

THE CEO'S RUN AWAY WIFE

Chapter 12 You girls are not going anywhere

"Daniel... Daniel." Sara was only saying his name.

"Sara... I am here," Daniel said, and saw she was not in her sense.

She was continuously calling him. He could not understand what Alexander did with her. He immediately scooped her in his arms and walked out of the dark room. He was taking her out of the factory, and at the same time he saw Jackson and Jacob coming to him. He told both of them not to come back but they did not obey him.

"What's wrong? What is happening to her?" They both asked him, and they took Sara out of the factory. Lisa and Mia were waiting for them there. They saw them and Sara. They opened the car door for him. Daniel put Sara in the car and sat beside her. Jackson was driving the car.

"I don't know what is happening to her, but I came to know that Alexander had used his hypnosis on Sara 2 months ago when we both met, and because of this she did not remember me. And now he has again used hypnosis on her and now she is remembering everything. I think she is having a panic attack because of this," Daniel said, and Jacob looked at Daniel.

"Don't worry. Nothing will happen to her. Do you remember that one day he used his hypnosis on me when I was 16? He was always evil. I know his tricks. We only need to take her home as soon as possible, and then when she will close her eyes everything will be alright," Jacob said. Daniel hugged Sara tightly. He was continuously trying to console her. After a few minutes he succeeded, and she stopped panicking. She slept in his arms. After sometime, they all reached Daniel's mansion.

Daniel took Sara inside his room and laid her on the bed. He was panicking at seeing her closed eyes.

"Daniel, don't worry. Nothing happened to her. She is only sleeping. She will open her eyes soon," Jackson said, and Daniel looked at him.

"He is right. She needs to rest. She will open her eyes soon, like I had opened in the past. You have to give her time," Jacob said, and Daniel did not say anything. He was only looking at Sara silently. Mia, Lisa, Jackson and Jacob all walked out of the room, leaving both of them alone.

They all were sitting in the hall for the past half hour, waiting for Daniel. When he came out of the room his eyes were red. His head and mouth were bleeding. He was worried.

"Where is he?!" Daniel asked Jacob and Jackson.

"According to your plan we have caught Alexander and Lucy," Jackson informed Daniel.

"But did you not say he made him sign in the papers? What will happen now?" Mia asked Jackson.

"Don't worry about it. Signature on the paper or not, it is still valid. We already knew something like this was going to happen. We all had secret cameras in our pockets and our chain. Everything is recorded in it and it will prove that he forced Daniel to sign the papers. Those papers are legal. He cannot use a dollar of Daniel's money," Jackson told Mia and Lisa.

"How did you catch him? All of your men are here," Lisa asked.

"It was all Daniel's planning. The way he talked to his bodyguard before leaving his home, they understood that something was wrong. Daniel talked to them politely. Told them to have a rest. It was all strange for them. They all took his words as a hint and understood what they needed to do. He never talked to anyone politely, and they were wise to understand his words. They secretly followed Daniel, and when Alexander came out of the factory with Lucy and that girl they caught them on the spot."

"How do you all know that something like this was going to happen?" Mia asked Jackson.

"Yes, when Sara came back Daniel kicked us out of his house. It was strange for us too. He never asked us to leave. On the way, Daniel messaged us and told us that this girl in the house was not Sara, but someone else. But still Daniel wanted to have strong evidence. That is why I snuck into the office to find Sara's passport. I had to go there secretly because Alexander's spies were spread everywhere, and if he knew that we knew the truth of the fake Sara, then it would have messed everything up. Daniel had already told me that I had to find her passport and I found it. The receipt of her passport meant that she did not leave the country. Looking at the passport, it became clear that the girl was not Sara because she said that she was going to leave the country," Jackson told them.

"But how did you know that Sara did not run away from the house, and was instead kidnapped? Her letter says that she ran away," Lisa asked Daniel.

"My house has CCTV cameras installed in every corner. Only I know where they are. After I read Sara's letter, I checked every camera. I saw Sara get up at midnight and put on her clothes and went to the bathroom. After coming out of the bathroom, she was about to get back into bed when someone knocked on the door. She was hesitating before opening the door. She wanted to wake me up but seeing me sleeping she did not say anything and opened the door herself.

A man stood in front of the door, one of my own bodyguards. He placed a letter in Sara's hand, stating that if she did not go with him, they would kill me. Seeing the gun in his hands, Sara was scared and agreed to go with the man. She did everything to save me. But before leaving she left a letter for me, which the man did not know. Sarah wrote this letter deliberately so that I will give her up. She knew I would find her, and she thought that the man would kill her, so she wrote such a letter. Nobody knew that my home had cameras, so they made a mistake. I had already seen everything. Sara deliberately wrote the letter so that I would think that she had run away, and I started hating her, and gave up my intentions to find her, but that did not happen," Daniel told both Mia and Lisa.

"And where is that bodyguard?" Mia asked Jackson.

"He is alive, and I will crush his head!!!" Daniel suddenly shouted, and Lisa and Mia both flinched in fear.

He looked like a devil when he said that. They both looked at his face and forgot to breathe. Now they understand why everyone fears him. He was really going to crush that bodyguard's head with his hand. Hearing Daniel, Jacob and Jackson both looked normal, like they were used to hearing these kinds of things from his mouth, rather than both giving the same waves. Their minds also had evil thoughts, like Daniel. Mia and Lisa both gestured to each other.

"I think we should leave," they both said together while getting up from the sofa.

"You girls are not going anywhere," the three men said together. Both Mia and Lisa turned and looked at them.
