

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 331

i am the ruler of all chapter 331 Xanxus was still upright, but he had to tense all his muscles to stay upright. He asked throatily, “How did you get your hands on the Northern Draken Tag?”

Kingsley answered calmly, “Henrich gave it to me.”

“Hen—” The fact Kingsley was on first-name basis with Henrich almost made Xanxus wobble. Henrich Tanner was the undisputed king of Qustia’s northern underworld. Xanxus was just a small fry compared to that juggernaut, but Kingsley made it sound like Henrich was just an old man living next door. He felt his blood run cold, and he asked, “Y-You know the Tanners’ family head?”

“Of course,” Kingsley answered calmly. “The geezer’s a shitty chess player, and he loves to lecture people.”

Xanxus wanted to scream. “You called the Tanners’ family head a geezer. A geezer.”

Frederick huddled closer and whispered, “I think he’s friends with the Tanners. We should kill him while he’s alone. Nobody’s gonna know.”

Xanxus’ eyes glinted coldly. He’s right. We’re already enemies anyway. He won’t let us go even if we grovel. There’s nobody else around. This is our chance to get back at this little b*stard. He’ll be a problem for us if we don’t kill him now because his backers are powerful. I’m no match for either the Gamblers Organization or the Tanners. Xanxus cracked his neck and said darkly, “You overestimate yourself, kid. You shouldn’t have challenged me alone, even if you have the tag.”

“What do you mean, Mr. Xanxus?” Kingsley arched his eyebrow. “Are you going to attack me, even when I have the tag?”

Xanxus scrunched up his nose. “We’re in the middle of nowhere. The Tanners can’t control me here. And nobody’s gonna know that I killed you.”

Kingsley clapped. “No wonder you’re the King of South Nakson. You have guts.” He then swiveled around and said coldly, “But you got one thing wrong.”

Xanxus’ face fell. “What do you mean? What did I miss?”

Kingsley smiled. "I'm not alone."

A commotion happened outside the room, and Leoric came in with a dozen men, swarming the room. "Boss!"

He came straight to Kingsley and bowed. He would help Kingsley out without any questions asked, especially after he took the urban village back for him. "My men and I came here right after you called me. What's the situation?"

Leoric looked haggard and nervous. They were on Xanxus' turf, and a dozen men was not enough to fight him. He could feel his heart race.

Kingsley smiled. "And I thought you wouldn't come. Aren't you afraid of Xanxus?"

"Hey, you called me. There's no way I wouldn't come." Leoric clenched his fists. "Say the word and I'll fight Xanxus even if I can't win."

"You don't have to fight." Kingsley pointed at Xanxus, who looked furious. "Xanxus is right there. There's no need to fight."

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 332

i am the ruler of all chapter 332-"What? He's Xanxus?" Leoric and his lackeys took a few steps back in fear and disbelief. They knew full well who Xanxus was, but since they were in different cities, and Xanxus was high up on the hierarchy, these people had never seen him before. The fact that Xanxus was a gloomy man made Leoric sigh. "So he's the King of South Nakson. Doesn't look any different from the guys I've seen. And I thought he'd be a god."

The veins on Frederick's forehead popped, and his chest heaved. He roared, "What the f*ck did you just say about Mr. Xanxus? Imma skin you alive!"

Frederick' fury scared Leoric, and he took a little step back instinctively. It was a subtle step, but Xanxus noticed it.

He scoffed at Leoric and asked coldly, "And where do you come from, punk? You think you can f*ck around on my turf?"

Xanxus' infamy scared Leoric, and the guy was already sweating. "Um..." He gulped and glanced at Kingsley.

Kingsley said calmly, "Just say whatever you want. He's gonna die very soon." Xanxus might be scary, but Kingsley was even more powerful. Xanxus was looking infuriated, but he couldn't do anything.

Leoric felt a lot more confident now. "Hey, you sent Kenzo to take my turf. Why are you asking me the questions?"

Xanxus froze for a moment before hissing, "You work for Victoria?"

Frederick roared, "F*ck! So you're the guy who did my bro in!"

He had sent Kenzo and some lackeys to Cleapolis and started a gang war over some turf on Xanxus' orders. They were planning on using the village as a stepping stone to infiltrate Cleapolis' underworld. To their dismay, Kenzo never returned. They had no idea what happened to him and his crew. Frederick then sent a few more people to look into this, but he got no news. He was furious when he found out Leoric was behind Kenzo's disappearance. He clenched his fists, growling, "Kenzo's my lackey and brother. What the f*ck did you do to him?"

"Oh, I didn't do anything." Leoric shrugged. "Mr. Howe took them to a gay bar. They're working there now. Oh, and illegal boxers love that bar. They're probably dead or worse at this point."

"A gay bar for illegal boxers?" Frederick blanched, and he felt a sting from his butt for some reason.

Xanxus froze up. "Howe? Baron Howe? He's not friends with Victoria, so why did he—" He looked straight at Kingsley. "I-It's you! You told him to do that!"

