline's arrogance and show her that there are plenty of stronger people-and animals-out there."

The crowd nodded, grinning as they climbed onboard with his plan. "You've got it, Mr. Wade. Let's start with a little appetizer. If she miraculously gets through, then we can unleash the white tiger. Imagine the fear on her face!"

"Just wait until she sees Jeffrey subduing the white tiger. She'll be begging him for protection." someone else added, a wicked grin plastered across his face.

"When that happens, all those bounty tasks will be a walk in the park. Our pockets will be lined with cash!"

"Here's to the money that's about to land in our pockets!" they laughed.

In the depths of the forest, the wild beasts that had been released were gradually waking up. Tigers, lions, black bears, grizzly bears, jaguars, cheetahs, gray wolves, wild boars, and a dozen others-each one a formidable predator from different regions and species-came to life.

They had been injected with a substance that fueled a raging fury inside them. The moment they awoke, they started howling violently, charging deeper into the woods, eager to confront any intruders they encountered.

Having been trained, these animals harbored strong aggression toward humans and recognized human scent with terrifying precision. So when they caught a whiff of human presence in the air, it was as if they had just inhaled a powerful stimulant. They immediately began tracking it down.

Meanwhile, Marian and Leigh were still waiting for rescue in the forest. As night fell, they anxiously noted that the helicopter still hadn't arrived.

If it weren't for the drone and the little mechanical bee filming them, they might have thought they had been truly abandoned,

Without flashlights, they relied on the faint light emitted by the drone and mechanical bee when darkness enveloped the forest, just enough to glimpse their surroundings.

"Leigh, why hasn't the production team sent anyone to pick us up? Do you think they missed our message about giving up?" Marian asked, her voice tinged with worry.

"That shouldn't be the case," Leigh replied. "We've made it clear more than once."

He lay back on the ground, his head spinning from the fall. When he had landed, he had hit his head hard enough to break something-and it felt like he might have a concussion. Each time he tried to stand, nausea churned in his stomach, forcing him to remain sprawled out on the forest floor, waiting for the rescue helicopter that didn't seem to be coming anytime soon. As time dragged on and no help appeared, a sense of unease began creeping into his mind.

"What's that noise?" Suddenly, Marian heard a rustling sound behind her and instinctively tensed up.

Leigh perked up, straining to listen.

"Roar!" A fearsome animal's growl echoed through the trees.

"This is bad. That sounded like a lion, and it must be a big one. I can't take it; we have to move quickly!" Marian exclaimed as she swiftly stood up, helping Leigh to his feet.

Leigh leaned on her, and they didn't dare look back. They quickly left their spot, the drone trailing them, proving there was still someone keeping an eye on them.

"Damn it, hurry up and send someone to get us! We've already given up the competition!" Marian shouted at the drone, frustration boiling over. No one responded, so she continued guiding Leigh forward. "Ah... Help!" Suddenly, a bloodcurdling scream pierced the air from behind. It was the four contestants who had been left defenseless after Evangeline broke their limbs, just like them, waiting forever for rescue. By the sounds of it, the lion was launching an attack on them.

Marian's face went pale. Not daring to linger, she threw Leigh onto her back and sprinted forward.

The screams quickly faded away. Whether they had fainted from terror or had been killed, Marian could only guess, and she feared the worst. Then, she heard the rustling again. 'Is the lion pursuing us? Hasn't it just killed those four? Does it only enjoy the thrill of the hunt rather than actually eating its prey?' she wondered anxiously.

Panic surged through her, and her legs moved faster than ever, as if she could transform into a whirlwind. She gasped for breath, sweat coating her skin, not daring to stop.

Just then, a group of people appeared ahead. Marian's eyes lit up; with more people, they might stand a chance against the lion. But her heart sank as she recognized three of them. She quickly turned to escape.

Before she could get far, Norbert dashed in front of her and kicked her hard.

Marian couldn't dodge while carrying Leigh on her back, and they both tumbled to the ground, Leigh rolling off her.

"Hey, look who it is! The two little dogs of Evangeline," Norbert said, a smirk playing on his lips. "Did your master ditch you?"

Kent strolled over, mockingly adding, "Why are you running so fast?"

At that moment, the lion caught up behind them. The massive beast paused, startled by their numbers, and stared warily at the group.

A malicious grin swept across Kent's face as he kicked Leigh forward, sending him tumbling right in front of the lion.

Marian's heart dropped. "No-" she screamed, desperation evident in her voice.