He has the tag, so of course he can order Baron around. "Oh, I see. You're here to get back at me for Victoria!" He pointed at Kingsley. "You want revenge!"

"No. I'm here for someone else, and I'm not on a path of revenge." Kingsley shook his head. "But it doesn't matter. Soon, Victoria will own your turf anyway."

Xanxus' face fell. "What the f*ck did you say? You think you can take over my whole turf just like that?"

“I think you’re overestimating him, boss,” Frederick sneered. “He only scammed us out of the casino with petty tricks. There’s no way he can take your turf.”

Xanxus scoffed. “You’re right. He doesn’t have the power.” He picked the tag up and fiddled with it, then said sarcastically, “It’s a scary tag, but you’re in South Nakson. Do you think you can scare me on my own turf? I’m not a coward like that Baron! Nobody can scare me on my own turf!”

Frederick quickly brown-nosed him. “That’s right! Mr. Norton is the King of South Nakson! You think you can win just because you got a bunch of trash fighters with you? What a joke!

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 333

i am the ruler of all chapter 333-The hilarity mounted, and Frederick clutched his stomach, pretending to guffaw in glee. He mocked, “Honestly, trash like you can’t even get close to our turf. The local gangs can wipe you out easily. The guys in this hotel can beat your ass without breaking a sweat. You guys—”

Frederick’s voice slowly turned into a whisper, and the disdain on his face faded. His jaw dropped, and disbelief filled his eyes. “Wait. Why didn’t anybody stop you? They should’ve seen you and your crew a mile away!” Frederick frowned. “And what about the hotel bouncers? What about my crew? There’s no way they would have let you in.”

“Man, I have the same question.” Leoric shrugged. “Some guys tried to stop us before we could even get close. I thought we were goners, but then some more guys showed up and kicked the local gangs’ asses.”

“T-They kicked their asses? What the f*ck are you talking about?”

Xanxus was flabbergasted. The whole of South Nakson was his turf. Aside from his lackeys, there were more than a few hundred borderline criminals who relied on the casino for their livelihood.

Scarlett and Zwander were just a few of many. Xanxus couldn’t believe all those lackeys would lose so easily, unless Jarett’s men were involved. His face fell, and he looked at Leoric. “Are they Jarett’s men? Your reinforcements, I mean.”

“No,” Leoric answered confidently.

“And how do you know?” Frederick glared at him. “You better f*cking tell me the truth!”

“I am telling the truth,” Leoric answered. “I’ve never seen Mr. Cole, but I know how powerful he is. There’s no way those guys work for him.” There was a look of worship in Leoric’s eyes. “They were bare-handed, but any one of them could take out ten enemies by themselves easily. They’re professionals!”

Frederick thought about it and whispered, “Maybe they’re Baron’s boxers.”

Before Xanxus could say anything, Kingsley blurted, “Alright, stop. They’re my crew.” He knew those guys must be soldiers in disguise sent by Ignatov. Borderline criminals aside, there were civilians around. The soldiers would cause a ruckus if they came in fully armed. Ignatov knew that as well, so he sent some soldiers in disguise to take out all of Xanxus’ goons.

Xanxus’ cheeks trembled. “Your crew? There’s no way they’re your crew. Baro—”

Sounds of uniform footsteps rang in the hallway, cutting Xanxus short. Five lean, tanned men appeared outside the door. They were in neat white shirts, stylish black suits, and a pair of black leather shoes that gleamed under the light.

Their hair was cut short, and their eyes were filled with steely resolve and motivation. One look at how these men carried themselves, and Xanxus knew why Leoric was sure these men did not work for Jarett. None of Jarett’s thugs had their air of confidence.

The leader of the men came into the room. He approached Kingsley and was about to raise his right hand, but then he put it down beside him. Nobody noticed that but Kingsley, and he nodded with a smile. He knew the soldier was about to salute him, but he was under strict orders to keep Kingsley’s identity a secret, so he put his hand down. “Si—Mr. Nicholson, we’ve apprehended the thugs around the casino. What do you want us to do now?”

The soldier was trembling with excitement. Oh my god. I'm reporting mission progress to Ares himself. And I'm inches away from him! He was starting to radiate the kind of air only soldiers had, though he did not realize it.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 334

i am the ruler of all chapter 334—"No, Mr. Nicholson!" the soldier answered loudly. "Five teams totalling eighty units were deployed for this operation. None are injured." He gulped nervously. "Any resisting enemy was tied and apprehended. Some of the enemies are badly hurt. There are no casualties."

Kingsley nodded. "Thank you."

"Of course, Lieu—" He stopped himself before he could finish and quickly said instead, "The teams are gathered downstairs. The comm... The team leaders will be here shortly."

Even an idiot could see that something was up, let alone people like Frederick and Xanxus. Still, Xanxus refused to believe this, and he gulped. "Impossible! I have more than thirty men with me, and they're all armed! They couldn't have gone down that easily!"

Frederick said raspily, "That's right! You're lying! My whole team is armed. There's no way they didn't go down without a fight." He glanced outside the window. "We're on the second floor, and the window's open. We would have heard it if you guys were fighting. You're just bluffing. That's a bluff."

The soldier looked back. "Oh, you mean those guys downstairs? They didn't even put up a fight. We apprehended them easily. See for yourself."

Xanxus and Frederick exchanged looks and went to the window. They didn't believe their best lackeys would go down without so much as a fight, but when they looked downstairs, they both gasped and tensed up.

A few dozen hardened young men in white shirts were standing on the plaza downstairs. They were spread out in five rows while Xanxus' best lackeys were crouched down with hands on their head and huddled together, shivering in fear. None of them moved, and more importantly, there were only five men keeping an eye on them.

Frederick trembled in rage and thumped the windowsill. He roared, “Goddammit! There’s like eighty of them, but only five are keeping an eye on them, and they can’t even move? F*cking useless!”

Xanxus looked furious and agitated as well. He had spent top dollar hiring a few retired mercenaries to train his lackeys in marksmanship to create a team of marksmen. Sixty of them emerged triumphant, and they became the fearsome South Nakson Flashfire. He had sent about two dozen of them to hunt Serena down, while the rest followed him here. He never expected his elite lackeys to do nothing and shiver like scared children. He felt something welling in his throat—it was blood. He smashed the glass window and roared, “What the f*ck are you doing? You’re embarrassing me!”

His lackeys looked up at him, scared and horrified.

“You gotta save me, boss!”

“I-I wanna go home!”

A few of the men broke down and cried.

Xanxus spewed out blood for real this time. He never thought his best men would be nothing but weaklings. The guy turned around slowly and stared at Kingsley in disbelief. “H-How did you do that? What happened to my men?”

Kingsley smiled. “Why don’t you ask them yourself?” He stood up and smoothed out the creases on his shirt before saying, “Let’s go. Take Frederick and Mr. Norton with us.”

The soldiers came up to the gang leaders and pinned them both down before they could say anything.

“F*ck! Let me go!” Frederick struggled violently, but his strength was nothing compared to the soldiers. No matter how hard he tried, he just couldn’t break free.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 335

i am the ruler of all chapter 335-Kingsley looked at a warrior and asked, “What about the people at Blood Moon Hotel? Have you already kept them under control as well?”

“No. They scrambled away in fright as soon as they saw us coming! They should be hiding in the backyard now!”

Kingsley nodded, turned around, and instructed Leoric. “Take someone to the backyard, find out all of those who are hiding in the Blood Moon Hotel, and bring them to the door.”

“Got it, Mr. Nicholson!” Leoric responded and immediately walked downstairs with his men.

Afterward, Kingsley and five warriors dragged Xanxus and Frederick downstairs.

Walking out of the door of Blood Moon Hotel, the five warriors quickly joined their unit and stood at the forefront.

The five of them were the captains of each plainclothes squads.

Kingsley came to the group of warriors and smiled. “You’ve all worked hard.”

“Don’t mention it!” All the warriors were extremely excited when they saw Ares, the God of War. Their eyes were all filled with fanaticism! There were only eighty people, but it sounded like a hundred people shouting the majestic chant!

The deafening shouts instantly alerted Xanxus and Frederick!

Xanxus’ throat went dry as he stammered, “Who... who are you people?”

By just looking the view in front of them, even a fool could tell that these young people with their hands behind their backs, who were standing at ease, were definitely not ordinary people!

No matter how reluctant Xanxus was to believe it, he had to admit that he was doomed this time!

Just then, Frederick suddenly stuttered with a pale face. “Boss, I... I think I know why our army dare not to resist.”

“Why?” Xanxus merely blurted out a word without saying anything more.

When his gaze followed the direction at which Frederick’s finger was pointing, he saw the pistols slung on the waists of the soldiers!

All of them were carrying the latest version of the military pistols!

In comparison, the black guns his subordinates carried were nothing but trash!

Frederick's jaw dropped as he exclaimed in shock, "Eighty soldiers are carrying the AMT Automag II pistols. Who... who is he to have such a huge army?!"

Xanxus' Adam's apple bobbed up and down nervously as he stammered, "It's not just a pistol. If you look closely under their white shirts, they seem to be wearing bulletproof vests as well."

"Bulletproof vests?" Frederick was shocked when he heard Xanxus' comment. "Isn't this a freaking army?!"

Apart from the military of the Empire of Qustia, he could not think of any other force that could be equipped with such sophisticated weapons and equipment!

Even the Tanners family in Seavale would not be able to send such a strong team!

Xanxus' lips trembled as he looked at Kingsley in horror. "Who...Who on earth are you? Are you really from the military?!"

When the question was blurted out, his gaze was filled with disbelief.

Kingsley was too young!

He merely looked like he was in his early twenties!

Even if he was really a member of the military, with his age and qualifications, he should have absolutely no power to command such an armed team, right?!

Just as Xanxus was full of doubts, the sound of car brakes suddenly sounded!

More than a dozen of military vehicles were parked on the side of the road one after another.

Immediately, both Kevin and Vernon Simpson walked out of the car with their men.

Xanxus' eyelids twitched wildly when he saw the license plate hanging on their cars!

All those vehicles had the white military license plates!

He shuddered with fright, and his body went rigid!

Kevin stepped forward and bowed respectfully to Kingsley, greeting him.
“Good day, Mr. Nicholson!”

Kingsley nodded with a light smile. “We’ve met again, Captain Leonard.”

Kevin took a deep breath. “That’s right! Captain Simpson and I have already dealt with the demolition of the village!”

“Captain Simpson.” Kingsley looked at Vernon next to him. “You must be the captain of Diosna Military District.”

Vernon’s eyes showed fanaticism as he nodded fervently. “That’s right! I am the Major Captain of Diosna Military District, Vernon Simpson!”

“Major... Captain?!”

Hearing Vernon revealing his identity, Xanxus looked like he had just experienced an earthquake of a high magnitude. His eyeballs nearly fell out of his sockets due to shock!

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 336

i am the ruler of all chapter 336-Although he had always been known as the King of South Nakson, he was just the boss of a small gang after all.

He even needed to be part of the Seven Legends along with six other significant figures in order to be as famous as Jarett Cole!

For him, even a company commander of the military could make him kneel to greet him!

However, now, there were two major captains here together!

Xanxus was about to go crazy!

He felt like he was getting electrocuted by some high-voltage electricity and was going to be shocked to death by it anytime soon!

Crash!

The agarwood bracelet that he had been fiddling with instantly fell to the ground with a thud.

The thread was broken and the beads scattered all over the place!

Kingsley looked at him with a half-smile. "Boss Norton, it's not a good sign that the beads are scattered."

"I..."

Xanxus opened his mouth, but it felt as if the cat got his tongue. He could not speak at all!

Frederick, who was standing behind him, was even worse!

A boor man weighing almost 200 pounds and of a height of more than 6.5 feet stood up and peed in his pants!

He was so scared that his bladder went out of control!

Kingsley spared a quick glance at the two of them before turning to Kevin and Vernon, uttering with a smile. "You've worked really hard, captains. Once everything is over, I will instruct Lev to grant you merits!"

"Thank you, Lieutenant!"

Kevin and Vernon stood straight at the same time!

The two of them were so excited!

For a moment, they forgot that Lev had specially instructed them that Ares, the God of War, was unwilling to reveal his military identity!

After calling him 'lieutenant', they immediately realized their mistake.

In an instant, the excitement on their faces turned into fear!

Seeing the instantly paled faces of Kevin and Vernon, Kingsley smiled lightly.

"It's fine. The reason why I didn't want to reveal my identity earlier was because I was afraid of it to be known by someone and would delay the important tasks of the military. But, now that we're surrounded by our own soldiers, and the rest which are present here will not be able to see the sun of tomorrow, it is no longer necessary to hide my identity."

Hearing that, Kevin and Vernon took a breath of relief at the same time.

Their backs were actually soaked in cold sweat within a few minutes!

Although they were relieved, Xanxus and his subordinates were completely dumbfounded!

The rest which are present here will not be able to see the sun of tomorrow. Wasn't... Wasn't that referring to them?!

"I... I don't want to die!"

"Please don't kill me... I didn't do anything..."

"I... I'm just trying to earn a living by following Boss Norton. I haven't done anything bad..."

"Me... Me too. We've only collected protection money and bullied some citizens. These aren't crimes which deserve the punishment of death."

All of a sudden, the trembling buff men all kneeled before Kingsley!

They were all crying and begging, hoping that Kingsley could let them go!

However, Kingsley's gaze was cold as he scolded mercilessly, "Collecting protection money? Bullying citizens? Aren't those crimes?! Must it be murder, arson, rape, and looting to be considered a heinous crime?!"

Hearing Kingsley's bone-chilling voice, all those kneeling on the ground shut their mouths in fright as their faces turned pallid!

want to die yet!"

Hearing the cry of his subordinates, Xanxus felt bitter.

He was also barely alive right now. How was he supposed to save them?!

When the two major captains called Kingsley 'lieutenant' earlier, he heard it loud and clear!

Although he could not figure out why Kingsley was able to achieve such immeasurable achievements at the age of his early twenties, the facts were laid right before his eyes!

Even if he was perplexed and reluctant to admit it, the fact that Kingsley was the military lieutenant was beyond doubt!

Xanxus knew that this time, he was going to pay for the price!

A price that was enough to ruin his whole life!

Xanxus swallowed hard, looked up at Kingsley, and inquired in a complicated tone. "Lieutenant, in what way did I offend you? Why would you attack me with such a big fanfare?"

Kingsley uttered indifferently, "Didn't I make it clear? The assassin you were trying to kill is my sister! Since you were trying to kill her, I would have to hunt you down and protect her!"

"That... That's it?!" Xanxus' face turned green.

"You could've just told me to stop and I would. You didn't have to bring such a big army..."

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 336

i am the ruler of all chapter 336-Although he had always been known as the King of South Nakson, he was just the boss of a small gang after all.

He even needed to be part of the Seven Legends along with six other significant figures in order to be as famous as Jarett Cole!

For him, even a company commander of the military could make him kneel to greet him!

However, now, there were two major captains here together!

Xanxus was about to go crazy!

He felt like he was getting electrocuted by some high-voltage electricity and was going to be shocked to death by it anytime soon!

Crash!

The agarwood bracelet that he had been fiddling with instantly fell to the ground with a thud.

The thread was broken and the beads scattered all over the place!

Kingsley looked at him with a half-smile. "Boss Norton, it's not a good sign that the beads are scattered."

"I..."

Xanxus opened his mouth, but it felt as if the cat got his tongue. He could not speak at all!

Frederick, who was standing behind him, was even worse!

A boor man weighing almost 200 pounds and of a height of more than 6.5 feet stood up and peed in his pants!

He was so scared that his bladder went out of control!

Kingsley spared a quick glance at the two of them before turning to Kevin and Vernon, uttering with a smile. "You've worked really hard, captains. Once everything is over, I will instruct Lev to grant you merits!"

"Thank you, Lieutenant!"

Kevin and Vernon stood straight at the same time!

The two of them were so excited!

For a moment, they forgot that Lev had specially instructed them that Ares, the God of War, was unwilling to reveal his military identity!

After calling him 'lieutenant', they immediately realized their mistake.

In an instant, the excitement on their faces turned into fear!

Seeing the instantly paled faces of Kevin and Vernon, Kingsley smiled lightly.

"It's fine. The reason why I didn't want to reveal my identity earlier was because I was afraid of it to be known by someone and would delay the important tasks of the military. But, now that we're surrounded by our own soldiers, and the rest which are present here will not be able to see the sun of tomorrow, it is no longer necessary to hide my identity."

Hearing that, Kevin and Vernon took a breath of relief at the same time.

Their backs were actually soaked in cold sweat within a few minutes!

Although they were relieved, Xanxus and his subordinates were completely dumbfounded!

The rest which are present here will not be able to see the sun of tomorrow. Wasn't... Wasn't that referring to them?!

"I... I don't want to die!"

"Please don't kill me... I didn't do anything..."

"I... I'm just trying to earn a living by following Boss Norton. I haven't done anything bad..."

"Me... Me too. We've only collected protection money and bullied some citizens. These aren't crimes which deserve the punishment of death."

All of a sudden, the trembling buff men all kneeled before Kingsley!

They were all crying and begging, hoping that Kingsley could let them go!

However, Kingsley's gaze was cold as he scolded mercilessly, "Collecting protection money? Bullying citizens? Aren't those crimes?! Must it be murder, arson, rape, and looting to be considered a heinous crime?!"

Hearing Kingsley's bone-chilling voice, all those kneeling on the ground shut their mouths in fright as their faces turned pallid!

want to die yet!"

Hearing the cry of his subordinates, Xanxus felt bitter.

He was also barely alive right now. How was he supposed to save them?!

When the two major captains called Kingsley 'lieutenant' earlier, he heard it loud and clear!

Although he could not figure out why Kingsley was able to achieve such immeasurable achievements at the age of his early twenties, the facts were laid right before his eyes!

Even if he was perplexed and reluctant to admit it, the fact that Kingsley was the military lieutenant was beyond doubt!

Xanxus knew that this time, he was going to pay for the price!

A price that was enough to ruin his whole life!

Xanxus swallowed hard, looked up at Kingsley, and inquired in a complicated tone. "Lieutenant, in what way did I offend you? Why would you attack me with such a big fanfare?"

Kingsley uttered indifferently, "Didn't I make it clear? The assassin you were trying to kill is my sister! Since you were trying to kill her, I would have to hunt you down and protect her!"

"That... That's it?!" Xanxus' face turned green.

"You could've just told me to stop and I would. You didn't have to bring such a big army..."

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 337

i am the ruler of all chapter 337-"I thought I had warned you in advance," Kingsley spat coldly. "I took Sunshine Casino from you. Isn't that enough of a warning to you?!"

"I..." Xanxus' expression instantly stiffened, and he was unable to say anything!

Kingsley was right!

He had clearly warned Xanxus beforehand! Xanxus was the one being ignorant and still tried to win it back!

Xanxus slowly crouched down, clasped his head with both hands, and frantically tugged at his hair! He felt extreme regret!

If he had known that this would happen, he would not have gone to retrieve Sunshine Casino!

Great! Now, not only did he fail to win the casino back, he had also lost his entire career!

Perhaps, he was even going to lose his life!

“How... How could this happen?” Xanxus murmured as he collapsed. His face was painted with despair!

Suddenly, he raised his head and inquired in a trance. “What about my men? What about those who went to demolish the village?”

Kevin chuckled. “Some of them resisted stubbornly. So, General Ignatov ordered for them all to be killed!”

Plop!

Xanxus’ legs went limp as he slumped to the ground!

“The general...” He looked at Kingsley in horror. “Are you even qualified to command the general of the military district?”

Kingsley smirked proudly and uttered, “The twelve military districts of the Empire of Qustia and millions of troops under them are all under my command!”

Xanxus was rendered speechless.

He was terrified because he had a complete nervous breakdown!

He knew that what Kingsley said was definitely not an exaggeration!

That was because neither Kevin nor Vernon had any doubts about it!

They even nodded at his words!

In an instant, a title representing supreme glory and military power appeared in Xanxus’ mind.

Ares, the God of War!

“Are you... Are you the legendary Ares—”

Before Xanxus could finish his sentence, Kingsley interrupted coldly. “I see that you are aware of my identity!”

The reason why he did not let Xanxus finish his sentence was because Leoric had already walked out of the hotel with someone.

Leoric was Victoria’s subordinate.

If he knew of Kingsley’s identity, that would mean she would find out too.

Kingsley did not want his seven god-sisters to get involved in his dangerous missions. Therefore, it was necessary to conceal his identity as the god of war from them.

“Boss Nicholson!” Leoric pushed the trembling Scarlett and the rest in front of Kingsley and informed him. “Everyone from Blood Moon Hotel is here.”

Kingsley nodded and pointed at Xanxus’ subordinates, ordering, “Make them kneel together!”

As soon as he gave the command, Leoric immediately forced Scarlett and the rest to move over!

At this moment, she looked like she was in a state of panic. She had completely lost the coquettish and charming aura that she had when she was seducing Kingsley last night.

When she saw the group of people kneeling on the ground, her body trembled with fright.

She finally understood why Kingsley carried two Glock pistols, as well as the reason that Kingsley was used to seeing the blood all over the ground!

There was only one reason!

He was a soldier!

Logan, who was standing beside her, had the same thought as her.

In an instant, he was so terrified that his soul almost left his body!

He insulted a soldier of Qustia! That was an even more terrifying offense than offending Boss Norton!

Belch! The more Logan thought about it, the more frightened he became. His eyes rolled before he fainted!

Following a loud thud, his head slammed onto the stairs at the entrance of the hotel, and he instantly suffered a crack on his head.

Bright-red blood gushed out from the back of his head like a flowing river!

Seeing Logan lying on the ground as if depleted of life, Scarlett immediately broke down!

Plop!

She collapsed on the ground, crawled to Kingsley's feet with both hands and feet, and cried out, "Mr.

Nicholson! I'm so sorry! I know I'm guilty! Please let me go this time!"

Scarlett begged for mercy and even tore her clothes to reveal her chest.

"Mr. Nicholson, as long as you let me go, I shall be your woman! You may torture me or insult me as much as you want to! All I'm asking is for you to spare my life!"

"You wanna be my woman?" Kingsley raised his eyebrows. "But I recall that your subordinates said that you've been with Xanxus before. Isn't that right?"

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 338

i am the ruler of all chapter 338-"I..." Scarlett glanced at Xanxus and said with a twisted face, "Boss Norton thinks I'm not a virgin anymore, so he dumped me."

Kingsley sneered. "Do you think a woman who was dumped by Xanxus deserves to be my woman?"

Slap!

His words were like a wake-up call to her, making her face instantly pallid.

Seeing her look of despair, Kingsley smiled lightly. "Don't worry, after you die, I will bury you and Xanxus together so that you may pick up where you left off."

"I don't want to die. I don't want to..."

Scarlett's lips trembled as she repeated the same sentence over and over again.

Seeing her disheveled and pale face, Xanxus sighed. "Mr. Nicholson, I surrender! As long as you spare Scarlett and my men, you could do anything you want to me!"

After all, they used to be in a relationship. Now that death was imminent, he did not have the heart to watch her get killed just like that.

"I didn't expect you to be such a loving and loyal person, Boss Norton," Kingsley commented as he clapped his hands.

"I shouldn't embarrass you even more since you've said that, should I?"

While saying that, Kingsley waved his hand and instructed. "Take Boss Norton's subordinates and everyone from Blood Moon Hotel to the local police station. Make sure they are punished according to the law!"

"Yes, sir!"

Kevin and Vernon responded in unison before ordering their soldiers to escort everyone kneeling on the ground into the car!

All of a sudden, the entire entrance of Blood Moon Hotel seemed to turn into a complicated battlefield.

Everyone was screaming and begging for mercy!

Among them, the one who committed the least crime was Scarlett, who was involved in Badger games.

The rest were mostly involved in armed brawls or manslaughter and threatening citizens.

No matter which crime they committed, they had to be driven into the abyss of eternal death!

They were also well aware of the negative consequences of being turned over to the police station by the military.

Most people were likely to be sentenced to at least ten years imprisonment!

“No! Don’t send me to the police station!”

“Please let me go. I don’t want to go to jail.”

Amid the wailing and begging for mercy, the men were dragged into the back of a military truck.

Bang!

With the shutting of the door, all the howls were shut behind it!

Now that his surroundings had finally quieted down, Kingsley stretched out his right hand and suggested. “Boss Norton, shall we head back to Sunshine Casino now?”

“Head... Head back to Sunshine Casino?” Xanxus looked incredulous as he questioned. “Aren’t you going to kill me? Why would you want to send me back?”

Before he could feel at ease, Kingsley looked at his watch and uttered indifferently, “Serena will arrive at Sun Casino by 12 pm to kill you. It’s past 12 now. I shouldn’t make her wait long for you, should I?”

Xanxus went silent.

He wanted to bawl out loud but there were no tears!

Wasn’t he voluntarily offering himself up to be killed?!

Was there any goddamn law to help him right now?!

Before he could say anything else, Kingsley stepped forward to Vernon and said, “Captain Simpson, since you are from the local military district in Diosna City, you should take charge of escorting those people to the police station. Kevin will follow me.”

“Yes, sir!” Vernon answered confidently, put his heels together, and offered Kingsley a military salute!

Immediately after that, the soldiers standing behind him also raised their right hands and greeted Kingsley with the standard military salute!

After Vernon left, Kevin ordered someone to tie Xanxus up and put him in the car.

Just as everything going on at Blood Moon Hotel was about to be done and dealt with, Serena had packed up all her essentials and headed toward Sunshine Casino to eradicate Xanxus!

Although she already knew that Ares, the God of War, would help her, she was quite unsure about how much help he would offer her.

After all, Xanxus was one of the Seven Legends in Solaris Province.

He was also known as the King of South Nakson of Diosna City who had hundreds of subordinates under his command and was the owner of Sunshine Casino.

If Ares, the God of War, merely warned Xanxus with words or set a brutal example to scare him off, she was afraid that with Xanxus’ arrogant character, he might not stay still and wait for her to assassinate him!

After all, it was difficult for a king who sat on the top of the throne to get involved personally in every little thing in the country. Therefore, she figured that Ares, the God of War, would not waste his precious energy on such a small gang.

Serena felt uneasy and anxious, so she dared not act rashly by barging straight into Sunshine Casino.

Instead, she hid somewhere secluded outside the gate of the casino while secretly observing the situation.

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 339

i am the ruler of all chapter 339-One minute passed.

Two minutes passed.

Three minutes passed.

As always, Serena was on high alert when she was executing a mission.

She observed the door for more than ten minutes before standing up slowly and walking out of the place that she was hiding.

For ten minutes, no one showed up in Sunshine Casino, nor was there any sound that escaped the place.

It was as quiet as a dead city.

Did Ares, the God of War, settle the whole situation thoroughly? Did he wipe out Xanxus and all his people?

Serena found it unbelievable.

She was not Paige Tanner. She did not come from a family of high status, nor was she a captain or major in the military.

Could Ares, the God of War, actually go through so much trouble to assist an insignificant assassin like her?

Though she found it ridiculous, Serena strode forward and walked carefully toward the gate of Sunshine Casino.

Crack! Crack!

The surroundings were silent except for the sound of her footsteps.

Serena took a deep breath, and the muscles all over her body tensed!

The quieter her surroundings were, the more vigilant and anxious she was!

Judging by an assassin's experience, she told herself that it was most likely a trap set up by Xanxus for her!

However, when Serena walked through the parking lot and came to the central square of Sunshine Casino, she was stunned!

In the huge square, a carved wooden chair was placed in the middle.

Someone was bound to the chair with thick ropes.

It was Xanxus!

Serena went silent and was puzzled. Could... Could this be the work of Ares, the God of War?

She silently exclaimed how helpful he was. She found it hard to believe that he had settled everything!

Despite that, Serena did not relax her tense nerves!

Before the task was complete, many uncertainties lurked around!

Last time, she was completely sure that she could take Xanxus' life at a critical moment.

Never did she expect a confidant of Xanxus to suddenly leap out and take the fatal blow for him!

This time, Serena was not going to allow herself to make the same mistake twice!

Just as she was looking around vigilantly, Xanxus mocked himself. "I've already been tied up pathetically here. What are you still worried about?"

"You are a scheming person. How would I know if this isn't a trap that you set up?" Serena stood ten steps away from Xanxus and spat coldly.

"Haha..." Xanxus laughed miserably.

"Do you think I have all the free time to tie myself and entertain you?"

Serena's eyes blinked at that moment as she questioned. "Is this the work of Ares, the God of War?"

"Why are you hesitating if you're already known?" Xanxus closed his eyes slightly and urged. "Come on."

Swoosh!

Without hesitation, Serena pounced on him like a flash of lightning!

With a slash of the dagger, it left a bloody opening on Xanxus' neck!

In an instant, blood spurted out of his aorta like a fountain!

The scene was gory and terrifying!

Serena, who was holding the dagger upside down, stood quietly in front of Xanxus, looking at him indifferently.

It was not until Xanxus' eyes were devoid of life and his breath completely stopped that the muscles on her body slowly relaxed.

On the other hand, Kingsley sat on the window seat of the bar next to the square and watched the whole scene.

This was the first time he saw Serena on a mission, and he could not help but felt bad for her.

He could imagine how Serena had survived all these years.

She had always been struggling and running between knife and blood, life and death all her life.

Just as Kingsley felt gloomy, Kevin, who was sitting across from him, wiped his cold sweat.

"I can tell why Miss Langley is your god-sister. She kills without blinking an eye."

Kingsley picked up the wine glass and took a sip, uttering, "She shouldn't have to be like this. She should have been like other girls. Gentle and graceful..."

Before he could finish his sentence. Clang!

The glass wall of the bar beside him suddenly shattered!

Immediately afterward, a black and sharp double-bladed throwing knife flew at him and smashed the wine glass in his hand into pieces

Read Novel i am the ruler of all chapter 340

i am the ruler of all chapter 340-Fortunately, Kingsley reacted fast, so he managed to pull away in time to dodge her dagger!

Otherwise, he would have probably been pierced by the sharp throwing knife!

Gulp!

Kevin swallowed hard and stuttered, “T-This throwing knife is specially designed to break windows... Miss Langley surely is gentle and elegant...”

Even though the two talked and drank quietly earlier, they were still caught by Serena’s sharp ear!

When Serena heard that someone else was in the bar, she instantly threw a double-bladed throwing knife through the broken window and attacked them.

Just as she fished out a throwing knife from her waist and was about to throw another, Kingsley shouted loudly, “Serena! Serena! It’s me! Don’t attack!”

Hearing Kingsley’s voice, Serena was slightly startled.

In an instant, her entire body relaxed.

Her eyes quickly turned slightly red...

He took Kevin out of the bar and complained intentionally, “Serena, don’t you check whether it’s an enemy or a friend before you attack?! If I hadn’t reacted quick enough, I would have died in your hands just like Xanxus did!”

Serena offered him a smile. “Have you forgotten our agreement on a hundred times of assassination? Congratulations, King, you’ve managed to escape disaster again. You have ninety-seven chances left!”

Kingsley went speechless upon hearing that.

Even Kevin fell into an awkward silence.

“Cough...” Kingsley cleared his throat embarrassedly. “We have outsiders here. Please don’t call me King...”

“Sure.” Serena’s charming eyes flashed a hint of inquiry. “Then, tell me. Why are you here?”

Kingsley scratched his head and blurted a half-lie, “I... I’m friends with Captain Leonard. I heard that he came here today for a mission, so I tagged along to watch the fun.”

Serena frowned slightly and questioned, “But I heard from Paige that you came to Sunshine Casino last night and said something in the lines of wanting to help me settle Xanxus!”

“I...” Kingsley groaned and changed the subject.

“Actually, your mission this time is a trap set up by Tyler Jovovich from Spearhead Group. After I heard about it from him, I rushed over to save you. I didn’t expect to meet my old friend, Captain Leonard, here! He’s on a mission in Diosna City, so I just thought of using this excuse to win your favor by settling Xanxus!”

Kingsley’s explanation could be said to be full of loopholes.

However, Serena, who was involved in the situation, was quite puzzled to hear that, but she chose to believe most of his words. She even shifted her attention to Tyler.

“Did you just say... that this mission was a trap set up by Tyler Jovovich? Nancy Stewart’s fiancé?!”

“That’s right.” Kingsley nodded. “After the dōjō class reunion, he started hating you. He contacted one of Xanxus’ subordinates, sent two boxes of explosives to him, and set up this trap for you.”

Hearing Kingsley’s words, Serena quickly pulled a gloomy face. “Tyler Jovovich is such a deceiving person! I’m going to show him what it means to regret his own actions once I return to Cleapolis this time!”

Kingsley chuckled, “I knew you would say that, Serena, so I saved the killing job for you! You should kill him with your own hands when you return!”

“What do you mean? Did you arrest him?” Serena was slightly surprised to hear that.

“As far as I know, Spearhead Group is regarded as a first-class corporation in Cleapolis. If you arrested their young master, wouldn’t they come for you?”

“Spearhead Group has gone bankrupt!” declared Kingsley. “They resold munitions, so they were punished by the military!”

Hearing that, she finally released her furrowed brows. “That’s what they deserve.”

Saying that, she looked back at Xanxus’ lifeless body and uttered, “My mission is over. Do you want to come back to Cleapolis with me?”

“Sure. I’ll come with you.”

Kingsley had just finished his sentence when his phone rang. The screen showed that the caller was Lancer.

Kingsley then excused himself to a corner to answer the phone. “What’s the matter?”